The thanks of Canadians of all races are due in a very special manner to Earl Grey, with whom the Tercentenary celebration, on a large scale, has been a favourite project for many months. He has given a great deal of personal effort to make it a success. But for his high stand, indomitable energy and public-spirited self-sacrifice, there would not have been in the celebration some features that are likely to prove exceptionally attractive to the public; such as the presence of the Prince of Wales, Lord Roberts, and the mission of a contingent of the British fleet, including that most famous vessel, the iron-clad "Indomitable." To his exertions and influence also are due the fairly liberal subscriptions to the battlefield fund by members of the aristocratic and middle classes in Great Britain. There can be little doubt that in addition to the pleasure which Canadians take in this celebration, and which will be its own reward, a substantial benefit will accrue to this country from the publicity given to the events of its history, and the evidences which visitors will have of its substantial prosperity and progress.

Dear Sir,—Can the City Council or the Horticultural Society not make an appropriation of about forty-five cents to buy an overhanging cap or cover to place above the outlet for the Victoria Park fountain. This fountain, presented to the city by Mr. James Stevenson, is so arranged that the water from its outlet falls beyond the lower basin, and thus washed out the walkway below. I would suggest the placing of a cheap metal cap, attached by a stout wire, to the top part of the fountain. This would protect the walkwady and at the same time allow the fountain to be operated.

A LARGE EXCURSION TO LINDSAY

Lacrosse Club Will Likely Run One Next Thursday

Great interest is being taken in the opening game of the Trent Valley Lacrosse League which takes place in Lindsay next Thursday when the Peterborough team will endeavour to take a full out of the twelve representing Lindsay. As it is the day of the weekly half holiday it has been practically decided to run an excursion to Lindsay for the game by a special train leaving here about 2.30 o'clock, with the tickets good returning on any of the regular trains that night. Such an excursion would undoubtedly prove most popular.

Mrs. John Henderson, 2 Overdale Ave., Montreal, Can., writes:

"I was much distressed with neuralgia and was so run down that life was not worth living. I tried a great many remedies, but all to no effect.

"I met a friend of mine, and told her of my ailment. She advised me to try her remedy, Peruna.

"Although I had no faith in Peruna, I took her advice, and am pleased to state that the neuralgia has entirely left me, and have gained so in health that I feel just like my old self again.

"I am enjoying the best of health.

SCOTLAND

For the first time on record no woman was sentenced to penal servitude in Scotland last year. The Scottish Police Reports makes that statement. On the other hand, the number of men sent to penal servitude was 122, compared with an average of seventy-five in the previous ten years. The total number of committals to prison was 61,312, an increase of 1,100, but three-quarters of the sentences imposed did not exceed fourteen days. Life histories of prisoners are given, from which it appears that about one half lost a parent when young, and were thus neglected. The fathers were practically divided into tradesmen or laborers, but the report deduces that not restricted means, but environment, must be responsible for the lapse of the children.

Weak Bodied Cheese Evil; Some Advice To Dairymen

From the Canadian Dairyman

This is the time of year when some of us are almost sure to get caught with weak-bodied cheese. Shipping cheese early, and while green, the tendency is for some of us to take chances on leaving too much moisture, and salting the curds too soon. We try to get the cheese to break down in a few days with the result that after a few hot days some of this style of cheese, in curing rooms not properly protected from the heat, becomes open and weak in body. Even in cool curing rooms cheese of weak body are not satisfactory. One cannot be too careful with the culture at this time of year, since leaving it exposed, without covering, allowing it to come in contact with unsterilized utensils, allowing flies to get into it even for a moment, selecting milk for propagation that may not be pure, may cause the culture to become gassy, and if introduced into the milk of the vat, will produce "pin-holey" curds, becoming a source of detriment instead of a benefit in the manufacturing process. Developing too much acid on the culture is another condition that should be guarded against, since in warm weather, high acid cultures are more likely to occur than in cooler weather.

A good pure culture of mild acid content, when properly prepared, and properly used, is a great help in handling the milk during hot weather. It is better to return all milk which is detected at the weigh stand showing gassy or other taints, since 100 lbs. of impure milk will spoil 10,000 lbs. of pure milk when mixed together. The tendency during hot weather is for the curds to work fast, yet, at the same time, to contain gas or other taints. The secret of making a firm, smooth-textured cheese is in geting the curd firm and properly shrunk, while in the whey, before sufficient acid has developed for dipping. When the milk is working fast this can best be accomplished by finer cutting, and if the case is urgent, faster cooking, according to the development of acid. Finer cutting is to be preferred rather than higher cooking temperatures, although some makers claim very good results by raising the temperature one or two degrees. The faster the curd is working, or, in other words, the faster the acid is developing, the finer the curd should be cut. By using a ¼ inch perpendicular wire curd knife, with a ¾ inch ordinary horizontal knife for first cut, no difficulty will be found in getting a fine, yet even cut of the curd, so that a firm, well cooked curd will result, before too much acid has developed.

Dip with a reasonable acid, and get rid of extra moisture at this stage by stirring the curds in the sink before piling. Remember that a certain amount of moisture has to be got rid of in order to assure a close firm body in the cheese. Proper handling of the curd in the whey, and the right amount of acid at dipping, controls this to a great extent. Yet, if the curds are not stirred sufficiently dry at dipping, extra stirring will have to be done after the curds are milled, and it always takes longer to get rid of the extra moisture after milling, than it would if the curds were properly stirred out at dipping, besides much poorer results are secured. If extra moisture is left in the curd, either while in the whey, or at the time of dipping, the curds will have to be held a longer time after milling before salting, in order to get rid of this extra moisture. The curds will also have to be stirred almost continually, and the chances are that the cheese will have a tough texture.

On the other hand, if curds containing too much moisture are salted too soon, or before the extra moisture has drained out, the roughness may be prevented, though the cheese will very likely be open and weak in body. Get rid of the necessary moisture while the curds are in the whey, and at the time of dipping. Pay particular attention to the turning and handling before milling, getting a smooth, flaky condition of the curd with a fairly clear even color. After milling, the curds should be easy to handle, if the moisture has been properly gotten rid off while the curd was in the whey, and the surplus moisture properly stirred out at dipping before the final piling. Mature the curds well before salting, since a great many cheese turn out weak and open by not giving time enough for sufficient "dry acid" to develop, and for the curds to become silky and mellow. Factories that are provided with cool curing rooms will have a decided advantage over those that still have the ordinary room, both in the shrinkage in weight, and in the texture of the cheese. Open, weak-bodied cheese are not desirable, yet, on the other hand, hard, stiff, acidy, mealy or rough-textured cheese are not wanted by anyone. This latter condition must be guarded against as well as the former.

From the Canadian Dairyman

Ed., The Dairyman and Farming World: Last week I visited several more farmers in the Township of Smith, in Peterboro County, and find, on the whole that they are well satisfied with the prospects for crops. The outlook on Mr. Walton's farm on the 2nd line is very promising. All crops with the exception of mangels are in excellent condition.

"I had eight bushels of alsike last year to the acre and expect to do even better than that this season," said Mr. Walton, "I have everything in first-class shape on the farm and am pleased to say it is remarkably free from weeds. This farm has been in the possession of our family for about 100 years. My grandfather was one of the first settlers here and the farm has never changed hands since granted to him by the Government. The settlers had to carry their wheat to Port Hope to be ground into flour and then carry it back; and yet, we still hear of some farmers grumbling at the hardships of farming.

"The building you are now looking at is the first building which was erected in the Township for the manufacture of cheese. I now use it as a driving shed. It really should be pulled down, but I am loth to do so on account of its old associations. My grandfather raised some of the best pure bred cattle in his day, having at one time over eighty head. The Edwards' herd at Rocklands originally came from here. They purchased their first three females and one bull here, and so laid the foundation of their herd which is now considered by experts, to be the best in the province of Ontario.

"My barn is 80 ft. x 45 ft. and ventilated on the King system. The walls are of stone and 9 feet 6 inches in height, 22 in. in thickness. There are cement floors throughout. I have room for 23 head of cattle besides stalls for nine horses and two loose boxes. It is exceptionally well lighted and a man can see to all parts of the stables and barns at any time of the year. I have a constant supply of fresh water before the cows at all times, by means of a trough running the whole length in front of the cows. I intend building a cement silo very shortly as I have come to the conclusion, after seeing those in use, that I cannot afford to be without one. I would not be without a manure spreader for anything, considering the labor saved and the evenness with which the manure is distributed. Besides a field requires only about a third of the quantity of manure as it does when spread by hand.

"One of my neighbors, a few seasons ago, put the manure in heaps in three or four rows on part of his land. The balance he put on with a spreader (hired for the occasion). To see the difference in the crops is simply amazing, it hardly seems possible, but it is true nevertheless. He now has a spreader of his own and would not be without one after his experience of hand spreading."

A noticeable feature on this farm is the tidiness and order in which everything is kept. Not a thing is out of order and no rubbish or litter lying around as in some cases on other farms. Mr. Walton at present is raising a few hogs and intends fattening about 16 cattle this fall.

Mr. Walton thinks the idea of Government inspection of milk, houses, and utensils an excellent one, as it would create more of a feeling of security in the city among milk users if their interests were being looked after in the country as well as in the towns. Besides there is a great need of some such inspection. Farmers would then endeavor to keep their places sweet and wholesome, not as in too many instances to-day, dirty and evil smelling.—F. E. Durieu, travelling representative of The Dairyman and Farming World.

TIMELY TIPS

By Suburban Reporter

It is not generally known that the City of Peterborough has a real, genuine wilderness within its limits, but such is the case, and the property under consideration is what is known as the Old Methodist Cemetery. This is situated at the northern terminus of George street, and fronts on Hilliard street, where the entrance gates stood, until carried away some years ago by someone in need of firewood. The major portion of the fence has also disappeared somehow, somewhere, and thus a neglected "commons" now exists, in place of a well-kept burial plot. The most apt phrase to describe its present condition, is "a disgrace to a civilised community," for it is in complete possession of brush, weeds, and the worst kind of spreading plants, such as poison ivy, lilac and locust. Last year some of the thick underbrush was slashed down, but not burned, so that it has almost reached the "jungle" stage, with no forse denisehp, however, than common ghosts. The close proximity of such a grand institution as the Nicholls Hospital, with its tidy lawns, makes the cemetery's appearance many times worse by contrast.

When the late South African war reached its conclusion, and funds were being collected to mark the graves of the fallen Canadian heroes, some of our citizens became enthused and subscribed without considering that the graves of the pioneers of this district were being unmarked by the headstones being broken, and thrown around in a way that suggests vandalism and desecration. It may also grate on the finer senses of some of the good people to know that while they were listening to splendid sermons on a fine Sunday morning in the summer, some of the undisciplined youths were playing cards on the smooth side of a fallen headstone, bearing the name of a close relative. By the grand display of expensive monuments in the Little Lake Cemetery, it would seem that those who died in recent years were worthy of being remembered while the "old fogies" who hewed their homes out of the forest primeval are just simply "dead ones."

The question that is baffling the great minds is, "Who owns the property, and who should improve it?" As it was formerly owned and controlled by the congregation of the George street Methodist church the trustees of that organization are still under responsibility. But, then the majority of the lots were sold and deeds given to the purchasers. In that way it became private property, individually, but collectively it became public property. Thus the owners or their heirs, are also under responsibility. And then, again, as this abandoned ground is within the city limits, it is the duty of the city council to see that all property is kept in harmony with the surroundings, and to force proceedings, at least a little.

Another point that arises is as to what disposition shall be made of this neglected spot, in case that it is improved, and made presentable. Whether it shall remain as "God's acre," or be formed into a park, can be decided later on but some quick action should be taken to clear this blot on the city's beauty. As to the method of procedure it may be well to note that the work cannot be completed in one year, as the roots of the underbrush cannot be killed in that time. It will take at least three years to get an even sodded surface on the lot, with all the snags removed, and thus the cost of improvement would be distributed over that period. The cost, the cost, oh, what about the cost? Well, the cost would be so trifling that it would be no "shame to take the money." If the sum of $20 per year were judiciously used for this purpose, the results would bring credit and renown to those instrumental in its expenditure. But, where is the money to come from, and who is responsible? If you are at all interested figure it out—then act.

Getting Back at England.

"The English will ridicule us for saying 'vury' and 'turrible' and 'momma' when we go abroad," said a schoolma'am, "but we will have our answer ready.

"We'll ask them why, when they want to know if we desire a cab, they say:

"'Fo wells, sa?'

"We'll ask them why they say 'pawtah' and 'waltah' and 'Indiar' and 'idear.'

"And, not forgetting the 'h,' we'll quote at them the dialogue between the mistress and the new maid:

"'Is your name Anna or Hannah?'
"'Hannah, mum.'
"'Oh, Hannah?'
"'No, mum; Hannah.'
"'Hannah, you said.'
"'No, Hannah.'
"'Spell it.'
"'Hay, hen, hen, hay!'"

The Safe Course.

"That was a great speech Mundy made," said the associate editor of the old line partisan paper. "I suppose we ought to have an editorial showing that he was mistaken throughout, but really I can't see how we shall be able to do it. His logic is unassailable. He has simply knocked the platform from under our candidate."

"I know it," replied the editor, "but we can't let it go. Let's see—oh, just refer to it as flapdoodle. That always satisfies the man who votes the straight ticket and gives our opponents no chance to come back at us."

Kaffir Greeting.

"Saku bona" are the first words a stranger learns of the Kaffir vocabulary. The expression is the common form of salutation used by the natives, and its literal translation is, "I see you." It is considered a mark of respect not to give the greeting immediately, the delay showing the reverence in which the native holds his visitor.

Arrival Of The Indians At Quebec Adds Interest

THE IROQUOIS AND CANADA

Examiner Special

Quebec, July 18. — The Dollard scene was run through several times yesterday, in the afternoon, and several figures of Henri IV., including the "Pavane," were enacted. Owing to the heavy downfall in the evening it was found impossible for the Cartier and Champlain Scenes to take place. They will therefore take place later. More Caughnawaga Indians had arrived and muskets were served out with blank cartridge to Dollard's followers. The Indians were led by Chief American Horse, who was attired in brave array for battle, and their frequent war-whoops and the explosions of the muskets combined to give the scene far more semblance of reality than the others hitherto produced without costume. No doubt there are many who will find the Indian scenes the chef d'oeuvre of the coming display, and they will certainly not be lacking in color. An Iroquois to-day said that the word "Canada," or "Kanata," is an Iroquois word and it is to be remarked that when Jacques Cartier came to Quebec, the Indians who received him were Iroquois, although those who inhabited the frowning rock at the time of Champlain's arrival, were Hurons.

Many of the words used in the stage directions of the scenes and especially the numbers, are Iroquois, though in some cases they are incorrectly spelled. During the day Chief American Horse was visible in full war dress, with the exception of paint. In the actual pageant he will probably be arrayed like Hiawatha:

Dressed for travel and for hunting;
Dressed in deerskin, skirt and leggings
Richly wrought with quills and wampum.
On his head his eagle feathers,
Round his waist his belt of wampum,
In his hand his bow of ashwood,
In his quiver oaken arrows
Tipped with jasper, winged with feathers,
With his moccasins enchanted.

Besides this, American Horse carries various beautiful designs in bead work, and a head dress adorned with many feathers, corresponding in number to the total of braves, whom he is supposed to have accounted for. His head dress is adorned with 65. On his tepee are several totems or signs painted, including an Indian brave, a bear (mishe-mokiva) being speared by an Indian, a canoe, containing four braves, and a moose being pursued by an Indian on horse back. He also has a medal given to his ancestors by the British, and this probably dates from pre-Revolutionary times. Another notable personage is Chief Sassy, who is a splendid specimen of manhood and whose "brawny arms" might shame those of the "Village blacksmith." He is reputed to be able to split an arrow at a distance of forty yards, and would no doubt have been a welcome acquisition for Robin Hood and his merry men.

Mr. Armstrong produced a peace-pipe of red stone, which he himself had brought from the same red stone in the Minnesota quarry as Hiawatha obtained his Readers of Hiawatha will remember how Gitchu Manito, the Master of Life:

On the mountains of the prairie,
On the great red Pipestone Quarry,
Called the nations together, and
From the red stone of the quarry
With his hands he broke a fragment,
Moulded it into a pipe head,
Shaped and fashioned it with figures;
From the margin of the river
Took a long reed for a pipe stem.

Then he smoked the calumet, or Peace Pipe, as a signal to the nations and all saw the distant smoke, the Pukwana of the Peace-Pipe ascending, and all gathered together at the quarry, although they were full of the ancestral things for vengeance, and their hearts were embittered with the feuds of ages. Then Manito won them over to peace and the warriors washed off their war paint, and buried their clubs and all implements of war.

And in silence all the warriors,
Broke the red stone of the quarry,
Smoothed and formed them into pencepipes.
Broke the long reeds by the river,
Decked them with their brightest feathers,
And departed each one homeward.

Farmer Near Keene Had Two Of His Ribs Broken In A Fall

Was Ploughing at the Time—Sermon to Orangemen—Heard the Drums Beating in Keene

THE FISHING ON THE LAKE

Examiner Special

Keene, July 16.—While plowing Mr. William Moore was the victim of an accident last night. He attempted to pick up a large stone to lift it out of the furrow, and roll it to the fence, when he fell on the stone, breaking a couple of ribs. We are pleased to state that he is now getting along nicely, although he suffered considerable pain for a day or two.

Mr. Bruce McFall, Ottawa, visited his parents last week.

Miss Pearl McCann, who has been attending the convent in Lindsay, returned home last week.

A party of Cobourg anglers, who have been camping at Grape Island, returned home Friday with a good bag of muskallonge.

Mrs. John Campbell left for her home in Montreal last week, after a week's visit to Keene.

Miss Jennie Drummond is visiting her parents in Westwood.

Miss Vera Foley, Pelee Island, and Miss Mary Foley, Lindsay, are the guests of Miss Bella McFarlane.

Mr. and Mrs. Darnby and Miss Darnbey Peterborough are guests at the Victoria House.

Mr. Marshall Weir, Hastings, is spending the week in Keene.

Rev. W. D. Harrison, pastor of the Methodist Church, preached a special sermon to Orangemen, Sunday, July 12th. Argyle Lodge, No. 494, attended in a body, over fifty members taking part in the parade.

A very large number of Keene people attended the celebration of the Battle of the Boyne in Peterborough Monday. Besides the local Orange Lodge, numbering about fifty, who drove over, about sixty went up on the excursion train and a great many drove. A number who had intended going on the regular morning train was on hand at 7.45, but the train was so crowded that they could not get on and were obliged to wait for the special at 11.30.

The sound of Orange drums could be distinctly heard in Keene Monday morning, but it is more probable that the sound came from the excursion boats on the Otonabee River, than from Peterborough.

THE NEW CRETONNE GOWN

Latest Parisian Novelty in Ladies' Attire Reproduced by, and on Exhibition in, Richard Hall & Sons Dry Goods Store

It cannot be denied that ladies' dress attire is undergoing a marked transformation. The appearance in the large show window of Messrs. Richard Hull & Son, George Street, of a representation of one of the latest Parisian novelties—the new Cretonne gown—is another indication of the radical style changes developed in fashion centres.

This new and picturesque gown is made of a fine smooth-finished cretonne material in bright, attractive and fancifully figured designs. The material is termed "shadow" cretonne, the pattern being printed on the warp and then woven into the pretty material. The graceful loose-flowing folds of the garment are sharply brought out by the various angular points at the bottom. The sleeves are wide and short, trimmed at the edge with fine lace and silk velvet. The pointed collar of Resida green silk velvet and braid produces a rich and becoming effect, while the front is decorated with buttons of same material and straps of a pretty Resida green shade to button with.

As a fitting crown to the outfit, a Duchess of Devonshire hat is also shown, made entirely of cretonne, which is enhanced by two pure white ostrich plumes, giving a decidedly jaunty air to the tout-ensemble.

This striking exhibit of the latest type of ladies' evening wear has many admirers. And it is very creditable to Messrs. Richard Hall & Son to learn that this faithful representation of what is in vogue in the large fashion centres was wholly designed and made up in the firm's own work-rooms, and by their own skilled modistes.

It may be stated that the new cretonne fad is not confined to gowns and hats, but is being introduced on parasols, belts, purses, etc. Peterborough is not to be a day behind in catching the contagion of styles radical changes if Richard Hall & Son can prevent it.

WITH A SURVEY PARTY IN THE CANADIAN NORTH WEST

(By F. M. Dela Fosse)

There is an old Scottish saying to the effect that "the best laid schemes of mice and men aft gang agley." Most of us were destined to prove exemplars of its truth. In the course of a few years many drifted to other scenes and other occupations. Some departed to the sheep-ranches of Australia, others returned to their beloved ones in England (who, no doubt, were glad to see them) and others still, myself amongst them, migrated to the Northwest.

Four years of forest seclusion had proved a penance of uncommon magnitude. During that time the music of the train whistle had rarely sounded in our ears and a great longing to see something of that vast world which lay beyond the confines of the wilderness, and was teeming with life and bustle, seized upon our souls. Youth finds little scope for melancholy or moralising. It is a good thing, for if anything had been calculated to make us misanthropical, it was the way in which we had passed our time in the wilds. Church socials and dances had been the limit of our festivities, with occasional lapses into the pleasures of the tavern and attendance at agricultural shows and picnics. These represented to us all the glare and glitter of an advanced civilization. But the forty-rod whiskey and the giddy whirl of shows, picnics and dances had ceased to allure, and even the church socials to which we had at one time looked forward with a feeling of voluptuous abandonment, seemed somehow to have lost their freshness and charm. To put it mildly, we were discontented. We had not proved brilliant luminaries in the agricultural world. Of course, it was fate and not folly that had always dogged our footsteps, causing our cattle to perish, our horses to get foundered, our houses to burn down, and our crops to be destroyed by our neighbours' cows. But we took our misfortunes philosophically, and when we had arrived at the end of our tether and found ourselves minus money and farms, we arose to the occasion and started out with light hearts to earn our own living.

Join a Survey Party

It was in the spring of 1883 that the general shake-up occurred, and whilst others preferred to go in for other pursuits, I decided to join a surveying party which was being organized for work in the territory of Alberta. There were seven in the outfit and a fine motley-looking crowd we were. Our surveyor was not with us, having gone on ahead to Winnipeg in order to purchase supplies and to arrange for the transportation of our party west of Winnipeg. He left us as our leader however, an amiable young gentleman, who had just been released from a six months' detention in jail. Another member of our party, possibly the lightest-hearted in the gang, frankly informed us that he was fleeing from a termagant wife. "Boys," he remarked, "marriage aint what it's cracked up to be, not by a blamed sight. My woman's a holy terror. Feel this 'ere bump, he said, "that there was a lovin' farewell to me, giv' by a rollin' pin. If she sees me again this side of Paradise, she's welcome to club me all she pleases." He insisted on us all taking a feel at his frowsy head, and after examination we cordially agreed with him that the inflicter of such a blow must indeed have been a "holy terror."

We had still another member, who, not content with having one spouse, had, in a spirit of culpable acquisitiveness married another, and was fleeing from the hands of outraged justice and a couple of infuriated fathers. The rest of us were unsophisticated backwoods farmers, who knew as much about the world at large, as the world knew about us, and that was—nothing.

Crackers and Cheese as a Diet

We gathered together in Toronto, where we were informed by the deputy chief, that as the surveyor had only left enough money to provide half a meal a day for the journey, he had decided to make it go as far as possible by purchasing a generous supply of crackers and cheese. By this means we would be able to have one square sit down meal, at any rate, on our way to our destination. Living on crackers and cheese may be pleasant enough to some people, but after the first day's experience of it as a menu, it loses its charm. By the time we arrived at Winnipeg we were so sickened of the taste of cheese, and so maddened at the meanness of the surveyor, that we raised a small-sized riot when he met us at the station.

We had had our doubts on the journey as to whether or not the surveyor or his deputy were responsible for the inadequacy of funds—but a very short experience of the former satisfied us that he was, in the cook's happy phraseology, "the meanest cuss unhung." Personally, I have never seen his equal in this respect, as an exponent of blasphemy and profanity. We got early knowledge of his proficiency in the latter respect, when we were engaged in collecting together our mustangs for the western service. I suppose there was not throughout the whole territory a worse aggregation of wild-eyed, balky little animals breathing than those that our surveyor purchased. If a man had been sent blindfold into the horse markets he couldn't have collected a more useless outfit. All they were good for was as our humourist, the cook, remarked, "cussin' at." There were five in all. We had managed, by dint of the great and almost superhuman exertions of the whole company to collect them together at the railway siding and were sitting on the prairie in the cool of the evening, enjoying a quiet pipe before turning in for the night. Suddenly two of the mustangs broke their tethers and started off at full speed up town. Our surveyor (whom we shall call Jones, for the sake of convenience), and the whole gang started in full pursuit. Right up Main street the animals tore, over the Assiniboine bridge and back again, then across to Fort Garry, back past the Hudson Bay store, and the Cauchon block to St. Boniface, where, after a healthy gambol around Archbishop Taché's palace they allowed themselves to be caught and led back to the station. The language that Mr. Jones vented on the quadrupeds on that eventful occasion was such as none of us will ever be likely to forget.

First Report Of Directors Of Old Cobourg Railway; Out Of Commission Long Ago

Given Almost 73 Years Ago---Taken From Cobourg Paper Of That Year---Interesting Ancient History Known Only to a Few

Ancient history of the times when Peterborough was in its infancy is always interesting. Especially will this be the case in dealing with institutions about which nothing now remains except the knowledge that they once existed. The following is a clipping from a Cobourg paper of the year 1835, giving the first report of the directors of the Cobourg Railway Company, submitted to its shareholders on Monday, October 19, 1835, and it will no doubt prove interesting not only to old timers who recollect that date, but to those who still retain memories of the railway which at one time crossed Rice Lake at Hiawatha and extended to Peterborough.

First Report of the Directors of the Cobourg Railway Company, submitted to a meeting of the stockholders on Monday evening, the 19th day of October, 1835:

In laying before the stockholders the report of the engineer on the completion of his survey, the directors deem it incumbent on them to furnish a detailed account of their progress, and to draw attention to some of the most striking points connected with the important work in which they are engaged.

Their first object being to obtain, with as much expedition as possible, such an estimate of the cost of the undertaking as could be relied on with security, they devoted their earliest attention in selecting an engineer, of known practical skill to accomplish that task. With this view, they opened a correspondence with gentlemen in the United States, and other parts, from whom they deemed they might obtain the necessary information. Several engineers in the former country, who were highly recommended, offered to undertake the work, but the directors consider they exercised the trust confided to them with prudence, preferring the services of a gentleman of acknowledged ability and high standing in the profession in their own country; who, having been employed by the Government in the extensive surveys of the waters of this part of the Province, with which the contemplated railway is closely connected, might be considered as having some claim to their particular consideration.

The choice of the engineer having been thus made, and the terms of the survey agreed on, they instructed him "to ascertain the most eligible and least expensive route for a railway from Cobourg to Rice Lake, at that point which might be found most practicable, near the direct line of communication with the Otonabee River." To aid him in this work, the directors spared no pains in seeking all the information that could be obtained, respecting the nature of the country and its capabilities for the purposes required. Several of them, during the progress of the survey, were nearly constantly employed in examining the country personally, and the engineer acknowledged in his report that by their activity his labours were materially lessened and much time was saved.

To meet the outlay necessarily incurred in this preliminary portion of the undertaking the directors thought proper to call an installment of two and a quarter per cent. on the stock subscribed, which will pay a large portion of the expense of the survey.

Until the estimate was completed, and the practicability of the work ascertained, it was determined not to solicit subscribers amongst those whose only object could be the investment of their capital with the expectation of a reasonable return; as it was deemed more just that the cost incurred in determining whether the work were practicable at a moderate outlay, and could therefore be profitably engaged in, should at first be met by individuals whose residence in the country, and particular interest in its prosperity, rendered the completion of the work, with them, an object of paramount importance.

It is with much satisfaction that the directors have it in their power to state that the result of the survey has been in every respect most favourable.

In the investigation of the country over which the road will have to pass, no essential difficulty has presented itself, and the estimate does not exceed the usual cost of works of a similar description. Although upon an inspection of the plans it will be found that in the progress of the road to Rice Lake a considerable rise has to be overcome, yet taking the nature of the trade of the country into consideration, it will not form any serious obstacle to the undertaking. On a comparison of the weight of the productions of the country which will have to descend this road to find their market with the supplies which are sent into the country in return, it will readily be conceded by every person who has the slightest knowledge of the subject, that the former bears a proportion to the latter of at least ten to one; and consequently if the road were perfectly level, ten times more power would be required to bring the product of the back country to market, than would be necessary for the transport of merchandise to the interior. That which would, therefore, prove, under different circumstances, if not an insurmountable difficulty to the success of the work, at least a considerable injury to it, from the nature of the trade for which the railway is to prove a medium, becomes a positive advantage.

The route at present contemplated, without reference to such improvements as may be fairly anticipated from the more particular examination during the progress of the work, will permit the successful application of animal or locomotive power upon the whole line; the cost of which, ready for complete operation, is estimated at twenty-six thousand eight hundred and thirty-two pounds, five shillings and three pence, for the grading of a double track, and the completion of a single line of railway. A result, in the opinion of the directors, most satisfactory, and as favourable as the most sanguine could have ventured to anticipate.

In consequence of the numerous suggestions to the Engineer, of probable improvements in the line, all which required particular investigation, the survey has occupied more time than the directors were led to anticipate. It was, however, deemed by them to be their particular duty to take care that the country should be thoroughly examined before the stock was brought fully into the market, in order that enterprising individuals, who embarked their capital in the undertaking, should have before them an estimate founded upon certain data.

The survey being completed, and the expense carefully ascertained, the directors have it now in their power, to invite capitalists to invest their means in the work, with the confident assurance of a speedy and ample return.

If the cost of this work be considered with reference to the important objects to be effected by it, it will be found to bear a proportion more inconsiderable than most works of similar nature. In the interior of this portion of the Province we have beautiful lakes and rivers, made navigable by nature for vessels of all descriptions, washing the shores of nearly 200 miles of country, teeming with rich productions, and rapidly increasing in population. On the banks of these waters, towns and villages are erecting and rapidly rising into notice, while streams, fit for all purposes of machinery, pursue their course through the country in almost every direction. The only drawback to its prosperity, the only want, the supply of which would at once render it one of the most rich and populous sections of the New World, is an easy and ready access to market. When it is considered that this object can be fully effected, at a cost of only about $26,000, that this sum will at once open this splendid portion of the country to the markets of the United States and Lower Canada and through them give access even to the sea, no doubt can remain of the advantage of the investment now offered to the public. If it be permitted to speculate upon the probable results, from the improvement of the magnificent rivers and lakes, which connect Rice Lake with Lakes Simcoe and Huron, which at present engage so much the attention of the Government of this Province, it must be allowed not to be unreasonable to entertain the expectation, that a great portion of the Western Country would find its way to market over this railway. This view of the subject is particularly alluded to and supported in the report of the engineer, and the fact that it would shorten the distance from the Western shores of Lake Michigan to the Southern shore of Lake Ontario, (say at Oswego,) nearly 300 miles, is amply sufficient to show that this opinion is not a mere chimera. It is unnecessary however to resort to this argument for the purpose of inducing conviction of the advantages of our undertaking, and the return likely to arise from it; the extent of trade with the rapidly improving country north of the Rice lake, which this communication must demand, will surely warrant the outlay of the sum required, and the most sanguine hopes of an ample remuneration.

The Taking Of Buckhorn Factory Off Cheese Board

Salesman Mr. Kennedy Writes Letter on the Question—Buckhorn Factory Did Work Aboveboard

CLAIMS OTHERS DID NOT

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir—In your issue of the 8th inst re "Buckhorn factory taken off the Cheese Board," It is stated that "I believee Buckhorn should have the privileges of the Cheese Board" and the president and secretary considered that Buckhorn factory was getting the same benefits as others and yet did not assist the Board in any way.

I beg to say that Buckhorn desires nothing that she is not entitled to. I simply contended that Buckhorn be fairly dealt with. Other factories had left the Board for years and no action had been taken.

We considered we had infringed upon no rule of the Board. We had simply withdrawn from the Board for the season and were easily within our rights in doing so. Our action was square and above board and worked injury to no one, and although we were neither looking for or receiving "benefits" or "privileges" from the Board, we purposed paying our fees and any other legitimate calls made by the Board during the year.

Further, we have nothing to say against either the Peterborough Cheese Board or its officers. They have a right to make such rules as to them seem best. They were perhaps within their rights in erasing the name of Buckhorn factory from the blackboard and they are welcome to whatever gain or glory there was in the act.

We had entered into an agreement with a firm in Montreal for our cheese for the season at the highest price paid on the Peterborough Cheese Board, and it is a misnomer to say or claim that the Peterborough Board makes or sets the price for anyone.

The buyers set the price for each board according to the markets and the demand at that time and they are not members of the Board.

The Board at its last meeting, passed a resolution by a majority of those present at the time, that all factories do forthwith board their cheese or their names be erased from the blackboard.

To comply with this resolution and board our cheese, we must break our agreement with this firm in Montreal that has bought our cheese almost exclusively for the past seven years and in every instance has dealt squarely and honourable with us, and of course, if we must make choice, our name goes off the blackboard.

The Peterborough Cheese Board is said to be the Banner Board of the Province, but it will hardly be contended that the cheese boarded there is sold on its merits.

We, like many others, have felt that first quality cheese has often had to take second and sometimes third quality price and neither the Board or the salesmen could help themselves.

There are usually from 8 to 10 buyers on the Board but it would be unfair to say that each factory has that many chances of a sale. The barther back and the more inconvently located your factory is the fewer your chances of a good sale are.

Again, each buyer has his set or group of factories that he buys nearly all the time. If your buyer gets in on first selections, you are usually fortunate and get the price. If he gets in on second or third selections at 1-16c. or 1-8c. less, you simply have to take it, and the benefits and privileges of the Board can't help you, no matter what the grade of your cheese is.

These, of course, are faults of the system and not of the Board, but each salesman has to consider and if possible try to meet these disadvantages, as far as they apply to his case, if he is to do the best possible for his factory and these disadvantages are likely to remain until all cheese is inspected and graded and sold on its merits as it should be. Then all factories will be on an equal footing no matter what their location and Buckhorn will gladly welcome the change.

Yours respectively,
A E KENNEDY.

FOSTER, THE PROPHET GLOOM

He Sees Nothing But Ruin in Government's Course.

FIELDING DISPELS CLOUDS

Foster Declares Financial Policy Is Ruining Canada's Credit—The Case of Shepherd Boy and Wolf, Replies Finance Minister — "Old Canada In 1896; New Canada To-day" — Attacks Parent.

Ottawa, July 18.—Hon. George E. Foster, "the prophet of gloom," as Hon. W. S. Fielding described him, moved last night a resolution embodying the Opposition's horrified amazement at the financial administration of the present Government. Every year since 1896 the Opposition has followed this course. Hon. Mr. Fielding was the master painter and cloud-dispeller last night. His application of the fable of the shepherd and the wolf to Hon. Mr. Foster was excellent and timely. There was a smile of confidence, so to speak, running through all his remarks, and his phrase, "there was an old Canada in 1896; there is a new Canada today," evoked a burst of applause that was but a prelude to the storm of enthusiasm which greeted his brilliant peroration.

Mr. Foster declared that, as estimated by Mr. Fielding in 1903, the cost of the railway from Moncton to Winnipeg was to be $73,601,706, while the fact, as ascertained this session, placed the cost, at $180,845,683. Thus, even adding the 25 per cent. suggested by Mr. Fielding as a margin, the Finance Minister was still $80,000,000 short of the fact.

"This," said Mr. Foster, "was an example of false representation under which large public works are launched upon this House and fastened upon this country. Are we yet up to the actual cost of work? No; and we have still only an estimate, that will be very materially exceeded in the working out."

As to the Finance Minister's estimate of a cost of $13,000,000, Mr. Foster characterized it as the most silly as well as the most improvident estimate ever presented to any Parliament by a Finance Minister.

"That as the scale of expenditure established by the present Government and the ever-increasing multiplicity of objects off in customs and railway receipts and unsettled trade and financial conditions throughout the world preclude the hope that above certain cash obligations amounting to $180,845,683, less than $26,000,000 paid up to March 31, 1908, can be met otherwise than loans, the public net debt, which in 1896 was $252,300,000, and on March 31, 1908, was $278,100,000, will be thereby increased to the alarming total of $453,845,683, and if the contingent liability accrues, will become $444,041,973, thus rendering necessary new loans to the amount of $166,941,973."

"That, notwithstanding the significant facts above recited, the Government, instead of retrenching, have at the present session authorized expenditures and incurred additional obligations to an extent unprecedented in the history of Canada.

"That in the opinion of this House the mad and reckless financial course of the Government is seriously affecting public credit, unduly burdening the resources of the country, and, if longer persisted in, will end in public disaster."

Mr. Fielding called Mr. Foster's story the old cry of the "Wolf, wolf," but it was not likely that the wolf would come as long as Mr. Foster stayed where he was. For twelve years he had been the prophet of gloom, and the Finance Minister imagined that his dark forebodings would be found as unreliable as in the past.

While Conservatives condemned the expenditure generally, nearly every one had asked the Government to swell the cost of Government by building works in his own constituency.

Mr. Foster was wrong in adding the railway subsidies to the expenditure. Since 1889 the votes had amounted to forty millions, and the amount paid only eighteen millions.

Mr. Fielding claimed the present per capita debt was but $40. In eighteen years of Conservative rule the capital expenditure was $167,000,000, while in the past eleven years similar expenditure totaled $162,000,000. If taxes were higher now, the people were better able to pay them. Would they prefer to go back to 1896 when they were able to wear only one suit a year.

The large expenditures were responsible for the development of the country.

"We are going to build the Hudson Bay Railway," said Mr. Fielding, "and thus realize the expectations of the country."

When he sat down the Liberal benches burst into the record cheer of the session.

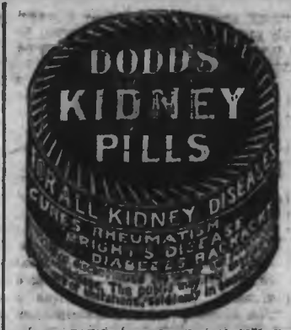
The debate on the two reports of the committee on finance of the Quebec bridge was concluded shortly before 6 o'clock last evening. The minority report was rejected on a vote of 51 to 103, and the majority report adopted on the same vote reversed.

Lorenzo Robitaille (Independent, Liberal from Quebec County) supported the Opposition report, and made a warm attack on ex-Premier Parent, chairman of the Bridge company. He said he was guilty of wilful negligence amounting almost to criminality, and that he was responsible for bad management of the company, as well as the good. The jury had been "packed" so as to give a favorable verdict on the disaster.

W. F. Maclean asked if the Senate bill respecting water carriage of goods would be dealt with before the close of the session. He said the sentiment of the country was strongly in favor of the bill, and that the banks which advanced money on bills of lading should be protected. Mr. Fieldings said if the bill could be reached by Saturday it would be dealt with.

A memorial from the woollen manufacturers set forth that under existing tariff conditions a number of large woollen industries must suffer annihilation before another year, and an appeal was made to the Government for immediate relief.

Sir Wilfrid replied to the effect that while he sympathizes with the woollen manufacturers he is unable to see how their industry can be benefited by special tariff alterations.



NEGRO SLEW FIVE

On Gallows He Confesses to Four Other Murders.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 18.—Frank Johnson, a negro, was hanged at the Moundsville penitentiary last evening for the murder of Mrs. Bulah Martin, colored, it is said, made a startling confession to his ministers, in which he admits murdering five persons. The following is a list of his alleged victims:

Unknown man in 1896 at Blossburg, Alabama.

Mrs. Bulah Martin, colored, of Gypsy, W. Va., in March, 1908.

In his confession Johnson says his real name is Edward Walton, and that he was born in Georgia.

The crime for which Johnson was hanged was committed at Gypsy, near here, last March. After shooting Mrs. Martin, who had refused to elope with him, Johnson escaped to the hills, followed by a posse numbering 400. Barricading himself in an old barn, Johnson defied arrest for two days, and in that time shot and seriously injured three of the posse.

BRITAIN FREES SLAVES.

South Sea Islanders Are Released From 18 Years Servitude.

San Francisco, July 18.—Ninety survivors of several hundred South Sea Islanders, kidnapped 18 years ago from their native strand and sold into slavery among the coffee plantations of Guatemala, arrived here on the steamer City of Para.

They are free and homeward bound, and in addition to this they are traveling as tourists with their Government paying expenses. The natives were kidnapped by Capt. Blackburn, now dead, who visited the islands in his steamer, the Monserrat, and enticing them aboard sailed away. They were supposed to be contract laborers bound to their Guatemalan employers for three years.

Ignorant of the language, and in a land where the law is sometimes the dictators' will, it was easy to keep them on the plantation, where they slaved until their plight was made known to the British Government, which, however, was not until 18 years had passed.

Wreck Near Kenora.

Kenora, July 18.—At 10.15 p.m. on Thursday a bad wreck occurred at Deception. Owing to the track spreading, the hospital train, consisting of nine cars and two dead engines, was completely ditched. No one was killed. Engineer Kerr was scalded badly, but is now doing well in the hospital here. The wreck occurred in connection with double-tracking operations, the track spreading on account of the newly-made roadbed giving way. The wrecking crew was on the scene of the accident in a very short time, but it will take some time before the track is cleared. Passenger traffic is delayed.

Suspected of Assault.

Guelph, July 18.—Three chunky prisoners from Palmerston arrived here yesterday in charge of Chief Armstrong and Constable Westgate of that place. They were arrested on Wednesday in Palmerston, and Magistrate McEwing, on the advice of High Constable Mereweather, remanded them to the county jail here for a week, on a charge of vagrancy. Major Merewether suspects Sam Wilson, one of the trio, as being the tramp who assaulted Mrs. Harper at Mount Forest on Monday.

All three prisoners state that they can prove they were in Guelph the day of the assault.

"Bobs'" Reception Tame.

Quebec, July 18.—The arrival of Earl Roberts yesterday morning was not signalized by the presence of jostling crowds nor by noticeable display of enthusiasm. The landing place was a large scow, covered with a canopy, and the crowd of spectators numbered little more than 150, and curiosity to look up "Bobs" so prevailed in the first few moments of his landing that, apparently, no one remembered to cheer, till a naval officer in the launch broke the silence with a bid for enthusiasm.

Suicide at Penitentiary.

Kingston, July 18.—Coroner Mundell has been asked to hold an inquest into the death of Frank Hogan, a foreigner, who hanged himself in his cell in the penitentiary. He was found at 5 a.m. yesterday. He used his suspenders. Hogan was sentenced at Parry Sound for three years for burglary and had been in prison since August, 1906. He was about 25 years of age.

Earthquake In Chile.

Tacna, Chile, July 18.—A terrific earthquake has occurred in the Provinces of Tacna and Arica, in Chile, the southern part of Peru and Bolivia. Considerable destruction of property, but no loss of life is reported.

DUG WAY THROUGH THE WALL

Seven Notorious Prisoners Escape From Toronto Jail.

ALEX. ROSE THEIR LEADER

Man Waiting Perhaps Life Sentence For Assault Conducts Jailbirds to Freedom — Lock Is Picked and Bricks Removed From Wall—Were In Plain Clothes Awaiting Trial or Disposition.

Toronto, July 18.—By the door through which John Boyd, the colored murderer, went to death in January last; seven prisoners awaiting sentence and on remand at Toronto jail went to liberty between noon and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, effecting the biggest jail delivery in the history of the prison. None have been recaptured. Those who escaped are:

Alex. Rose, awaiting examination as to sanity, and facing perhaps a life sentence for assault and robbery.

H. Churchill, a pickpocket of U.S. experience.

William Jones and J. C. Clark, awaiting extradition to Newcastle, Pa., where they had broken jail.

J. Copeland and Ed. Lee, awaiting trial for theft from local tailors.

The men were all on remand or awaiting sentence and were therefore dressed in their ordinary clothes, even with their hats, and not in the jail garments.

They took advantage of yesterday's heavy rain, when the surrounding parks and nearby streets and thoroughfares were deserted. They evidently made a straight conscrip to the Don Valley, as three men were seen late in the afternoon prowling through the bush near Danforth avenue.

When the escape was discovered the other prisoners on the corridor were put in their cells and the jail guards scattered over the exits from the city.

The wire were kept hot, and all railways notified to inform their train crews to be on the lookout for blind baggage.

Governor Chambers went direct to the wharves, where he made a careful inspection of the outgoing boats.

The escape, doubtless, was worked out in the mind of Rose. His familiarity with recent events and knowledge of the adjacent death chamber, which was used for the first time when the negro, Boyd, was hanged last January, would point to that conclusion.

Communicating these facts to his fellow prisoners the three have with deliberation worked out their plans. Outside the watchful gaze of the guard on duty, the trio would take turns in picking at the lock—a common spring affair—on the wooden door in the north wall of the corridar, where the trio were permitted to walk up and down, and which led into the death chamber. With the aid of a table fork and some pins this was accomplished without injury that would attract attention.

Once inside the chamber, the rest was easy, for somehow the prisoners had obtained some crude bits of iron with which they labored at their pleasure. With one or two at work inside, the other one would keep watch. Evidently the work took several days before the outer portion of the stone wall was reached. The broken stone and plaster were carefully picked out of a hole about a foot and one-half square and laid aside.

Again Rose's hand is seen in the affair. The escape was timed when the guards were changing off and until a mess was called the prisoners were not missed. The hole was discovered and an alarm sounded. Governor Chambers was in the jail at the time.

Revolt In Turkey.

Constantinople, July 18.—The young Turkey propaganda in the Turkish army in favor of autonomy to Macedonia appears yesterday to be more widespread than heretofore has been admitted, and some forebodings are being expressed in official circles of a general revolt of the officers of the second and third army corps at present stationed in the Monastir district. There already have been some mutinies in individual battalions.

Buffalo, N.Y., July 18.—The Michigan Central bridge spanning Chippewa Creek at Chippewa collapsed last night just as a big excursion train laden with passengers from Canada passed over the structure.

The excursionists had gone to the Fallsview early in the day to attend the devotional services at Mount Carmel. It was dusk when they boarded the train. As the train was going over the structure at Chippewa, the stringers on both sides, top and bottom, and the cables broke.

Orangeville, July 18.—A. Joseph Dunmons of Melancthon, 70 years old, was brought to the county jail last night with two gashes in the throat. He was committed by Magistrates Keys and Doney on a charge of setting fire to his son's barn on July 10, and also of an effort to commit suicide.

The prisoner said he was starving—the reason for using a razor on his throat; but denies the incendiary charge. All his family but one son live in the west.

Belcher, pastor of the Hilton Christian Church of Hilton, N.J., was whirled to his death in a "flying swing" at a Sunday school picnic given at Berena Lake Park for the children of his church. Another 1908 Improvement in

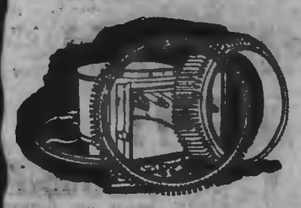
"Hecla" Furnaces



The fire pot is the most effective radiating surface in a warm air furnace. That is why every manufacturer seeks to increase that surface by the addition of cast iron flanges, or pins or corrugations. As each of these flanges or pins covers a large part of the primary surface of the fire pot there is a limit to the number of such cast flanges as can be effectively used.

The "Hecla" Steel Ribbed Patented Fire Pot is a step far in advance of any other fire pot. Instead of thick and sandy cast iron flanges those in the "Hecla" are steel and are neat and clean. Being uniform they can be set so close together that, where we formerly used 19 cast flanges we now use 97 steel ones without covering any more of the primary surface of the pot.

Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots provide twice as much effective radiating surface as any other fire pots made, and in consequence radiate far more heat with the same amount of fuel.

In a test extending over two years, Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots showed a saving of 11% in fuel, over cast flanged pots.

Hamilton, July 18.—When the City Council met last evening, the Cataract aldermen were confronted with a notice served on City Clerk Kent, that if they give the bylaw agreements with the company a third reading that steps would be taken at once to quash it.

The notice was served by Lees, Hobson & Stephens, and read as follows:

"We beg to advise you that we are instructed on behalf of ratepayers to bring an action to set aside the power bylaw, which is now being considered by the city council in case the same passes its third reading, on the ground that it is ultra vires of the city council.

Notwithstanding the notice to quash the bylaw, the Cataract aldermen tackled the bylaw. Very few changes were made in the agreement before it was passed.

Her First Trophy.

By J. LUDLUM LEE.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Harriet Lake was indolent by nature. She knew it and admitted it. On warm mornings she preferred a rocking chair on the piazza to any outdoor sport. But Harriet at twenty-four was taking on flesh, and the specialist whom she consulted said, "Play golf, take long walks and eat no rich food." So Harriet went in for golf.

She had just driven her ball from the second tee, a very short and crooked drive, when a cry from the bushes reached her ears. She glanced at her caddie, and, as if having received a silent command, he started in the direction of the ball. Harriet's face wore a somewhat bored expression. Waits between drives were so long. The caddie returned breathless.

"You certainly did swat that gentleman one, Miss Lake," he announced. "Your ball hit him right on the back of the hand as he was pulling some bushes aside looking for his own ball."

"Lucky fellow!" replied Harriet. "I wish something would hit me on the back of the hand so I wouldn't have to trail around this green every day in the week!"

They had reached the fourth green when the skies suddenly clouded over. Glad of an excuse to stop, Harriet directed the caddie to take her sticks back to her locker, while she would cut across lots home for luncheon.

She walked slowly through the old orchard that adjoined the links and was startled by the rumbling of thunder. Realizing that there was no protection in sight, she hurried on until she reached a broad lane that must lead to a house.

Large drops of rain had begun to descend. Another clap of terrific thunder, and Harriet began to run. When the lightning flashed her ambition and energy seemed blighted by it. At the end of the lane stood an old barn. With renewed efforts she started for its sheltering roof and, breathless, reached the door and dashed in.

her forehead. Her petticoats were held at ankle length to lend fleetness to her strides. She certainly made a stunning picture as she stood in the barn door.

What was that queer noise? It might be a horrid rat. But before she had time to decide she was confronted by a tall chap clad in white flannels.

"H'm—I beg pardon," he began. "Perhaps we are poaching?"

"We?" repeated Harriet. "Are there two of you?"

"Well, almost," said her companion. "That is, I am here intact, but my friend over there is a bit damaged by a blow he got on the links. Otherwise he's a very decent sort of chap. We ran in out of the rain, you know," he added.

Harriet glanced guiltily in the direction of the "friend," who seemed busy opening a basket.

"I ran in out of the wet, too," she announced finally. "You don't mind if I stay until the lightning stops, do you?"

"Mind? Well, I guess not!" assured the man, promptly turning host. "Come over and meet my friend, Mr. Burch, won't you? Billy, here's a lady come to our feast."

Billy rose and beamed on the unexpected guest. He was taking a most delicious looking lunch from a large automobile hamper.

"I wish I could shake hands with you, Miss—Miss"— he stammered.

"My name is Lake," supplied Harriet.

"Considering the day," said the chap in white flannels, "it's very appropriate."

"Shut up, Arthur, will you, and let me finish my speech?" Billy interposed. "What I was saying when my married friend, Mr. Ralston, interrupted"—considerable emphasis on the word married—"was that I cannot shake you by the hand owing to the fact that some clumsy gawk selected me for a target this morning. Really there should be a law preventing such persons running at large."

Harriet was getting up courage to confess when Ralston came to her rescue.

"Why talk about personalities, Billy?" he began. "Suppose you ask Miss Lake to share our repast?"

The three of them sat down, tailor fashion, on the floor of the old barn and made inroads on the luncheon. Nothing was wanting. Cold drink in patent bottles, sandwiches, salads, strawberries and a jar of cream. Such a feast! And when they had finished they were old friends.

"I say, Billy, Violet certainly does put up a fine luncheon," said Ralston.

"She's the greatest girl a man ever found," agreed Billy.

Violet! Who was she? Harriet could not explain why she felt a touch of disappointment on finding that Billy, too, was a married man.

"I guess I'll be running along," said she, after thanking the men for their hospitality. "Oh, no; you need not drive me over in the machine. The fact is I just live in that big shingled house beyond this fence." With a wave of her hand she was gone, and the men watched her slip under the fence and disappear behind the tall hedge on the other side.

The storm did not clear away entirely, and Harriet realized that the lawn dance which the Williamses were holding in honor of their first anniversary must be given indoors instead of on the lawn, so she donned her prettiest frock. Harriet was never on time for anything, and when she arrived the dance was in full swing. Mrs. Williams greeted her at the door.

"You do look peachy, Harriet," said her hostess. "What have you been doing to yourself? You are more lovely than ever. Oh, the poor, poor men!" added Mrs. Williams mockingly.

They stood together for a moment, and the beaming face of Billy Burch confronted them.

"Mr. Burch, this is Miss Lake," said Mrs. Williams. "I know you two will get along immensely. Poor Billy was hit in the hand today by some straggling lunatic who thinks she can play golf. But, barring his injured right hand, he's the dearest man in the world—except one."

At supper time Billy discovered a cozy corner in the conservatory, where they could "eat in peace without being interrupted by that married man, Ralston," as he expressed it. Harriet was eating salad and studying Billy with her big, dreamy black eyes.

"I wish Violet was here," Billy exclaimed as he tasted the salad.

"Really, Mr. Burch, I am sorry that I am not sufficient company."

Billy actually snickered, but Harriet was plainly in earnest, so Billy explained:

"You see, Violet is my colored cook that I brought up with me from the south, and if she were here she could taste this salad and then go home and make a better one. See?"

"But, Mr. Burch, I, too, have a confession to make."

"Spare me!" cried Billy. "I will run for Arthur if you wish a father confessor. He's listened to my sins for years and really borne with them very leniently."

But Harriet insisted.

"I want you to know that I am the 'clumsy gawk,' the 'straggling lunatic' who hit your hand today."

Billy beamed.

"That's not the only place you hit," he said. "That'll get well. But you gave my old heart such a blow that it is completely broken in two, Miss Harriet, and only you can mend it."

"But, Mr. Burch"— began Harriet.

"Oh, I know what you're going to say," interrupted Billy, "but don't say it yet. I'm in love, and I know it, though I don't expect you to fall in love with a cripple on sight; but some day, Harriet," he continued in softer and more earnest tones, "maybe you can say 'Yes.'"

Harriet looked once more into his clear, honest eyes. She, too, was in love, and she knew it. He had none the best of her there.

"I haven't said 'No,' have I?" she asked. And Billy felt that in time his heart would be mended.

Court and Witness Agree.

An amusing incident occurred in one of the New York courts the other day. The lawyer for the defense was making a very lengthy cross examination of an old lady when he was interrupted by the judge with the remark, "I think you have exhausted this witness."

"Yes, judge," she exclaimed, "I do feel very much exhausted."

Quick Change.

"Who," she asked, "is that scrawny, bowlegged, ridiculous looking person talking to Miss Rockingham?"

"That is Count Brlaczpicksnitzel."

"Oh! What an aristocratic, noble bearing he seems to have now that he has shifted his position so that the light strikes him properly!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Cowslip.

"I saw a cowslip by the river's brim," said the long haired boarder who had just returned from a stroll.

"I hope 'twan't one of my cows," said the practical farmer. "Did she slip clear in?"

IN THE CROPS LIE THE KEY

To the Condition of the Financial Situation, Says Prominent United States Man in France

IMPROVEMENT IS NOTICED

The Paris correspondent of the New York Herald sent the following cable to the Herald:

Mr. E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, and Mrs. Gary, who were passengers on the Kronprinzessin Cecille, have arrived at the Hotel Ritz. They will leave Paris in about ten days for an automobile trip, probably embracing Spain, Italy and Switzerland, and after another brief sojourn in Paris they will start for New York about September 1.

When asked to express an opinion on the business outlook in America, Mr. Gary said:

"In looking into the future from commercial and financial standpoints, just at the moment, we happily are forced to take into consideration the condition of the crops, and crop prospects are excellent, I might say wonderful.

"There lies the key to the situation. Enormous quantities of corn, wheat and oats are to be harvested and marketed, and that means that the railroad companies must prepare to handle those products. I say 'must,' because there is a certain element of compulsion in the proposition. The railroads must move the grain and other farm, products.

"They can adapt their equipments to the circumstance, either by the use of their surplus or by borrowing money, and we know that they can now borrow plenty of money if they need it. Thus, if you care to follow the line of cause and effect, you can see that the demands on the railways mean added demands on the steel plants in the matter of materials as well as on hundreds of other branches of industry and manufacture.

"To get right down to the foundation of fact, it must be said, as on many other similar occasions, that the farmer is the king of the steel corporation's output, as the railway companies take about one-third. I will add this in connection, that the demand for structural iron is increasing all over the country and the tin plate department is also very active. Here again you can trace the demand back to the farmer and the gardener, whose products fill the cans for the year's consumption.

"The general condition is like that of the great wave breathing confidence and solidity sweeping from the Middle West and West over the recently afflicted East."

SIMPSON IS FAVOURITE IN ENGLAND

Is Quoted at 3-1 for Marathon Next Friday Afternoon

A local gentleman has received a letter from a friend in England who says that Fred Simpson is the favourite in the betting on the Marathon, which takes place next Friday, and is quoted at three to one to win. The form he has displayed in the preliminary trials, particularly his performance of 20 miles in 1.58, in which he defeated the Canadian contingent handily, has made him the favourite even over Longboat.

Havelock and Bowmanville are picked to win the semi-finals.

SEATS FOR THE PARK

To the Editor of the Examiner.

In your last night's issue you advocated seats for the small park, corner Park and Hunter streets. Let us have the seats by all means, but first cut the hay. It is a shame that these pretty spots are neglected.

RESIDENT NO. TWO.

THE MARKET WAS SMALL TO-DAY

Price of Butter and Eggs Was Higher Than Last Week

A small outside market, this morning, and indoors, but a trifle better, was a rather poor showing for this agricultural district. Prices were rather high, butter and eggs having increased noticeably. The quotations follow:—

Dressed Hogs	8 00
Live Hogs	6 00
Hay, bale		to 18 00
Hay, per ton	14 00	to 14 00
Straw	6 00	to 6 50
Potatoes, per bag	80	to 0
Apples, per bag	00	to 000
Pork, per lb	00	00
Chickens, per pair	00	000
Butter, per lb	25	to 25
Eggs, per doz	20	20

THE RAIN DONE GOOD

The farmers in some localities are reported as not being pleased with the recent rain. It was too copious and this morning the sun was not hot enough to dry up the hay. That is where the trouble lies. Many hay crops were in cocks in the fields and now are wet through, so say the farmers, and the result will be a detriment to the hay.

THE EXAMINER'S SPORTING PAGE

NO BASEBALL GAME TO-DAY; PORT HOPE TEAM DEFAULTS

There was no baseball game here this afternoon, Port Hope having defaulted to the locals on the grounds that they could not get a team together. The failure of the Lake Shore bunch is very disappointing to the locals, who had gone to the expense of advertising and making other arrangements for the game, only to be disappointed. The Port Hope team promised on Wednesday that they would be here on Saturday, and the locals confidently expected them until after the arrival of this morning's train. The default of Port Hope, as if the usual practice of giving their scheduled games to the teams they were to have played with, leaves the Midland League standing as follows:

	Won	Lost	To play
Peterborough	6	2	2
Athletics	5	4	3
Cobourg	3	6	3
*Port Hope	4	8	0

*Defaulted.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

In the Marathon race the Canadians will be distinguished by the following numbers: Simpson 64, Lawson 65, Goldsboro 66, Goulding 67, Wood 68, Cotter 69, Noseworthy 70, Caffery 71, Longboat 72, Lister 73, Brown 74, Tait 75.

• • • •

Tom Flanagan believes that the injury to Longboat's knee is not serious. His arm is all right. He walked half a mile last night. The injured knee was examined yesterday evening.

• • • •

The Lindsay Post wails about the Peterborough lacrosse team failing to play their game last Thursday as scheduled. The Post is hereby informed that there was no schedule drawn up whereby the locals were to have played in Lindsay or any other place on Thursday. The date fixed was next Thursday, July 23rd and unless something unforeseen happens the Peterboroughs will be on the job.

• • • •

Arthur Parkins sustained a serious injury while playing ball last night. He was trying to steal third by sliding in when the heel-plate on his left boot caught in the earth, giving his ankle a severe wrench. He was taken to the hospital, where the doctors pronounced it a bad sprain. It will be a few days before Mr. Parkins will be able to walk again.—Lindsay Free Press.

• • • •

• • • •

In connection with the standing of the teams in the City League, the Wellingtons have lost but 7 games instead of 8 as stated. They have only played the Y.M.C.A. once.

• • • •

Lindsay proposes to hold a walk next fall, to be conducted under local auspices. If they want to give Lindsay men a chance to win they should hold the meet on Kent street, where the heavy going would suit the homesters.

WALL STREET MEN OPTIMISTIC

Important Developments in Financial and Commercial World

CROPS ARE BENEFITTED

Examiner Special

New York, July 20.—There have been several important developments in both the financial and commercial worlds during the past week, the nature of which has been to inspire futherr confidence in the general business outlook of the country at large, as well as to create a more cheerful feeling in the stock market, which latter has been reflected not only in a further substantial improvement in prices for all classes of securities, but also in a material increase in the volume of transactions on both the New York Stock and Consolidated Stock Exchanges.

In the first place, the agricultural districts of the country have been visited by more or less copious rains, and the growing crops have thereby been materially benefitted. In addition, unmistakeable evidences of still greater improvement in many lines of industry, notably the iron and steel and copper metal trades, have come to light, while the railroads are gradually recovering from the period of depression through which they have passed, and in some instances net earnings are beginning to compare favourably with those for the corresponding periods of last year. Furthermore, a movement is on foot looking to a general advance in railroad freight rates throughout the United States, and in the event of this being accomplished, which now seems very likely, it will mean much to the entire transportation interest.

Politics have played much less part in regulating the movement of prices in the stock market than has been the case of late, which is accounted for by the prevailing belief that the election of Taft is virtually assured. The action of Lloyd of London in insuring certain leading manufacturers of this country against the possible election of Bryan at rates equivalent to betting odds of at least 6 to 1, has created a profound impression in Wall street, which very rarely ignores wrong in connection with presidential campaigns.

Joseph Molieff Of Lakefield Drowned In Otonabee River

Canoe Upset and He Sank Before Help Could Reach Him — His Companion, Harry Doidge of Lakefield, Rescued by Isaac Watson of Peterborough

WAS NOT ABLE TO SWIM

By the capsizing of the canoe from which they were trawling, Joseph Molieff of Lakefield was drowned, and his companion, Harry Doidge, of the same village, almost lost his life, in the Otonabee River between dams 1 and 2 about 8 o'clock last evening. The two men, who were great chums, left Lakefield after supper, as was their custom, and had paddled some distance down the river, when a lunge was hooked and pulled up close to the side of the boat. Both leaned to the side of the canoe to see the fish, and the sudden movement capsized the frail craft, leaving the two men struggling in the water.

Doidge was able to swim a little, while Molieff knew nothing whatever about the art. When the canoe upset, Doidge shouted to his companion to hang on to the boat, but Molieff although he grabbed hold of the canoe, was too badly frightened to do anything to help himself. He attempted to seize Doidge several times and the latter did all he could to save him, but the unfortunate young man let go his hold and sank.

The upset of the canoe was witnessed by a number of Peterborough people who were driving past the scene. Among them was Isaac N. Watson, an employee of Gibbs' livery barn, who was driving a party to Lakefield. When the canoe upset he lost no time in going to the rescue. Stripping off his clothes, the plucky young man plunged into the river and swam out to where Doidge was clinging to the capsized canoe. Molieff had disappeared in the meantime, but Watson succeeded in catching hold of the canoe, and swam to the shore, dragging the boat after him.

A party of Peterborough men who were driving past at the time, hurried down to Dam No. 2 where they procured a punt and hastened back again, but Doidge was out of danger then.

Watson dressed himself hurriedly and drove the survivor of the accident into Lakefield and gave the alarm. A large number of people hastened to the scene and men were soon at work with boats and grappling irons searching for the body, which, however, had not been found this morning.

The young man who was drowned was 23 years of age, unmarried, and came from Trenton. It was the second season in which he had worked for the Cavendish Lumber Company, and he was a general favourite in the village.

The news of the accident cast a gloom over the community, the young man having been popular with all who knew him.

...ined A Horse To Elope ... And Did Not Return The Animal

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says—Before Judge Ketchum on Wednesday Frank Hickerson, of Wooller, was acquitted on a charge of the theft of a horse and rig. It appears that Hickerson engaged the horse and rig to go and vote. This happened some time ago. But he had other business in view besides voting and after performing that duty he eloped with a married woman, taking along her two children, and also neglected to return the horse and rig, hence the action for theft. The woman in this interesting case has returned to her husband.

The Baptist Church Is A Strong Advocate Of Liberty

At the Murray Street Baptist Church on Sunday morning, Rev. R. J. Webb, the pastor, preached from the text. "One is your master, even Christ and all ye are brethren." Among other things Mr. Webb said "To accept this teaching of Christ is to demand for ourselves and to grant to all others absolute liberty of conscience. There are times when it seems necessary to declare that Baptists have ever taken this position. It was Hubmeyer, a Baptist pastor, who as early as the sixteenth century, spoke these same words. 'Faith is of the heart, and you cannot force that by threats and chains. Thought and belief must not and cannot be fettered by disabilities.' I want to say so plainly that it cannot be misunderstood, that when a man speaks of hampering his fellow citizens politically because their religious beliefs are different to his, he may speak his own thought, but he does not represent the thought of the denomination that stood alone for centuries in their demand for liberty of conscience."

David Hartley Claims That He Has Proofs Of Being Doped

David Hartley, the veteran pedestrian, informed the Examiner that he had made the startling discovery that he had been "doped" in the big walking match which took place at Brock street rink from April 20 to 25. It will be remembered that Hartley became ill on the third day of the race and had to drop out. To-day one of the men who acted as trainer in the big meet informed Hartley that he had been asked by a well-known local man to "dope" the veteran, and had done so by dropping strychnine into his beef tea while Trainer Dick Baker was away from the track. He had been promised money for performing the act, and had not received it, he said.

Mr. Hartley says he is not a dead one, as some people seem to think, and his brother, Mr. Charles Hartley offers to wager $100 to $200 that he can defeat any man in Peterborough in a continuous contest of 36 hours. What's more, Mr. Hartley says he will undertake to Port Hope to Toronto walk in the autumn and do it in 32 hours, two hours faster than his previous record.

NATIONS THREATEN TO WITHDRAW

Yankees Persist in Kicking—Winners in Aquatic Sports

London, July 20.—The withdrawal of several nations from the Olympic games before the end of the week is threatening, as a result of dissatisfied foreign teams over the management, and the open charges that the British Olympic Committee is showing favouritism to English athletes. The situation is the most critical that has ever confronted an Olympic. So far, the grumbling comes largely from individual athletes, but they are so widespread that there is danger that they will crystalize into an united protest of Hoseoutbreak. The American and French teams are particularly wrought at the treatment accorded them.

The final of the 100 metre swim was won by Chas. M. Daniels, New York A. C., in 15 3-5.

I. G. Grich of the Brooklyn Swimming Club, was fourth; Dehalmay of Hungary, second, and Julin, Sweden third.

The first heat of the high diving competition was won by Geo. W Gaidzik, Chicago A. A., with 818 points.

Goodworth, United Kingdom, qualified for the semi-finals.

Editor Post Card Column:

Sir,—On behalf of the people living on Water street near the corner of Simcoe, I write to ask you if it is necessary that members of the 57th Band should practise all day Sunday? Yesterday some long-winded individual armed with a clarionet made the afternoon air hideous as he gaily tooted away upon his instrument, no doubt greatly to his own satisfaction but to the disgust of the neighbours who found it impossible to approach any where near the spirit of the Sabbath while the piercing sound of the clarionet was continued. If the musician would play a tune it would be more endurable, but three hours of running the scale is more than the average man can stand. The clarionet player would confer a favour upon this section of the community if he would transfer the scene of his operations to some more suitable spot.

Yours truly,
"Pax Nobiscum."

NOSE BROKEN OPENING THE LOCK VALVES AT YOUNG'S POINT; LATE STONY LAKE INCIDENTS

Canvas Tent Floats Away During Rainstorm---Paddlers are Practising For Regatta---Religion Not Forgotten By Holidayers---A Jolly Dance Closes the Week's Fun

THE ANNUAL REGATTA DATE HAS NOT YET BEEN DECIDED ON

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, July 20.—In assisting the lockmaster at Young's Point on Saturday evening to lock through Mr. A. L. Davis' launch, the "Nancy," Mr. "Dick" Holman was badly injured in the face by the sudden fling back of the lever that opens and closes the valves of the gate. Mr. Holman is engineer on the "Nancy," which was on a voyage up the lake.

His face was severely cut by the force of the iron lever, his nose being broken, as well of the rest of his face being disfigured. The launch turned on her journey, and hurried the injured man back to Lakefield, where he was attended to by Dr. Brown. The wounds dressed, he again came back to the lake, and, it is understood, is getting along well, merely suffering slight pains and bearing the inconvenience of having his face in bandages.

The "Nancy" is one of the fastest of the small craft on the lake, and on her voyage from the Point to Lakefield a large quantity of water was shipped in over the bow.

Mr. T. S. Cole of Toronto conducted the morning service at the Juniper Island pavilion on Sunday. A large number was present and the service much enjoyed. Quite a number attended the morning service at St. George's church, McCracken's Landing, where Rev. Mr. Spencer officiated. Song service was held at Viamede pavilion in the evening.

Arrangements have been made whereby Rev. Dr. Chown, the well-known temperance advocate of Toronto, will preach at the pavilion on Sunday morning next. It is understood that Master Clarence Carrington, the celebrated boy soprano, who is summering here, will render a solo during the offertory.

Date of Regatta

Clarke Rodgers, a juvenile fisherman summering at "Grey Rock," near Crowe's Landing, secured a 13 pound lunge on the trawl last Friday.

Contrary to the rumour going abroad, the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association have not yet set a date for the annual regatta. It was stated that it would be held on Saturday, August 8, but this is not at all likely if a crowd is desired. It will probably be held on Monday, August 10, as this date is figured on as Peterborough's Civic Holiday.

A number of the paddlers around the lake are and have been in training for some time for the annual regatta. Harry Simpson and Charlie Gordon are doing regular stunts around Lakefield, and these two crack canoeists will again be in line. It is stated that there is a fast paddler from the Ottawa Canoe Club here training for the single canoe event.

Yesterday the zephyrs were not in their angry moods and the lake was comparatively still. Especially was this the case in the morning, but in the afternoon a few sails were hoisted. Mr. J. S. Knapman's yacht, the "28," and several sailing canoes made their appearance and enjoyed the sail.

Preparations are under way for the East End Cottagers' Association regatta, which will be held on August 12. An excursion will be run from Norwood via Peterborough for the occasion.

Messrs. H. Anderson and S. Park of Toronto, who are spending their holidays at the Victoria House, had a good catch of bass off the wharf on Thursday, when they landed eight fine specimens, the largest of which weighed four pounds two ounces. Judging from their good fortune, it seems probable that they would land the Examiner prize, should they turn their attention to trawling.

The heavy precipitation of rain on Friday caused considerable inconvenience to campers. Two boys from Toronto, tenting at Gilchrist Bay were forced to abandon their temporary home and seek shelter with Mr. Fred Dumble at "Ballyraggit."

The steamer Empress carried the largest crowd of the season Saturday night on the up trip. About 150 or more were on board, and as there was necessarily a large quantity of baggage, it was late when some reached their destinations.

LYDIA E.
PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine for Woman's ills in the world has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

No other medicine has such a record of success for woman's diseases, or such hosts of grateful friends as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for feminine ills, Inflammation, Ulceration, and consequent Spinal Weakness.

It has relieved more cases of Backache and Local Weaknesses than any other one remedy. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregularities and periodic pains, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, quickly yield to it; also deranged organs, causing pain, dragging sensations and backache. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system.

It removes that wearing feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues." These are indications of Feminine disorders, which this medicine overcomes as well as slight derangement of the Kidneys of either sex.

Women who are sick and want to get well should refuse to accept any substitute for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

STILL ANOTHER HEAD-ON COLLISION

Six Are Hurt in C. P. R. Wreck Near Port Arthur.

FREIGHT CREW IS TO BLAME

Mrs. J. Ritchie of New Liskeard, J. J. Walsh of Toronto, Engineer Morris, Fireman Bowles and Two Dining car Employes Are Injured—The Damage to Rolling Stock Will Be Very Heavy.

North Bay, July 20.—The C. P. R. Toronto Express (94), which runs between Winnipeg and Toronto, left Fort William one hour and fifteen minutes late, and was wrecked three miles east of Port Arthur yesterday afternoon at 2.30, colliding head-on with a freight train, the crew of which had evidently forgotten that they were encroaching on the passenger train's time.

Both engines, express, mail, baggage and passenger cars, were badly used up, besides several freight cars, and the loss to rolling stock will be heavy.

Mrs. J. Ritchie of New Liskeard, J. J. Walsh, Toronto, two employes of the dining-car, the waiter and the cook, and Engineer Morris and Fireman Bowles of Schreiber, were painfully injured, but not serious. Other passengers and trainmen were bruised and shaken, but no serious injuries are reported. Mrs. Ritchie was caught between seats and limbs lacerated.

The collision occurred in a wild rocky section, peculiarly adapted by nature for a railway catastrophe, where many curves and lofty cliffs prevent a clear view of the rails for any distance, and only the fact that both trains were running at reduced speed on account of the recent washout in this locality, prevented a terrible calamity.

Responsibility for the collision must be ascribed to the freight crew, whose business it was to keep out of the way of the approaching passenger train.

DROWNS BEFORE CROWDS.

Marathon Swimmer Sinks In Race at Chicago.

Chicago, July 20.—One contestant was drowned and half a dozen others were seized with cramps and rescued with difficulty during the first annual "Marathon swim" of the new Illinois Athletic Club, in the Chicago river. The water proved far too cold for the swimmers and only 17 of a field of 60 managed to finish the two-mile course.

A. G. Freese, 55 years old, was seized with cramps and drowned near the Madison street bridge, in view of thousands of spectators. Freese sank after he had covered about two-thirds of the course. He was the oldest contestant in the event and for years has been noted as a distance swimmer at the local beaches.

The race was won by S. C. Jensen of the new Illinois Athletic Club. His official time was 44.42 2-4. None of the out-of-town contestants finished.

CAR RUNS AWAY.

Two Passengers Hurt In a Mad Dash at Woodstock.

Woodstock, July 20.—The brake chain on the 7 o'clock car bound for Ingersoll, on the street railway, broke Saturday night, and a panic ensued among the large crowd of passengers as the car neared the sharp curve at Mill street.

Fortunately the car did not leave the rails, but many of the passengers jumped or were shoved off. F. C. Martin, barrister, was thrown off at the curve and, alighting on the hard roadway, had his wrist and several ribs broken. His face was also badly bruised.

Miss McKenzie of Ingersoll jumped and received severe bruises. Others were more or less shaken up, but none of them were hurt.

Had the accident to the brake occurred at the head of the hill a catastrophe must have ensued, as the curve at the foot is quite sharp.

KILLS THREE CHILDREN.

Crazed Buffalo Woman Then Takes Paris Green.

Buffalo, July 20.—Mrs. Isabella Sahlen fed her three small children paris green and then strangled each with a handkerchief to make her work sure. Then she sent to the grocery store for more paris green, which she took herself. The three children were dead when the murders were discovered yesterday, and Mrs. Sahlen was dying.

In a statement which Mrs. Sahlen made to the police and the medical examiner, the woman blamed her sister-in-law, whom she said had caused her much domestic unhappiness.

Elks Drew Color Line.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., July 20.—Supreme Court Justice Morschauser has made permanent an injunction restraining the Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World from using its present title. The order is composed of colored men. The application for the injunction was made by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Sudden Death at Woodstock.

Woodstock, July 20.—D. C. Richmond, an old resident of this place, dropped dead at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Brantford, July 20.—At a special meeting Saturday afternoon the City Council passed a bylaw empowering the mayor to serve notice of expropriation upon the Western Counties Power Co. Negotiations have been on foot for some time to get a definite offer from the company for its plant but without success.

The company's contract with the city empowers the municipality to expropriate the plant and the price will probably be left to arbitration. The company sets a price of $37,000 upon its equipment.

The Affair of the Count.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"Of course I do not wish to marry the count," said Miss Bernard petulantly. "If Aunt Dorinda gave you to understand"— She paused significantly.

"She did give me to understand that the affair was settled," muttered Emory, his gloomy eyes fixed on the flashing sails in the harbor. "In fact, she intimated that Americans cut no ice in the matter."

"Poor auntie loves a title," sighed Jean, ruffing her pretty hair distractedly. "Why couldn't she marry the count herself?"

Emory got upon his feet with sudden alacrity. There was fire in his red brown eyes and determination in the lines of his strong jaw.

"If Miss Leigh marries the count, will you marry me, Jean?" he asked delightedly.

Miss Bernard stared; then she laughed merrily.

"Why not? With auntie's craving for a titled position satisfied, I believe I might— Don't—not yet!" She warded off Emory's impulsive movement and sought refuge behind a high back-

"WHY—WHY," STAMMERED MISS LEIGH CONFUSEDLY—"WHY NOT?"

ed chair. "And now be off about your business, Mr. Marriage Broker!"

She smiled derisively at him. Emory picked up his hat and ran down the steps.

"What are your engagements for this evening, Jean?" he asked calmly.

"The dance at the Bicknells', of course!"

"And Miss Leigh—and the count?"

"They dine with Mrs. Frake and come to the dance afterward."

"I will see you at Bicknells', Jean. Come early, dear," he said brazenly.

"Run away, you bold, bad, mere American!" retorted Miss Bernard saucily; then she watched him as he strode down the path and on to the shore road, a warm light in her gray eyes. "I would whether auntie married the count or not," she murmured mysteriously.

* * * * * * *

"Eet ees ze beautifulness of ze evening zat appeals to my lovaire soul," gurgled Count Leon Despagne as he joined Miss Dorinda Leigh on the veranda of the Frake mansion.

Miss Leigh adjusted a lorgnette to her high bridged nose and peered up at the star jeweled sky and then over the moonlit bay, with its hundred anchor lights vaguely indicating the whereabouts of pleasure craft.

"It is very pleasant," she replied practically, "but of course it cannot compare with your own country! The romance, the beauty, the stateliness of the old chateau"— She sighed luxuriously.

"Ah, eet ees glorious, ze vale de Loire, ze magnificent Chateau Despagne. Ah, mademoiselle, what ees all of eet without your beautiful piece? You haf been so kind, so gracious, you are quite—sure?" His voice quavered doubtfully.

"There is no doubt about it, count," returned Miss Leigh in a tone of decision. "Of course Miss Bernard is quite young, but I assure you she is not as thoughtless as she may appear, and I am quite sure that your affection is reciprocated."

The count grasped her thin white hand with an ecstatic cry. At that moment a servant approached them. "A note for Miss Leigh," he said.

Miss Leigh went to the drawing room window and perused the note in the stream of light that sifted through the lace draperies. When she turned her face was quite white and her hands shook tremulously.

"Order my car around, please," she said to the servant, and as he departed she whispered to the count: "This is terrible! I have just received news that my niece has eloped with that villainous young Emory! Will you join me in the pursuit, dear count?"

"Sacre!" muttered the count bitterly as he followed Miss Leigh to the drawing room to make their adieus. Five minutes later they were seated in the tonneau of the huge vehicle and whirling rapidly along the shore road toward the east.

As the miles curled out from under the tires Miss Leigh gasped scanty particulars of the flight.

"It was an anonymous letter, from some friend, I suppose. They eloped from the Bicknell dance in his automobile, going toward the east."

"Zere are so many cars," whimpered the count, turning up the collar of his light overcoat, "we cannot identify ze villain." His thin voice shook with rage.

"It is a white car. There are not many going this way. You see we are meeting some. None of them is white. I have ordered Francois to spare nothing to make the time." The chauffeur, bending low over the steering wheel, let out the speed a little more, and the machine swayed from side to side with a zipping, tearing grind that precluded any further conversation.

Watchful and observant, Miss Leigh and her guest sank into silence, and an hour passed as they whirred their way through town and village, eluding vigilant constables with reckless daredevilry on the part of Francois, who was drunk with a lust of speed. On the outskirts of the city Miss Leigh ordered him to slow down, and presently the machine panted motionless at the roadside while Miss Leigh and the count took counsel together.

At that instant, out of the darkness behind them, there shot a triangular ray of light, and a white car swooped down and stopped beside them.

"Oh, Aunt Dorinda! How could you?" came Jean's reproachful young voice.

"Count, I am sure you can make some explanation!" thundered Emory in stentorian tones.

"How could I what? What do you mean, Jean? Such impertinence on your part, Mr. Emory! Why—I understood—I received a note saying that you and Jean were eloping, and of course—of course—the count and I were pursuing you!"

"It didn't look like it, Miss Leigh," said Emory in a muffled voice. "It would be most ridiculous for Jean and me to elope, for Jean is going to marry me anyway, but as soon as we heard of your el—er—that is, as soon as we heard that the count had kidnaped you"—

"Eet ees a lie! I haf not done zat thing!" vociferated the count's voice out of the darkness. "Eet ees ze young mademoiselle zat I lofe! Without her I am—despairing beggar for lofe!"

"You are making a scene, count," remonstrated Miss Leigh coldly. "As for you, Jean, you have broken my heart. I did not know you were so deceitful! When I spoke about the chateau and"—

"Mademoiselle," whispered the count with passionate intensity, "why not conzole my loneliness—and go wiz me? We will enjoy ze plaisure—ze beauty of Loire"—

"Why—why," stammered Miss Leigh confusedly—"why not?"

One Fish Didn't Grow.

A number of men were telling of remarkable catches off Atlantic City, and one of them said that one day he caught a very small cod, and, not caring to take home such a little fellow, he took a piece of copper wire, ran it through the tail of the fish, and on one end of the wire he attached a copper tag with his name scratched upon it. "The next year when I was off there," continued the man, "I got a heavy pull on the line, and after five minutes' fighting landed a twelve pound cod, and there on its tail was my tag."

"That reminds me of a similar experience off there," said another man. "I caught one of those small cod, and I wanted to hang some sort of identification on it, but I couldn't find anything in the copper tag line from one end of the boat to the other. I did find, however, a little tin whistle in one of my pockets, and, running a wire through the tail of the fish, I hung on the whistle and threw the cod back into the water.

"The following year I got a most peculiar bite on my hook, and after pulling in the line I got the surprise of my life. There was the same little cod. He hadn't grown an inch, but hanging on his tail was a long fog horn."—Philadelphia Press.

A BIG BASS CAUGHT AT BOBCAYGEON

Buffalo Lady Landed a Monster Fish After Hard Fight

Bobcaygeon, July 20.—Mrs. E B Frank, of Buffalo, was out fishing with her husband on Thursday last, and while up the lake with Percy Nicols as guide, they stopped at one of the piers, and threw a line. Mrs. Frank almost at once got a strike, and there was business from the word go. The line ran out with a whiz, and Mrs. Frank had to put on the break, then there was some wild plunging and jumping, and she knew she had to exert all her skill if a landing was to be made. Gradually the reel was wound in, and then another splurge ran out the line again. It was a great struggle, but finally Mrs. Frank got the fish tired, and brought him within reach of Percy's net, and the finest bass of the season was safely landed. This was in the morning, and at five o'clock in the evening when it was brought to the village and weighed it scaled 5 lbs. 1 ounce. Its length from nose to the V in tail was 20 1-2 inches, and its girth 15 1-2 inches. The weight and measurements were vouched for by Mrs. Frank and two witnesses, and the full particulars were sent to the Fish Editor of the Toronto Star, to be entered in the Star Contest for the largest small-mouthed black bass.

Gordon who looked after their interests in the preliminary examinations, will defend the prisoners while the prosecution will be looked after by Crown Attorney Wood. The four are charged with stealing $20 from Ebenezer McTaggart, of Brockville, and $2 from Jas. Gross of Bethany.

AUTOS ARE TRAVELLING FAST IN NORTH MONAGHAN

So States Resident of the Gravel Road—No Regard For Farmers

Residents along the Gravel Road, North Monaghan, are complaining of the speed of some automobiles along that road. They state that they travel faster than the law allows and desire to see that it is kept. "They seem to have no regard for us at all," remarked one gentleman of that district to the Examiner. He spoke in particular of an auto that passed along that road last Wednesday afternoon between four and five o'clock, coming to Peterborough. According to his statement it must have only touched along the high spots.

MI-O-NA MEANS STOMACH COMFORT

Its of Special Value to Many Here in Peterborough.

A notable discovery, and one that appeals especially to many people in Peterborough, is the combination of stomach help in the Mi-o-na treatment. This preparations works wonders in case of indigestion or weak stomach.

It acts directly upon the walls of the stomach and bowels, strengthening and stimulating them so that they readily take care of the food that is eaten, without distress or suffering.

So positive are the good effects followin, the use of Mi-o-na that the remedy is sold by Wm. Madill under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails to cure. A 50-cent box of Mi-o-na will do the good the stomach needs, which is simply to make it do its own work.

SIX TRAIN LOADS OF SOLDIERS ON THEIR WAY TO OLD QUEBEC PASSED THROUGH YESTERDAY

There were many Sunday visitors at the C. P. R. station yesterday, the attraction of the occasion being the passing through of some of Ontario's crack volunteer regiments on their way to the Tercentenary celebration at Quebec. The big crowd that was present at the station was not disappointed either, for during the day six special trainloads of jolly soldier men passed through the city, greeting the crowd with cheers.

The Windsor Regiment was the first to come along, going through in the morning. Shortly after 12.30 o'clock the first section of the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto, arrived and a happy bunch of young Canadians they were, too. A lusty young private shouted in tones that could be heard from one end of the train to the other, "What's the matter with Peterborough," and back came the complimentary answer from the crowded cars, "It's all right." The ladies on the platform were greeted with a chorus of "One, two, three, four; Oh, Julia," which seemed to have been adopted by the entire regiment as a slogan.

The car containing the composite company from the 57th Regiment, in command of Capt. Mills, was attached to their train, and the red-coated 57th men were given an enthusiastic welcome by the green-tunicked fellow soldiers from the Queen City.

Closely following the first section was another big train load of the Queen's Own, and they were just as anxious to have a good time as the party in advance. ("You ought to have seen the send off we got," one sergeant remarked to an Examiner reporter. "The rain was pouring down when we left the armouries and we got soaked through on our way to the train, but the streets were crowded with people anxious to see us off."

Sergt.-Major Brittain, who left the 57th Regiment two weeks ago to become drill sergeant of the Queen's Own, was with the second section and looked spick and span in his green rifleman's uniform. He was warmly greeted by the crowd at the station, who gathered around to shake hands with the soldierly sergeant-major, who was always a favourite with the local corps.

The Queen's Own were altogether about 650 strong, their full strength taking in the trip, including bugle and brass bands, pioneers and ambulance corps. The officers brought their own horses and even an automobile was included in the equipment.

They made a decided hit with the crowd, with the possible exception of one small red-headed boy, who wandered along the platform, gazing at the soldiers in a critical manner, and at last was heard to say scornfully, "Huh, they aint so much. They aint half as clean as the 57th," and he followed up his alarming statement by yelling, "Dirty Toronto" at the top of his voice, to the amusement of the Queen's Own.

At 2.30 the 13th Regiment of Hamilton, passed through in a special train. They appeared to be a fine body of sturdy men, dressed in neat, although not showy, khaki uniforms. Their train did not stop here, but the soldiers had time to give Peterborough a hearty cheer as they passed through the station.

Closely following them were the 7th Fusiliers, of London, who looked to be a crack corps. They were accompanied by their splendid band, and were up to full strength.

The last special train went through at 3.20 p. m., and carried the Hamilton Highlanders, the 91st Regiment, whose khaki tunics and kilts made a big impression upon the crowd on the station. With the 91st was Melville Robinson, son of Mr. W. S. Robinson, city and sporting editor of the Hamilton Spectator, who is one of the sergeants of the Kilties. Burkholder, the big wing player of the Hamilton Rugby Club, who is working on the new armouries here, was at the station to see his fellow-townsmen pass through, and the Kilties were not slow in recognizing him giving him a great reception.

"There's good old Burkholder," exclaimed some in the first car, and there was a rush to shake hands with him.

The Royal Grenadiers and 48th Highlanders of Toronto did not pass through Peterborough, travelling by the main line of the Grand Trunk.

Mr. W. McIlroy, the local C. P. R. agent, left for Quebec on the train carrying the Queen's Own.

Arbitration Over Proposal To Form New School Section

Conference Held in Lakefield on Saturday—Portion of Douro Still Belongs to Lakefield for School Purposes

PRESENT SITE ENDORSED

A conference was held on Saturday in Lakefield to deal with the question as to whether or not that part of Douro Township, which has always been connected with Lakefield, so far as public school privileges are concerned, should separate and become a school section by itself. After a lengthy deliberation by the Board of Arbitration, in which the pro and con was considered, it was finally decided to have the conditions remain as they at present exist.

The Arbitration Board consisted of Messrs. W. H. Casement, representing the Lakefield Trustee Board; T. Miller, of Douro; Edward Hawthorne, representing Dummer and the County Public School Inspectors, Richard Lees and J. Coyle Brown.

If the change had been made Dummer would have been interested, as an alteration would have existed in the Garbutt School Section, in which the school is attended by scholars from both Douro and Dummer.

The proposal was to erect a new school near the Pine Grove Cheese Factory. In the discussion it was pointed out that pupils living only about a quarter of a mile from the Lakefield school would have had to travel about three times the distance to the proposed school at the factory. The majority of the spokesmen seemed to be against the change, and the sections will remain as they already exist.

Big Tent At Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp Blows Down In Storm

Camp Correspondent Writes Interesting Letter Of the First Day—Fish Are Biting Well—Having Good Time

THE COOK IS A FAVOURITE

Y.M.C.A. Camp, Sandy Point, July 17.—On Tuesday morning the advance party, consisting of Mr. Arnott and Archie Frowde, arrived in camp and found everything in first-class order. They soon had the tents up and a fine new addition added to the cookery as a supply house, which the cook has a big time watching.

The cook and Mr. Frowde were favoured with an invitation to breakfast at one of their cottages, and on their way back had enough luck to get an 8 lb. lunge.

Notes

The boys and the secretary arrived in camp on Wednesday, all prepared for a glorious time.

More boys arrived in camp yesterday, and more are expected to-day.

Some boys were exploring across the lake when they came face to face with a prickly monster, which they deemed wise to let alone.

Mr. Arnott, as usual, has his candy store at camp, which is visited quite often by the boys.

To-day the boys are enjoying the pleasures of rainy weather, listening to the stories of the cook.

You will hear from us in a few days with a large string of fish stories, as the fish are biting hard.

Yours, etc.,
Camp Correspondent.

Later

To-day the boys are enjoying the glories of rainy weather, listening to the stories of the cook and to the music of chipmunks at the back door. This morning "Monkey" got a big bass to the surface of the water that looked to weigh about five pounds, but it got away. Afterwards I caught five perch, and "Puddin'" caught one, and "Mit" none. We all got soaking wet.

This morning about 11 o'clock our big tent blew over, and there were some narrow escapes from suffocation. "Steve" and "Squaw" went out after dinner to meet the Water Lily. There was a heavy swell, but they secured their passenger and freight, and returned all right. A big checker tournament was played, "Squaw" winning out.

COLEMAN BROS. SPECIAL OPENING EVENT

Crowds Attracted on Saturday Night by Newly Remodelled Store—Now Equipped in Handsome Style

Coleman Bros., the enterprising confectioners, etc., of 426 George street, were the recipients of a "housewarming," on Saturday evening, so cordial and enthusiastic that it must have made the firm happy over the many "glad hands" which went out to greet and congratulate them. It was the occasion of the formal opening of their newly refitted ice cream parlours and palatial new soda water fountain. The Opera House Orchestra had been specially engaged for the event and when the hour arrived for the public reception crowds of citizens thronged the handsome store and stood out around the pavement. The crush kept up for two hours during the evening, and taxed the extra staff of busy saleladies and salesmen to their utmost.

The interior of the Coleman store elicited the admiration of all. Many bouquets of praise were showered at the active members of the firm for the good taste, and up-to-date business ideas which they have recently introduced, and which entitle them to claim one of the handsomest and most elaborately fitted up restaurants between Toronto and Montreal. One of the principal new features just installed is the beautiful new marble and onyx soda fountain with patent syrup lifts and improved attachments. A new freezing plant has also been added, with 134 feet of concrete flooring and an electric motor, which latter was connected up under the superintendent of Messrs. Alexander & Miller, electricians. The marble counter and shelving in connection with the fountain lends an air of purity and cleanliness to this section. The walls and ceilings have also been all treated to an artistic combination of new and effective wall coverings and to the woodwork nicely contrasting effects made in painting and graining. This work was done by the new decorating firm of Coleman Bros, brothers of the confectioners. A neat pattern of patent wire tables and chairs with oak tops from Hess Bros., of Gravenhurst, have replaced the former ones. A new silent salesman and go-between have also been added, which was kept on the hum all evening. The lighting of the store has been entirely remodelled and improved, the brilliant and pleasing new effects being the handiwork of Messrs. McGregor & Reid. The interior changes in the building were in charge of contractor Alderman Johnston.

FINE SONG SERVICE AT KNOX CHURCH

Explanation Given of the Origin and Use of Some Famous Hymns

A very interesting and enjoyable song service was held at Knox church last night and was entered into most heartily by a large congregation. A number of the most prominent hymns in the English language were rendered by the choir and congregation, and their origin expounded by the Rev. Mr. Keith. Speical attention was paid to the hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," and some biographical details were given of its author, Cardinal Newman, while a running explanation of the different phrases in the hymn was also made. Among the hymns that were sung during the service were "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," by Perronet; Bonner's "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," and Watt's most famous hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." Many remarks of appreciation of the service were heard at its close.

The Aftermath Of The Charivari; Parties Appear Before The Judge

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star has the following to say of the after math of that famous charivari in Hamilton township which was reported in the Examiner at the time:

Much interest centred in the Judges' Court yesterday, when Jas. Byers, of the township of Hamilton, was charged with unlawful wounding. The case arose out of a charivari party making things lively, because the son of the defendant was married. The occurrence took place on the 2nd of June, and a number of young men, by various devices, one stating that he played a musicale on a tin can, serenaded the place. Byers was charged with shooting and the musical gentleman got some snipe shot in the calf of the leg and his neck. Crown Attorney Kerr prosecuted, and E C S Huycke, K.C., defended. Judge Benson, who tried the case without a jury, dismissed the case.

Another case, arising out of the foregoing case, was immediately afterwards tried, in which Ernest Armstrong, Frank Gibson, Norman Armstrong, Fred Jervison, Jeffry Jervison, Thos Tanner, Wm. McClung, W. McClung, Jas. Gainor, Wellington Bateman, Bert Strong and W A Hare were charged with unlawful assembly. They were found guilty and were allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Narrowly Escaped Street Car Wheels In Fall From Bicycle

While Mr. Miles Henry was riding on his bicycle down George street at noon, he met with an accident which might have been attended with more serious results. The C. G. E. car was returning from its noon trip, and between George and Hunter streets it caught up with Mr. Henry. While it was still close beside him Mr. Henry was thrown from his wheel and narrowly escaped being thrown under the car. As it was, he completed a somersault but met with no serious injury.

CAMPERS RETURN FROM DEER BAY

Visits to the Huckleberry Patches—An Enjoyable Outing

Messrs. Geo. and Alcck Chalmers, Chas. Lacheur and Earl Armstrong, who have been spending a fortnight's holidays at Deer Bay, returned home on Saturday last. They report having had a most enjoyable time, the fishing was excellent and the huckleberries superb. Mr. Geo. Chalmers, who looked after the culinary department, proved a most capable cook, though his strength and skill were taxed to the uttermost on account of the abnormal appetites that the party developed during their stay. The increased weight of each individual member is sufficient evidence of the excellent quality of the viands on which they were regaled.

All the patients are being treated at home as there is no hospital to receive them.

OBITUARY

PATRICK DEVLIN

The funeral of the late Mr. Patrick Devlin was held from the family residence and St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Black Creek, Wis., on Thursday, July 9. Deceased was born in the township of Otonabee, Peterborough county, June 17, 1848. About 37 years ago he left his native county. In the winter of 1906 he returned to Peterborough on a visit, but was then suffering from rheumatism, which developed into spinal meningitis, causing his death.

Among those present at the funeral were Mr. W. J. Devlin, a brother; two nieces, Frank and David Devlin of Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McNeish of Appleton, Wis. The latter were formerly of Cavan and were lifelong friends of the deceased.

The funeral was largely attended, Mr. Devlin having had many friends in Black Creek.

MRS. T. M. D. CROLY

Death removed one of the city's oldest and most respected residents in the person of Rebecca Speer, wife of the late Mr. Thomas Murray David Croley, who passed away yesterday at the family home 736 George street. The deceased had been in poor health during the past six months and her advanced age combined with her illness.

The late Mrs. Croley was 87 years of age and was born in Armagh, Ireland. With her father she came to Canada in 1831 and settled in Smith township. She was married in 1835 her husband predeceasing her in 1903. The family is well known and its members highly respected.

The surviving children are a son, in New York and a daughter at home.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence 736 George street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Byron's Proposal.

Lord Byron in 1830 seriously turned his thoughts to matrimony. He confided to a friend his intention of proposing to Miss Milbanke, the daughter of Sir Ralph Milbanke. The friend thought some other lady more suitable and agreed with Byron to write a proposal for him. One day as the two were sitting together Byron received a refusal from the lady. "You see," said he, "that after all Miss Milbanke is to be the person. I will write to her." Accordingly he did so, and the friend, who was still opposed to his choice, on reading over the letter remarked: "It really is a very pretty letter. It is a pity it should not go." "Then it shall go," said Byron. It went, and the result was the miserable marriage which is now a matter of history.

Two Points of View.

An old Scotchwoman was walking to church with her family. The auld kirk minister rode past at a tremendous rate, and the old lady said to her children: "Siccan a wey to be ridin', and this the Sawbath day. Aweel, aweel, a gude man is marcifu' to his beast!"

Shortly afterward her own minister rode past just as furiously, and the worthy old wife cried: "Ah, there he goes! The Lord bless him, puir man! His heart's in his wark, an' he's eager to be at it."

LENGTHY SESSION NOW AT AN END

Only Prorogation of Parliament Remains For To-day.

FOSTER ATTACKS MILITIA

Member For North Toronto Makes a Long Address Criticising Sir Frederick Borden, to Little Purpose—Premier Explains Why Woollen Tariff Was Not Considered—Senators Discuss Prorogation.

Ottawa, July 20.—The longest session in the history of Parliament came to a close an hour before midnight Saturday, many of the members having already gone, some to Quebec, others to their homes. The attendance during the day was small, but even in the dying hours of a session, which he had helped to prolong more than any other member, Mr. Foster had to indulge his garrulity, with the result that it took a whole day to accomplish what might have been done in a very few hours. Mr. Foster's last kick was aimed at the Militia Department, but it utterly failed to hurt Sir Frederick Borden, and only gave the Minister of Militia another opportunity to score off the member for North Toronto.

Discussing the contract entered into with the Ross Rifle Co. for bayonets aggregating $25,000 Mr. Foster declared that at the outset the Minister gave the company 19 acres of land in Quebec as a site for one dollar a year and before he received a single rifle had paid out to the company over half a million dollars.

This, said Mr. Foster, was furnishing the company also with its capital. Now, while under the contract for bayonets, which was entered into without the knowledge of Parliament, the Government paid $5.25 per bayonet. The cost of a bayonet in the United States was $1.43, and $3 in Great Britain.

Sir Frederick Borden, in the course of his reply, said that without asking the sanction of Parliament Mr. Foster himself in 1896 bought bayonets in England at $3.71 each, and if the present duty were added to that it would bring the price up to $4.46. To-day the War Office was paying $3.11 1-2, or, adding the Canadian duty, about $4 each. Two tenders were received for the bayonets. The Ottawa Car Co. bid at $5.45 and the Ross Rifle Co. at $5.25, and the contract was awarded to the lowest tenderer.

Mr. Boyce of Algoma commented upon what he termed the suspicious conduct of Mr. Sifton in getting 1,500 miles away from the capital to make his denial of the charges brought against him. The telegram read by Sir Wilfrid Laurier from ex-Minister of the Interior, Mr. Boyce declared, was of a character that would have precluded its insertion in Hansard by Mr. Sifton himself. Therefore he had moved to have it struck out of Hansard.

Mr. Speaker, however, refused to put the motion, ruling that, having been attacked in his absence, Mr. Sifton had the right to make his denial as sweeping as he saw fit.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's reply to the plea of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for relief to the woollen industry was read in the House Saturday. It is in part as follows:

"The Government regrets that, with the present information, they are unable to agree with the proposal respecting increased duties on wool goods.

"A proposal to increase the taxes on what might be called a necessary of life, naturally arouses much opposition among the consumers and their representatives.

"The Government hopes that to some extent the difficulties which the manufacturers are meeting are not due to tariff conditions, but to a depression in trade which they believe but temporary. This view is supported by the fact that in the neighboring republic, where a very high wool tariff is in operation, there has been trade depression.

"The Government, with due regard to the people of all sections of the country, feel that this is not the moment at which they should adopt a policy of increased taxation, especially on articles of a necessary character.

"The complaints that have been made by the woollen trade as to evasions of the customs laws are being carefully looked into.

"The question of tariff revision as respects the woollen industries cannot possibly be dealt with in the few hours of this session that remain. We can assure the manufacturers that we are fully appreciative of the industry and that if we cannot at this stage meet their wishes it is because we are obliged to consider the wishes of all classes throughout the country."

At the opening of the Senate Saturday, Senator Lougheed asked as to prorogation, and Hon. Mr. Scott stated that the deputy to prorogue Governor-General would prorogue Parliament on Monday.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said he had been informed that the absence of the Governor-General was on account of a dinner party that is to be given in Quebec by the Chief Justice of Canada, who is deputy to the Governor-General, and that Parliament had to be kept in session for a day or two in order to accommodate the Chief Justice. Sir Mackenzie could not approve of this.

Senator Watson said it seemed to be a great pity that members of Parliament who had been at Ottawa almost eight months should be inconvenienced for 48 hours or more for the convenience of gentlemen who ought to be present for the purpose of closing Parliament.

Senator Power regretted that Senator Watson had felt called upon to make the statements the Senate had just heard, because if any officer whose duty it is to prorogue Parliament were present Parliament would not be ready for him. Senator Power said he was glad to hear Sir Mackenzie Bowell, and he proposed to discuss the supply bill at some length. In view of that announcement, Senator Power asked what use there was in asking an officer to attend to the prorogue.

The Governor-General's Foot Guards had decided to leave for Quebec last night. They arranged that Parliament should be closed without a guard of honor, and that the whole regiment should go to Quebec. Late on Saturday sudden orders from the D.O.C. put an end to the arrangements, and they were told to furnish a guard of honor for noon on Monday, when Parliament would be prorogued with the usual ceremonies that someone had mysteriously abolished on Saturday.

BOYCOTT IS AT HAND.

Chinese Will Retaliate on Canada's Opium Bill.

Montreal, July 20.—Private advices received here from the Pacific coast lead the mercantile classes in this city to believe that a very persistent boycott is at hand on the part of the most powerful commercial body in China against the Dominion of Canada and her trade.

All this has been brought about by the action of the Canadian Government against the opium trade. The fact that the Government has made no allowance in the way of compensation for the injury they have inflicted upon the Chinese dealers on the Pacific coast, comes in for strong criticism on the part of the leading Chinese merchants of British Columbia.

The result is that a very powerful —in fact, all-powerful—guild, known as the "Seventy-Two Companies," will take the matter up. It is promised that every possible opportunity will be availed of to secure a severe blow at the trade of this country.

Big Negro Runs Amuck In Train Near Galt.

Galt, July 20.—A herculean negro, standing 6 feet 4 inches, weighing 175 pounds, boarded the Grand Trunk train at Harrisburg Friday night. He was wild drunk and terrorized the train crew and passengers all the way to Galt. Everybody was afraid to tackle the ruffian, who marched through the coaches yelling and offering insults to the lady passengers.

A wire from Branchton to Galt police brought two officers to the station and the negro was overpowered and lodged in the cells.

Monteith Will Stay.

Toronto, July 20.—Hon. Nelson Monteith will remain Minister of Agriculture in the Ontario Government, says The Sunday World.

Mr. James Torrence, who carried North Perth by over 200 majority over his Liberal opponent, Wellington Hay, will become registrar, thus giving the Minister of Agriculture his opportunity.

Hon. Mr. Monteith has had in hand for some time plans for the improvement of the agricultural interests of the province, and both the Premier and the Minister were reluctant that the fortunes of an election should interfere with their realization.

His death was the result of a scuffle on one of the car platforms. Sergt. Murray, his antagonist, also fell and was badly shaken up.

Quebec, July 20.—All the grey old ghosts of the Canadian centuries might have been parading the gloomy, rain-drenched streets of Quebec on Saturday night when the C. P. R. train which left Montreal at 9 o'clock in the morning rolled its hungry, weary load into the City of Champlain about 7 o'clock.

But on Sunday morning the streets were gradually discerned to be rich in studied color; with arches at every other street of hemlock or of brighter holiday material. Flags at every window, trophies on every wall, making a dazzle of changing light through the drizzle, broke up the heavy obscurity.

And when the rain ceased the narrow, precipitous streets grew more crowded and hilarious, and became a riotous sparkling patchwork of electric lights and thronging crowds.

Earl Grey attended divine service on board H. M. S. Albemarle with Capt. Newton. The English cathedral of the Holy Trinity was crowded with dragoons, artillery and the garrison troops of the citadel, who occupied the north aisles, while the public, including Lord Roberts, in mufti, the Countess and Lady Sybil Grey, Gen. and Lady Beatrice Pole-Carew, the latter the most beautiful Irishwoman alive, Dr. Parkin and other distinguished citizens crowded the rest of the churches.

Dean Williams preached from the text, "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations."

Lord Lovat and Mayor Garneau attended 9 o'clock mass at the Basilica at the same time as the Duke of Norfolk. Sixty French and 150 English sailors also attended. The sermon by Father Maguire was in English, a most unusual thing. Father O'Reilly, a chaplain of the fleet, also took part in the celebration.

After the service the French and British sailors, headed by the band of the Exmouth, marched together to the wharves.

L'Association Catholique de la Juenesse Canadienne Francaise, which corresponds to some extent in Quebec with the Y. M. C. A. in Ontario, held a great demonstration around the statue of Champlain on Dufferin Terrace Sunday afternoon. Speeches were made by several prominent French-Canadians.

Marquis of Lewis and Marquis of Montcalm arrived Saturday night from France via New York, and were given a cordial reception. Two hundred members of the British Veterans' Association also arrived from Boston.

Visitors can still be accommodated but it is advisable to secure rooms beforehand. Three dollars a day for small single rooms appears to be the regular charge. Visitors who do not mind inconvenience and who do not want more than actual necessaries, can scrape along on $5 a day.

The U. S. battleship New Hampshire is expected at 10 o'clock to-day.

Fire at Cobalt.

Cobalt, July 20.—Fire destroyed two buildings here yesterday morning. They were located up near the Coniagas line, and as a result the Cobalt steam laundry, Earle's paint shop and Macdonald's bottling works were destroyed. In the Hunter building there were several tenants who lost part of their furniture. The fire was out in an hour, owing to the excellent work of the fire brigade. Spontaneous combustion is given as a probable cause of the fire.

Fixes Funeral; Shoots Himself.

New York, July 20.—After making complete arrangements for his own funeral and writing a polite note of apology to the coroner for the trouble he was about to cause him, Joseph G. Michaelowski, went into a clump of bushes in Central Park yesterday and blew out his brains. He told the coroner in his note that he was unable longer to endure the suffering which had accompanied long and painful illness.

Irish Oppose Removal.

London, July 20.—(C. A. P.)—The Irish party will oppose unanimously the efforts to remove the Canadian embargo. They say it would involve Ireland in bankruptcy. The Weekly Despatch puts the question before the people as "cheap meat or dear."

Found Drowned.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 20.—A party of men employed at the Government dock found the body of H. Bedard. The man was apparently about 50 years old, 5 feet 7 inches high, and dressed in the clothing of a lumberjack.

Takes Cramps; Drowns.

Ottawa, July 20.—A 17-year-old protege of the Catholic Immigration Society was drowned yesterday morning at Jockvale, near Ottawa. A boy who attempted his rescue took cramps and had in his turn to be rescued.

Killed by Live Wire.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 20.—John Fowle, a young Englishman, 22 years of age, was electrocuted in the auxiliary power plant of the Algoma Steel Co. by coming in contact with a live wire carrying 2,100 volts, which he accidentally touched with his hand.

ATHLETICS LOST CLOSE GAME IN COBOURG BY SCORE OF 4-2; TWO DRIVES MADE INTO LAKE

By the close score of 4 to 2 the Athletics were defeated in their Midland League game at Cobourg on Saturday after giving the lakeshore bunch a nip and tuck struggle for the honours. Owing to the fact that Donegan Park was in bad shape from the rain on Friday, the game was played at Victoria Park, down by the lake, and features of the game were two drives into the water, one of which made by "Fish" Mackrell was good for a homer, while only a high diving exhibition by Jimmy Callaghan saved another four-sacker. Dick Turpin swung lustily on the Spalding and drove it into the lake, but Callaghan was there with a life-saving stunt and waded out after it, holding the big first baseman at third.

Cobourg were without the services of their foreign allies, Thirdbaseman Wyneberg, Second-baseman King and Pitcher Turner, who have been with them all season, playing an entire home-brew team, three of whom it is said had no certificates. McKinnon was on the slab with Floyd catching, Turpin 1b, Bulzar 2b, Burger ss, and old Peter Duncan, who has played ball for more years than he likes to tell, on third. Burger put up a great game at short, getting everything that came his way.

Quinlan pitched good ball for the Athletics but Cobourg seems to be his hoodoo team, nearly all his losses in the Midland League having been inflicted by the Ferry bunch. Dubbie Shea was behind the bat, while Rattray moved out to short, and both did good work in their new positions.

Cobourg had the scores 2 to 0, but the Athletics succeeded in tying it up again. In the seventh, however, the homesters annexed two runs, and and it was enough to win for them. The Athletics got two men on bases in the ninth but could not shove past a counter.

McMahon of Cobourg umpired, and the Athletics claim he is not the best ever. His work, especially in the last innings, was not satisfactory.

The Athletics lined up as follows:
Quinlan, pitcher.
Shea, catcher
Gresham, 1st base.
Flaherty, 2nd base.
Rattray, shortstop.
Mackrell, 3rd base.
Callaghan, left.
Connors, centre.
Pilling, right.

The team had an enjoyable trip, going down to Gore's Landing by launch and driving to Cobourg from that point. Coming back, the launch got tangled in the weeds while crossing Rice Lake and it took three hours to get through, with the result that the team did not reach home till 4 a.m. Sunday.

PETES BEAT STRATHCONAS IN TEN INNINGS GAME BY 5-4

Instead of the Midland League game, which was to have taken place but which was called off on account of Port Hope's default, the Peterboroughs played a practice game with the Strathconas, the City League leaders, the Midlanders winning by 5—4, after an interesting ten innings struggle, in which the City League team made a remarkably good showing. Hawkins, of the Petes, pitched for the Strathconas, and he kept his team mates on the jump all the time, giving a clean exhibition of twirling. His support for the most part was good, the City Leaguers putting up a creditable game in the field. Shaw had three pretty catches in left field, one of which resulted in a double play, and Kendry played a faultless game at short, accepting all his chances cleanly.

Clements was on the rubber for the Petes, and was invincible in all but two innings, the first and the ninth. His support at the start was not gilt edged, but the teams settled down and at the finish were fielding fast and cleanly.

The Strathconas caught the big leaguers napping in the first, and hits by Kendry and Hawkins, counted with errors by Anderson and O'Brien, and a low throw to third by Edmunds, were responsible for three runs.

The Petes got one in the third and three in the seventh, putting them one in the lead. The Strathconas had a good chance to win in the ninth, when they filled the bases with none out, but reckless base running spoiled their chances, although they succeeded in getting one man across and tying the score.

The Petes failed to score in their half and the City Leaguers were blanked in the first of the tenth.

In the Petes' half Staunton was safe on Hawkins' error, and Burns and Murphy hit safely, filling the bases with none out. Staunton scored on a passed ball, and the game was over.

The Straths had their regular line up, with the exception of Hawkins, while the Petes had seven of the Midland League line up on. Archie Seymour was umpire and managed to escape with his life, although he was in danger all the time.

The teams were as follows:

DICK BAKER SAYS THAT SIMPSON IS FIT AND WELL AND GOING STRONG

"Dick" Baker, trainer of the Y.M.C.A. Harriers, who is one of the training staff with the Canadian Olympic team in England, writes the Examiner as follows:

"We had a splendid time Saturday at the Amateur Association meeting for the English championships. Bobby Kerr winning the 100 and 200 yards and Archibald winning the pole vault with 12 feet, beating the English record by three inches. It certainly was a great day for us. The team is fast coming around, although the climate is certainly affecting some of the boys.

"Fred Simpson is going good. He walked the full course yesterday and ran 20 miles on Friday.

"We are having a fine time, considering that the team is in training. They keep me very busy, and there is nothing in being a trainer, only hard work.

"I distinguished myself during the sports on Saturday. Archibald, the Canadian pole vaulter, was in difficulties just as he was taking his final jump. It came on to rain, his pole got wet and he slipped. They got him sawdust, but it was not good. I went to the dressing room, got some towels and kept the pole dry during the rain. I am credited with winning the pole vault. I guess you will see something about it in the Evening Telegram."

ANOTHER "KNOCKER" IS EXISTING

Mr. Bailey Quotes From the Review to Substantiate His Statements

Editor Examiner.

Sir,—The editor of the Review accuses me of "knocking Canada and Canadians." Perhaps a few extracts from that journal would enable your readers to judge whether it is that runs down their country:

"TRADE INCREASES SLOWLY CANADA MAKES POOR SHOWING"

The Balance of Trade—Several Hundred Millions Against Her—The G. T. P. Has Failed to Float the Bonds—Tens of Thousands out of Work—A Record of Maladministration.

"If everything about Canadian trade is so good, why is it that Canada is in the throes of a financial horror ——"—The Review.

The Doukhobor—"He will not stay in Canada, although we paid to bring him here. He is a sample copy of the latest and enlarged edition of 'The Bungler's Paradise' being a full and typified account of the 'Great West, and Who Stole It.'"—The Review.

Then as late as the 15th inst. I read in one column of the Review: "The extravagance of the Laurier administration has brought us to the brink of ruin." "The necessity of a reconstruction of our own tariff is plain. Great Britain has caught up, and we are again in danger of being made trade victims of other countries, as we are now the money victims. When the G.T.R. was in a bad way Mr. Hayes was sent for. Canada is in a bad way, and the leader of Conservatism must be sent for."

Yours, etc.,
W. A. BAILEY,

"THE DAYLIGHT STORE"
WHERE DO YOU BUY YOUR CLOTHES?

This is a very important matter, and still so many men think it of no consequence. They buy just anywhere they happen to see something that strikes their fancy.
There's a difference in stores as well as in clothes. Some stores go in for cheapness, others for quality.

Which Do You Prefer?

It should be quality, because good workmanship increases the wear.
Our Sovereign Brand, Fit Rite and Northway Clothing is made to wear, has all the new style kinks and the price is extremely low, quality considered. When at the Exhibition be sure to visit our Clothing Emporium on the grounds, where we will have displayed some of the new fall styles, which are quite convincing. They will help you decide where to buy your fall and winter necessities.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS COMMENCES; P. C. NEWHALL TELLS STORY OF THEIR ARREST

Case Began Before Judge Weller This Morning — Officer's Evidence Did Not Differ Much From That Given at the Preliminary Hearing

EXAMINED THIS AFTERNOON

The trial of the four alleged pickpockets, Herbert Hamilton, George Williams, Joseph Adams and Jas. Graney, who were arrested on circus day, June 17th, by P. C's Newhall and Meharry, commenced this morning before His Honour Judge Weller. The interest shown in the case was evidenced by the big crowd of spectators present who followed the evidence eagerly until an adjournment was made for luncheon at 12.30. The morning session was taken up with the testimony of P. C. Newhall, whose cross-examination took place this afternoon. Crown Attorney R E Wood conducted the prosecution while Mr. D O'Connell is looking after the interests of the prisoners.

The latter looked none the worse for their month's confinement in gaol and watched the proceedings with breathless interest.

P. C. Newhall's evidence did not differ in any material respect from that given at the preliminary examination. Mr. O'Connell objected to certain parts of it being allowed.

P. C. Newhall's Evidence

His evidence in part was as follows—:

"About 11 o'clock that morning I noticed the prisoner Williams, in the vicinity of C.P.R. station. I watched him for a couple of minutes. I met the 11.16 train at the C.P.R. I then came to the police station, talked to the chief and then went to the G.T.R. station. I again noticed Williams. When the train came in from Lindsay there was a large crowd, there being two wedding parties. I noticed the other three prisoners on the platform of the rear of the second coach. A large number were trying to board the train. Adams, the prisoner came down the steps first. Mr. E McTaggart was trying to board the second coach. Adams got behind him on his left hand side, Hamilton got in front of Mr. McTaggart and Graney stood on the gentleman's right. Adams right hand went into Mr. McTaggart's left hand pants' pocket, pulled out what appeared to be a pocket-book. Hamilton and Graney pushed him, knocking him down. The three quickly got out of the crowd, all going in different directions till they reached Charlotte street. Williams remained on the platform. When the three reached the freight sheds, Graney remained on the sidewalk and Hamilton and Adams got right close up to the freight shed. Adams passed several bank bills to Hamilton. Hamilton put them in his trouser's pocket. Williams and Graney approached Hamilton and Adams said something, and they appeared to take great stock of me from that moment. I had previously drawn the attention of Alex and James Reid to the prisoners. When I saw they notice-

Body Recovered This Morning—Coroner Gray Says No Inquest —Details of Accident

BURIAL AT YOUNG'S POINT

Examiner Special

Lakefield, July 21.—After searching for practically two nights and a day, the body of Joseph Molieff, the unfortunate man who was drowned on Sunday evening was recovered this morning about 10.30 o'clock near Dam No. 2.

Further particulars of the sad affair show that he and Harry Dodds, companion, upset in the manner described in yesterday's Examiner. The occupants of two vehicles going from Peterborough to Lakefield saw the young men clinging to the overturned canoe and put out in a punt to the rescue. Before they arrived Molieff had sunk. His companion states that he appeared to be holding onto the canoe with a death grip, for, when the sank he went to the bottom like a stone and never appeared again.

Dodds was on the point of letting go his hold and there undoubtedly would have been a double drowning had not the rescuing party encouraged him to cling to the craft a few moments longer.

The search for the body was unavailing until this morning at 10.30 when it was located by David Godfrey. He was accompanied by Harry Dodds and M Hynes. The body was brought to Bickell's undertaking establishment. The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning to the Young's Point Cemetery.

His brother, who has just been out from Ireland about a month, is here and his father and another brother are at Nairn Centre. They only arrived in Canada during the last year.

Coroner Gray was notified of the finding of the body, but on learning the particulars he decided an inquest was unnecessary.

MAN ATTACKED AND BEATEN WAS A HORSE THIEF HIMSELF

Gets Sympathy From Port Perry People—Was Ungrateful to His Benefactors

SPOTTED BY A DETECTIVE

Port Perry, July 21.—(Special). — Frederick John Lodge, with whom a few days ago sympathy was generally felt on account of the savage attacks made upon him at Port Perry, turns out to be a horse thief.

Lodge was attacked by three men, bound, gagged and beaten, and then left in a pitiable condition behind a barn. He was discovered and received medical treatment, while his alleged assailants were arrested by Detective Miller. The detective at the time recognized Lodge as a man who some time ago was sentenced at Woodstock to a term of several years' imprisonment for stealing a horse and rig at Hamilton.

Lodge proved ungrateful to his benefactors. He was well treated by the citizens of Port Perry, and when he had practically recovered a livery keeper, named Denison, lent him a horse and rig to go for a drive. He took the rig to Markham, sold the outfit for $30 and decamped. Detective Miller, however, managed to trace him, and on Saturday he was once more arrested on a charge of horse stealing.

With regard to the attacks on Lodge, it is said that his assailants mistook him for a horseman named John Darcy, of Oshawa, whom he resembled and who was known to have a large sum of money in his possession.

Rev. Wm. Major May Be Rector Of St. George's Church, Montreal

It is stated to-day that the Rev. Wm. Major, rector of All Saints' Anglican Church, has been appointed by the Bishop of Montreal to the rectorate of St. George's Church, Montreal. This is one of the most important Anglican churches in that city. A former rector was Bishop Carmichael, well known all over Canada, and who subsequently became Bishop of Montreal.

When spoken to to-day by the Examiner, Rev. Mr. Major would not say anything in connection with the statement.

If Mr. Major goes to Montreal he will be the second Anglican minister from this city to assume the rectorship of churches there. Rev. Dr. Herbert Symonds is now at Christ Church, Montreal.

Nothing definite has been learned. It seems that All Saints' Church will lose Rev. Mr. Major, and probably in the near future.

THE POSITION OF REV. DR. HOSSACK.

Mr. Hossack was until a few months ago a Presbyterian minister in regular standing as pastor of a congregation in the northern part of the city of Toronto. He had, before entering the ministry, received a legal training and had practised law.

Four years ago he published a long letter, giving the public his reasons for believing that the Ross Government should not be sustained at the then impending general election. Before the late provincial election, in like manner, he published a letter telling the electors why in his opinion the Whitney Government should be driven from office and he entered the field as an independent candidate in North Toronto. He was defeated, but passed through the contest without discredit.

Before entering on his campaign Mr. Hossack resigned his pastorate, as he was in duty bound to do. After his defeat his congregation requested him to withdraw his resignation, which had not then been accepted by the Presbytery of Toronto. This he has declined to do, and by this refusal he has virtually entered the field of politics to stay. Under the circumstances there is no fault to be found with Mr. Hossack. He has done his best to resume his lay status, and he has shown that he is an able debater, an astute fighter and a good loser.

The public will now watch the career of Mr. Hossack with a good deal of interest. He has a good physique, a prepossessing presence, good ability, and fair debating capacity. Perhaps he may return to the practice of law. If he does, and if he chooses to keep himself before the province as an advocate of rational temperance reform, he may prove a formidable antagonist to the Whitney combination. There are none too many able men in the Provincial Legislature, and for this reason the resolution of Mr. Hossack, if we have rightly defined his intention, is one on which the province is to be congratulated.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

For fifteen years past it has been the law of Great Britain that live cattle imported into that country shall be slaughtered at the place of landing, within ten days after their arrival. Cattle thoroughly fattened or finished in Canada are not in condition to stand a rough and long voyage. Consequently, when they arrive at Liverpool they are in a demoralized condition. The tendency, therefore, is to send the cattle insufficiently fit for beef purposes, and ten days is too short a time for either the recuperation of thoroughly fattened cattle or the more complete development of perfectly fit cattle.

During the past dozen years those British farmers who had theretofore made a profitable practice of fattening young cattle imported from Canada, have been endeavouring to secure the repeal of the prohibition above referred to. They would like to take cattle imperfectly fed and complete their finishing for beef purposes. Apart from the dangers and losses of the trans-Atlantic voyage, the Canadian farmer is very much hampered in feeding cattle, because of the scarcity of labour. Thousands of Ontario farmers could raise cattle up to two years old and then sell them at a profit. The same cattle could then be fed for a few months in Great Britain to make another profit for the British feeder and farmer. This would be an extremely interesting example of co-operation, where there is no loss to either party, except the rough mismanagement of one's own business.

The Canadian Government has been endeavouring to exercise every legitimate kind of pressure to secure the repeal of the embargo on the importation of live cattle for feeding purposes. The plea on which the law is based is the protection of British herds from infection or contagion through such diseases as pleuro-pneumonia. It has been demonstrated in the most thorough manner that for many years there has not been in the Dominion of Canada either this or the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease. It looks very much as if the real motive of the embargo is the protection of the British farmer against the competition of Canadian cattle. This would be if true a case of reprehensible want of candour.

As all the efforts to secure the repeal of the embargo have so far been in vain, it is interesting to note that there is a rising tide of opposition to it in Great Britain. At present this feeling of antagonism is most strongly developed amongst the local dealers in meat, and they have been aroused by the cutting of prices by the Chicago houses which have established numerous "shops" in London and other cities. To the feeding farmers and the shop-keepers will soon be added the consumers of meat, who have more interest in the removal of the embargo than any other class, and who also have more votes in Parliamentary elections. It seems, therefore, not improbable that before long there may be legislation on the subject, either in the way of extending the time within which cattle must be slaughtered or widening the area within which "store" cattle may be fed to a finish. Every extension of this sort should be welcomed by farmers of Canada. A well known Western cattle dealer once stated publicly that eight dollars would be added to the value of every exportable animal by the repeal of the embargo. If we cut down this estimate to five or four dollars it would still be an enormous premium on the live cattle trade. All Canadian farmers, whether exporters or not, should sympathize with this movement and lend it their influence.

THE ORANGEMEN AT THE PETERBOROUGH WALK

Few Figured in Police Court on the Following Morning

That a temperance wave is passing over the entire North American continent is conclusively proved by the following facts received from a thoroughly authentic source.

On Monday of last week an Orange demonstration took place in the city of Peterborough. It was estimated that over 16,000 visitors came to the city, which, with the present population of over 16,000 souls, totals up to over 32,000 people.

At Police Court the following morning eight men only were charged with drunkenness, of which four cases were dismissed, two were remanded, and the remaining two were fined $2 each. Of the latter four, not a single man was an Orangeman, and of the original eight charged, not a man was a resident of Peterborough. Can any other town or city on the continent beat this record?—Mail and Empire.

TRIAL OF THE ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS COMMENCED

ed me I returned to Mr. Alex Reid. He had a trunk and a valise taking them to his express wagon. Adams and Graney were close behind me. I said, "Where does that train go to," He said "Port Hope." I said "Take that trunk and valise up to Smith street for me." He took them and I paid him a quarter. Adams and Graney seemed satisfied and went away. Then the four came back. They were pushing and jostling about the passengers. Finally they all left pretty quickly, walking a few yards apart from each other. They went east, along Charlotte street to the Snowden House, went in there for a few moments, came out and went to the Greek restaurant, travelling about ten yards apart. Williams wasn't with the other three. There was a crowd on the corner of Charlotte and George streets. Hamilton got behind a man fumbling at his hip pockets. Graney and Adams were jostling against the same man. They crossed the street to another crowd, tried the same business there. Then they went to the White House and remained. As I was coming away from the White House I noticed Williams on the opposite side of the street. I came to the police station, found the chief had gone to dinner. I went to the Crown Hotel and found him there. I told him what had happened and for another man.

Saw Them on Cars

I then went home. I boarded a car at Hunter street and at Charlotte street Adams, Hamilton and Graney got on it. The car was crowded and they were perfectly quiet until they reached the C. P. R. station when they commenced jostling and pushing the people. Hamilton appeared to be trying one man's hippocket, and Graney and Adams were shoving. The conductor came along. They stood outside, one on the west and two on the east side of the vestibule. When they arrived at the grounds, Williams was standing there. The other three jumped off before the car stopped. All four went along Lansdowne street and into the grounds. I watched them for a few minutes, then went home.

Actions at Circus

In fifteen minutes, dressed in old clothes, I returned and met P. C. Meharry. We watched the cars for a while, then went into the grounds. Opposite the big tent there were some booths, a small crowd being in front of each one. Graney was walking up and down, Williams was at the big tent, and Adams was in the crowd. I didn't see Hamilton. I watched them and Detective Robinson of the C.P.R. was close by Graney. I heard Robinson tell a man to keep watch on Graney. From that moment they cleared right away. I lost sight of them all. Robinson came up and spoke to Meharry. On the west side of the big tent I saw Williams, Adams and Graney come from under the big tent. They laid down on the grass. Adams took off his coat. I kept watch on them for a few minutes.

Three Arrested

Meharry came along and we arrested the three and said that we were arresting them for picking pockets. Adams and Williams tried to get away. Finally we got them handcuffed and brought them to the police station.

P. C. Newhall also testified to the searching of the prisoners at the police station, and the finding on them a large amount of money concealed in their clothes.

His Honour did not consider that as evidence against the prisoners, remarking that a man had a right to hide his money and valuables wherever he liked.

"If we arrested everyone that hides his money," he remarked, "the gaols would be full. You wouldn't think men with money like that would pick pockets."

The case was adjourned until 2.30 o'clock.

HAVING MERRY TIMES AT CHEMONG

The Latest Happenings From That Pretty Spot—Dancing Popular.

Examiner Special

Chemong Park, July 21.Everything is lively at the Park these times, and the young folk in particular are spending splendid vacations. One of the amusing incidents of the past few days was the sudden appearance of two black faced ladies who looked as if they had suddenly been transported from Georgia in the South. The fact of the matter was their more strenuous friends had compelled the use of pop-black, and the supposed rarities were common folk. The young ladies retaliated, and last night pollywogs wiggled their way among the furniture of the bedrooms of the boys. In this way matters were squared.

Saturday night saw a merry dance at the pavilion. Several residents of the park and a number of visitors joined in, and the tripping of the light fantastic prevailed until after the hour of 11.

A large oak tree fell across the road in the village during the rain storm on Friday and scared a few of the residents.

Sailing is popular on the lake. On Sunday several white-wings were out and made many triangles on the rippled surface.

Miss Annie Brooks, of Syracuse, N. Y., visited at the Park on Sunday.

Mr. J. Keough, Troy, N.Y., spent a few days here last week.

Miss Irene Munro, who has been summering here, went to Peterborough on Monday and returned today.

Most of the Peterborough people who have cottages, spent Sunday with their families here.

The Park Hotel is the usual popular spot it has always been, and has this year harboured several tourists. Many others are expected in the near future.

ANOTHER BIG 'LUNGE IN EXAMINER COMPETITION

Captured by Mr. John Doris, Aged 75 Years, at Campbelltown

Mr. J J Howden returned from Campbelltown, Otonabee River, to-day and tells of a large 'lunge caught by a man of 75 years, which will probably stand a chance of winning the Examiner prize of a trawling outfit. The lucky angler was Mr. John Doris, of Otonabee. He was trawling with the line in his mouth when the finny monster took the bait. He at first thought of a log, but when he saw his reel and line float away he knew different.

Following the reel in the canoe he succeeded in capturing the 'lunge which Mr. Howden states is one of the finest specimens he ever saw.

SOME EXCITEMENT IN MILLBROOK

What Happens When a Keg Finds Its Way Into Local Option Town

Examiner Special

Millbrook, July 20.—The talk of the town to-day has been the actions of a number of young men who seemed to think, according to one side of the story, that they owned Millbrook during the early hours of Sunday morning. Millbrook, of course, is on the dry list, and the boys only celebrate occasionally. On Saturday evening a keg was brought in, and possibly about midnight or some time later it was empty.

Then the excitement began. Five of the party, or some portion of them, undertook to do the Carrie Nation act, and a number of windows in the station hotel were smashed beyond repair. Russell's and McDougall's stores were the next to suffer. Evidently stones were hurled thorugh the plate glass windows, from their appearance next morning when the sun rose.

The midnight wanderers did not have things all their own way. Hearing the plate glass window smash, Mr. McDougall hurried to the street and captured the leader. No sooner was this accomplished than Mr. Russell, another sufferer, joined the company and, in the darkness and excitement, grabbed two men, one of whom, however, turned out to be Mr. McDougall. The other, of course, was the prisoner. The latter was let go but next morning he and one of his companions were arrested and placed behind the bars. Later in the day they secured bail, and the trial comes off to-night.

Correspondence sent to the Telegram, Toronto, from London, written on July 11, gives the following account of the Marathon trial: Perhaps the most important trial was the one made over twenty miles of the course by Cotter, Goldsboro, Simpson, Lawson, Caffrey, Wood, Lister and Noseworthy. The two last named were given ten minutes start, the other six starting together. The first mile was run in five minutes with the runners well bunched; three miles were covered in sixteen minutes, Cotter, Simpson, Goldsboro, and Lawson being together at the five mile mark. The time was 28.08. Cotter had dropped back a bit at this point. The time for the ten miles was 58.40. At twelve miles little Cotter caught the leaders again and started in to set the pace. Goldsboro and Lawson dropped back here, the former suffering from a stitch in the side and the latter complaining of bad feet.

On the thirteenth mile Simpson went to the front, and with Cotter they drew away about 300 yards from Lawson and Goldsboro. The pace was a little too fast for Cotter, and Simpson had the rest of the running to himself. At the fourteenth mile he overlook Noseworthy, and caught up Lister at the eighteenth. He finished in his usual strong manner in 1 hour 57 1-2 minutes. Cotter came along 2 1-2 minutes later, closely followed by Lawson and Goldsboro, who were likewise running strong, with plenty left in them. Whether Canada wins this event or not, it is altogether likely that there will be more maple leaves in the first ten finishers than any other emblem.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, July 20.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending July 18 were 3143 cattle, 577 sheep and lambs, 1065 hogs and 340 calves. The wants for local consumption this morning consisted of 1200 cattle, 25 sheep and lambs, 355 hogs and 50 calves. This was lambs, 355 hogs and 50 calves. There was no actual change in the condition of the market for cattle since this day week, but the feeling continues easy owing to the fact that supplies are coming forward more freely and are somewhat in excess of the requirements of the local trade, as the consumption of beef during the hot weather is smaller than usual. Therefore the demand from butchers was rather lighter to-day and chiefly for small lots to fill actual wants; in consequence, trade was a little slow, as exporters were not in the market for any stock, on account of the quality not being up to the mark for that purpose. Really choice grass-fed steers and heifers were scarce, there being none on the market, and the top prices realized for the best were 5½c to 5¾c, while fairly good stock sold at 4¾c to 5¼c; fair at 4c to 4½c, and lower grades at from 2½c to 3½c per lb.

Owing to the low prices that have been bid for sheep during the past two weeks from exporters, receipts have fallen off to almost nothing; in consequence, supplies are very limited this morning, for which there was an improved demand, and the undertone to the market was stronger at an advance of ¼c per lb., with sales of a few small lots of choice at 3¾c per lb., and this figure would have been paid for a full carload, while culls sold at 3½c. The market for lambs was also stronger, with a good demand from local buyers at $4.60 to $5.50 each. There were no choice calves offered, but the demand was good for what stock was on the market, at prices ranging from $3 to $6 each. A much stronger feeling developed in the market for hogs this morning, and prices scored an advance of ¾c to 40c per 100 lbs. This was due principally to the fact that the receipts showed a considerable falling off, there being only about 400 head on the market. Cable advices from the leading foreign markets on Saturday were also very firm in tone, which tended to add strength to the situation. The demand from packers and dealers was good, and sales of selected lots were made at $7.25, and one lot of a bunch of 50 was sold to a Quebec buyer at $7.40 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

CANADIAN FORESTRY ASSOCIATION

The Work of the Dominion Government in Surveying, Protecting and Planting Forests

TREES DISTRIBUTED FREE

The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior deals only with forestry work on lands belonging to the Dominion Government, and hence its work is confined to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the "railway belt" in British Columbia.

This branch is at present working chiefly along three lines, viz.: (1) the protection of existing forests from fire; (2) the survey of the forest reserves, including the estimation of the timber on these reserves, both as regards the timber actually standing on the reserves and the future growth; (3) the free distribution of seedling trees and cuttings to farmers in the prairie provinces.

The system of fire protection on Dominion lands is similar to that in use in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, in that rangers are employed to patrol the forests, put out incipient fires and employ assistance when the fire is too large for them to handle alone. They also post fire notices and instruct the settlers as to the danger from fires, the care necessary in guarding fires, and similar points, and endeavour to secure their assistance and co-operation. This last is not the least important part of their duties. On timber lands under license, one half the cost of ranging is paid by the government and half by the lessee; on lands not under license the government pays the whole expense.

The Dominion forest reserves were set aside by act of parliament in 1906, and cover an agregate area of 5,400 square miles in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. The forest survey work on these is now in its fourth season, having been begun in 1905. Such surveys of the Turtle Mountain, (Man.) and Moose Mountain (Sask.) reserves have been completed. That of the Riding Mountain (Man.) reserve is now in its third season, but as the reserve covers an area of over 1,500 square miles, the work is one of considerable magnitude. Another party is at work this season in "The Pines" reserve, in the neighbourhood of Prince Albert, Sask.

The scheme of free distribution of trees to farmers operated by the Forestry Branch is one of the best known parts of its work. Since its inception in 1901 there has been distributed a total of eleven million trees—more than enough to plant a double row of trees, four feet apart each way, along each side of the C. P. R. track from Fort William, Ont., to Vancouver, B. C. The average sent out each spring for the past five years is two millions. The trees are raised at the branch's nursery at Indian Head, Sask.

Number Of Fast Launches On Rice Lake At Present

A Few Happenings From the Watering Places to the South—Increased Rates at the Summer Resorts—Many Guests Booked

CAMPERS ARE NUMEROUS

Examiner Special

The midsummer season at Rice Lake has brought the number of visitors up to the usual register, and the various resorts are enjoying good business. All the houses have this year increased their rates, but this action has not apparently cut off any of the guests who usually summer at the lake.

Among the yachts that are seen this year are three fast ones. One is at Gore's Landing, another at Rice Island and a recent arrival at Wedlock's has a speed boat which differs in one respect from most of those which are seen on the Otonabee. It has no angles as are found in the hulls of most speed boats, but appears almost round and in fact looks like a long log. Those who have seen it in action report that it certainly makes the spray fly.

The T.G.E. Anglers went down to their cottage on Saturday afternoon in Mrs. T. Hooper's launch. Those who remained over Sunday were Messrs. J. Wilson, W. Warham and Ald. Tovey.

Messrs. Ernie Mitchell and Tommy Meredith returned to-day from a few days' fishing trip on the lake. They had fair luck and managed to get a few nice ones.

Mr. A. Fuller is spending a couple of weeks at Jubilee Point.

Dr. H. A. Wood, wife and child, spent the week end with friends near Beamfort.

Mr. L. Dobbin on Saturday joined his family who are spending the summer at Jubilee Point. Mr. Dobbin returned to the city yesterday morning.

Messrs. Corkery and Hollingshead, of the Bank of Ottawa staff spent the week end with their friends at "Cosy Nook" cottage, Jubilee Point. Messrs. W. Houston, Henry McCaffery and Victor Sullivan visited the boys on Sunday.

There are many campers along the river this year and at present the number is unusually large. A practise with many is to go down on Saturday afternoon and return before Monday morning. The change, they say, is as good as a rest, and anything will do to get away from the city.

On Sunday afternoon a very pretty sight was seen for a short time, during a rain storm on the lake. The clouds were breaking in the west and the sun peered through here and there between the clouds.

The last of a storm was falling in front of Idyl Wyld and as the sun's rays passed through the rain the light was dispersed and a beautiful rainbow effect was seen. Behind the rain the green of the island was lit up by the sun and the blending of the many delicate colours was very pretty.

ODDFELLOWS ENTERTAIN VISITORS

Latter Spend Pleasant Day on the Otonabee and Treat Canal

Mr. J. Douglas, of Winnipeg, Man., secretary of the Western Branch of the I. O. O. F. Relief Association of Canada, accompanied by Mr. A. H. Blackeby, of Kingston, superintendent of this association, were in the city yesterday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tully, Reid street.

While here a few of the prominent members of the Odd Fellows, under the leadership of Mr. Thos. Hooper, with his beautiful gasoline launch, "May Belle," and accompanied by two other visiting members of the order, Dr. Milburn, of Macleod, Alta., and Wm. Johnston, of Huntington, West Virginia, were given a sail over the lift lock and down the Otonabee River about ten miles. They arrived back in time to visit Otonabee Lodge, which held its regular meeting last night. The outing was a most pleasant one and the visitors expressed their appreciation of the kind invitation of Mr. Tully, and of the royal manner in which they were entertained while here. The local brethren who were in the party, in addition to Mr. Tully and Mr. Hooper were Col. J. W. Miller, J. H. Long, R. J. Matchett, Frank Rains, J. A. Tully, Geo. Cairns and W. Taylor.

Cranes Are Seen On River In Flocks Where Formerly They Flew Alone

To those who are acquainted with the conditions on the Otonabee it is very evident that the number of cranes between the city and the lake have increased very rapidly. These birds have been protected by law, and very few are destroyed during a season. The result is that they are now very plentiful. On Monday as the steamer Monarch was coming up, between the two bridges a large flock of cranes were seen together. This is such a rare sight that everyone remarked it. There must have been at least 40 in the flock and they were first disturbed from the tops of a cluster of elm trees. Besides this flock there are others to be seen singly and in pairs all along the river. When they would endeavour to rest on a limb in the top of a tree it was noticed that they gained their balance with difficulty and frequently missed the limbs entirely. Evidently they are more at home on the ground, and are not adapted to crow-like flights around the tree tops.

LUCK IN ODD NUMBERS; LINDSAY GIRLS HAVE TO REMAIN HERE

Seven Lindsay girls came to Peterborough on Sunday by 'bus and while there one of the horses died. As a result they had to spend the night in Peterborough. What lucky girls they were! They should feel highly gratified with the fate that kept them in Peterborough even if it was only for a night. The Free Press says of their journeys—

A jolly bunch of seven girls procured a team of horses and double rig at Mr. A. Jewett's livery on Sunday morning and proceeded to drive to Peterborough, where they intended to spend the day.

Upon their arrival at that city they had the horses stabled at one of the hotel barns. The horses at that time appeared to be in first-class condition, but in the evening when the girls 'phoned for their rig, the stableman informed them that one of the horses had passed peacefully away during the afternoon. Of course this put the girls in quite a dilemma, but they decided, however, to 'phone to Lindsay for instructions, so Mr. A. S. Rae, who is running the Jewett stables was called up at 10 o'clock and was asked two questions—would they (the girls) wait until he sent another rig after them, or would they come home on the next train at his expense? Mr. Rae informed them that they had better suit themselves, if they were in a very big hurry to get home they had better get a rig down there and come home at once.

Mr. Rae did not say who paid for the message; however, the girls waited till this morning and came up on the train. The horse that died was one of the greys off the hack and was a valuable animal. It will no doubt be quite a loss to Mr. Jewett.

LONDON DOESN'T BELIEVE THE STORY OF LONGBOAT'S INJURY

London, July 21.—(Special.)—If the Indian, Longboat, is allowed to run in the Marathon, which it is believed he will, the committee having already decided not to allow the protest filed against him by the United States committee, it is likely that the prize in this event will again go to Canada. Little credence is placed in the reports in circulation of accidents to the Indian runner, and also that he is not well. A lot of money is being bet on the Marathon, the Englishmen freely backing A. Duncan of the Salford Harriers, who covered the course at the trial in 2 hrs. 15 mins. Reid, who ran second to Duncan, and T. Jack, another smart long distance man. The Canadians are ready to support their man almost to any amount.

The race will bring together the most cosmopolitan lot of competitors of the whole Olympic games. Australia will start three men, South Africa four, including Hefferon; Greece, Finland, Russia, Belgium, Austria, Bohemia and Hungary, one each; Holland and Italy, five each; Germany, three; Denmark, two; America, seven, and the United Kingdom and Canada the full dozen allowed by the rules.

The course is exactly 26 miles 385 yards, so that the competitors will have concluded half the distance when they pass Eastcote road. The start will be from the palace gates at Windsor, and the race will conclude on the cinder path in the Stadium, part of a lap being included in the distance. The Marathon will be run on July 24, because on July 25, the serious work being finished, there will be more ceremonies, as on the opening day.

The prizes are to be distributed that afternoon, and Queen Alexandra is to preside over the affair. Her Majesty, with other royalties and their suites, will occupy the royal box and will be assisted in the distribution of the prizes by ten Duchesses. The Duchesses will hand the prizes to the winners.

13 'LUNGE CAUGHT LAST WEEK

Mr. Arthur Mitchell Successful With the Trawl on Rice Lake

Jubilee Point, Rice Lake, July 21.—Fishing at Rice Lake has certainly improved some during the past week the 'lunge and bass are biting very much better. Among the many successful trawlers was Mr. Arthur Mitchell who with his wife and family spent the week with Mr. W. Rundle and family at the C.G.E. Anglers' cottage. His efforts resulted in 13 fine 'lunge, averaging 9 (or 10 lbs. They were caught in the lake and Mr. Mitchell did not have to work hard to get them as they were biting good all week.

HOLES IN THE AYLMER STREET BRIDGE

"Driver" Believes Its Condition Should Be Investigated

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—It seems to me that the condition of the bridge at the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets is becoming quite serious. Some time ago a horse went through, and yesterday again I noticed another hole in it which was later covered over with a plank. A suit for damages against the city seems inevitable if its present condition is allowed to exist.

Yours, etc.,

Mr. W. J. Devlin Tells Of Life In Outagamie County, Wis.

Farmers There Grow Good Deal of Corn—The Wheat Belt Beside the Railway Tracks

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

Life on the farms at Battle Creek, Outagamie County, Wis., is somewhat similar to that experienced by the farmers in Peterborough County. Mr. Wm. J. Devlin, 263 Hunter street, who has just returned from the sad mission of burying his brother there, has some interesting information about the crops, the people and conditions there.

It is about 848 miles from Peterborough to Battle Creek which distance takes up about two days of a traveller's time. Altogether Mr. Devlin was absent 10 days. He states to the Examiner that the crops are excellent in that district and if they are any criterion of the average crop throughout the Western States and Western Canada the depression so prominent during the past year will have disappeared during the coming twelvemonth.

Quantities of corn are grown in Outagamie county and Mr. Devlin saw many fine fields. The crop is not extra, but on the whole is fair. Farmers there keep from 10 to 22 cows and silo their corn for winter feed. Hay is an excellent crop, averaging three tons to the acre. Particularly are the new meadows prolific and no scarcity of fodder for the stock is anticipated next winter. Some of the early clover cut a few weeks ago is almost knee deep on the second growth. The fertilizing of their fields is something in which the farmers there take especial pride so they plough down the clover which is one of the best soil renewers possible to secure.

Mr. Devlin spoke very enthusiastically over the great wheat belt between Chicago and Battle Creek. The train on which he travelled went straight through the wide expanse of flowing grain and he was given an excellent view of it. The scene was one to remember long. The yield will not be a really abundant one but it will be a good average. It is not so much this, however, that struck the eye, as the wide expanse of the golden grain so seldom seen outside of the western prairies. The train was moving along at a speed of 35 miles an hour, and it just took 15 minutes to pass through it.

The grain is ripe in many cases and the work of cutting now occupies the attention of the farmers. The wheat was a beautiful colour, unhampered by frost while maturing.

At Battle Creek he saw cherries as big as plums and they sold at the insignificant sum of 25 cents per bushel basket. Cheese sold at 11 3-4 cents at the last sale and meats are about the same in price as they are in Peterborough. Pork at $5.75 per cwt. is perhaps not so high. The fattening of stock is not goes into very extensively. Young calves between the ages of two and four weeks sell at from $6.50 to $7.00.

Though politics have captured the minds of most of the Yankee folk these times, the farmers there and especially those of German descent are not greatly interested. In their amusing manner they tell the enthusiastic canvassers to go back to the cities and let them continue with their work.

Mr. Devlin spoke of some Peterborough county people who are now in that district. His nephew, Mr. James Fitzgerald is deputy sheriff of the township of Battle Creek. Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald is a prosperous farmer of the same township and Mr. Thos. McLeish, formerly of Cavan, has retired from the farm and moved to the city of Appleton.

PICTURES

YOU DON'T NEED PICTURES! Not many women will say that they do until they really see something that just suits their fancy. These are a lot of Art Lithographs, reproductions of some famous paintings, including pastel, water colors and oils. The subjects are our own Canadian and Foreign Scenes. Scenes of imagination and reality in true-to-nature colors; neat clear-cut views of domestic, rural and water subjects. Many are alike, but there are dozens different. These are finished on good art paper and mounted on white card mats, landscape and long panel styles. The pictures are suitable for passe partout or for framing, for parlor, dining room, library, den, bedroom or anywhere else in the house. No one need be afraid to show these in any room. Worth twice the price we ask. Entire lot in Annex this Wednesday at 3 for 25c or 9c each .....SEE WINDOW

WEDDING BELLS

WHALEY—BARNETT

A quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at the 7 o'clock mass when Miss Grace Barnett, daughter of Mr. Michael Burnett of Peterborough, formerly of Campbellford, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Whaley, son of Mr. F. Whaley of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Kelly and was witnessed by many friends of the young couple. The bride was attended by Miss Theresa Moran, city, and Mr. Jas. Callaghan acted as best man.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, Stewart street. Mr. and Mrs. Whaley left on the 8.30 G.T.R. train for Toronto and other western cities. They were the recipients of many handsome presents among them being a beautiful gift from the employees of the Peterborough Lock Company, where Mr. Whaley is employed.

MRS. W. J. STACEY HAS PASSED AWAY

Sad Death of the Wife of Vice-Principal of South Central School

The many friends of Minnie Robertson, daughter of the late Alexander Robertson of Springville, and wife of Mr. W. J. Stacey, vice-principal of the South Central School, were greatly shocked and grieved when it became known last evening that she had passed away at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Nicholls Hospital after an illness of only a few days. The deceased was very well known in Peterborough, and her many amiable qualities had made her beloved by all with whom she had come in contact. She had been a resident of Peterborough for the past six years and was a member of St. Paul's church, in the work of which she was greatly interested, and her death will cause a gap that will be hard to fill. She was 34 years of age.

She is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Alexander Robertson; one sister, Miss Florence Robertson, trained nurse at Waterbury, Conn., and three brothers, Robert of Springville, George of Manitoba, and Kenneth, of Hague Sask.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 305 Park street, to Little Lake cemetery. The Rev. Robt. Pogue of St. Paul's church will officiate.

Hope for Bumper Crop This Year—Mr. E. M. Best Home

Mr. E. M. Best returned home last night from a month's trip to Winnipeg, where he visited his parents. Speaking of the conditions there he states that things are rather quiet, so far as real estate changes and building are concerned. The crops look fine, however, and the westerners are optimistic regarding the recovery of the normal conditions in the early future.

SESSION NOW BELONGS TO THE PAST

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick Attends to Final Function.

SPEECH FROM THRONE READ

Official Document Approves Increase of Salary for Civil Servants—Absence of Earl Grey at Ottawa Causes Prorogation to Lose Much of Its Social Color — Soldiers Are Disgruntled at the Delay.

Ottawa, July 21.—The last session, in all probability, of the tenth Parliament of Canada, was closed yesterday with the usual formal ceremonies. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick acted as Governor-General.

Earl Grey being in Quebec, Sir Charles was escorted from his residence to the House by the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and had the Governor-General's Foot Guards as a guard of honor at the House. The second field battery fired the usual salute on Nepean Point, just as if the officiator were the vice-regal personage himself. The scene at the House was not so brilliant as usual, as all the society people and everybody that is able, have gone to Quebec.

The speech from the throne was couched in the usual formal language, thanking the members and referring to the principal acts of the session, including the reduction of postage on drop letters, amendments to the Revenue Act, on behalf of tobacco growers, the placing of telegraph and telephone systems under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission, the measure for the suppression of opium, and so on. The speech concludes:

'Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

"I thank you for the liberal provision you have made for the public service.

'Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:

'Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

"Let us earnestly hope that when we meet against the present bright prospects for a bountiful harvest in all parts of the Dominion will have been realized, prompting an additional reason for expressing our heartfelt thanks to a kind Providence for the many blessings we enjoy in this favored land."

The Governor-General's Foot Guards left last night for Quebec. They were an angry body of men, for through some blundering they have been euchred out of a day in the Ancient Capital. The Guards were to have gone Sunday night, but owing to the delay in the prorogation of Parliament they were ordered to remain to furnish a guard of honor for the closing ceremony. Accordingly, the Guards assembled at the drill hall yesterday, only to be informed that their services would not be required. The Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and the firing party received a similar notice.

Ottawa society folk, the little social diversions which accompany the Parliamentary ceremonials, and are not much enamored of the democracy of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, who was deputy Governor-General yesterday.

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier left yesterday for Quebec.

Devlin Quits Quebec.

Ottawa, July 21.—Hon. Charles R. Devlin, Minister of Mines and Colonization, was in Ottawa on Sunday on his way north from a fishing trip, when he received word of the contestation of his recent election to the Quebec Legislature. He immediately changed his plans and returned to Montreal, and it is stated by his friends that his intention is to resign his portfolio in the Quebec Cabinet and to secure the Liberal nomination for the House of Commons in South Renfrew, with the hope of being taken into the Dominion Cabinet as the Irish-Catholic representative, in place of Hon. R. W. Scott.

Mr. Devlin is credited with the statement that he was through with Quebec politics and sick and tired of the persecution to which he had been subjected in Quebec because of his being an Irishman.

Quadruplets Born.

Kansas City, Mo., July 21.—Mrs. Susan Turner, wife of Louis C. Turner of Argentine, Kansas, gave birth to quadruplets, three boys and a girl. The girl died a short time after birth, but the boys are alive and apparently healthy.

FOLLOWED HER MOTHER'S EXAMPLE.
AND KEPT DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY IN THE HOUSE.

Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Tessier, Sask. tells of her experience in the following words: "I wish to tell you of the good I have found in DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. Last summer my little girl, aged two years, was taken ill with Summer Complaint, and as my mother always kept DR. FOWLER'S in the house, when I was a child, I seemed to follow her example, as I always have it also. I at once gave it to my baby as directed and she was at once relieved, and after a couple of doses were taken was completely cured."

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY imparts a healthy tone to all mucous surfaces, corrects and heals all forms of canker and counteracts all tendency to pain and inflammation, while it gives tone to the debilitated system when weakened by exhaustive discharges and fluxes of whatever nature, thus making it the best and safest remedy for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Pain in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all Summer Complaints.

PRINCE OF WALES HERE TO-DAY

Elaborate Preparations Are Made to Welcome Him.

ROBERTS IS BANQUETTED

Is Guest of Honor at Garrison Club Dinner — Union of Municipalities Delegates Are Officially Received by the City—Nine Warships Are Now In the Harbor—Heads of Fleets Go a-Visiting.

Quebec, July 21.—This city of expectations rested last night content, her gates full, her streets and houses bannered and festooned, her harbor spangled with the warships of three nations, the consummation of the battlefield show made a certainty, and the triumph of her great pageant assured. It was a day of scant program, but it was made generous use of in completing the decorations and arrangements. Uncle Sam sent one of his best fighting machines, and when the New Hampshire rounded the Isle of Orleans yesterday afternoon the French and British fleets and the Citadel roared out welcomes that bespoke the three-cornered entente cordiale. Distinguished visitors continue to arrive, and to-day the guests of the nation will be officially received, the afternoon fixture being the first performance of the pageant.

Yesterday morning an official reception was extended at the City Hall to the members of the Canadian Union of Municipalities, most of whom came on from Montreal to Quebec after the annual meeting at Montreal. They were welcomed by Ald Pecard, acting mayor, whose address was replied to by Controller Ward of Toronto. Among other members of the union present were: Mayor Oliver and Ald. McGhie, Toronto; Mayors Ashdown of Winnipeg, Stevely of London, Bethune of Vancouver, Hall of Victoria, Mentor of Verdon, Man., W. D. Lighthall of Westmount, secretary-treasurer of the union; ex-Mayors Judd of London, Dyke of Fort William and Fred Cook of Ottawa.

All the Troops In.

All the troops have arrived and are now in the various camps. The Queen's Own Rifles, the Royal Grenadiers and the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, reached the city yesterday.

Shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the United States battleship New Hampshire steamed slowly around Indian Cove into the harbor. Her coming had been expected since 10 o'clock and a tremendous crowd had gathered on Dufferin Terrace, on the wharves and on the slopes of the Citadel to watch her.

About 4.30 o'clock a round of official visits by the Governor-General and admirals to the various ships was signalized by more salutes, heard all over the city. As the crash of the guns re-echoed one could not help but think of the days when in turn France and Britain and Britain and the United States fought for the possession of what is now Canada.

"I am already a member of the Canadian militia, being honorary colonel of the Royal Canadian Artillery and of the Queen's Own Rifles. I shall watch the parade of the militia, and I know I shall be as well pleased with them as I was with the conduct of the Canadians in South Africa."

These words, uttered by Lord Roberts in the course of an address made at the Garrison Club dinner in his honor last night, called forth round after round of cheers. The gallant soldier was the honored guest of the club.

Col. Turnbull, president of the Garrison Club, was chairman.

Among the guests present were the Duke of Norfolk, Gen. Sir R. Pole-Carew, Rear-Admiral Jellicot of the British navy, Vice-Admiral J. Aure Gurbery of France, Lord Lovat, Vice-Admiral Cowles of the United States navy, Gen. Otter, Major-Gen. Wilson and Col. G. T. Denison.

It is expected that there will be at least 125,000 people to greet the Prince of Wales when he arrives on Wednesday afternoon. Immediately on landing, the prince will be received by a naval and military guard, after which an address will be presented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier on behalf of the Government of Canada. His Royal Highness will then be conducted to the Governor-General's carriage, when, accompanied by His Excellency the Governor-General, and attended by Lieut.-Col. Sir Arthur Biggs, his private secretary, and Col. Williams, he will proceed, escorted by a field officer's escort, to the Citadel, where a guard of honor will be mounted.

Writ Is Issued.

Toronto, July 21.—At Osgoode Hall, Toronto, yesterday morning, James Smith issued a writ against the City of Hamilton and Hamilton Cataract Power, Light & Traction Co., to have it declared "that the corporation of the said city have no power to pass a certain bylaw (No. 775), to wit: A bylaw purporting to have been passed on the 17th July 1908, purporting to authorize the entering into of a contract between the said city and the defendant company with respect to the purchase of electric energy by the said city from the said company as therein set forth and to have said agreement declared ultra vires, and for an injunction."

BLACK HAND THREATENS FARMER

Man Near St. Catharines Gets Black Hand Message.

WRITER INSISTS ON $500

Anonymous Correspondent Says He Will Murder Family of A. Sylvain of Louth Township and Burn Down His Barns If the Money Is Not Forthcoming—Neighbors Are Very Much Excited

St. Catharines, July 21.—A. Sylvain, one of the leading fruit growers of Louth Township, near St. Catharines, has received a letter signed "Black Hand," demanding that he should place the sum of $500 in a spot named, near the Rubber Works, Port Dalhousie. If he does not comply with the writer's demands, the letter states that his residence and barns will be destroyed and family murdered.

Mr. Sylvain takes the matter seriously, and does not consider it in the light of a joke. High Consable Boyle is at work on the case and visited the place named Sunday night, but found no trace of the writer.

The writing is of vertical kind, and has created quite a sensation in the vicinity of the Sylvain home.

Take Contract to People.

Stratford, July 21.—The City Council last night decided to have a by-law submitted to the ratepayers, authorizing the signing of the Niagara power contract in its present form.

This bylaw will be submitted, along with two others providing for extraordinary expenditure and for cleaning out Victoria Lake and the erection of a new concrete dam.

Mellis Ferguson of Kingston was appointed city engineer at a salary of $1,200. The appointment was vigorously opposed by Ald. Savage and Ald. Roberts, who sought the appointment of Mr. Roberts of Toronto.

After the Land Grants.

St. John, N.B., July 21.—The western lands which are to be given to Col. Sam Hughes and other South African veterans will not go begging, so far at least as the east is concerned.

Speculators have called upon numbers of the men entitled to receive the land, and are making offers either for the scrip or for the land which may be allotted. In Halifax, Moncton, Fredericton and St. John, and over in Charlottetown, the veterans are getting together, and are arranging to apply for lands en bloc.

Ottawa Wants Historic Gun.

Ottawa, July 21.—Steps are being taken to obtain the 12-pound gun which Ottawans saved at Lillifontein in South Africa, for an ornament in the City Hall Park.

In the action which centred round this gun at Belfast, there were won by Canadians two Victoria crosses and two distinguished service orders.

Slaughter by the Railroads.

Buffalo, July 21.—Between midnight and daybreak yesterday morning six foreigners were run down and killed by trains in the railroad yards at South Buffalo.

Conciliation Board Concludes.

Winnipeg, July 21.—Early yesterday afternoon the majority report of the C. P. R. conciliation board was made public. There is also a minority report signed by Mr. Somerville, the men's representative, objecting to some of the findings.

The report favors the new rules put into effect by the company, and fixes the machinists' wages at 40 cents per hour. It fixes the number of machinists' apprentices as one to five journeymen, and one for the shop.

The report states the C. P. R. is willing to institute the nine-hour day in the east if rival companies are agreeable.

Starving Themselves.

Yorkton, Man., July 21.—Since the arrest and imprisonment of their leaders, 40 odd Doukhobors in Camp Arcadia have refused to eat food of any kind until the brethren are restored, an improbable event until their six-months' terms expire. Things are so serious that mounted police have been obliged to remove the children, 15 in number, by force, and they are now being cared for in Yorkton Jail.

SPENT $3,000 SEARCHING FOR HEALTH.
FROM SHOAL LAKE MAN COMES THE FOLLOWING WONDERFUL STORY

Mr. Robert Squires says:—"I have spent over $3,000 in search for health; have travelled from place to place looking for suitable climate. I came to the conclusion that climate made no difference in curing throat and lung troubles. At the health resorts consumptives died there as at any place else so I determined to find a home remedy. A friend advised me to use Psychine. The first few bottles gave great relief from coughing and seemed to ease the pain in the lungs. Within a month the cough and night sweats had disappeared, and I had greatly regained my strength. I used ten bottles, but my case was a serious one, and I didn't begrudge the cost, for I was completely cured after medical men considered my case hopeless. My lungs are now sound and no sign of disease whatever is apparent."

How strange it is that we often overlook or despise the remedies near at hand. In Psychine we have the greatest and most successful tonic this country has known. There is life in every dose! The proprietors want you to prove their statement by sending for a sample. Cut out the coupon and mail with your name and address to the Dr. T. A. A LIFE ANNUITY TO THE WINNER

ORANGE MEAT is made from the whole wheat. This King of Cereals is used in the manufacture of ORANGE MEAT, instead of Corn, Rice, Barley, Oats, etc., because wheat contains properties that satisfy the needs of the human system that are not found in other cereals.

ORANGE MEAT has been determined by analysis to be FIFTY per cent. more valuable as a food than bread. Milk is a complete food. It is a flesh-former and heat-maker. ORANGE MEAT taken with milk every morning and evening forms a perfect and evenly-balanced food. Taken together they are easily digested and assimilated.

In the past considerable money has been spent in introducing and advertising ORANGE MEAT. Travellers have covered the whole of Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, at enormous outlay for salaries, travelling and other expenses.

The management have decided to introduce a new system. They are offering a series of CASH PRIZES to consumers.

All persons using ORANGE MEAT will enjoy a wholesome and perfect food, and, in addition, participate in a contest for a CASH PRIZE.

TO THE WINNER OF THE FIRST PRIZE, THE SUM OF FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS WILL BE PAID EVERY YEAR DURING HIS OR HER LIFE TIME. THE EXAMINER'S SPORTING PAGE

FRED SIMPSON WILL NOT DISGRACE THE OLD TOWN

On July 11th, the day after Simpson, the Peterborough Indian, won the twenty mile trial race, Mr. Dick Baker, with the Olympic team, writes the Examiner as follows:

"We had a great day yesterday, I guess you have heard all about it by this time. We had a twenty mile trial over the course and Fred Simpson won it in a canter, in one hour and fifty-seven minutes, beating Cotter, of Burlington, by three minutes. They gave Lister, Toronto, and Noseworthy, of Montreal, a handicap. Fred is in great shape, and, I think, we stand a great chance. Anyway we will not disgrace our old City of Peterborough. I have got Fred in great shape, and if he keeps this form I look to coming right home to the front. I might say we beat Lawson, Goldsboro, Wood and Caffery quite easily in that race. It was a great performance, and they are all tickled to death over it. Sherring says, it looks good for Fred, and naturally the Indian is very much pleased over it."

FRED SIMPSON FIT AS A FIDDLE; PROVES A GOOD ENTERTAINER

Lou Marsh, the Toronto Star's correspondent, has the following to say of Fred Simpson and the other Marathoners:

London, July 8.—England does not concede the Marathon to Canada.

Neither does Sweden, or Germany, or Greece, and the United States is a little dubious.

Greece has a wholesome respect for Canada's prowess ever since Billy Sherring trimmed up the big race in Athens in 1906, and the Yankees know that Harry Lawson, Fred Simpson, Eddie Cotter and men of that ilk, to say nothing of the great Tommy Longboat, are not to be despised.

England, or rather the British Isles, are pinning their faith to Duncan, of the Salford Harriers, Beal of London, Fred Lord, A Yorkshireman, and Fred Appleby of Herne Hill. Duncan won the 22-mile trial in 2.16, with Beal only fifty yards back of him, and Lord third.

Duncan Tall and Rangy

Duncan is a big tall, rangy fellow of the Longboat stamp. I saw him run in the four mile race the other day. He is a gingery, long-striding fellow, who is able to sprint at any moment. Though training for the long distance, he finished fifth in a four mile race, that was done in 19.47 2-5. Duncan was only beaten 50 yards, so he finished under 20 minutes, and four miles in 20 minutes is going some. Duncan is a grand runner, and no mistake. He will be a dangerous man by reason of his great early speed.

Beal and Lord are little stocky fellows who chased Duncan hard all the way in the trials. Appleby is a veteran, a lightly-built fellow, who looks much like Sherring in build and style. He broke down in the trial, but has rounded to. All these have their following, and Harry Lawson, the Canuck, is much fancied, especially in Yorkshire, where he was taught how to run. The Englishmen say the first ten miles will be done under 55 minutes, and that's going some.

The Swedes still stick to Swanberg, but Swanberg is only a plugger, and from what I saw of him I think W. H. Wood, Eddie Cotter, and a couple more of the Canuck team can trim him. He has but little style and no stride.

The Hope of Canada

Looking over the Canadian team it looks like a toss-up between Tommy Longboat, Harry Lawson, and Fred Simpson, the Missisauga, to lead the way home for the Maple Leaf. Lawson is going as strong as ever, and is training harder than any other member of the team. Simpson, who seemed to have only endurance in Canada, has developed speed under Billy Sherring's attention. He is a slow beginner, but is finishing his trials like a race horse, mowing them down right and left. He is a very tractable fellow in training, and is one of the team's entertainers. He does a good buck-and-wing dance, and is the team's barber. He is as fit as a fiddle. So is Tommy Longboat, according to Irish advices, but what Tom Flanagan is doing with the Onondaga is unknown here.

The Rest of the Team

Of the other members of the team much can be said.

Bert Goldsboro, of Toronto, is toiling hard, but the question is will he last the route? Bert has all sorts of speed and ginger. If he gets beaten he will go down while running in the vanguard. He is training hard for early speed, and is determined to be in the van all the way.

W. H. Wood, of Brantford, who was second to Lawson, has not up to date shown any improvement in speed, but he is working hard. He is a quiet fellow, and may have more than is suspected. He'll finish in the first fifteen all right.

Eddie Cotter, the Burlington boy, has been suffering from inflamed eyes ever since he has arrived, and has not been able to train hard. He does not seem to strike out like a winning man, but at that he is no slouch.

George Lister, who fell on the boat and hurt his hip, just got back to work a day or two ago, and what he will do is as problematical as his performance in Toronto.

Veterans Have Small Chance

Jack Caffery, of Hamilton, and Frank Noseworthy, of Montreal, the veterans in the Marathon, are both in fine fettle. Noseworthy, however, has no speed and will be left far behind in the first burst. Caffery has more speed, but no one here believes that he will repeat his old Boston Marathon performances. If he doesn't he won't be within hailing distance, for this 26 miles 660 yards will be run in 2.31—so great English judges say.

George Goulding, the walker, won't run in the Marathon, but Jack Tait, the miler, will go. Tait ran a good fifteen miles in Montreal last fall, but his training here has all been for the 1,500 metre races, so he may be sadly lacking in reserve for the big grind.

Course Hard and Dustless

The Canucks walked over the entire course yesterday. The road is a winding one, through scores of villages and long avenues of trees, but it is as hard as flint and dustless.

"Every man will wear out a pair of shoes on the journey," said Caffery, when he came in. "I did when I ran the twenty-six miles the other day."

The United States team has gone to Brighton Beach to train. Since their arrival the Longboat controversy has re-opened.

Sherring a Hard Worker

If the Marathon does not come to Canada it will not be Billy Sherring's fault. Every day he dons his running togs and leads the boys five or ten miles, racing along the slow ones and coaching them the whole way. The boys all like him.

Enthusiastic Meeting Of Peterborough Cricket Club

A Large Meeting Last Night at the Snowden House—Future Most Encouraging

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

An enthusiastic and largely attended meeting of the members of the Peterborough Cricket Club was held at the Snowden House last evening.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Lovekin, the president of the club, and the following members were present: Messrs. F. A. Clarke, (secretary-treasurer), Marshall, Elliott, Ferguson, Gibbs, Pousette, Reaston, Elmer, Dela Fosse and Dredge.

A statement of the finances of the club was presented which showed a balance in the hands of the treasurer. Several gentlemen who had promised to help towards the funds of the club, have not yet handed in their subscriptions. With the amount forthcoming from these sources it was shown that the club would be able to present a clear statement at the end of the season.

The following were elected to places on the executive, to fill vacancies caused by those who either from inability or lack of interest, had been unable to take an active part in the proceedings of the club.

Vice-President—Mr. Dela Fosse.

Captain—Mr. E. Reaston.

Vice-Captain—Mr. Marshall.

Grounds Committee—Messrs. Lovekin, Ferguson, Elliott and Elmer.

The secretary stated that the following matches have been arranged:

Thursday, July 23rd, Colborne at Peterborough.

Thursday, July 30th, Millbrook at Millbrook.

Monday, Aug. 10th, (Civic Holiday) Warkworth at Warkworth.

Two bats, a ball and a medal have been offered by different members of the club for the best bowling, batting and fielding averages, and a prize also by the president for a purpose which he will specify at a later date.

A striking feature of the meeting was the optimistic feeling which prevailed in regard to the future of cricket in Peterborough. When once a game has been allowed to almost die out, it is a hard matter to revive it. Energy and perseverance, however, can accomplish a great deal, and it was felt that with the help of a business-like management and the encouragement of the public, there was no reason at all why cricket should not once again take its place as one of the most popular sports in this city.

BRUCE, WINNER OF THE SPORTS

Takes Three Firsts in the B.A.C. Games Down the River Last Night

The B.A.C. held their field day of sports yesterday evening on the shore of the Otonabee. They went down by gasoline launch and the journey included supper on the bank which was one of the features of the outing. The sports were of course interesting. Ernie Bruce carried off the honours by winning three firsts and proving himself the best athletic of the B. A.C. Club. The 65 yard dash was won by D B McRae. It was Mac's birthday and the boys let him win the event. It was a sort of a birthday present for him. Altogether about 14 members of the club went down and a merry time was spent. The events and winners were as follows:—

W Wood, 7 ft. 6 in.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The Canadian oarsmen are practising hard at Henley. The eight, four and pair are getting more used to their boats. Scholes has decided to row his old boat. The new Clasper boat is a beauty, but he thought he could not get used to it in time. Bowler and Scholes look as good as any of the scullers here. The boys are all in good health and spirits. The eight has rowed a sprint of 85 strokes in two minutes. Scholes and Bowler rowed a full course, but no time was taken.

THE BEST POSSESSION

That the head of the house can own is a good insurance policy on his own Life. It assures the protection of his wife and children in case of his sudden demise—and the healthiest of us never knows when the end may come. We can afford families this protection by offering attractive terms in the Life Insurance at the lowest rates—such as are hardly felt by the thrifty.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life insurance policy must be gauged by the Security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it." The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no payment and the profits paid—let the figures within tell their own forceful story.

—Col. J. Z. Rogers has been through the severe trial of a serious illness which at times made his friends fear the worst. We rejoice to know that our revered friend has so far recovered as to enable him to come down stairs to enjoy an outing on the verandah. Prayers have been offered for him in the church and by many of his friends, and we give thanks to God for having so mercifully sustained him.—St. Luke's Parish Magazine.

"THE DAYLIGHT STORE"

WHERE DO YOU BUY YOUR CLOTHES?

This is a very important matter, and still so many men think it of no consequence. They buy just anywhere they happen to see something that strikes their fancy.

There's a difference in stores as well as in clothes. Some stores go in for cheapness, others for quality.

Which Do You Prefer?

Our Sovereign Brand, Fit Rite and Northway Clothing is made to wear, has all the new style kinks and the price is extremely low, quality considered. When at the Exhibition be sure to visit our Clothing Emporium on the grounds, where we will have displayed some of the new fall styles, which are quite convincing. They will help you decide where to buy your fall and winter necessities.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS

What attraction other than his mere love of the game could have induced Timmy Yokome to walk from Keene to Peterborough yesterday, and while he is on his holidays? This is the wonderful feat he performed. With a face red as the proverbial boat, he stalked into the city yesterday afternoon and registered. Practising for the next pedestrian contest is likely why he is doing the stunt.

THREE OF THE PRISONERS WERE CONVICTED ON CHARGE; WILLIAMS NOW A FREE MAN

Trial Was Concluded This Afternoon---Graney, Hamilton and Adams Found Guilty of Stealing $20.00 From Ebenezer McTaggart---Not Enough Evidence Against Williams

HAMILTON AND ADAMS HAVE EACH LENGTHY RECORDS

One Previous Conviction Found Against Graney---Hamilton Has Served Six Years in Kingston Penitentiary--- Other Charge of Stealing From Jas. Groves Was Not Proceeded With

Harry H Hamilton, Jos. Adams and Jas. Graney, three of the men arrested on circus day as pickpockets, were found guilty by Judge Weller this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock on the charge of stealing a purse from Ebenezer McTaggart, of Brockville, and will be sentenced to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. The fourth man of the four prisoners, Geo. Williams, was discharged on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence against him. The three convicted men all have records, those of Hamilton and Adams being especially bad, while there has been one previous conviction against Graney.

The prosecution had rested its case last evening and when court was resumed this morning the taking of evidence for the defence was begun. Only five witnesses were called and their testimony did not occupy very long. The intention of the defence was to shake, if possible, the evidence of P. C. Newhall on certain points.

Archie Moore

Archie Moore was the first witness for the defence. He testified that he was a county constable and was at the circus in the afternoon, leaving his home about 12.45 o'clock. He lived on Aylmer street between Sherbrooke and King streets. He had taken a car at the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets. There was a trailer on the car. Someone had said to him that there were two men suspected of being pickpockets on the car. He identified Hamilton as one of the men he had seen leaving the car. Witness had boarded the car about 12.55.

He had spent the afternoon at the circus grounds. He was outside of the tents until about 2.15. He had seen Hamilton there and he was not acting in a suspicious way. When Hamilton got off the car there was another man with him. He couldn't say whether the man with him was one of the prisoners or not.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wood, the witness said he was not on bad terms with P. C. Newhall and had always said he was a good man. When he saw Hamilton get off the car he did not know he was the man suspected of picking pockets. He did not see P. C. Newhall on the car. Witness said he was not on duty when in the circus grounds. He had been sent down to preserve order at the Methodist camp meeting.

The Station Agent

Mr. Frank Sandy, G. T. R. station agent, was the next witness. He remembered that the Grand Trunk train from Toronto on circus day arrived five minutes late and remained here five minutes. The station was fairly crowded that day. He remembered receiving a telegram from a man named McTaggart from Port Hope at 1.45, telling him of losing a pocketbook and asking him to look around the station. He had told P. C. Newhall at the circus grounds, after the first arrest had been made, of the telegram he had received.

Time of the Cars

John McCann, inspector of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, said it was his duty to see that the cars were manned and on time. It would take a car ten minutes to travel from the corner of George and Hunter streets to the corner of Lock and Lansdowne streets. The cars were running slower than that on circus day. They were running cars with and without trailers that day, the former only running to the Exhibition grounds.

The Folding of the Bills

W. G. Ferguson, accountant of the Royal Bank, said he was accustomed to handle bills in large numbers. He said there was nothing unusual in the way the bills produced were folded, and bills could not be identified by them. It might be possible to pick up a thousand of them every day in the cash.

Walter P. Snow said he was accountant in the Bank of Ottawa. There was nothing unusual in the folding of the bills produced. Many people folded them that way.

Mr. O'Connell made an eloquent address on behalf of the prisoners, asking for their release because he argued that the testimony of Police Officer Newhall was not corroborated and that they should not be found guilty on the unsupported testimony of an officer whose zeal "to bag his game" might lead him to regard as suspicious actions which he would otherwise have allowed to go unsuspected. He went into the evidence at great length, criticizing P. C. Newhall because he had not arrested the prisoners at the station or at the White House instead of wait-

HIS STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE STILL REMAINS UNEXPLAINED

According to the story of a man from the vicinity of Buckhorn, the farmers in that neighbourhood are at a loss to explain the disappearance of a young man, named Cunningham. He had hired to do farm work with Mr. Nathan McIlmoyle, of Smith, and some weeks ago he went to Buckhorn and has not been seen since. He had a dollar in his pocket, and the report states that he expended this by purchasing seventy-five cents worth of cider and twenty-five cents worth of tobacco. This fact was learned on inquiry at Buckhorn. It was thought at first that he had gone to some other farm, but later investigation failed to locate him. He has no home, no money left and the neighbours do not know what has become of him.

A Doe From North Woods In Otonabee Farmer's Field

Keene, July 22.—(Special.) — Going out to catch his horses early one morning last week, Mr. John Byram was surprised to see a large dog in the pasture with his cattle and his horses were very much excited in the further side of the pasture. On seeing Mr. Byram the deer ran away, but was seen again by the section men the same morning near the Grand Trunk Railway track about half a mile east of Keene Station. Since that day though, no one has seen a sign of it and it has probably left those parts, perhaps returning to its usual haunts in the far north.

POLICEMAN'S LIFE NOT ALL A BED OF ROSES

P. C. Newhall Walks His Beat at Night and Attends Court During Day

As an example of some of the trials of a policeman, the case of P. C. Newhall as a good illustration. He was on night duty this week and walked his beat from Monday evening until Tuesday morning. At 11 o'clock he was at the court house and occupied the witness box from 11 a.m. till late in the afternoon. Duty kept him up again all last night, and to-day he was at the conclusion of the trial of the alleged pickpockets from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

THE CHIEF CAUSE OF THE LONG SESSION.

Fortunately, it is not necessary to speak at great length in order to speak effectively at any time, or in any place, or on any occasion. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a subject is ineffective in proportion to its length. It is absolutely impossible for anyone to speak for more than one hour effectively on any one subject to any audience, and, as a rule, the more intelligent the audience the more effective the subject.

This general statement applies more aptly to Parliament than it does to any other body in which public speaking is part of the regular procedure. Any attempt at oration is entirely out of place in Parliament. The members of the House of Commons make about the most indifferent and least easily-moved audience that could be brought together in the Dominion of Canada. There is no pretence of addressing a subject by one side to the other side in the hope or expectation of convincing anybody or persuading anybody to change his attitude on any question. The hope and expectation of the speaker is that he may exercise an influence on public opinion through the medium of newspaper or Hansard reports. During the session just closed the evil of superfluous speaking was greater than ever before; largely because much of it was talking against time for obstruction purposes. Mr. Foster easily won the palm for tedious prolixity by securing space in Hansard equivalent to six hundred pages. It was not a case of "eclipse first and the rest nowhere," because several others made very fair records in senselessly prolonging their speaking. It is probably safe to say that the real business of the session could have been better accomplished if Mr. Foster had cut himself down to one hundred pages, and the others had reduced their portions of the volume accordingly.

It is difficult to suggest any effective means of curtailing useless speaking in Parliament. The best speakers—those whom the House most wants to hear—never speak long. It is only on very rare occasions that Sir Wilfred Laurier speaks even an hour. He is much more likely to speak for from half to three-quarters of an hour on an important occasion. Usually he contents himself with the barest and most lucid exposition possible of whatever subject he may have in hand, and he never speaks without being constrained by necessity, and yet Sir Wilfrid enjoys the undisputed distinction of being the most effective orator the Parliament of Canada has had among its members for two generations.

The evil of prolix speaking, involving waste of time, needless expense and the tiring of the members, who are compelled to listen without interest, might be abated if private members generally would try to prepare themselves before delivering a speech by carefully cutting it down to the smallest practicable limits. The want of thorough preparation is responsible for much of the diffuseness of Parliamentary and other kinds of public speaking. A celebrated divine was once asked why he preached an unusually long sermon. His answer was that he had no time to make it shorter, and a great truth is bound up in this epigrammatic remark. The best speaking in Parliament is done in committee, where circumstances make it impracticable for set speeches to be delivered. Because men have to speak briefly they soon learn to speak well and to the point. The public interest in the matter lies in the fact that the Dominion Parliament is kept in session every year practically twice as long as it ought to be.

THE QUEBEC BRIDGE

An example of the unfairness of the present Opposition in the House of Commons is afforded by the treatment of the Quebec bridge case in the minority report presented to the House by a special committee appointed to investigate the business side of the undertaking. The Quebec Bridge Company was incorporated in 1887, but the incorporation lay dormant for seventeen years, until the National Transcontinental Railway was provided for by Dominion statute, and the crossing of the St. Lawrence at some point near Quebec became necessary. The Bridge Company was aided in this undertaking by a guarantee of bonds to the amount of nearly six and three-quarter million dollars. Under a guarantee of the Government, the company borrowed, at various times, sums amounting to somewhat over five million dollars, and of this, three and three-quarter millions remain to be repaid.

To offset this amount, the Government, in taking over the whole enterprise, have under their control assets valued at three million dollars. These include the uninjured substructure of the bridge, its approaches, and a large amount of material delivered on the ground. This makes the total amount of loss to the Government about three and three-quarter millions. These facts have been embodied in the report of the majority of the committee, who decline to express any opinion as to the efficiency or inefficiency of the engineers who had been placed in charge. On this latter point, the report of the Royal Commission of experts must be the undisputed authority.

The minority report of the committee, signed by Mr. Barber and Mr. Monck, expresses opinions on phases of the case, places the total liability of the Government at over six and a quarter millions; and, for all practical purposes, regards the assets as of no value. It seems perfectly clear that the committee has gone out of its way to prepare a case that will serve the Opposition's purpose in the general election. The misfortune which overtook the bridge was one for which the Government cannot be held in any way responsible. Their own engineer was not a man experienced in undertakings of this magnitude, but the Phoenix Bridge Company, which took the contract and had every interest in employing the best available talent, had its own engineer in charge of the work, and had employed Mr. Cooper of New York, considered to be the greatest living authority on bridges of this class. It is very much to be regretted that the Opposition should have seen fit to adopt a course calculated to embarrass the Government in dealing with a work, the construction of which cannot possibly be avoided. There are plenty of subjects on which it is legitimate to attack the Government and its policy, but in this case the limit of legitimacy has been clearly overstepped.

Already the policy of the Government as to the future has been announced. The bridge will now be constructed as a Government work pure and simple. There will be no intervention by a private corporation. In all probability there would have been none before, only that the Quebec Bridge Company was already in existence with plans for the construction of the bridge, and it was not unreasonable to assume that the easiest way to finance the project would be to guarantee the bonds of that company. Fortunately, there is no reason to believe that the undertaking is impracticable. It was ascertained that the structure was too weak at the point where it gave way, and this is so clear that it is in the highest degree unlikely that such a catastrophe could happen again.

LOCAL CITIZEN POSSESSES PARCHMENT A CENTURY OLD; HOLDS CHATHAM'S SIGNATURE

Unique and Valuable Papers Owned By Mr. Rock Gordon—Dealing With War of 1812

IT IS A FAMILY HEIRLOOM

The Late John Gordon Was in British Government's Employ—Travels of the Parchment

Interesting and valuable are two documents in the possession of Mr. Rock Gordon, which have been handed down as heirlooms from his grandfather, a man who played a prominent part in the preparations for the war of 1812. They are only two bits of parchment paper to look at. But on one of them is the signature of the Earl of Chatham, of His Majesty George III's Privy Council. The document is in script with the blanks filled in with pen and ink. It is dated July 27, 1808 so that it may celebrate its centenary next Monday. It contains an order from Royalty to John Gordon, Mr. Rock Gordon's grandfather, appointing him in charge of the erection of fortresses at various points in Canada.

The late Mr. John Gordon had the honour of building a number of forts, two of which were Forts Lennox and Dalhousie.

The other parchmen, is dated March 23, 1812, the first year of the war. On the corner of it is a £5 stamp for which Mr. Gordon was offered $150 a few years ago. Some portions of the penmanship work have been blotted out by time, so that a couple of blanks appear in the documents appended. This was due to the fact that in Montreal they became soaked in water during a spring freshet. Otherwise the papers might have been in splendid condition. They are as follows:—

JOHN, EARL OF CHATHAM.

One of His Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, Lieutenant General of His Majesty's Forces, and Master General of the Ordnance.

By virtue of the authority to me by the King's Most Excellent Majesty in this behalf, given upon the good testimony and assurance which I have received of your loyalty, integrity and ability, I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint you, the said John Gordon, to be master smith in the service of the Ordnance at Quebec, to continue in the said office so long as I, or the Master General for the time being, shall think proper, you are, therefore, carefully and diligently to discharge the duty of master smith by doing and performing all manner of things thereunto belonging, likewise to observe and follow such orders and directions as you shall from time to time receive from me or the Master General of the Ordnance for the time being, the Lieutenant-General and principal officers of the same, or any other your superior officer, in pursuance of the trust hereby reposed in you, and for your care and diligence to be taken herein; you are to have and receive the allowance of four shillings per diem, to be paid you quarterly out of the treasury of this office, the said allowance to commence on the ninetieth day of March, 1812, and to be received by you so long as you shall continue to hold and execute the said office.

By virtue of the authority to me by the King's Most Excellent Majesty in this behalf, given upon the good testimony and assurance which I have received of your loyalty, integrity and ability, I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint you, the said John Gordon, to be master smith in the service of the Ordnance at Quebec, to continue in the said office so long as I, or the Master General for the time being, shall think proper, you are, therefore, carefully and diligently to discharge the duty of master smith by doing and performing all manner of things thereunto belonging, likewise to observe and follow such orders and directions as you shall from time to time receive from me or the Master General of the Ordnance for the time being, the Lieutenant-General and principal officers of the same, or any other your superior officer, in pursuance of the trust hereby reposed in you, and for your care and diligence to be taken herein; you are to have and receive the allowance of four shillings per diem, to be paid you quarterly out of the treasury of this office, the said allowance to commence on the ninetieth day of March, 1812, and to be received by you so long as you shall continue to hold and execute the said office.

THREE OF PRISONERS CONVICTED ON CHARGE

ng to make a dramatic arrest at the circus grounds. He argued that the testimony of the officer was not supported even by the witnesses called by the Crown for that purpose, pointing out that Alex Reid had testified that Graney had stood back from the others at the station, while the officer had sworn that the man who stood back was Williams.

Crown Attorney Wood in addressing his Honour, said that it was not the question of what methods P. C. Newhall should have used in arresting the prisoners that were being tried. He argued that the evidence pointed clearly to the guilt of the prisoners, pointing out that the officer saw Adams take McTaggart's purse from his pocket, that Adams, Graney and Hamilton had been seen standing at the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets; that McTaggart's purse had afterwards been found there; that the prisoners had acted suspiciously at the circus grounds, in hiding under the tent where they evidently had the right of way with the circus people.

His Honour in summing up remarked that it was not important which particular one did the stealing, if it was done with the assistance of the others. The assistants were as guilty as the one who had had committed the theft. If Adams had done as Newhall said, the others were as guilty. Much adverse criticism had been made of the conduct of the police officer. He thought that if he had been in this place he would have notified McTaggart of his loss and arrested the men at once, but the officer had acted as he thought best, and perhaps wisely.

His Honour dealt with the movements of Graney, Adams and Hamilton at the station, and remarked that the most fatal point against them was their standing at the corner where McTaggart's pocket book was found.

There was no doubt in his mind that the three stood there to conceal the purse, that they were banded together to rob McTaggart and anybody else they could. As to Williams, he felt that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant him deciding that he was with the other three. "I am inclined to think that he was, as a great many other people will probably think," he remarked, "but the evidence is not strong enough to convict him."

He couldn't come to any other conclusion than that the other three were guilty.

Williams was told to stand up, and was informed that there was not sufficient evidence against him, and that he was free to go. Accordingly he was released from the handcuffs which bound him to Adams, and given his liberty.

The records of the other three men were produced and read to them by His Honour. Hamilton was the worst and it was shown that he had been arrested and convicted several times on different charges, and under different aliases. As Henry Carter he had been convicted before Chief Justice Falconbridge at Brockville, of importing stolen diamonds into Canada, and sentenced to six years in the Kingston Penitentiary. He had been arrested in Philadelphia, at Sherbrooke, Quebec, and other places.

Adams also had a bad record, involving several charges of pocket-picking and theft in Chicago, New York and other places. It was stated that Adams was wanted in Chicago now on a charge of stealing a gold watch, but Adams denied that.

Against Graney there was a record of having been convicted of grand larceny in Boston, Mass., and sentenced to ninety days.

"I don't know what I am going to do with you men," His Honour remarked. "I will defer the passing of sentence until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

At the afternoon session of the trial of Herb Hamilton, Jos. Adams, Jas. Graney and George Williams, charged with picking pockets, the Crown concluded its evidence in the charge of stealing a purse containing $20 from Ebenezer McTaggart, of Brockville, shortly before six o'clock, and an adjournment was made until this morning. The greater part of the afternoon was taken up in the cross-examination of P. C. Nowhall, who was on the stand from 2.30 until 4.30 o'clock. Evidence was given by Jas. and Alex Reid as to the actions of the prisoners at the G.T.R. station, and Jas. Jackson testified that he had the pocketbook previously recognized by Mr. McTaggart as his, near the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets, where Jas. Reid had stated he had seen Adams, Graney and Hamilton standing.

When the Court re-opened in the afternoon the cross-examination of P. C. Newhall commenced and lasted two hours. Mr. O'Connell examined him closely on all the details of his story and made him describe exactly his movements during the day. He asked why the officer, when he had seen the men picking McTaggart's pocket, as he had sworn they did, did not notify the man of his loss and arrest them at once. He wanted to know if he had allowed them to go on in order to get more evidence against them, and the witness stated that he had done so in order to make sure of their arrest. The counsel for the defence asked why the officer, when he knew his men were at the White House for dinner, did not arrest them there, instead of allowing them to go down to the circus grounds.

"Was it in order to have an opportunity to make a dramatic arrest at the circus grounds?" he asked.

The cross-examination was a most thorough one, but the officer was not shaken in the main points of his story.

There was a heated tilt between Crown Attorney Wood and Mr. O'Connell when the latter examined

YOUNG WILD DUCKS PLENTIFUL

PROMISE OF MUCH SPORT

The lovers of the grand sport of duck shooting are passing around the glad word that the present prospects for the coming autumn are fine, and if the birds are not illegally shot, the opening of the season will find the game plentiful on the river and Rice Lake. From Hale's Bridge down, the young birds are seen flying along the shores and feeding along the banks, and they are now a fine size. Another six weeks will fatten them up and they should be in good condition when September comes. The large number of young birds has been remarked frequently lately, and it fills the sportsman's heart with pleasure.

The secretary, Mr. Hawthorne, read a communication from Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, stating that Mr. Jos Burgess had been appointed an arbitrator, to examine, on request, into all disputes into shipments of butter and cheese at Montreal. This was received.

The buyers present were Messrs. Fitzgerald, Gillespie, Kerr, Cook Weir, Morton, Gunn & Langlois, and Riddell.

MASONIC RECEPTION IN TORONTO

To Cost $25,000—A Big Conclave of Knights Templars Next Month

Toronto, July 22.—An event in Masonic circles, to which is attached the greatest of interest, is the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Priory of Canada, Knights Templar, in Toronto on August 11th, 12th and 13th. Already arrangements have been made by the local commanderies for the entertainment of the visitors, and the sum of $25,000 has been set aside to give the American Knights a really Masonic welcome. Ten commanderies from the United States have already signified their intention of being present, and many others are expected to be here before the opening of the conclave. The uniformed bodies from across the line that will take part in the big parade are: St. Bernard Commandery, Chicago; Damascus and Detroit Commanderies, of Detroit; Lake Erie and Hugh de Payens Commanderies, of Buffalo; Monroe and Cyrene, of Rochester; Niagara Falls, Lockport and Port Huron, besides the local preceptories.

The members of the Council of the Sovereign Great Priory of Canada will meet in the King Edward Hotel on Tuesday evening, Aug. 11th, at 8 o'clock, when the conclave will be officially opened. On the following morning the Escort Committee of knights in uniform will meet incoming trains and conduct the visiting commanderies and preceptories to their several quarters.

In the evening the local brethren will tender a reception to all visiting knights with a sail on the lake on the Cayuga. On Thursday morning an assembly will be held at the Alexandra Theatre for the purpose of giving a formal reception to the visiting commanderies. In the afternoon the uniformed knights will meet at the Armouries, University avenue and parade through the principal streets, finishing at the foot of Bay street, where they will be conveyed to Island Park.

Cheese Buyers Cross Sticks At Morning Board Meeting

A Difference of Opinion Between Messrs. Kerr and Cook—Was It a Game of Bluff?

FORMER GETS THE CHEESE

Salesmen and others at the Peterborough Cheese Board meeting this morning were treated to an interesting little drama, in which some warm repartee passed between Messrs. Kerr and Cook, two of the Board buyers. It was the feature of the meeting and seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by the listeners.

It all occurred in this manner. Mr. G A Gillespie, having finished calling the factories he wanted at 11 11-16 cents, bidding began afresh. Mr. Cook made it 11 3-4, but Mr. Kerr went a little better and called the balance of the board at the same price. The salesmen who had not already disposed of their cheese, of course, smook hands with themselves. Stony Lake, Oak Leaf and South Burleigh refused to accept Montreal inspection, and Mr. Kerr refused to take the cheese on any other.

Mr. Cook maintained the rules of the board were that factory inspection prevailed, and that when Mr. Kerr offered 11 3-4c for the balance he was obliged to accept all at factory inspection.

"You can't spring a bluff like that on me," retorted Mr. Kerr. "Cheese at those factories have always been bought, Montreal inspection, and I'm not going to lose a week back there."

"You can stop at Oak Leaf on your way to the others," remarked the salesman of that factory.

"I'm not going around by Oak Leaf, Mr. Kerr replied; "I went that way once and almost got killed."

"If Mr. Kerr doesn't take the balance of the board, according to the rules of the board, my bid holds good," said Mr. Cook.

Mr. Kerr emphatically refused, and again accused Mr. Cook of trying to spring a bluff on him in order to laugh at the joke going home on the train, but the other buyer declared that he was not looking on the ludicrous side at all.

"Mr. Kerr is not living up to the rules of the board in not taking the cheese properly," he said.

The president, Mr. Coughlin, thought Mr. Kerr was oblized to take them all, factory inspection.

"Certainly," added Mr. Cook; "I would have taken all but those three factories myself at 11 3-4c, factory inspection, and I maintain my bid should come before his."

"I think it's unreasonable, and I call for arbitration on this question." Mr. Kerr stated. "They have never in my recollection had cheese at these factories inspected at home. All Mr Cook wants is to get me away from home for a week, so that he can buy up the cheese cheaper."

"Mr. Kerr is wrong. He has only done what I would have done myself had I had the first bid. The cheese he bought should, by rights, belong to me, unless he takes the balance of the board."

Mr. Kerr then asked the three factories under discussion to ship to Peterborough.

"Mine don't go" and "you won't get mine" were words audible from a couple of the salesmen.

"I want them shipped at Peterborough," demanded Mr. Kerr, but they refused, and as there were no rules to compel him to have them shipped to any other place he did not have to take them. He was out, and the board adjourned.

CHARGE OF SEDUCTION AGAINST A MAN FROM BELMONT TOWNSHIP

Pending a charge of "seduction under promise of marriage," Michael Anderson, a Belmont Township young man, is under arrest and is now out on bail. Yesterday on the noon C. P. R. train County Constable Archie Moore went down to Havelock and returned with the prisoner on the 5 o'clock train. Anderson appeared before County Magistrate Edmison last night, and was let out on bail on $1,000 by himself and two sureties of $500 each. The trial will be held on Tuesday next at ten o'clock.

The alleged offence is said to have been committed last September. Anderson is a well known young man in Belmont, residing about three miles from Havelock.

Coal May Be Weighed On The City Scales Before Delivery

There is a probability that before the present city council's term expires a bylaw will be presented in regard to the weighing at coal. The idea was put forward by Ald Morgan who stated at the last council meeting that he intended to launch the bylaw. His aim apparently is to secure a guarantee for the people that they are receiving the full amount of coal that they pay for. This he believes could be done by having every load of coal weighed on the market scales and the ticket given to the purchaser. No charge would be made to the dealer for the use of the scales. This is the nucleus of the motion which Ald. Morgan said he would advance.

Says "I'm Afraid To Go Home In The Dark" Is Immoral

A writer on the editorial section of the Rochester Post states that there is a tendency towards the immoral in many of the popular songs. A part of the article follows:

"For instance, take the latest popular song, 'I'm Afraid to Go Home in the Dark.' If stark immorality is not in that title then there is no such word in the dictionary. No man with a clear conscience is afraid of the dark. The man who has been 'out with the boys,' who has overstayed the midnight hour with boon companions, the friendly game, who has made merry the early hours with wine and song, and who has concocted a glib story to deceive his lonely and affectionate wife—such a man slinks reluctantly homeward through the dark and lonely thoroughfares. The good man, the noble man, the man with a clear conscience, walks blithely through the black pall of night unashamed and unafraid. Ergo, a composer who deliberately puts a composition on the market with such immoral title exposes his head, metaphorically speaking, to Hogan's bludgeon; for it naturally follows that if a title is immoral the music is likewise immoral."

LINDSAY TEACHER IS COMING

Mr. Cornish Appointed on Staff of New Normal School—Sketch of His Educational Career

OTHER TEACHERS FOR HERE

Lindsay, July 22.—(Special.) — The friends of Mr. George A. Cornish will be glad to learn of his appointment to the Peterborough Normal School.

Mr. Cornish for the last six years has been Science Master in Lindsay Collegiate Institute and will be greatly missed from the staff of that school. He has always been regarded as a friend of the scholars, and among the students there will be a want that will be hard to fill.

Mr. Cornish has always been an energetic church worker and since coming to Lindsay has been an elder in St. Andrew's Church, and also superintendent of the Sunday School in that church.

Mr. Cornish will receive a salary of $1,800 a year, with an annual increase of $100 until $2,000 is reached. He graduated from the University of Toronto in 1900, with first class honours, having won during his course three Science scholarships, as well as prizes in Botany, Mineralogy, and Geology. For the next two years he pursued post-graduate work in Biology at the University of Toronto and spent three summers in research work at the Canadian Marine Biological station, and has published two scientific monographs on the marine animals of Eastern Canada.

After teaching one year in Niagara Falls Collegiate, he came to Lindsay, where he has been for over five years. During this time he has been offered superior positions in the Collegiate Institutes at London and Toronto, as well as several other cities and has refused them. He was appointed this spring as lecturer in the University of Toronto summer school and has been delegated by the Minister of Education to revise the course in Science for High Schools and to write a manual of instruction in Science to be distributed by the Education Department for the use of teachers in High and Public schools.

He also holds the position of secretary-treasurer of the Victoria County Educational Association, and president of the science section of the Ontario Educational Association. He goes to Peterborough Normal School and work begins about September 15th.

The other teachers of Peterborough Normal School are D. Walker, B.A., principal; S. J. Keyes and H. G. Park.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CAN BE HAD IN 25c. TRIAL SIZE

AS WELL AS IN REGULAR 50c. BOXES.

Everybody Can Afford To Give These Wonderful Tablets a Trial at Least And Prove Their Value.

"Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Liver Tablets," the wonderful medicine made from the juices of ripe fruits, have scored a remarkable success. The demand for them has grown in four years till it now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Druggists at first bought them in lots of one dozen boxes—to retail for $6.00. Now it is no uncommon thing to receive orders from wholesalers for 100 gross lots (14,400 boxes)—to retail for $7,200.

There is only one reason for this great success—they cure sick people.

But still there are homes where "Fruit-a-tives" have not been tried—homes where they still suffer from Constipation, Biliousness, Kidney Trouble, Skin Diseases, Neuralgia, Rheumatism and kindred painful and weakening ailments — often because they have not cared to risk 50c. to try "Fruit-a-tives" when other medicines—supposed to cure — could be had for 25c.

This last objection to trying "Fruit-a-tives" has now been overcome. We have put out a new trial size to retail at 25c. The price no longer stands in the way. Get a trial box and see for yourself that "Fruit-a-tives" will help you.

If your dealer has not the 25c. trial size, let us know. Give us your name and address and we will send you a booklet—free — containing valuable recipes and stories of what "Fruit-a-tives" have done. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

BRITISH FLEET GIVES A BALL

Naval Function at Quebec Is Splendid Affair.

"BOBS" INSPECTS TROOPS

They Are Everything That Makes For Britishers and Soldiers, Says Field Marshal Lord Roberts—Break In Water Main Leaves the City Without Water — Pageants Are a Huge Success.

Quebec, July 22.—The Prince of Wales arrives on the Indomitable at 2 o'clock to-day. Official visits will be made on board the ship by the Canadian authorities and the prince will land at 4.

Lord Roberts is staying very quietly. Mayor Oliver has seen him, and after several changes, the program at a late hour last night was announced to include a visit to Toronto on the fifth, sixth and seventh of August. He will arrive on the evening of the fifth, and the afternoon of the sixth will be a civic half holiday. A parade of the local troops will be held in Exhibition Park.

On Friday Lord Roberts will go to Hamilton, instead of London, as originally proposed, and will be entertained to luncheon by the military officers.

On Saturday Lord Roberts will go with Hon. J. S. Hendrie in the colonel's motor car by Winona, Beamsville, Grimsby and St. Catharines to Niagara. Nothing has been decided of his further movements.

The fleet ball last night was the first great social function of the celebration. Sir Asheton Curzon-Howe and the officers of the fleet were the hosts, the ball being official. Over eight hundred guests were invited, and the occasion was marked by the utmost brilliance. The United States and French navy were well represented, and almost every distinguished person staying in the city was present, the Governor-General, however, being unavoidably absent.

The ball was held in the Parliament Buildings, one chamber being converted into the ball room and the other into the supper room. The ornate decorations of the chambers were tastefully supplemented with naval trophies, life buoys from each of the British vessels in red, white and blue were hung high on the wall with trophies of flags intermingled.

The throne and Speaker's dais were decorated with trophies of arms, and a shield presented by Admiral Curzon-Howe for gun-laying. The supper room was brilliant with the ships' plate, heavy silver centre pieces standing on the tables. A [illegible] silver cock held by the Albemarle for regatta superiority crowed magnificently on the main table. Each ship took charge of one table.

The entrance and hallway were furnished with 12-pounder field guns. On the first landing a trophy of sword bayonets with torpedo warheads, and supported by a marine and bluejacket was erected by the Exmouth men. On the second landing a trophy of cutlasses was the work of the Duncan crew. Dancing continued till after two this morning.

Earl Roberts yesterday inspected the regiments in camp, and his satisfaction was expressed in the following remark:

"A fine lot of men in physique, in appearance, in drill, in behavior, in everything that pertains to a good Britisher and a good soldier."

The field marshal, who was in civilian togs, brown suit and white felt hat, was accompanied to Camp Savard by Lieut.-Col. Septimus Denison, his aide, Gen. Cotton, and staff, and the troops marched past after Brigadier-Col. Macdonald had been introduced to the famous warrior, who asked many questions concerning the various corps as they swung by.

The Highlanders, Grenadiers and Queen's Own, of which latter regiment Gen. Robert is honorary colonel, marched past in the order named and they never looked better.

The cavalry brigade and then the Windsor, Hamilton and London regiments were next inspected.

Incidentally the field marshal was introduced to Capt. Leonard of St. Catharines, who invented the "gig infantry" outfit for field work, which seemed to attract his attention favorably.

All along the lines, the visitors were greeted by exceptionally hearty cheering.

For a whole day the major portion of Quebec has been without water. In case of fire there would have been almost no protection. The trouble was caused by a break in the 30-inch main at Charlebois. There was a small flood at this point, and workmen were promptly set to work to make repairs. Yesterday morning the waterworks department reported the main repaired and promised water plenty by noon.

While the crowds are coming in flattering numbers, there is still good accommodation for several thousand more, though the hotels are full at from $5 to $10 per room.

No one who has not seen the historical pageants will understand the ecstacies of those who have had the privilege to say that nothing on the American continent has been seen like it, but faintly suggests the reality. The noble natural theatre of the spectacle could not be readily matched, while the historical associations which cluster round the Plains of Abraham belong to one nation alone.

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier arrived yesterday and made an official call on the Governor-General. Sir Wilfrid is staying at Spencerwood.

A military tattoo was held last night, under the management of John Slatter, bandmaster of the 48th Highlanders. The Queen's Own men and Grenadiers took part.

The most serious difficulty is in connection with the feeding of the unusual number of visitors. Everything is closed up before midnight, and those who rely on late suppers to eke out scanty dinners, meet with disappointment.

THIEVES AT QUEBEC.

Detectives Arrest Bunch of Notorious Blacklegs.

Quebec, July 22.—Quebec has been infested with the best line of high-class pickpockets of the United States and Canada since the opening of the tercentenary festivities. There have been, too, a line of the highest priced shoplifters on the continent at work in the city.

Supt. W. H. Welsh of the Canadian Detective Bureau, Toronto, has cornered some prize packages in Tommy Ryan, Bill Townsend, Ed. Brough, Mabel Carson, Fred Wilson, Kid Murphy, Lof Rosen, Shuey Lepschitz and Burt Johnson, a bunch of Boston pickpockets and shoplifters, all of whom are "in" for prosecuting their profession in the festival city.

With Supt. Welsh in these pinches were Detective O'Grady of the Buffalo force and Detectives Taite and Callahan.

PAY LISTS PADDED.

Civic Employe of Montreal Is Charged With Fraud.

Montreal, July 22.—The discovery was made yesterday at the City Hall that civic pay lists have been stuffed, and that in all human probability the corporation has suffered to the extent of many thousands of dollars. The accused is a trusted employe and the exposure was made quite accidentally yesterday afternoon. The name is withheld.

The mayor suspended a foreman of the road department, awaiting investigation into charges of stuffing pay rolls. The name is withheld.

His method was to introduce on the pay roll names of men who never existed, and then draw pay for them.

Will Rule the Seas.

Auckland, New Zealand, July 22.—In justifying the expenditure of the fund raised for the entertainment of the United States battleship fleet, the Premier said that the United States, with its great sea power, while on friendly terms with Great Britain, spends fifty million pounds annually in trade with the Empire. The day will come, he said, when a great fight will be necessary for the supremacy of the white races in the Pacific, and when this time comes, Great Britain can have the assistance of the American fleet, and the two nations will be found fighting shoulder to shoulder to preserve to future generations the rights and privileges due to all classes.

Speedy Liquidation.

Harry Pollock, who ran a clothing and gent's furnishing store in Fort William, got into financial difficulties and came to Toronto to see his creditors. At 10 o'clock Monday morning he assigned to Louis Gurofsky, with assets of $4,000 and liabilities of $6,000. At 2 p. m. the entire estate was sold to Mr. Enzer of Fort William, who paid enough to give the creditors 50 cents on the dollar.

Port Rowan Man Jailed.

Chicago, July 22.—Lindsay Russell of Port Rowan, Ont., is in jail here on a charge preferred by Miss Daisy Phillmore of Highland Park, who claims he is the father of her six-months-old child. Russell has a wife in Canada, having separated from her in St. Thomas six years ago.

BOBBY KERR MAY BE THE WINNER

Canadian Is Favorite For Short Runs In Olympics.

WINS PRELIMINARY HEATS

Sebert Is Not Expected to Do Much In the 400-Metre Event—Tom Longboat Finishes Training In Ireland and Starts For Shepherd's Bush Stadium—Canadian High Jumpers Are Weeded Out.

London, July 22.—(C. A. P.)—In the second round of the 200 metres, Bobby Kerr meets five Americans, four Britishers and a Frenchman, a Swede, a Norwegian and a Hungarian. Kerr shows his best form at the 200. The hundred is more problematical. Kerr is better acquainted with the game than Rector, whom he had to beat in the shorter race.

Lou Sebert of Toronto has little chance in the 400-metre race, though he won his heat yesterday. Helswelter cutting one-fifth of a second off Carpenter's 49 3-5, in this event, arouses the hope of England wiping out Wilson's failure, but the best Americans were never pressed.

The series of American successes yesterday were climaxed by Sheppard's record-breaking win in the 800-metres final in 1.52 4-5, and the half in 1.54. His compatriots cheered him wildly, and his enthusiasts carried him to his dressing room. Just, England's hope, quit cold, but in the stretch, amid frenzied appeals for renewed activity, whipped up his stride.

Tom Longboat, Canada's first hope in the Marathon, has completed his training in Ireland, and has left for London to join the other Canadian Marathoners.

In the high jump, Macdonald, Canada, failed at 6 feet 9 3-4 inches and was weeded out.

In the 100-metre semi-final, Kerr caught Sherman half-way and won by two yards, in 11 seconds. Morton was a close third. Walker's heat was .10 4-5. Rector's was also .10 4-5 easily. Cartnell's was .11 1-5.

It is stated that King Edward will personally start the Marathon on Friday.

In the 200 metres, tenth heat, Hamilton beat Sebert, the Canadian, two yards, in .22 2-5.

In the eleventh, Kerr, leading throughout, beat Mey 2 1-2 yards, in .22 1-5. This was the fastest heat of the day and a very popular win.

In the third heat of the 200 metres, Roche nipped Robertson at the tape. Lukeman, the Canadian, led for a half and finished third. Time .22 4-5.

Towns, the world's champion, professional sculler, got an enthusiastic reception upon his arrival. The crowd included Tom Sullivan, Ruckstuhl and Barry. Towns was driven in a coach to Sullivan's hostelry at Putney, and was loudly cheered en route.

In the 400 metres, sixth heat, Malfair sprinted easily from Buddo, of Canada, winning in 50 seconds.

The best jump of George Barber, the Canadian, was 5 feet 9 3-4 inches. Eight jumpers did better. Porter, the American, jumped 6 feet 3 inches, and Moffitt 6 feet 1 inch. The event is unfinished.

In the 400 metres, tenth heat, Lou Sebert (Canada) collared Jacquemin (Belgium) in the stretch and quite easily defeated Cartasegna (Italy). Time, 50.1-5 seconds. Kerr was scratched in this event.

The Argonaut eight rowed over half the course Monday afternoon in 3.52. Lou Scholes rowed the full course yesterday morning in 10.10. The water was very dead. The Canadian oarsmen are all well and are getting used to the new boats. None of the Canadians are thought to be dangerous by the English critics.

The Marathon course for Friday's race is in splendid condition. Interest in the race is reaching fever heat. Tom Longboat is greatly fancied and his win would be a popular victory. The progress of the race will be signalled at the stadium. Boss Sullivan, on being interviewed, states that he intended to protest Longboat, adding "just to show we are right in our protest, Boyd, a Canadian delegate to the sports, is walking around with a similar protest in his pocket. The Canadian officials must protect their men as we are trying to protect ours."

Aged Farmer Hangs Himself.

Tweed, July 22.—William G. Rogers, a highly respected farmer living near Bogart, committed suicide by hanging. He was 75 years of age.

For several months he has been ailing and his death was the result of a weakening of the mind through nerve trouble.

The body was suspended by a strap fastened to a rung of the ladder leading to the loft of the barn.

Arrested the Constable.

Ottawa, July 22.—High Constable Groulx went to Maniwaki to make a seizure on one Audre Neault, but when he got into the building they locked him in until the Ottawa train was due. He was then told to get aboard. They threatened to beat him otherwise. Now he will go up again with warrants and assistance.

Snow Seen at Uxbridge.

Uxbridge, July 22.—An Uxbridge man says the boy Snow, who escaped from Toronto jail Friday, was at Uxbridge on Saturday.

He didn't conceal his identity, but said that the others had made the hole and he'd taken advantage of their kindness, and intended to stay out as long as he could.

Borden to Run In Halifax.

Ottawa, July 22.—While officially it is stated as premature, it is learned that R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, will contest Halifax at the next general election, keeping Carleton County as an anchor.

John C. O'Mullin, who ran with him in 1908, will probably be the other candidate.

You shake down the ashes —not the coal—in the

"Hecla" Furnace

There are four grate bars in the "Hecla"

Each one can be shaken separately.

You don't have to shake the whole fire to get out the ashes around the edges of the firepot.

You don't shake down a lot of good coal with the ashes.

You don't have to use a poker at all.

The "Hecla" Triangular Bar Grate allows you to shake just the part of the fire where the ashes are, without disturbing the rest of the coals.

Naturally, one grate is easier to shake, than four all geared together. That is why people find the HECLA "no trouble to look after."

ZAM-BUK SAVED THIS BABY

Mrs. M. Barrett, 602 Moreau St., Montreal, says: "A horrid rash came out all over my baby's face and spread until it had totally covered his scalp. It was irritating and painful, and caused the little one hours of suffering. We tried soaps and powders and salves, but he got no better. He refused his food, got quite thin and worn, and was reduced to a very serious condition. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. It was wonderful how it seemed to cool and ease the child's burning, painful skin. Zam-Buk from the very commencement seemed to go right to the spot, and the pimples and sores and the irritation grew less and less. Within a few weeks my baby's skin was healed completely. He has now not a trace of rash, or eruption, or eczema, or burning sore. Not only so, but cured of the tormenting skin trouble, he has improved in general health."

Zam-Buk is sold at all stores and medicine vendors, 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50. A certain cure for all skin diseases, cuts, burns, etc., and for piles.

T. A. S. Athletic Club Will Likely Be Formed Before Long

A movement is on foot among the members of St. Peter's T. A. S. to form an athletic club for the young men of the society. At the last regular meeting Messrs. Jos. Picard and John Desmard were appointed to consider the matter, and last night a largely attended meeting was held among those interested in assisting the boys, and it is likely a club will be formed in the near future. It would embrace practically every branch of sport, and, if established, should increase in membership, as the young men are found in every game.

The question is still under consideration, and it is likely it will be carried out before long.

SIMPSON A CHANGED INDIAN

Been Taught to Get Speed in the Early Stages of Long Distance Run—The Trial Marathon

SIMPLY ATE UP THE FIELD

The Toronto Star contains the following account of Simpson's twenty mile win. The story of the race was written on July 10th, the day it was run.

To-days Marathon trial of the long distance men gives Manager Crocker and Coach Sherring, and, in fact, the whole team, more confidence than ever that Canada will be at the front in the tit-bits of the great Olympic sports.

The way Fred Simpson, the Mississauga Indian, ate up the field and the time he made—1.57.30 for 20 miles—was a source of jubilation. Simpson ran as he never ran before.

A Changed Indian

Simpson, as he ran yesterday, is an entirely different runner to the Indian you saw run in Canada.

Simpson in Canada never had any early speed. He always began slowly and then came on toward the end, depending on his endurance and final speed to bring him up. Here Billy Sherring has taken him in hand, and by dint of setting him a fast early pace in short distances on the track has eliminated any deficiencies in this regard.

To-day's trial was run in a chilly rain, accompanied by a stiff breeze, which sometimes blew directly in the runners' faces.

A Handicap Event

George Lister, the Central Y.M.C.A. runner, and Fred Noseworthy, the Montreal veteran, were sent away from the twenty-mile mark with ten minutes' start on Eddie Cotter, of Burlington, W. H. Wood, of Brantford, Harry Lawson and Bert Goldsboro, of Toronto, Fred Simpson, of Peterborough, and Jack Caffery, of Hamilton.

Lister went away from Noseworthy, but the veteran caught him at the ten-mile post. Then Noseworthy, who was leading by half a mile, developed a sore leg, and Lister led the bunch to within two miles of home.

When the scratch pack started Cotter led off, with Lawson, Goldsboro, and the Indian right up. They ran the first mile in five minutes, and Woods and Caffery went back. They reached the three-mile post in sixteen minutes. Here Simpson, Lawson and Goldsboro were together, with Cotter one hundred yards back. Goldsboro was setting the pace and the other two were hanging on. They covered the five miles in 28.08, the six in 30.40, seven in 46.15, and nine in 52.30. Here Cotter commenced to hook up the leaders again. At ten miles the time was 58.40. The roads were muddy and slippery. Lawson and Goldsboro were throwing it half way up their backs, but the Indian, using a low stride, was hardly bespattered. The eleven mile post was reached in 1.04.55, with the Indian, Goldsboro and Lawson still battling it out.

Cotter makes an Effort

Between the eleven and twelve mile posts Cotter came on, caught the bunch, and commenced to force the pace. About twelve miles Lawson complained of sore feet and stomach, and he and Goldsboro dropped back. The fifteen mile post was reached in 1.28.05.

Simpson to the Front

At sixteen miles Simpson made his effort. He came away from Cotter handily and raced into town in grand shape, winning by nearly half a mile. He caught Lister three miles out. Cotter caught Lister a mile and a half away from the Stadium. Lawson and Goldsboro were ten minutes back, while Caffery and Wood were beaten a couple of miles.

QUAKERS TO PRACTISE TO-NIGHT

Football Men Invited to the Exhibition Grounds at 7 o'clock

The Peterborough Quaker Football team will hold a practice to-night on the exhibition grounds. They are contemplating playing an exhibition game with Wirkworth on Civic Holiday, and intend getting in a little practice before that time. All players are requested to be out to-night not later than seven o'clock.

THE MIDLAND LEAGUE MEETING

Important Business is Being Taken Up To-day at Port Hope

A meeting of the Midland Baseball League executive is being held this afternoon at Port Hope at which important business is to come up. The default of Port Hope last week and the action of the Cobourg team in playing three men without certificates last week, will be discussed, and there are likely to be some interesting developments. Corney Burns will represent the Peterboroughs, while Geo. Lynch will look after the interests of the Athletics.

A SPECIAL TRAIN GOING TO LINDSAY

Big Crowd Will Accompany the Lacrosse Team To-morrow Afternoon

A big crowd will accompany the Peterborough Lacrosse Club on its excursion to Lindsay to-morrow afternoon when the first Trent Valley Lacrosse League game will be played. The Lindsay team is a strong one and will take a lot of beating. The locals have been practising faithfully and will be in good shape to give the Lindsay team a hard argument for the honours. A special train will leave the G.T.R. station at 1.45 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and as it is the weekly half holiday there should be a big crowd on hand for the trip.

LACROSSE

At the meeting of the lacrosse club last night Wally Parnell was elected captain. He is an old, experienced player and popular with his fellow athletes. The choice is a popular one.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

That village cut-up John Hogan, of the Lindsay Free Press, devotes half a colum of valuable space on pointless remarks intended to be witty, concerning Peterborough newspaper men. Our esteemed young friend should endeavour to turn his attention to something he knows more about—handcuffs for one thing—as he was never destined to be a humourist. He may be a joke himself, but that about lets him out, and there is something pathetic in his efforts to be funny on paper. However one should not judge him harshly. Perhaps his idea of humour coincides with that in vogue in the rural district where he allows the light of his countenance and the glory of his mauve socks to dazzle the populace.

the hand bills found on the prisoners and which it is the argument of the Crown came from McTaggart's purse. Mr. O'Connell took the bills to examine them and the Crown Attorney complained that he was not folding them as they were originally.

"I don't think my learned friend should be so impertinent," exclaimed the counsel for the defence. "He is talking to me like a school boy," and turning to the Crown Attorney he remarked, "Be kind enough to sit down in your place."

Mr. O'Connell in concluding his cross-examination closed with the remark, "I don't think much weight should be placed on the testimony of a man who allowed such acts as that to go on."

Mr. Wood in re-examination of P. C. Newhall, endeavoured to secure from him some evidence of a conversation among the prisoners in the police court cells which he had overheard, but the defence objected on the ground that it had not been touched upon in the examination, and the objection was sustained.

Ebenezer McTaggart

The next witness was Ebenezer McTaggart, of Brockville, whose testimony was little different from that given at the preliminary examination. He testified that he had been in Peterborough on June 17, and had purchased a ticket for Port Hope. When the train arrived at the station he proceeded to get on board at the rear end of the second car. He was carrying a suit case and had an overcoat thrown over his shoulder. As he got on the train he was jostled by some men, he could not tell by whom. He thought he had seen the prisoner, Hamilton before, but could not say where. Witness did not miss his pocket book until he went to pay his bill at a hotel in Port Hope. After finding it gone he had telephoned the G.T.R. station here notifying them of his loss. His purse contained two Bank of Montreal bills, which were folded small. Two ten dollar Bank of Montreal bills were produced and witness said they were folded as his had been.

Jas. Reid saw them

Jas. Reid testified that he was a mail carrier and was at the G.T.R. station when the 11.45 train arrived on circus day. He had seen all the prisoners there except Williams. They were on the car steps when he was going down the platform, when he passed with his mail cart. Afterwards he had seen the three and Williams go together to Charlotte street. He had seen Williams standing on the corner when he drove past, while the other three went east on Charlotte street. He saw them stop just about the corner of Aylmer and saw one man step off the sidewalk with one foot. The other men prevented witness from seeing what he was doing.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell, the witness said that he was a little late on reaching the station that morning. P. C. Newhall called his attention to the prisoners and told him to watch them, or words to that effect. He had seen the prisoners at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, when he was driving away from the station, but had turned west on Charlotte street and did not approach any nearer to them.

Suspicious Looking Devils

Alex Reid testified that he was as express man and had been at the G.T.R. station on circus day when the 11.45 train came in. He had seen all the prisoners there and had called P. C. Newhall's attention to them, saying, "There's some suspicious looking devils. You had better keep your eye on them," and the officer replied that he had spotted them. Witness stated that they were jostling among the passenegrs. He saw Williams, Adams and Hamilton near the train while Graney, he stated, had stood back from the others.

Jas. Jackson, 223 Perry street, an employee of H P Kennedy's, was the next witness. He stated that he had picked up a pocketbook at the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte street, on the 21st of June. He identified the one produced in court as that pocketbook. He had found it in the culvert almost opposite Greenslade's shop, and after reading in the papers about the case, had turned it over to P. C. Newhall.

P. C. Meharry

P. C. Meharry testified that he was with P. C. Newhall on the circus grounds on June 17th in plain clothes and had assisted in the arrest of the four prisoners. He stated that warning had been given the prisoners that anything they said might be used against them, and told of the conversation which had afterwards taken place, stating that Adams and Graney had said that they had come in by the G.T.R., while Williams said that he beat his way in on the circus train.

Witness told of the conversations he heard in the cells. Adams was in north cell, Hamilton and Williams in the middle cells and Graney in the south cell. Adams yelled, "Are you there, Arthur," and a voice from the middle cell said, "Yes," whereupon Adams said "It has just turned out as old Bill told us. We had best have stayed away."

Mr. Gus White, proprietor of the White House, testified that the four prisoners had dinner together at his hotel on circus day. They had been in a party together, although they did not enter the dining room in a body.

To Mr. O'Connell the witness stated that this tables seated eight persons. He had not watched the prisoners very closely.

This concluded the evidence for the Crown on this charge and an adjournment was made until to-day at 10 o'clock.

TENDERS INVITED FOR CURLING RINK

Advertised To-day the Second Time

In to-day's issue of the Examiner it will be seen that tenders are again being called for a new curling rink on Charlotte street. These were once invited before and the contract was let, but through some misunderstanding the work was not proceeded with. The curlers expect to have a fine building when it is completed.

FIRE CHIEF MAY HAVE A LIGHT BUGGY

Matter Not Decided—Committee Have Nothing to Say

Although none of the parties concerned would say anything about the matter, it is understood a light horse and buggy will probably be purchased for Chief Howard of the fire brigade. The members of the committee profess to know nothing of the matter, and Chief Howard says he needs such an outfit, but knew nothing of the committee's plans. It is learned that the matter has been considered, but it is at present premature.

COMMITTEE TESTS THE BRIGADE

Call Last Night Was Answered Quickly

A test call of the fire brigade was made last night at 9.55 o'clock from the box at the corner of McDonel and Water streets. The alarm was sounded by Mayor Rush, who, with the members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, was on a tour of inspection of the light service. The first waggon arrived in three minutes and thirty-five seconds, the other shortly after. Chief Howard was with the mayor and party. Nine men were on the waggons.

IN A BREATH THERE'S REST

Breathe Hyomei And Be Cured of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma.

Nothing has a remedy for the grip, epidemic colds and bronchitis that is far better than dosing the stomach with medicine and drugs.

It is the healing oils and balsams of Hyomei, which medicate the air you breathe, reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs and restoring health to the mucous membrane.

Hyomei acts like a curative internal air bath, and has the same healing and antiseptic effect as the air where the Pine and Eucalyptic forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

Breathe healing Hyomei and see how quickly you will get relief from catarrh and head colds. If it does not help you there will not be a penny's expense, as Wm. Madill agrees to refund the money. The complete Hyomei outfit costs only $1.00.

THROWN FROM BUGGY IN RUNAWAY

Mr. Wm. White's Horse Scared by Street Car on Sherbrooke Street.

Mr. White, of Nassau, while driving a spirited colt On Sherbrooke street last evening, was thrown from his buggy in a runaway, and received a severe shaking up. He was approaching George street from the west, when at the corner a street car passed. The horse swerved around and dashed back up the street. At the bridge Mr. White was thrown out, but the horse continued on its course to Aylmer street, turned south to Dalhousie and came to a stop in one of the yards there. The only damage to the buggy was a broken shaft. Dr. Gray was called to attend Mr. White, but beyond being shaken up he had sustained no injuries.

FATE TAKES A HAND IN CANOE UPSET AND ALL THREE PERSONS REACH THE SHORE IN SAFETY

Mr. John Doris and Daughter With Friend Upset From Canoe Near Campbelltown While Trying to Land a Lunge---Had Just Caught a Big One.

A LUCKY COINCIDENT

After landing a monster lunge on Tuesday morning near Campbelltown, and thereby securing the largest fish that has, to date, been entered in the competition for the Examiner prize, Mr. John Doris, with his daughter, Miss Eliza, and a lady friend of hers, were upset while trying to get another big one into the boat, and another drowning accident was narrowly averted.

Mr. Doris is a retired farmer and as enthusiastic a fisherman as Izaak Walton himself. His home is in Otonabee, a few miles from Campbelltown, a well-known fishing ground between Hensfort Bridge and Wet lock's. Mr. Doris has a large boat-house there, and he uses it for living purposes while on a fishing trip with friends every summer.

Landed Big One

On Tuesday morning Mr. Doris drove from his home to Campbelltown, accompanied by his daughter and her friend. As related previously, Mr. Doris landed a fine specimen of the lunge family, and went out again to continue trawling. He was accompanied by the young ladies, who were sitting in the bow of the canoe. As told by a gentleman, who heard the account of the upset from Mr. Doris himself, the accident was certainly an unusual one.

Another Fish

Miss Doris was holding the line, when suddenly she got a strike, and realized that a fish had taken the hook. She did not say anything to her father, but began to play the lunge. Shortly afterwards she passed the line to her friend, who continued to pull the line in. When the fish was close to the boat it leaped from the water and shot the hooks from its mouth. They fell into Mr. Doris' trousers, below his knee

All Three in Water

Simultaneously the boat upset and all three occupants were thrown into the water. Fortunately they were only a short distance from the shore. The canoe made a complete revolution, and righted itself. Mr. Doris grasped one end, Miss Doris caught hold of one side, and, according to the report, the other lady held on to the line. Mr. Doris started to swim to shore, which he reached safely, and all three put foot on the welcome sand. Miss Doris' friend had been towed ashore by the line, which had caught in Mr. Doris' trousers, and it is said that this fact, in all probability, averted a fatality. Mr. Doris is quite an elderly gentleman, but showed no effects of his experience. It was most fortunate that the upset occurred at a short distance from the shore.

There were several eye-witnesses, but they were not close at hand.

Fishing Yesterday

Yesterday morning, Messrs. M. C. Tooley, J. J. Howden and Robt. Adams joined Mr. Doris, and they spent another day's successful fishing. The latter is entirely undaunted by his dip in the Otonabee, and would not let that incident interfere with his favourite sport. The big fish is a beauty. Mr. Tooley brought the head to the city to be mounted, and Mr Doris is rather sorry that it was not the entire fish. It had to be cut in two to be weighed, as the scales at hand were not large enough. The head is unusually large, and Mr. Doris had a great fight in landing him. He is looking forward to winning the Examiner prize, and has the necessary witnesses of its weight.

Large Crowd Witnessed "Tiff" Between Otonabee And Ajax

Raced For The Wharf And Bumped Into Each Other---Ajax Retaliated And Finally Crowded Otonabee Away From the Dock.

IT WAS A SPIRITED AFFAIR

The steamers Otonabee and Ajax had a little "tiff" last night which was witnessed by the several hundred persons who were waiting at the Wolfe Street wharf for the special evening trip on the river. The Ajax had come up the river from Hastings with two large scow loads of wood. It had locked through at the locks and proceeded on to the Little Lake. The steamer Otonabee, with Capt. White at the wheel, was returning from Gore's Landing. It arrived in the Little Lake after the Ajax, and as the latter rounded Burnham's Point, the spectators on shore noticed that the Otonabee was just behind and was advancing on the east side of the river to reach the wharf first.

Struck the Ajax

Both boats were soon alongside and in passing the Otonabee bumped up sideways against the Ajax. Charlie Gray, who was at the wheel on the little tug, pulled hard on the rudder and rammed his nose against the Otonabee's stern. The latter reached the wharf first but did not go in close, as there were other craft moored there, and there was but little room left. While the Otonabee was thus waiting to secure a good position, the Ajax had continued onward and came in between the big boat and the wharf and tied up. The Otonabee thus had the outer position. Had it passed on the west side of the Ajax in making the turn the big boat might have won out.

CANADA GETS A FIRST BY BOBBY KERR'S GREAT VICTORY IN THE 220 METRE RACE

London, July 23.—Bobby Kerr of Hamilton, Canada, won the 200 metre final to-day, winning from Cartwell and Clogher of United States and Hawkins, United Kingdom.

London, July 23.—Between 70 and 80 athletes representing seventeen countries are getting the last touches of their training for the great Marathon race, the feature of the Olympiad which will start to-morrow from the private grounds of King Edward at Windsor Castle. The course has been most carefully selected, with a view to getting a stretch of country as nearly as possible like the twenty-six miles between Marathon and Athens, over which the famous herald ran two thousand years ago. The real struggle is, however, expected to be between the United Kingdom, Canada, the United States, South Africa and Sweden, but it is believed that in the end the United Kingdom or Canada will provide the champion. The chief hope of Canada is Tom Longboat, the Indian. There is still some doubt as to whether he will be allowed to run, owing to charges of professionalism preferred against him, but it is considered probable that he will face the starter.

AN ANALYSIS OF OBSTRUCTION

Three months ago the Opposition in the House of Commons gloried in obstructing the business of the country. To-day they try to deny that they were ever guilty of such a wicked thing. But it is in the altered behaviour of to-day that we have the best proof of their intention in the earlier months of the session.

The session can be divided into three easily distinguishable periods. The first is the obstruction and slander period, from November 28 to May 31, when the Opposition were lavish with insinuations of graft and corruption, followed by dramatic assertions that there should be no supplies until "grievances were redressed," backed up with spectacular all-night sittings. The second was the provincial election period, from June 1 to June 10, during which affairs came to a crisis and the Opposition came to a crisis and the Opposing public servants without pay and contractors without work, they were likely to become very unpopular. The third is the business period from June 11 to the present. The second was a transition period, during which the Opposition was undergoing the change of heart. The true comparison is, therefore, between the period up to May 31 and that after June 10.

In the former period $15,000,000 of the main estimates were voted and passed, $7,000,000 voted but not passed. In the latter $31,000,000 of the main estimates were passed and $26,000,000 voted, but not passed. In the former period of five months the motion to go into supply was obstructed three times by Liberals, who had reports to make or important projects to discuss, and thirty-five times by Conservatives, and on only four occasions did the House go into committee of supply forthwith. In the latter period of four weeks the House went into supply forthwith nine times, and on only three occasions was a motion to go into supply obstructed or delayed.

From November 28 to May 31 the House of Commons passed only one measure of first class importance, namely, the French treaty. Since June 10 the House passed three bills of first class importance, namely, the Civil Service, the Railway, and the Bank bills.

• • • •

The House of Commons has done at least three times as much work in the last four weeks as it did in the first five months of the session.

The Opposition kept the House two months over the vote of $900,000 for ocean and river service; and they harassed the Minister of Public Works over estimates of less than double that amount, for about six weeks. They began the session with an organized campaign to bring discredit on the Liberal ministry. The first move was to demand free access to the various departments of government, so that they might overhaul the records of public business. Failing in this, they next claimed the right to have brought before the House, to become part of its record, the records of the department. The government met the demand willingly by offering to produce before the House or any of its committees any records or documents which any member of the Opposition might state he had some good reason for wishing to see. On these terms several hundred tiles were brought down and examined in the House and before the Public Accounts Committee. Meantime they were piling up charges of fraud and corruption, which the papers, as they were brought down, and the investigations as they were proceeded with, failed to justify. Mr. Foster drew special attention to the expenses of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to the Colonial Conference. The expenses for this trip to England had not been voted when Sir Wilfrid Laurier and he went away; and Mr. Brodeur, as he was going to Europe to see about an ice-breaker, took his expenses out of the ice-breaker vote, returning the money when he received his Colonial Conference appropriation. Mr. Foster said Mr. Brodeur had "stolen" the money from the ice-breaker vote, and the House was kept sitting continuously from Thursday to Saturday night. Then it was shown that Mr. Foster, when a minister, had taken travelling expenses from a vote for commercial agencies, and as travelling expenses were not the purpose of the vote, the Liberals of that day had asked for an explanation. Mr. Foster had replied that he knew travelling expenses were not the purpose of the appropriation; but it did not matter, as the country had to pay any way. On this being brought to his attention, Mr. Foster withdrew the word "stolen" and the farce came to an end. Opposition to the ocean and river vote was withdrawn, and after two months of needless delay it finally passed.

• • • •

Next came an attack on the Government's policy and methods of disposing of timber limits. Collusion was charged between J. G. Turriff, late commissioner of Dominion lands, and T. A. Burrows, a frequently successful tenderer. The transactions which Mr. Burrows had with the Department of Interior in respect of timber berths took place before 1901, when Mr. Turriff was commissioner. Mr. Turriff opened the tenders, and it was alleged that he opened them alone, under suspicious circumstances, and gave Mr. Burrows secret information. The Public Accounts Committee held an inquiry, extending over six days, and it was shown that Mr. Turriff opened the tenders in the presence of his secretary, at the time specified for opening them. In the aggregate, Mr. Burrows' tenders were 21 per cent. above those of the next highest bidders. The attacks failed completely. The subject occupied six full days in the House of Commons, there were references to it on five other days, and the Public Accounts Committee spent six days upon it.

The original documents agitation, which related to this subject as well as to others, occupied some five days in the House of Commons, and it came up on half a dozen other occasions.

The Government's immigration policy was next attacked. It was alleged that bonuses were paid on all immigrants, instead of only farmers, farm labourers, railway construction men and domestic servants; and, further, that the bonuses were paid irrespective of whether the people stayed in Canada or went to the United States. There was also an insinuation that there were people at the back of the bonus, who got a "graft" out of it. The last point was never pushed beyond nomination. The system of giving the bonus was investigated in the Agriculture and Colonization Committee. Witnesses were called, and it was shown that on only the selected classes mentioned were bonuses paid to the booking agents, and that there was an arrangement, made with the United States immigration officers on the international boundary, whereby the names of those who settled across the border were obtained by the Dominion Immigration Department. If any of the bonused immigrants went across, they were noted and entered up against the booking agent's account and the sums deducted from the next payment due to him. The investigation only served to justify the business methods of the department, and Mr. Monk, who opened the attack, soon dropped it. The subject was discussed in the House of Commons on three days, was referred to on three or four other days from time to time, and was investigated several days in the Agriculture and Colonization Committee.

The final departmental attack was on the Militia Department in respect of the adoption of the Ross rifle as the national arm. The Ross rifle was debated at length on three days, the military critic of the Opposition, Col. Sam Hughes, defending the action of the Government against the onslaughts of his own colleagues.

• • • •

Slanderous statements have been made on no less than thirty days in the session; and besides the obstruction in supply, there has been obstruction by motions for adjournment of the House to call attention to "questions of public urgency," thereby delaying legislation on no less than ten days, making forty days of obstruction out of a total of less than eighty Government days up to the end of May.

The attack was conducted, as anyone can see, on a definite plan, with a careful division of the work. There were the original documents movement, led by Mr. Foster and Mr. Borden, supported by Messrs. Ames, Lake and Northrup; the insinuation about timber limits, led by Mr. Ames, supported by Messrs. Lake, Northrup and Foster; the attack on the Marine and Fisheries Department, led by Mr. Foster, supported by Messrs. Borden and Taylor; the attack on the immigration policy, led by Mr. Monk, supported by Messrs. Lennox, Cockshutt and Armand Lavergne; the criticism of dodging contracts, led by Mr. Bennett, supported by Messrs. Taylor and Fowler; the attack on the Ross rifle, led by Col. Worthington, supported by Mr. Fowler; criticisms of the Civil Service and political influence, led by Messrs. Foster and Borden; various legal attacks, handled by Mr. Borden.

Messrs. Sproule, Lennox, Lancaster, Northrup and Bergeron formed a light column, kept ready to join instantly in any and every attack that might be on the boards.

That is the history of Parliament during the period between November and June. The attacks have been malicious; they have diverted Government and Parliament from their true purpose; they have stopped the progress of public business and they have notably degraded parliamentary life. The proceeding was deliberate enough and those who made the obstruction cannot shift the blame to other shoulders if the session has been too long. They really delayed the commencement of business until about the fifteenth of June.

This woman says she was saved from an operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Frank Ensley, Lindsay, Ontario, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"When I wrote to you some time ago, I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the feminine organs and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do.

"A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman.

"I most heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women who suffer with female troubles."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Winnipeg, July 21.—(Special.)—Seventeen hundred and twenty-six miles of a daylight run through the wheat fields of Manitoba and Saskatchewan within four days—such is the summary of a notable trip made by Wm. Whyte, second vice-president of the C.P.R., and a party in a special train which left the city early on Tuesday morning and arrived home last evening at 5.30 p.m.

The journey was made primarily to enable Mr. Whyte and Mr. Bury to form their own estimates of the demand which the fast ripening crop is to make upon the transportation facilities of the C. P. R. system during the coming autumn; and they took with them as invited guests: Sir Daniel McMillan, Lieutenant-Governor; W. A. Black, of the Ogilvie Milling Company; G. V. Hastings, of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company; A. Kelly, of the Western Canada Flour Mills, and the editors of the three Winnipeg dailies. J. T. Arundel, acting general superintendent of the C.P.R., was also a member of the party.

Made Fast Run

The train consisted of a baggage car, Mr. Whyte's car, "Manitou," and Mr. Bury's car, "Champlain." One engine only, 238, was used and it was run by Engineer James Sparrow who covered the entire mileage with his fireman, W. Balderstone, and the train crew, Conductor E. S. Ward, Brakemen J. A. Audrain and W. J. Johnson remained in charge of the train from leaving to arriving at Winnipeg. The men were able to make the long trips as they go a thorough rest each night. On the splendid roadbed of the main line very fast time was made, a speed of 65 miles an hour being attained at times.

The train ran on a schedule which was adhered to strictly. Leaving here Tuesday morning, the train ran to Napinka, then to Estevan, thence to Moose Jaw reaching there at 8 p.m. after a run of 473 miles. On Wednesday the train ran from Moose Jaw to Brandon, a distance of 208.7 miles by way of the Arcola branch, with stops at Regina and Arcola. Thursday's run covered 562.5 miles, the train going from Brandon to Saskatoon by the Kirkella branch, then southward over the C.N.R. line to Regina, and yesterday the homeward run of 440 miles was made on the main line to Brandon, thence to Minnedosa, thence to Winnipeg. Facilities and equipment at all divisional points were inspected by the officials, and were found in applepie order, in readiness for the big grain business which will descend upon the system like an avalanche by the 1st of September.

Of the whole 1,726 miles of country covered there were probably not fifty miles, all told, which did not show grain fields stretching from the car line to the horizon, all in the deep green of healthy mid-summer growth, with the wheat varying in its development from the shot blade to the headed stage. The net result of such an inspection of these thousands of fields as was possible under the conditions of rapid travelling was to confirm the reports which have been coming in from all points as to the character and prospects of the crops. No bad crops anywhere; an average crop in the less favoured localities; a bumper crop in most districts—with every indication of favourable weather conditions for the early ripening of the harvest. This was, it may be said, about the impression left by the survey of the whole field. One of the grain men said that he did not see a field of wheat in the whole 1,726 miles which did not promise a yield of at least fifteen bushels to the acre, while hundreds of fields showed a stand which, given good filling weather, will give 30 to 35 bushels.

Tuesday's run along the Lalviere-Napinka branch, and onward to Estevan, showed crops in need of rain. Though none of the fields had the parched appearance of a drouth, it was apparent that injury would speedily result if rain did not soon fall. Some of the poorest crops of the whole trip were seen along this line, weeds being very much in evidence in the districts east of Morden; but, at that there was everywhere evidence of superiority to last year. Much of the crop was well advanced, the majority of the fields being headed out; while in the Napinka district a few fields were seen in the earliest stages of harvest coloration. Fields with a faint suggestion of gold were seen only in this district and between Strassburg and Lanigan, on the Kirkella branch. In southern Saskatchewan, between the Manitoba boundary and Estevan, there was obvious need for rain; and as the train passed Oxbow on Tuesday afternoon the clouds, which had been gathering all day, began to break in showers. This was the beginning of the great rain which for the next twelve or twenty-four hours fell steadily all over the wheat harvest colouration. Fields with an at every point where the train touched in its itinerary there had been a heavy downpour; and everywhere it was claimed that there was now moisture enough in the soil to carry the crops until showers are needed for filling. Some sections were specially favoured with rain, the Saskatoon district getting not only Tuesday night's rain but a good rain on Thursday as well.

The crops are fair along the Soo line as far as Weyburn, and from there north to Moose Jaw they are much above the average. From Regina eastward for 100 miles along the Arcola branch the fields are very heavy, but the grain is a little later than in many of the other districts—the wheat is just beginning to head out nicely. Thursday's run along the Kirkella branch was much enjoyed. When the train emerged from the Qu'Appelle valley it ran until Saskatoon was reached through a wheat raising district which will make an enormous contribution to the western wheat output this year. Through the East Mountain lake country, around Lanigan, along the new line to Saskatoon and southward from the city along the Prince Albert branch of the C. N. R., the crops are all but perfection. The wheat stands tall and strong; it is all headed out; and predictions are made that with suitable weather cutting will be under way within three weeks.

At Saskatoon also great stories are heard of the wonders of the Goose Lake country to the west of the city, where it is said the crops on the new farms are enormous. This new district is served on the south by the new C. P. R. line to Edmonston, which will be operated this fall to Wilkie which is 123 miles beyond Saskatoon; but unless the C. N. R. gets very busy and lays iron on its Goose Lake branch, many farmers will be unable to market their wheat. A start is now being made on this very essential work and it is expected the road will be in operation by the time the wheat is ready for the market. As the result of these prospects Saskatchewan and Manitoba, ambitious then ever. Saskatoon is a hustling, hustling place and its business men are "live wires," who will undoubtedly make good their promise to adorn their beautiful site with one of the greatest of the cities of the great plains. The great bonanza wheat fields between Dundurn and Davidson were an exceptionally inspiring sight. The train ran for mile after mile between an unbroken field of wheat, which stretched from horizon to horizon.

The run along the main line from Regina to the Manitoba boundary showed good crops, perhaps something above the average; and there was general agreement among the party that nothing seen on the whole trip excelled the showing made by the crops between Brandon and Minnedosa. Yesterday's run from Regina to Winnipeg was through a territory which will produce more wheat than ever before.

Something can safely be said of the crops as it now stands. It is not an abnormal crop, but take it as a whole, it is considerably better than an average one. An average yield in excess of twenty bushels to the acre is not a wild prophecy.

It is a well advanced crop. With favourable weather from this time forward, it will be harvested on the average a little earlier than in normal years, thus minimizing the loss is more chirty, energetic and the temperature.

Danger from drouth was practically removed by the drenching showers of Tuesday and Wednesday. This was an ideal rain for the purpose of preserving and advancing the crop. It was heavy, but not too torrential; and only in one or two fields was the grain slightly lodged because of the downpour. The rain lasted long enough thoroughly to soak the ground; and the heavy growth of grain will prevent the drying out of the soil by hot winds or hot weather.

With all these favourable conditions danger of damage and eccentricities of whole of the wheat-raising area of the west, the estimate of 125,000,000 bushels ceases to be the guess of an tions, operating over practically the range of possibility. Estimates of the probable wheat harvest, made on the trip, by grain men and others competent to form a judgment, ran all the way from 110,000,000 to 130,000,000 bushels. With ideal harvesting conditions the larger figures may easily be reached.

At all points where stops were made only one sentiment was expressed by optimist and becomes well within the unbounded confidence in the outlook. Already business is reviving in all branches; and this improvement will continue, week by week, until, with the assistance of a safely-garnered harvest, the great west will hum with an activity which will repeat if it does not surpass, the records of the past.

The C.P.R. management is making extensive preparations to handle the enormous grain traffic which will originate along its system. It will have considerable additions to its mileage to operate this fall. The Moose Jaw-Lacombe branch will be operated for some 120 miles beyond business men and farmers—one of was only opened to Saskatoon a month ago, will be operated for freight purposes as far as Wilkie, 123 miles west of Saskatoon; the Shoho line will be extended westward until it connects with the Kirkella line at Lanigan; the new lines from Reston to Wolseley and from Stoughton to Weyburn will be completed. All these additions will expedite the marketing of the grain, and will impose upon the C. P. R. the obligation of rushing over half a million bushels to the lake front every day if a blockade is to be avoided. This the C. P. R. management expects to be able to do. It was noted during the trip that there is practically no elevator building now going on in the new districts, and this will involve much direct loading from waggons which Moose Jaw; the branch from Kirkella the rapid handling of the crop.

THE COMPETITION IN FIELD CROPS

THE RULES GOVERNING IT

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The increased number of societies which are taking part in the Standing Field Crop Competitions this year, and the excellent results that have already accrued, have been so marked that the Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, has consented to extend the competition still further by arranging to have the five prize winners in each of the different agricultural societies competing, enter into a provincial contest at the Winter Fairs at Guelph and Ottawa. Each exhibitor will be required to forward two bushels of the grain with which he takes a prize in the Standing Field Crop Competition this year. The amounts offered in prizes at each of the above-named Winter Fairs will be: 1st, $35; 2nd, $30; 3rd, $20; 4th, $10; 5th, $5. All societies west of Toronto will compete at Guelph, and those east of Toronto at Ottawa. Each exhibitor will send his grain by express C.O.D., addressed to the superintendent of the fair at Guelph or Ottawa, and the transportation charges will be paid by the Department of Agriculture.

The grain winning the prizes at these Winter Fairs will become the property of the Department, and will be used for experimental purposes. All grain exhibited other than that taking prizes will be sold by auction at 10 a.m. on the morning of the last day of the fair, and the proceeds remitted by the Department to the owners.

An affidavit must be furnished by each exhibitor at the time of making entry, certifying that all the grain exhibited by him was grown on the plot judged by the official sent by the Federal Department to judge the grain while standing in the field.

Owing to the fact that there were not a sufficient number of societies entered in other kinds of grain we are confining this competition at the Winter Fairs to oats.

Further particulars will be mailed you later.

I trust that you will appreciate the desire of the Minister of Agriculture to improve the standard of the grain crops in the Province of Ontario, and give us your hearty co-operation in this important forward movement.

Faithfully yours,
J. LOCKIE WILSON,
Superintendent.

JUST FOR FUN

I'd like to return to the Romance of Youth—
Be barefooted, dirty and meek,
With pokeberry juice surrounding my mouth
And straggling all over my cheek;
But I know that I'd have, before going to bed,
To bathe in the washboiler out in the shed!

I'd like to go back and to rig up a line,
And sneak away fishing, to lure
The foxy shiners, but I know it I did
That father would catch me for sure
And make me come back, like he used to do then,
To bug the potatoes — then bug 'em again!

"I'd like to go back to the Romance of Youth"—
In verses that sentiment's fine,
But, take it from me, that back on the farm
The Romance of Youth is a shine!
"I'd like to go back"—for it always seems, then,
So good to get back to the city again!

A Toledo mother has written a really beautiful thing about "My Ideal Boy and Girl." But it takes the meat out of it reflecting on how many times she paused in her writing to yank Matilda out of the stocking basket and repel Johnnie from the jam jar.

REVERSAL.

Confucius was a learned man;
He used to state, concisely,
The time would come when everything
Will be reversed, precisely;
O hasten, Con., the day, for then
We'll have five days of shirking—
Five joyous days!—and willingly
Put in our "week-ends" working.

(Two touching verses, with apologies to the man who wrote the original, whoever the was.)

I've wandered through the village, Tom,
I've roamed about a bit;
You've no idea, Tom, my boy, how
Time has altered it!
The village patriarchs are dead, and
Few are left to know!
How much the town has changed since
Then— a dozen years ago.

The school is gone, the park plowed up,
And nothing have they saved.
Why, e'en the narrow village streets
Have recently been paved;
But, glory be, above it all, there
Flutters to and fro,
The same old Bryan banner, Tom, of
A dozen years ago!

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir,—The poet has said that "music has charms to soothe the savage breast," but had he heard the "Calliope," which does duty between here and Chemong Park, he doubtless would have said that it incites savagery. The Plutonic screech which it belches forth while traversing our streets, would be a fitting accompaniment to Dante's Inferno. We have a by-law against such nerve-racking noises, but our officials seem too tired to enforce it.

Yours, etc.,
HARMONY.

"Sunshine" Furnace

Where Shaking is Respectable

A Draft off furnace dome, with no other assistance, is powerless to overcome the dust nuisance in shaking time. Only surplus dust rises of itself above the fire. Great bulk descends into ash-pit, and unless legitimate outlet is therein provided, dust will escape through ash-door slits and into operator's face.

In "Sunshine" Furnace the legitimate dust outlet is provided. It's a great big dust-pipe running straight from ash-pit to dome, thence to chimney. When big pipe damper is opened, all dust in ash-pit ascends to dome; then, when direct drafts are opened, all dust passes up chimney.

Always the clean and quick dust route in "Sunshine" Furnace — via grate, to pan, to dust-pipe, to dome, to chimney, to open air.

EX-CHIEF ADAMS TELLS STORY OF HAMILTON'S ARREST IN BROCKVILLE HAD MANY DIAMONDS ON HIM

Mr. S. Adams, father-in-law of Mr. H. B. Collier, and ex-Chief of Police of Brockville, who is now residing here, well remembers Harry Hamilton, one of the three men found guilty of stealing $20 from E. McTaggart of Brockville yesterday. Mr. Adams has good reason to remember this man, for eight years ago in Brockville he was the means of having him arrested, convicted, and sentenced to six years in Kingston Penitentiary on a charge of smuggling stolen diamonds into Canada.

To an Examiner reporter who saw him last night, ex-Chief Adams stated that the occurrence was as fresh in his mind as if it had happened yesterday.

"I was Chief of Police of Brockville at the time," he said. "It was on July 1, 1900, that Hamilton, or Carter, as he styled himself then, was arrested. Father Staunton's pen's were being held at St. Lawrence Park, about three miles from Brockville, that day, and I was on duty at the station, when I received a telephone message to the effect that pickpockets had been operating out at the park, and to keep a lookout for suspicious-looking characters. Shortly afterwards a cab containing five strangers drove up, and I at once became suspicious of them.

Managing to speak to the driver without exciting their suspicions, I told him to drive the men around to the police station, and I got on one side of the cab, while another policeman watched the other. The five men were placed in custody and searched.

On Hamilton, or Carter, under which alias he was travelling then, was found $600 worth of diamonds wrapped in a chamois cloth, which was tied around his leg. On the five prisoners, cash amounting to $900 was found.

The five appeared before the magistrate and were committed for trial. In September they appeared before Chief Justice Falconbridge on six charges, three of picking pockets and three of smuggling stolen goods into Canada. As soon as we convicted them on one charge they pleaded guilty to the others. Hamilton was sentenced to six years in the Kingston Penitentiary, three others were given four years each in the same institution, while the fifth, a young lad of sixteen, was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

While I am not sure about it, the prisoner who gave his name as Graney reminds me very much of the young lad whose sentence was suspended. He was sixteen years of age then, eight years ago, which would make twenty-four now, which I think is the age he gave the police here.

They were all professional crooks from across the line and had been operating at Alexandria Bay and other places. All the jewellery found on them was identified afterwards with the exception of one piece. It had all been snatched from gentlemen, and the diamonds were still in their settings.

Ex-Chief Adams stated that he recognized Hamilton as soon as he saw him in court yesterday, and that the recognition was mutual, as the prisoner showed by his actions when he saw the man who had arrested him eight years ago.

Mr. Washington Morse At The Age Of 93 Makes Trip To Florida In Good Health

Remarkable Journey From Peterborough to Gulf of Mexico Region by Local Nonogenarian —Will Likely Reside in Florida in Future.

INCIDENTS OF THE TRIP

There are not many men who are close to the century mark capable of making the journey which Mr. Washington Morse, who resided until recently at 500 College street, has completed and bears no ill effects of his long trip. Mr. Morse left Peterborough on July 13th to visit his son in DeLand, Florida, and arrived at his destination on July 16th. He is 93 years of age but is quite hale and hearty and enjoys the full use of his faculties. His son, Mr. G W Morse, writing to relatives in Peterborough, gives a resume of the trip and conveys the welcome intelligence that the old gentleman has arrived safely. The letter is manifolded and is addressed to Messrs. Ferdinand, William, Charles and Frank Morse, sons, and to Mrs. H J Farnum and Mrs. Eva O Morrison, daughters, of Mr. Washington Morse.

It is as follows:

"Rosecloge," DeLand, Fla., July 19th, 1908.

Dear Brothers and Sisters,—Knowing that you will be anxious to hear how father stood the journey from Canada to this place, and how he is, I will write a few lines by this method and send to you. He reached here on Thursday, the 16th inst., safe and sound, and feeling quite comfortable after the long journey, which he stood remarkably well. I met him at the station and we drove at once to our home, two miles distant from the station, where we have since been, not having taken time to go to town to post letters. Father left Peterborough on Monday, the 13th inst., at noon, went to Port Hope by train, took boat there and crossed Lake Ontario, 69 miles, to Charlotte, N.Y., where Orrie, (Prof. Morse,) met him. They went to Rochester, 10 miles, by trolly car, stayed there all night, and in the morning father took train for DeLand. He had to stay over night at Washington, as his train was too late to make connection with the south-bound train. He spent the night in the spacious new railway station there, one of the finest in the world. Wednesday morning he took train for this place, and arrived as before stated. He took a sleeper for the last night of his journey. He has been usually well since arriving here, until last night he had quite a severe attack of indigestion. But he is up and dressed this morning, and is very much better. He says to tell you that he is more than pleased and satisfied with our place here, and the location generally, and thinks it is very home-like. I was certainly much pleased to meet him, and to bring him to our home, where I expect he will spend the rest of his days on earth, as we expect to for ourselves. I have been here alone for so long that it seems very gratifying to have some company.

Crop Conditions

We have had a great amount of rain during the past two months, and the indications are that it will continue for some time to come. This makes it very difficult to put up our hay crop, which is very heavy. However, I am getting started, and by taking advantage of the sunshine I hope to be able to save it in fairly good condition. My work is quite varied this summer, and from now on it will be so, such as plowing and preparing ground for crops, planting sweet potatoes, garden stuff of various kinds, harvesting corn, beans, potatoes, cowpeas, etc., etc. All this work goes on at the same time between the 1st of Feb. and the 1st of Dec., in fact, planting, sowing, and harvesting can be carried on all the year round if one arranged properly regarding a succession of crops. I have now had fine sweet corn for two months, also various kinds of garden stuff. Have had lovely watermelons for 6 weeks, but they are all gone now. Have been having new sweet potatoes for four weeks. Shall plant quite a lot more of them as the weather will permit. My field corn is just dead ripe, and I am gathering it as I need it to feed. Trusting that you are all well and prospering, and that we may hear from you often, and sending you our best love, I remain as ever, your brother Warren. Father sends love to you all.

HERPICIDE'S MISSION

It Takes Away the Dread of Birthdays

Nothing is more annoying to men and women of middle age than those unmistakable signs of age — thin hair and grayness approaching. But science has discovered that these conditions are no longer "unmistakable" evidences of old age, for the dandruff germ theory proves that even very young people may suffer hair loss, while those fortunate enough to escape the ravages of the scalp germ, retain their abundant locks to a ripe old age. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and removes the risk of appearing old before your time. Save your hair and your feelings by using the genuine Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

HONOUR DEPARTED BROTHER

Funeral of Mr. Joseph Mealiff to Young's Point Yesterday Afternoon—Lumber Mill Closes Down.

A VERY LARGE FUNERAL

Young's Point, July 23.—(Special)—Honoured in death by his brethren of the Catholic Order of Foresters of St. Paul's Court, Lakefield, Joseph Mealiffe, the unfortunate young man who met death by drowning in the Otonabee the other day, was laid in his last resting place here yesterday. The funeral was to have taken place yesterday morning, but was delayed by request, awaiting the arrival of the brother of the deceased from Nairn Centre. He came on the noon train as expected, and the funeral began shortly after.

Young Mealiff was a universal favourite in Lakefield, where he had worked for the past two years with the Cavendish Lumber Company, and in honour of his memory the mill closed down. When the funeral cortege moved off from the residence of Mr. David Godfrey, where the deceased lived, it was found to be one of the largest, if not the largest, ever held in Lakefield. More than 230 walked in the procession, including the employees of the Cavendish Company's mill, and a number from the Cement Factory. They walked to the end of the village, and those who could came by conveyance to Young's Point. A procession was formed at the entrance of the village here, and the body of the deceased was escorted to St. Mary's Catholic Church, where Rev. Father Phelan conducted the service, speaking appropriately of the life of young Mealiff and his untimely death. He was held in respect by all who knew him—by non-Catholics as well as others—and his death while so young in years is greatly regretted. The remains were laid to rest in St. Mary's Cemetery.

EXPECTS TO INSTALL A PLANT HERE

Ozone Purification System of Water Filtration Talked of By Mr. Bridge

The Lindsay Free Press says: After hearing the explanation of the workings of the ozone purification system by Mr. Howard Bridge, the inventor, yesterday, the Peterborough Water Commissioners practically decided that if the system proved satisfactory in Lindsay they would adopt it as their system.

Mr. Bridge went to Peterborough yesterday morning and was taken to the present waterworks pumping station by the superintendent, Mr. Henderson. In the afternoon a meeting of the commissioners was held at three o'clock and a large number were present. Mr. Bridge was asked several questions about his invention by the Board, and proved to their satisfaction that the ozone treatment of water would purify it and make it palatable.

After discussing the matter for some time, a report from Mr. Allen Hazen was read. He estimated the cost of the installation of a slow sand filter, with a capacity of two million gallons a day, at $80,000.

Mr. Bridge was prepared to install an ozoning plant with twice the capacity of Mr. Hazen's estimate, for $25,000.

The Board, after hearing this, informed Mr. Bridge that they were contemplating the removal of the present pumping station, and the building of a cement dam. They also stated that if the ozone purification plant worked all right in Lindsay, they would, in all probability, instal it there, as it was very obvious to the Board that there was no advantage to be gained by installing the slow sand filtration at seven times the cost of the ozone.

SOME PRIZE HORSES AT TORONTO

The Exhibition This Year Will See Many Of Them.

It is anticipated that the exhibit of Clydesdales and Hackneys at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, this year, will be well above the average. Half a dozen prominent breeders and shippers are in Great Britain at this moment buying stock on purpose to show at Toronto. Some of the winners at the recent Royal Show at Newcastle-on-Tyne will be among the shipments that are to be made. As a consequence, perfect types of both these breeds will be seen.

The passing of the anti-racing laws in New York State has directed attention to Canada as affording a more than ordinarily good field at this present time for exhibition of standard bred trotters and pacers. Several large breeders in the United States have announced their intention of sending some of their best over to the Exhibition.

Miss Wilks of Galt, Mr. Alexander MacLaren of Buckingham, Que., and other noted breeders, including one or two from the United States, will be represented in the Standard Bred Classes.

The class for strings of ten horses that has attracted so much attention at the Exhibition will be repeated this year. Last year there were some nine entries, and a magnificent showing was made, especially by the Graham & Renfrew Company, Graham Bros. of Claremont, and Miss Wilks of Galt.

Governing Rules

The rowing and paddling rules governing the regatta are :

The word "boat" in these rules shall include boat and canoe, and the word "committee" shall mean the Regatta Committee.

The committee may handicap any boat or contestant or place the same in a position for starting in rear of the starting line, at whatever distance they see fit.

All entries must be handed to the secretary of the committee within such time before the race as the committee directs.

All canoe races, unless otherwise specified, shall be paddled with single blades only. No outriggers or sliding seats shall be allowed in boats.

For the open single canoe race, canoes shall not be more than 16 feet long, nor less than 28 inches beam, and 10 inches deep. No limit on weight.

For canoe tours, canoes must not exceed 20 feet in length, nor be less than 30 inches wide, and 12 inches deep, and must weigh not less than 70 pounds.

For the paddling upset race, no special appliances shall be used, and the race shall be run as follows—On a signal being given during the race, the canoe must be turned completely over, and the contestant must cross the finishing line paddling in his canoe. Any variation from the above by a contestant shall disqualify him.

Combination race shall be run as follows—Contestant to start paddling with both knees down; on first gun, to stand up and paddle; second gun, to jump out and swim, towing canoe; third gun, re-enter canoe and finish the race paddling on the gunwale.

In case at the time a race is called there shall not be more than one entry, the committee may cancel such race, or postpone the same until such time as it may announce.

A first prize shall be given in each race, and a second prize in each regular event when more than two start; but no contestant shall be eligible to compete in any further event after winning two races, unless otherwise decided by the Regatta Committee.

This rule shall not apply to open races.

Races shall be started by the starter asking, "Are you ready?" On receiving no answer, a shot shall be fired. If the starter considers the start unfair, he may recall the boats and any boat refusing to start again can claim no position.

A boat's own water is the straight course assigned to it at starting. Any boat leaving its own water does so at its peril, but if the stern of one boat is a boat's length ahead of the bow of another, the former may take the water of the latter, which then becomes its own water, and it shall only leave it at its peril.

All races of more than a quarter mile shall be held with a turn, and stake boats or buoys will be left on the port hand, i.e., the rower's right hand and the paddler's left hand.

No direction from any boat, or from the shore, will be allowed, and anyone accepting such assistance may be disqualified.

A boat touching a buoy or other boat, unless wrongfully compelled to do so by another boat, may be disqualified.

If a boat, in consequence of a violation of any rule, shall foul another boat, or compel another boat to foul any boat, buoy or obstruction, or to run aground, it shall be disqualified.

Every boat shall abide by its own accidents.

The committee shall, without protest, disqualify any boat which, to its knowledge, has committed a breach of these rules.

In the event of any case arising which is not covered by these rules, the rules of the American Canoe Association and the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen shall respectively govern.

Be wise and have a glass of iced "Salada" Tea when you feel warm. A small piece of lemon will add to its flavour. 61

COMPOSITE COMPANY FIND STOWAWAY AT SMITHS FALLS; HAVING GREAT TIME AT QUEBEC

Savaurd Park, Quebec, 57th Headquarters, July 22.—(Special correspondence to the Examiner)—The composite company of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, arrived here all safe and sound at 7 o'clock on Monday morning after a very enjoyable trip. The boys have the day off and are sight-seeing around the old historic city. We were down to see the British fleet of five vessels as well as two French warships. The American vessel is expected at about 1.30.

Peterborough Stowaway

As the train was leaving Smith's Falls we found a stowaway aboard. He is a young lad named Willie Cairns, about 10 or 12 years old. You had better tell his people.

We are in with a composite regiment composed of the 15th, 45th, 10th, 42nd, 69th, 40th and 47th, with the 45th Regimental Band, of Lindsay.

The boys are all in fine spirits and settling down to camp life very well. We have a very choice location, as our lines are next the cookery where some of the boys may be seen almost any time, trying to get on the good side of the cook, to do him out of a little extra grub. Sergts. Derocher, LaVelle, Logan, Price, Stone, Seymour and Staunton were on board the flagship "Albermarle" for more than an hour this morning and came away with a lot of respect for the British Tars. They are a very smart body of men, well built and very active.

Local Indians There

Col. Sgt. Roberts who is acting as Chaplain to the company has been spending all his spare time looking over the various churches and picking up some very valuable pointers for his sermon on Sunday next.

There is one thing the boys all notice particularly, and that is the very narrow streets in Quebec. They are so narrow that Hutpin and Hart could not walk abreast. Dan Whetung and Johnston Paudash have just come for a friendly call. They are with the 40th of Cobourg. Dan is a very busy man. He is Col. Sgt. for the company.

"Cruso" Seymour keeps the company enthralled with delight by his beautiful singing, not to mention the music. The Queen's Own Regiment of Toronto have nicknamed the regiment after Heinz' pickles, "The 57 Varieties." H. J. S.

North Monaghan Crops Appear Very Promising

Mr. T. M. Hunter States That Recent Rains Crowned The Prospects — Oats Filling Out Well.

ALSIKE CLOVER EXCELLENT

Reports from North Monaghan Township indicate that the crops in that section of the county are of excellent quality, and the farmers there are expecting a great harvest.

Mr. T. M. Hunter, speaking to the Examiner last night on the crops there, stated the farmers were pleased with the prospects. The bulk of the fall wheat is cut, and the grains are well filled. The crop is a good one and will have been harvested in a few days.

Hay is not all in yet and some of it will be damaged by the recent rains. But the good that the rainfall has done to the late sown oats, the roots and the grass greatly overbalances any harm received by hay or wheat that was cut and in the field. The pasture lands have brightened up considerably, and the milk cows are doing much better in the supply of milk.

Barley is a good crop. It is ripe and ready to cut. A big yield is expected in oats. Those sown before the rain are particularly well headed and filled out and the straw is of good length. The late oats were wonderfully improved by the recent moisture, and if favourable weather continues for two more weeks, the crop will be excellent.

The roots are doing well since the rain, and the alsike clover, which is just being cut, promises to yield six or seven bushels to the acre. If the price of seed is anywhere around $11 or $12 per bushel, as it was last year, there will be money in it for the farmers all right.

SENTENCE WAS POSTPONED; PRISONERS HAVE BIG RECORDS

Contrary to expectations, Harry Hamilton, Jas. Graney and Jos. Adams, the three men who were found guilty yesterday by Judge Weller of stealing $20, were not sentenced this morning. When brought before Judge Weller at 11 o'clock this morning, His Honour informed the prisoners that he had intended to impose sentence to-day, but as Mr. O'Connell their chief counsel, had notified him of his inability to be present, and as he was anxious to give them every possible chance to say either through themselves or their counsel, anything they might choose to say, he had decided to postpone their sentence until Saturday, August 1st, at 11 o'clock.

Following are the records of the three convicted men :

Henry R. Hamilton

Henry R Hamilton, as Harry F. Carter, was sentenced at Brockville, Ont., Sept. 19, 1900 by Chief Justice Falconbridge, to six years, for bringing stolen goods into Canada.

As Harry Sullivan, North Indiana, State Prison, discharged 3rd Jan. 1893.

As Harry Hammond, Detroit, 2nd October, 1898. Suspended sentence.

As Harry Sullivan, Buffalo, Oct. 1898, shop breaking and theft, six months in penitentiary.

April 12th, 1899, professional thief, bail $1,000.

Joseph Adams

March 13th, 1902, arrested in act of stealing a watch from the pocket of Sol. Wolfe; discharged March 17.

May 21st, 1903, Chicago, theft, own recognizance.

May 13, 1908, as Arthur Stanley, fined $10.

Dec. 10th, 1904, as Arthur Jones, Cleveland, picking pockets, $10 and thirty days.

James Graney

July 11, 1906, Boston, Mass., grand larceny, stole purse with $35, three months.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT?

—The bargains that the Peterborough shops put up in muslins just now are hard to beat, but we want to go one better, and offer to make, for one week, any muslin suit, no matter what style, for the sum of $3.00. Don't hesitate, as it's only for one week. Lady fitter. New York Ladies' Tailoring, 658 George street. Phone 624. Phone us and we will call to give you particulars, if desired. MR. McTAGGART PRAISES P. C. NEWHALL

Brockville Man Who Lost His Purse Says the Policeman Deserves the Greatest Credit.

Mr. Ebenezer McTaggart of Brockville, on a charge of stealing twenty dollars from whom, Herb Hamilton. Jos. Adams and Jas. Graney were found guilty yesterday, left for Lindsay last night, where he will do some business before returning to Brockville. He carried with him the purse and the twenty dollars he had lost. Speaking to an Examiner reporter before he left, he expressed his admiration of the way in which P. C. Newhall had rounded up the prisoners, and said that he should be congratulated upon his astuteness in arresting them and bringing home to them the charge of picking pockets. "Mr. Newhall deserves the greatest credit for his cleverness," remarked Mr. McTaggart, "and I am confident that the tactics which he adopted best suited the circumstances of the case. I don't know why the counsel for the defence should criticize him for what he had done. I am sure I never expected to see my pocketbook or money again, and would not have done so, had it not been for the clever work of your policeman."

BREATHING IS A BUSINESS FOR FAT FOLKS IN HOT WEATHER

Watch a fat man or woman breathe this sultry season and you will see some earnest work. The air goes in with difficulty, and it comes out with still more difficulty. Hot days are "busy days" with fat folks.

If you know one of these victims—help him or her. Tell him taht exercise (which he wouldn't attempt) and starvation (which few have resolution enough to try) are not incumbent nowadays on those who wish to reduce. Tell him that a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of this : 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex have taken their place.

This pleasant home mixture, tell him, gets results on the fat itself without injury to the taker. It doesn't interfere with his habits, affect his meals, disturb his stomach, or even bother his pocketbook worth mentioning. If it be a lady, you can assure her that, furthermore, although it can remove a pound or more of fat a day, it doesn't cause wrinkles.

ADVISE BUILDING OF A TOWER

St. Luke's Church Men Meet—Majority Approve of Plans.

A largely attended meeting of men of the congregation of St. Luke's Church was held last night, at which the advisability of building a tower to the church was considered. As the object of the meeting was advisory in its character a resolution was passed recommending to the vestry of St. Luke's Church the building of a tower. This will be finally decided at a vestry meeting, which is to be held in the nearfuture. Mr. J. E. Belcher has submitted plans which were approved of by the majority of those present. However, the more minute details will have to be considered later on by the proper vestry, to which the authority to proceed is given by the Canons of the church.

LAURIER MAY GET PEERAGE

Prince Is Said to Carry Another Offer to the Premier—Premiers Gouin and Whitney Are Likely Candidates for Knighthood and Chas. M. Hays, Wm. Mackenzie, B. E. Walker May Get Titles.

Quebec, July 23.— Those who are in the inner circles are quietly discussing the prospects of imperial honors being bestowed on distinguished Canadians in connection with the tercentenary.

It is even said that the Prince of Wales will confer several honors, including a peerage to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, before he leaves this port for England.

One day last week the two French-Canadian papers of Montreal, viz., La Press and La Patrie, had on the same night editorials that read very much as if from a common inspiration. They were to the effect that King Edward, through Lord Minto, had offered a peerage to Sir Wilfrid Laurier some years ago and that it had then been declined, but that in all probability the offer would be renewed at Quebec by the Prince of Wales, acting directly for the King.

One of the papers went so far as to say that it had no doubt of the previous offer, inasmuch as it had seen the private correspondence. Both papers wound up their articles by saying that as the honor was intended as much for Canada as for Sir Wilfrid, he would be in duty bound to accept the compliment. These two articles were so distinct and pointed that people here imagine that something along that line will happen next week.

There is also a good deal of talk about other honors that will be bestowed by His Royal Highness before he leaves. It is likely that Mr. Gouin, Premier of Quebec, and Mr. Whitney, Premier of Ontario, will be knighted, and both are here for the celebration.

It is also likely that some of the battlefields commissioners will be knighted, including Mr. B. E. Walker of Toronto, nor need the public be surprised if Mr. Charles M. Hays of the Grand Trunk, and Mr. William Mackenzie of the Canadian Northern are also honored.

The names of at least half a dozen others are mentioned.

Socialist Arrested at St. Kitts.

St. Catharines, July 23.—Ernest Drury, a Toronto Socialist, was charged in the Police Court yesterday with obstructing the street by addressing a crowd on a street corner. Drury was arrested Tuesday night, and when the chief of police took him in charge he told the crowd they were simply slaves or they would not let the police interfere. When the police tried to move the crowd on, Drury called to them: "You see you are slaves, when the police can move you in this way. We're are slaves."

Two More Shootings.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., July 23.—After a controversy over the genuineness of a coin offered for beer, James Henry was shot in the arm by the proprietor of the saloon, an Italian, who fled. Mayor Douglas, in an auto, headed a posse in pursuit, but without success late last night.

At Akron, a village on the county line, Stephen Davis, aged 29, was shot through the chest by an Italian and may die.

Boston Saloon Shot Up.

Boston, July 23. Three men, armed with heavy calibre revolvers, dashed into a crowded Jamaica Plains barroom ten minutes before closing time, and calling "Hands up," began shooting up the place. When they had grabbed the money till and emptied it and had finished shooting and made their escape, one man was dead on the floor, another dying and a third was seriously wounded.

Government Withholds Names.

Ottawa, July 23.—The Government heads of Departments decline to give the city the lists of employes for purposes of assessment. Ordinary employes are liable to a penalty for such refusal, and the city will try to find out if the Government is exempt.

JUDGE LANDIS' BIG FINE QUASHED

New Trial Ordered For Standard Oil Company.

$29,000,000 WAS TOO MUCH

United States Court of Appeals Annuls Judge Landis' Tremendous Penalty on Oil Trust and Grants Another Hearing—Judge Exceeded Powers, They Say, Inflicting Maximum Fine.

Chicago, July 23.—By unanimous opinion of the United States Court of Appeals for the seventh district, the famous case of the Government against the Standard Oil Co., in which the latter was fined $29,240,000 by Judge Landis in the district court, must be retried.

The decision, concurred in by Judges Baker and Seaman, was delivered here yesterday by Judge Grosscup, its author. The concluding sentence reads:

"The judgment of the District Court is reversed and the case remanded, with instructions to grant a new trial and proceed further in accordance with this opinion."

The Court of Appeals differs with the trial court on three vital points, holding that Judge Landis excluded evidence for the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana which should have been admitted to show proper intent in the rate the company paid on oil; that he erred in considering each carlot a separate offence; and that in imposing the maximum fine for a first offence he abused the discretion vested in his court.

It is strange doctrine, says the opinion, whereunder a million dollar corporation such as the defendant, the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, may be fined 29 times the amount of its capital stock in order to punish a defendant not even under indictment. By this latter is meant the parent company, the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Following closely upon the decision of the United States Court of Appeals yesterday reversing the decision of Judge Landis in the Government suit against the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, The Daily News yesterday said:

"Bankers who have close affiliations with the Standard Oil Co. state that the organization will soon announce an increase in the capital stock of $100,000,000 by $500,000,000, making a total capital stock of $800,000,000.

There will be added from the earnings for the fiscal year about $40,000,000 as the organization's surplus. It was given out that the large increase in capital is a diplomatic movement in order that the dividends may not look so large.

YOUNG GIRL BEHEADED.

Paid the Penalty For Murder of Her Lover.

Freiborg, Saxony, July 23.—Grete Beier, the 18-year-old daughter of the Mayor of Freiborg, was beheaded on Tuesday night sometime between dark and dawn, in punishment for the murder of the man to whom she was engaged to be married.

The personality of this young girl, who came of a good family, and her thoughtfully-arranged murder of her fiance, Herr Prefeler, a rich young civil engineer, attracted international attention. She was seemingly a happy and fun-loving girl. At her trials she admitted with utmost simplicity that she visited her fiance's house one evening, gave him cyanide of potassium in a drink she mixed for him, and then, to make sure of his death, shot him in the mouth with his own revolver. She then dropped the weapon at the dead man's side, placed a forged will in her own favor on his desk, together with a note of goodbye, also forged, saying that he feared to lose her love through the revelation of a dishonorable liason.

Double Drowning.

Hamilton, July 23.—Peter Sauvey and Alex. Wilson, Chippewa, two workmen employed by Contractor Dickenson, on the Beach piers, were drowned yesterday afternoon. They rowed out from the piers in a boat heavily loaded with apparatus, and the boat sank. Their bodies were recovered, locked in each others' arms.

Poisoned by Accident.

Ingersoll, July 23.—Bert Butterworth of Foldens accidentally swallowed a quantity of paris green mixture which was being used on potatoes, and his life was saved by means of the stomach pump. Butterworth was struck in the face by a stream from a tank sprayer.

Wouldn't Stop For Chief.

Hamilton, July 23—A radial conductor, with orders to run right through to the canal, refused to stop his car Tuesday evening to let the president of the road, Col. J. M. Gibson, off. He said he was sorry, but his orders were to run right through.

Saves Sweetheart's Life.

Detroit, July 23.—While preventing her sweetheart, Robert Coombs, from committing suicide by cutting his throat, Miss Flora Cook of Toronto was seriously wounded on the left hand.

PRINCE OF WALES NOW AT QUEBEC

He Is Welcomed Amid Splendid Demonstration.

SIR WILFRID READS ADDRESS

His Royal Highness Replies In English and French—Gorgeous Suite of Noblemen and Officers In Attendance on Royal Visitor—Canadians Granted Audience—Winnipeg Soldier Drowned.

Quebec, July 23.—It is difficult to imagine, and the present generation can never expect to see anything more imposing, more impressive, or more completely adorned with those accessories of weather and season which crown such an occasion with success, than was seen yesterday when the man-o'-war Indomitable arrived at Quebec bearing the most puissant George, Prince of Wales, and Lord of the Isles, come to visit his inheritance of the north and the west.

A fog down the river delayed the approach of the prince's man-o'-war for about half an hour. At 2.30 she was observed off Indian Cove, and, followed by the Minotaur, and making a wider curve than usual, she steamed into mid-stream and then, coming up sharply and answering her helm like a ferryboat, she swept majestically up the river.

Band music rose out of the clustered houses. The Union Jack flew large and bright from the Garrison Club, the city hall, and the Chateau Frontenac. Down in the harbor, civilization frowned in the ocean homes of the big navy guns. Levis lay south with its dark woods and spreading streets, and dim hills lay like faint shadows in the far south.

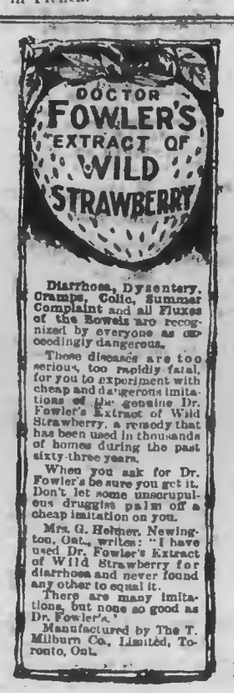
A gun from the Citadel gave the signal. The British flagship followed. The United States battleship "New Hampshire" was not a second behind. Out crashed the royal salute from ship after ship and the cliffs echoed and roared with the clangor as the three great nations joined their artillery in solemn salutation. France and America and Britain were as one, and they flung their colors in lavish beauty over the monster craft and lined their bulwarks with ranks of seamen set like rows of pearls in the gleamless grey.

It was just after 4 o'clock when the official visits having been paid the Prince of Wales boarded a small, green painted launch and steamed for the King's wharf. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Cabinet Ministers met him at the stage. Capt. Newton led the way from the launch, and Col. Hanbury Williams followed. Earl Grey, Earl Roberts with Countess Grey, Lieut.-Col. Septimus Denison, Sir Ashcton Curzon-Howe and Col. Sherwood preceded the prince, who was received with the royal salute from the Ottawa regiment and band.

Lord Roberts wore five stars and a dozen or more medals. All the notables on the wharf cheered like schoolboys as the royal banner was unshipped and the prince mounted the gangway. He decided at once to inspect his regiment (the 43rd Ottawa), and marched up and down the ranks before proceeding to the pavilion. He was dressed according to his rank as rear-admiral, and wore the broad blue ribbon of the Garter, besides many other orders. His beard was closely cropped, and his blue eyes shone bluer than usually, as if the Atlantic had imbued them with color.

He listened most attentively to the address of welcome read by Sir Wilfrid in English and then in French, and, replying, spoke in clear audible tones, with such unaffected and traceless accent as might well be styled King's English. He also read his reply in French.



Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Summer Complaint and all Fluxes of the Bowels are recognized by everyone as exceedingly dangerous.

These diseases are too serious, too rapidly fatal, for you to experiment with cheap and dangerous imitations of the genuine Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been used in thousands of homes during the past sixty-three years.

When you ask for Dr. Fowler's be sure you get it. Don't let some unscrupulous druggist palm off a cheap imitation on you.

Mrs. G. Helmer, Newington, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for diarrhoea and never found any other to equal it. There are many imitations, but none so good as Dr. Fowler's."

ornmant party gathered on the reserved seats on the east side of the enclosure on the wharf and near the prince's pavillion. The visitors assembled long before the hour set for the ceremonies and there was much coversation and renewing of old acquaintances.

Official visits were paid to the prince as soon as the Indomitable dropped anchor. The Governor-General and Lord Roberts, attended by Col. Hanbury Williams and Capt. Newton, were the first to go on board, after the admirals and captains of the Atlantic fleet, with whom was Rear-Admiral Kingsmill of the Marine Department.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier with Under Secretary Joseph Pope, Lieut.-Col. Sherwood and Lieut.-Col. Roy followed. At ten minutes intervals the representatives of the United States and of France, the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, and the members of the battlefied commission, including Byron E. Walker, Col. Denson and Col. Hon. J. S. Hendrie, and finally Major.-Gen. Lake and Brigadier-Gen. Otter were admitted.

First Col. Sir Henry Pellatt, A.D.C., received word from Field Marshal Earl Roberts that he will ride at the head of the Queen's Own Rifles, of which he is honorary colonel, at the great review on Friday. This is an undoubted and an appreciated compliment to the whole militia.

The 48th Highlanders also have reason to feel more than ordinarily pleased, for they have been selected from the whole army brigarded here to furnish to-day's escort for the Prince of Wales.

The 43rd Regiment of Ottawa was guard of honor for the prince at the wharf. The 13th Regiment of Hamilton acted as guard of honor at the Citadel.

Pte. Stevenson, Signaling Corps, 90th Rifles, Winnipeg, was drowned in the Charles river at Savard Park yesterday morning.

BISLEY CONTESTS.

Canadians Shoot In King's and Duke of Cambridge Events.

Bisley Camp, England, July 23.—At the 500 yards' range in the first stage of the King's prize, the Canadians scores yesterday as follows: Brown 33, Crowe 32, Eastcott 25, Elmitt 32, Freeborn 34, Haystead 34, McInnes 31, Jones 31, Kerr 29, Leash 30, Martin 31, Morris 32, Pope 34, Rowe 33, Smith 32, Spearing 30, Spittal 33, Steele 32, Utton 34, Williams 28, Sclater 31, Mortimer 30, Bayles 34.

At the 600 yards' range, the last in the first stage of the King's, the scores were: Elmitt 29, Haystead 27, McInnes 30, Kerr 32, Morris 34, Pope 34, Smith 34, Spittal 34, Steele 33, Utton 32, Williams 30, Bayles 31, Brown 33, Crowe 28, Jones 32, Leash 35, Martin 29, Rowe 27, Spearing 30, Sclater 29, Eastcott 29, Freeborn 30.

Up to the present there are two scores of 163, two of 102, several of 101 and 100, and 96. It is likely they will shoot off. The weather is warm and hazy.

The Canadians yesterday fired in the Duke of Cambridge squadded competition. The distance is 900 yards, ten shots, with service rifle. The scores made were: Leash 44, Crowe 40, Brown 38, Eastcott 37, T. F. Elmitt 34, Haystead 35, McInnes 31, Freeborn 35, Smith 36, Rowe 34, Jones 39, Kerr 30, A. Martin 32, F. H. Morris 38, Spearing 36, Spittal 34, Steele 39, Utton 33, Williams 36, Sclater 37, Mortimer 37, Bayles 39, Pope 27.

Lieut. Love of Hartney, Manitoba, has been shooting in several competitions, and was fairly successful.

Yacht Sinks Schooner.

Newport, R. I., July 23.—The President's yacht Mayflower, with the President on board, ran into and sank the lumber-laden schooner Menawa, in a dense fog Tuesday night. The captain and crew of the schooner, six men in all, were taken on board the Mayflower.

Policeman Succumbs.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., July 23.—Patrolman Michael McCormick, who was shot early yesterday, died in St. Mary's Hospital two hours later. Officer Magner, who was shot in the leg, will recover.

Child Is Drowned In Tub.

Woodstock, July 23. Lewis Peabody, aged 18 months, was drowned by falling into a tub of water kept for watering stock.

KERR IS BEATEN.

Walker of South Africa Wins 100-Metres.

London, July 23.—The Olympian athletes met a dark horse yesterday in the person of the South African youth R. E. Walker. Walker broke the tape in which is considered the most important event in the Olympic games, the 100 metres dash, a short two feet in front of J. A. Rector, the University of Virginia crack. The Canadian, Kerr, was a few inches behind the Virginian in third place, according to the decision of the judges.

The Daily Telegraph, however, referring to the 100 metres final, says that Kerr was undoubtedly second, in view of experts in excellent position to judge. While three judges declared so, the fourth disagreeing, the referee gave the position to Rector.

A world's record, by C. J. Bacon of the Irish-American Athletic Club, in the 400 metres hurdling, which he won in 55 seconds; an Olympic record of 24 feet 6 1-2 inches, by F. C. Irons of Chicago Athletic Association, in the running broad jump, and the victory of C. S. Dole of Yale in the featherweight wrestling, out of seven finals, was the day's performance of the United States competitors.

Great Britain came second among the countries, with S. V. Bacon winning the middleweight wrestling and the English team defeating the Belgians in the waterpole. Saaral conquered all-comers in the Graeco-Roman wrestling bouts.

Walker, the South African sprinter, got a great ovation. When he won his race 40,000 people rose with a great cheer and filled the air with hats. The boy who yesterday morning was unknown, but whose name fills London to-day, was lifted on the shoulders of enthusiastic friends.

It would be hard to imagine a finer spectacle than the Stadium presented yesterday. Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family were present and congratulated the African runner on his victory. The stands contained 40,000 persons, of whom at least one-half were women.

Longboat is eloquent over the Marathon course. If it is a fine day, he says he will beat all records. He cultivated a new stride, keeping his hands close down by his side. He glides over the ground, raising his feet inches only.

In the 200 semi-finals yesterday, Bobby Kerr, the Canadian, won by a foot in 22 2-5 secs. Hamilton, the American, coming fast, almost caught him at the tape.

Others in the finals are: Cartmell, American; Cloughen, American; Hawkins, Englishman. Each took 22 3-5.

ELEVEN PERSONS SHOT.

Fleeing Desperadoes Wound Passers-by In Boston.

Boston, July 23.—Eleven people were shot last night, one of them mortally, and two probably fatally, by two desperadoes, who, pursued by policemen and a crowd of citizens, fled for two miles through a thickly settled district of Jamaica Plains, firing madly right and left, disappearing later in the woods near Franklin Park. The men are believed to be two of the gang of three who Tuesday night robbed a saloon in Jamaica Plains after shooting and killing one man and wounding two others.

Mrs. Delia Fallon of South street was standing in front of her home with her baby in her arms, when the two men, pursued by a crowd, came down the street. As they passed her, one of the fugitives fired a shot which entered her head. She is in a critical condition.

Herbert F. Knox, 42 years old, night watchman at the Forest Hills cemetery, and Edward McMahon, 21 years of age, a policeman, both received bullets in the abdomen. Knox died later and McMahon is not expected to survive the night.

Others wounded are Patrick McGinn, shot in the side; Michael Flynn, slightly wounded in the head; Policeman Thompson, shot in the leg.

It is believed that the desperadoes lay concealed in Calvary cemetery yesterday while the police were hunting for them on account of Tuesday night's hold-up and robbery.

Brutal Murder Disclosed.

Boston, July 23.—A brutal murder was disclosed by the discovery of the body of Mrs. Emma Payrow, 38 years old, gagged and with her throat cut, crushed into a small closet in one of the apartments on Columbus avenue in Back Bay.

The woman's body was found by her husband, Charles H. Payrow, when he returned to his room.

COBOURG TO MEET THE ATHLETICS HERE

Great Game Should be Seen on Saturday Afternoon.

One of the best ball games of the season will be seen here on Saturday afternoon when Cobourg and the Athletics will clash in a Midland League game. The two teams are very evenly matched, each having defeated the other by the same score 4—2. So that the two have each scored six runs in the first two games, the Athletics will have their strongest line-up on and are confident of reversing last Saturday's score on the visitors. Reports from Cobourg indicate that the game there last Saturday was one of the best of the season. A big crowd will no doubt take advantage of the opportunity to see the two teams clash here. It will be the last time that they will come together this year.

THE MIDLAND LEAGUE MEETING

Peterboros Demand $50 Deposit From Port Hope for Default.

At a meeting of the Midland League executive held yesterday at Port Hope, it was decided to carry on the League with Cobourg, Athletics and Peterboroughs. Port Hope dropped out and the Petes claimed the $50 deposit because of their default. There was considerable discussion over the point and the meeting decided that the deposit should not be handed over to Peterborough.

The Peterboroughs are very indignant over the matter. The League constitution distinctly states in the case of a team defaulting the team with which they were to have played should be given the deposit and legal action will be taken against the League. There were present, President Jex, of Cobourg; Secretary Lockington of Port Hope; Ike Walters of Port Hope; "Dick" Mulhall, of Cobourg; Corney Burns, of the Peterboroughs, and Martin Connors, of the Athletics.

AUGUST NUMBER OF ROD AND GUN

Some Special Stories Dealing With Sports in Canada.

In the distinctive fashion which has gained for "Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada," published by W. J Taylor, Woodstock, Ont., the character of the best interpreter of the feelings of sportsmen throughout the Dominion, the opening article of the August number deals with yachting. At a time when everyone's thoughts are upon cool waters, this fine account, finely illustrated, of the Royal Cape Breton Yacht Squadron is most appropriate and will be read with sympathetic interest by many readers. The story of the first Rocky Mountain Goat bred in captivity is one appealing even to a wider circle than sportsmen, and nature lovers of all kinds can be recommended to this article. "Cycling through British Columbia" opens up a new field and the account of a young employee reaching a remote Hudson Bay Post on his wheel furnishes an interesting though not excitable account of an unusual trip.

A meeting of the Police Commissioners was held last night, when Officers Newhall and Meharry received increases in their salaries. The former now receives $650 and the latter $600 per annum. His Honour Judge Weller presided, and Mayor Rush and Police Magistrate Dumble were present.

Chief Rozel presented a report of his attendance at the convention of the Chief Constables of Canada. He was complimented on his election to the office of president of the association.

Officer Newhall was granted two weeks' leave of absence from duty in addition to his regular two weeks' holidays.

LARGE DOCKET AT THE POLICE COURT

Walter Glass, a young man who said he hailed from Trenton, appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of vagrancy and pleaded guilty. He admitted that he was out of employment.

"I'm out of work, your Worship," he remarked; "but I am a working man."

"How much money have you?" asked the magistrate.

"Well, I had a little when I arrived last night," replied the Trenton man.

"Well, as long as you have money you can stay here, but if you haven't, we don't want you."

The Chief remarked that the man had spent the night sleeping in a barn, and the magistrate gave him one hour to shake the dust of Peterborough from his shoes.

Larry Twomey of Emily pleaded guilty to being drunk while in charge of a team of horses, thereby endangering the safety of the public. The Chief remarked that he had been very noisy in the cells and had created such a clamour that the neighbours had complained.

"I was cold, your Worship," said the Emily man.

"What, cold in the station?" asked the magistrate. "Well, you know, it is called the 'cooler.'"

Larry was assessed $1 and costs, amounting to $5.

Eli Langford, charged with vagrancy, said he came to the city yesterday from the Canadian Soo. The magistrate advised him to toddle while his shoes were right.

"Get out of town at once," he said. "We don't want you here."

Four young men were charged with bathing without proper apparel on the east side of the river, above Auburn. Residents in the neighbourhood had complained of the practice, and the four were fined $2 and costs, one case amounting to $5.10 and the others to $4.60.

There was a charge against three south end boys of throwing stones. L. W. Jeffries testified that he had been troubled greatly by boys in the neighbourhood, and that he had seen the three boys throwing stones at the apple trees in his orchard, and when he had remonstrated they had thrown stones at him.

The boys all denied that they had thrown any stones, and the magistrate dismissed the case.

ALASKA WHEAT AND ITS GROWTH

Suited to Thrive in Drouth—One of Healthiest Grains That Grow.

MR. ADAMS, THE FOUNDER

Every one who knows anything about farming or gardening, even in the remotest degree, and many others besides, know about Luther Burbank, the wonderful manipulator of nature's products, and the great things he has done to create new varieties in fruits and flowers, yet when it comes to actual value to the country and world at large, the most wonderful thing ever accomplished has been by Abraham Adams, of Juliaetta, Idaho, who has performed almost a miracle with wheat, and made it possible to increase the wheat crop of every individual who raises that cereal ten fold.

While it has not been generally known, many governments through their scientific men, have been striving for many years to avert a world famine. "How soon will the world starve to death?" asks Sir William Crookes, who shows by statistics that the average yield per acre of wheat for the world is only 12.7 bushels. Yet after years of skilful trical the government stations have been able to perfect wheat bearing only a trifle, and they are now aghast at the result of experiments by this Idaho farmer, who has been able by mathematical figuring on individual stands of wheat as perfected by him, to show an increase of 278 fold.

It will be hard for old wheat raisers to believe this wonderful story, but proof has been made by surveys of the land on which wheat was planted, and accurate affidavits of wheat threshed. Here is what is coming to the wheat business, a most marvellous thing, but actually true.

Mr. Adams in 1904, succeeded in getting one single head of wheat, that satisfied him of a discovery. This one head of wheat he planted in the fall of that year, and in the following summer, procured seven pounds of the wheat. This seven pounds he planted in the spring of 1906 and he secured from the seven pounds, 1,545 pounds. Here was a startling yield at the ratio of 222 bushels to the acre. This seed was planted in the fall for winter wheat, but bad weather and hail during summer, destroyed all the fields of ordinary wheat so they were not fit to harvest. Yet the new wheat left standing threshed out 53,000 pounds.

From these statements, it is easy to figure what this wonderful wheat is. Because it is impervious to frost and also to light hail, and because it partially withstands the heaviest hail. Mr. Adams names his wheat the Alaska, to mark its wonderful sturdiness. But the wonderful things were yet to come. On a government station test, it was found that this wonderful wheat was HARD WHEAT. It is therefore a wheat that succeeds equally well as winter or spring wheat, and in both plantings will grade No. 1 hard.

This means an absolute revolution in wheat raising. It means that the countless acres of California, where only soft wheat is grown, can now raise hard wheat. It means that in all the vast winter wheat region, which is greater than the spring wheat territory, growers can now compete with the northern countries in growing HARD WHEAT. It means than an average crop for the farmer will no be twenty bushels to the acre, but two hundred. It means that the worn out farms of the east, with such a yield can afford to have farmers manure their land for wheat crops because of the enormous return. It means that in time, when the seed can be distributed everywhere, the wheat crop of the world will be multiplied many times. It means that this year, if Alaska wheat could have been planted, instead of an estimated American crop of 500,000,000 bushels, America would raise for the world close on to five billion bushels. When this is realized, the wealth that Alaska has given in gold, pales into insignificance by the side of what the farmers will be able to lay up in wealth for the country.

Mr. Adams' wheat has been raised on dry land, under slight moisture, showing that this Alaska wheat is suited to thrive in drought. In southern countries a test has shown larger results. Planted in Alabama, it's leaves have attained a width of seven-eighths of an inch. A head planted in that State showed greater results than that from the original head in Idaho.

Truly, the man who can have a field of Alaska wheat next year, no matter how small, will be more envied than the man with an automobile.—Com.

"BEAT" FROM THIS VICINITY

Williams Did Not Remain Long in the City After Being Liberated.

Williams, the only one of the quartette arrested on circus day, 1908, to be given his liberty, did not remain long in the city after getting away from the jail. It is funny what a difference just a few words make for he was free to go where he pleased. He left on the 4.38 C. P. R. express for Toronto, and was seen in company with the detective who appeared in the case. They left together.

LOCAL RANKER GETS AN EEL

Thought He Had a Prize Bass on His Hook.

Mr. Donald G Cameron, of the Bank of Commerce staff was fishing in the Campbelltown district yesterday where other local men were also angling. On one occasion he got an unusually vigorous bite and feeling confident that it was a Toronto Star prize bass, began to play it in a skilful manner to make sure of it. Steadily the reel rolled in the line and the fish approached the surface. The rod swayed with the struggle and finally the fish appeared. "Skoot" went the dream of a cut in the big daily, for it was only an eel. However, Mr. Cameron was satisfied for as he said, it was gamer than a dozen 'lunge.

The great Marathon race of the famous Olympic games is past and gone, so far as the year 1908 is concerned. Canada's hopes are somewhat shattered since the race went to the Italian long distance man Durando. Every great race invariably presents a dark horse and Durando was the man. He travelled the course, exactly the same length as was covered by the Spartan, told of in ancient history, in 2 hrs. 45 mins. 36 sec. This shows up well against the time of Sherring of about 2.51 in the last Marathon, on a course a mile shorter. Longboat's time in the Boston Marathon, 2.25, also a mile shorter than to-day's race. Hayes, of America, came home second to-day, with Helfernon, of South Africa—who went out from Canada at the time of the war, third. Forshaw and Wellken, of America, finished fourth and fifth.

The result of the great race was taken philosophically by the crowds who stood before the Examiner bulletin at noon. In the early stages of the race it looked as if Longboat had a cinch. Despatches flashed over various wires placed him with a good lead at the end of the tenth, twelfth and fifteenth miles. Here, however, a wire to J. N. Barber stated he had collapsed with an injured knee.

"Where is Simpson?" asked dozens of the bystanders as the bulletin board printer hung out the reports.

It was a long way for news to travel and nothing, of course, was heard of the details of the race.

A few cheers went up when Longboat was found to be in the lead, but they all died away into looks of disappointment when the finish was announced and the Italian was proclaimed the victor.

Simpson not Heard From

No news of Simpson was available He evidently was not among the first half dozen to finish. According to previous despatches he was considered a dangerous man, and there is possibly some good reason why he failed to make a better showing.

London, July 24.—100 metre hurdle handicap—Heat 1, won by Shaw, of America; time 15 3-5. Heat 2, won by Smithson, of America, who tied the Olympic record.

London, July 24.—The great Marathon race has been started from the east tower of Windsor Castle this afternoon. The Crown Prince of Sweden gave the word that sent the fifty-six runners on their twenty-six mile grind. The English, American and South African runners were well bunched at the start, but in a few minutes, Longboat, the Canadian Indian, who was declared eligible at the last minute, forged to the front and began setting a gruelling pace.

Seven Americans started.

J. N. Barber Special

London, July 24.—Longboat led at the end of the tenth, twelfth and fifteenth miles, but broke down here with an injured knee.

The first five to finish were as follows:—

Durando, Italy; time, 2.45.30.
Hayes, United States.
Helfernon, South Africa.
Forshaw, United States.
Wellken, United States.

C. P. R. Despatch

London, July 24.—At the end of the 12th mile the runners scored in this order:—

Price.
Lord.
Heffernon.
Durando.
Longboat.
Appleby.

Durando won the Marathon.

London, July 24.—C.P.R. despatch.—The Americans have protested the Marathon race. They claim that the winner was carried over the tape by the crowds.

G. N. W. Despatch

London, July 24.—The start in the famous Marathon race was made at 2.36 p.m., or 9.36 a.m. Canadian time. All along the road, hundreds of thousands of spectators lined the highway, many of whom had remained there all night in an endeavour to secure good positions. T. Jack, of the United Kingdom, was first to show in front at Slough, leading by thirty yards. Lord, of the United Kingdom forced the pace from there and at the nine mile mark had passed Art Burn of Calgary, Canada, who had occupied a prominent position from the start, and Clarke, of the United Kingdom. Prince, United Kingdom, had second position, with Heffernon of South Africa, in third.

Later — Durano of Italy finished first; W J Hayes, United States, second, and Helfernon of South Africa, third.

The time of the race has not yet been given.

J. N. Barber Despatch

LATER.

London, July 24.—The Americans protested Durando, the Italian, who finished first in the Marathon. The protest was allowed and Hayes, of America, was made the winner. Helfernon, of South Africa was placed second and Forshaw of America, third.

Durando fell as he was coming into the Stadium. He was helped to his feet and assisted along and for this he was disqualified.

DEATH OF LAW CLERK AT OTTAWA

Well Known Personage Passes Away—Friends are Shocked.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, Ont., July 24.—Ottawa was shocked at the sudden death last evening at his residence, 499 Wilbrod street, of Mr. Frederick Augustus McCord, law clerk of the House of Commons. The sad occurrence was rendered doubly so by the fact the the only person present at the time was Mrs. McCord, who was prostrated by the shock. Mr. McCord, although for the past two weeks, he had been doing very trying work as the session of Parliament drew to an end, was apparently in his usual health yesterday. After the evening meal he went out to attend to the lawn in front of his residence, as was his custom, when at about 7.30 he suddenly fell to the ground. Doctors were summoned, but death was instantaneous, the cause being apoplexy, possibly induced by overwork. Mr. McCord was born in Aylmer Quebec. He became assistant law clerk of the House of Commons in 1887, and in 1890 his ability and faithful service were recognized by his elevation to the position of law clerk. He is the author of two very valuable addition to the literature of the Canadian constitution, Errors in Canadian History and a handbook of Canadian Dates.

There are left to mourn his loss a widow, formerly Miss Harline Wurtele, daughter of Mr. Justice Wurtele, of Montreal, whom he married in 1885, and a sister, Sister Thomas Aquinas, of the Ursuline Convent. It is only a week since Mr. McCord was granted an increase of salary from $3,500 to $4,000 in recognition of his services.

HARRY WHIBBS OF DOURO THE MAN WHO PERISHED IN THE ABITIBI RIVER IN FAR NORTH

The supposition expressed by the Examiner yesterday in connection with the drowning at McDougall's Chute, that the unfortunate man referred to was Harry Whibbs, formerly of Douro township, is only too true. The name "Harry Whitfs" appeared in the first despatch but as no such family live or have lived around here it was thought probable some mistake occurred.

The Messrs. Whibbs in Douro were called up by telephone and the Examiner learned that they had a brother up in that north country somewhere but did not know the exact location. Two of the Whibbs brothers called at the Examiner office last night and a telegram was sent to McDougall's Chute asking for definite information.

This morning the wire brought the news to the Examiner, "Harry Whibbs met death by drowning; body not yet recovered."

Several Brothers Here

The deceased was formerly of Douro and was well known in that township. He was a son of the late George Whibbs, of Douro and one of his brothers is the Rev. Father Whibbs of Campbellford. His other brothers are Thos. E., Patrick and John, of Douro, and Augustine, Indian River. His aged mother is still alive.

Harry Whibbs has spent a number of years in Parry Sound and Muskoka Districts as a lumberman, and it is thought that he moved farther north recently as Huntsville was his former postoffice. He was home two years ago to visit his friends and had since been seen by a couple of Peterborough men. Evidently he met with some accident and was drowned in the Abitibi River.

One of his brothers will likely go to McDougall's Chute to look after the recovery of the body.

TWENTY-FIVE WORKMEN TRAPPED IN TUNNEL LOSE THEIR LIVES

Examiner Special

Berne, Switzerland, July 24.—A frightful accident early to-day in Loreschberg tunnel in the Alps, resulted in the death of twenty-five workmen. The men were drilling inside the tunnel and pierced the wall, separating them from a subterranean cove, the existence of which was not known. The wall gave way with a crash and a torrent of water and mud rushed into the tunnel and filled it. All of the workmen, who were Italians, were drowned. Fortunately, owing to the early hour, only comparatively few men had entered the tunnel. It is believed that the men tapped the Kander River, which flows through the mountains above the tunnel. The water now chokes the tunnel within one hundred yards of the entrance.

BLOODHOUNDS TO BE SET ON TRAIL OF BOLD BANK ROBBERS

Ada, Ohio, July 23.—Special. — Six masked men rode into this place late last night and attempted to rob the local bank. While three of the gang waited near the bank building the other three went to the home of Cashier Meyers and, arousing him, compelled him to go to the bank with them. They attempted to compel Meyers to open the safe. The cashier, however, convinced the men that the safe was equipped with a time lock and that it could not be opened. Thereupon two of the robbers took Meyers to a nearby woods and tied him up, the other four men remaining at the bank to blow the safe.

Meyers, however, managed to escape from his captors and promptly turned in a fire alarm, arousing the citizens. The cracksmen jumped on their horses and galloped out of town. They were pursued for some distance, but finally escaped in the darkness. Blood hounds will be placed on their trail.

The robbers did not succeed in opening the safe.

A DEARTH OF CABINET MINISTERS AT OTTAWA

All Have Left the Capital—Many at Quebec.

Examiner Special

Ottawa, Ont., July 24.—To-day, for the first time in many years, probably ever, the capital is without a single Cabinet Minister. Hon. Mr. Aylesworth left last night for Toronto. All the rest are at Quebec or elsewhere.

LEGISLATIVE JURISDICTION IN CANADA.

The abnormal length of the late session may be explained in part by the deliberate efforts of the Opposition to obstruct legislation in order to force the Government to drop certain clauses of their election bill, but it was also due in part to the habit the Dominion Parliament has acquired of undertaking to legislate on subjects that come properly within the jurisdiction of provincial legislatures. The matters that belong properly to the Dominion jurisdiction are quite sufficient to keep the attention of the Parliament of Canada for the whole of a session of reasonable length. It is quite clear that it to these are added other matters that should be dealt with by the provincial legislatures the session must be prolonged for the purpose.

The ninety-second section of the British North America Act provides that in each province the legislature may, exclusively, make laws in relation to matters like the following: "The incorporation of companies with provincial objects; property and civil rights in the province; local works and undertakings, except those for the general advantage of Canada, or for the advantage of two or more provinces;" and "generally all matters of a merely local or private nature in the province." A considerable part of the private bill legislation put through by the Dominion Parliament would come under one or other of these descriptions, and in so far as they do so they are matters which the Dominion Parliament should leave to the provinces.

Last session this matter came up in the Senate in connection with a bill providing for the incorporation of a co-operative society. It was objected by one senator, it not more, that the bill should be relegated to some provincial legislature. Senator Scott, leader in the House, took the ground that the Dominion Parliament had jurisdiction in the matter; at least concurrently, it not exclusively, and he thought the bill should go through. It is unfortunate to find a member of the Government taking this attitude, because there can be no doubt as to the trend of public opinion on the subject. It is absurd to have purely local matters which were undoubtedly meant by the fathers of Confederation to be dealt with by provincial legislatures, taking up the time of what is practically a national parliament. The bill, in spite of Senator Scott's plea, was rejected by his own chamber, and very properly so.

Anything that tends to derogate from the importance of the provincial legislatures is an injury to Confederation. The federal system has limitations and drawbacks which must be overcome in some way or other, but there is no need of adding to these by the transfer from the local legislatures, which are best able to deal with them, purely local matters about whose value or importance members representing distant provinces cannot possibly know anything. This is a question that ought to receive careful consideration from the Government, so that the habit above referred to may cease to serve the mischievous purpose of lengthening the Dominion session and taking away from the prestige of the provincial legislatures.

MAJOR HODGINS' MISTAKE.

Major Hodgins, we now know, made a mistake. This mistake originated out of a misapprehension, which seemed to be so supported by contingent circumstances that it became deepened into conviction. But Major Hodgins would probably never have misapprehended had he not been labouring under feelings of wounded pride.

The prices of labour in the early summer of 1907 were high; and the contractors were bucking against the terms of other contracts. They complained, among other things, that the divisional engineers were not liberal enough in their classification; and some of the sub-contractors took their men off parts of the road. There were consequently many disputes; and, as Major Hodgins' district was 400 miles long, through the great stretch of country east of Winnipeg, it was difficult for him to go to the place of each dispute and settle it off-hand. He was, in fact, inclined not to go over the line as much as he might have done; and it was complained that he did everything from his office. The work was not progressing as well as it ought; and Major Hodgins was informed that an inspecting engineer would be appointed over him. The Major was piqued. Meanwhile, there were disputes over classification outstanding, and, as Major Hodgins was summoned to attend a meeting of the district engineers in Quebec, Commissioner Young told him to see, while he was in Quebec, how they classified excavations there and to be guided thereby, in his judgment of the disputes in his own district. Major Hodgins went to Quebec and visited the cutting known as Le Tuque. And here is where the misapprehension arose. He thought he was told that what he saw was being classified as containing 86 per cent. of solid rock; whereas, in his own opinion, there was not more than 40 per cent. This was in June, 1907, and the progress estimates show that, as a matter of fact, it was being classified at only 29 per cent. Major Hodgins went away with the impression, however that it was being classified at 86 per cent.; and, being an honest man, he was determined that such a classification should not be introduced in his own district.

Solid rock excavation was being paid at $1.70, loose rock at 60 cents, and common excavation at 30 cents. So, it can easily be seen, that if Major Hodgins' impression had been correct it would have involved quite $4,000,000 extra on his own section of the line; and it may be fairly computed that on the total length from Winnipeg to Moncton there would be an increased outlay of $28,000,000, as the Major stated in his letter to the Victoria Colonist.

The circumstance which confirmed Major Hodgins in his misapprehension, was an interview with J. D. McArthur, in the Toronto World on March 12. J. D. McArthur has a contract for two hundred and fifty miles of grading east of Winnipeg. Major Hodgins has estimated this stretch of line to cost between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000; and Mr. McArthur said it would probably cost close on $16,000,000. Major Hodgins' estimate was not, however, complete; and it has since been found that it did not include the following items:—Right of way, $175,000; ties, $672,798; switch ties, $27,187; tunnels, $189,750; drainage tunnels, $16,700, steel in concrete, $3,708; steel bridges, $160,000; rails, $1,336,608; angle bars, $106,172; bolts, $22,776; water stations, $103,500; extra work, $76,500; frogs and switches, $40,500 track spikes, $58,820; one foot below grade allowance on rock cuttings for ballast under sleepers, $495,000; extra width for sidings, not estimated, $850,000, and overbreak, $1,857,080. Total, $6,192,669.

Mr. Poulin, the present district engineer, estimated the work, figured upon by Major Hodgins, at within half a million of the latter's estimate; and the increase is accounted for by items such as rails, sidings and overbreak, which were not taken into consideration in Major Hodgins' estimate.

It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that Major Hodgins withdrew his charges. The only matters outstanding are questions of judgment, in which one engineer may legitimately differ from another engineer; and they are to be arbitrated upon by Assistant Chief Engineer Wood, of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and Chief Engineer Lumsden, of the National Transcontinental. The engineers of the Grand Trunk Pacific, who check up the work of the Government engineers on the National Transcontinental, have complained of the classification at certain stations; and it was at first said to involve a sum of $25,982; but, on a revised calculation, it is found to be only $3,457. This matter has been made much of by the Opposition. But it only shows that the Grand Trunk Pacific engineers are doing their work; and their check is a guaranted that the people of Canada will get value for their immense outlay. The Grand Trunk Pacific have an interest in keeping down the cost; because their rental for the Government line will be based for all time to come on the cost of construction; and, if there was any likelihood of their having to pay on $28,000,000 more than they ought, the public would soon hear all about any corruption which would so heavily penalize the Grand Trunk Pacific.

TRADES AND LABOUR CONGRESS

To Be Held in Halifax on September 21st —Many Important Matters To Be Considered.

TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL

The twenty-fourth annual session of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada will convene in the Legislative Council Chamber, City of Halifax, Province of Nova Scotia, beginning at 10 o'clock Monday morning, September 21, 1908, and will continue in session from day to day until the business of the convention has been completed.

The approaching visit to the Maritime Provinces marks another important epoch in the history of the Congress. For years our efforts have been centralized in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, and we have had a more or less perfunctory alliance with the extreme East and West, until two years ago, when our 22nd convention was held in Victoria, B. C., followed by holding our last convention in the city of Winnipeg, the Gateway to the West. Both these conventions proved successful beyond our most sanguine expectations, and have established a closer bond of unity with our Western fellow workers for the future, the importance of which cannot be overestimated. It is only fair, therefore, that this meeting should take place in the East, and that our brothers there should receive the encouragement of a large attendance of delegates from all the other Provinces, and all organizations in the West, entitled to representation, should make a special effort to elect and send representatives to Halifax, regardless of the financial outlay.

The Congress Executive, acting in conjunction with the Halifax Executive, is making a special effort to organize the Maritime Provinces, and good progress is being made by our organizer. The Executives and the organizer cannot do it all, even with the best will in the world, and we ask the officers and executives of all organizations to whom this call is addressed to get busy now. Do not defer action until Labour Day rolls around and depend on whether it will rain or shine to finance the trip of your representative. Get real busy at once if your treasury is not financially strong, run an excursion or put on an entertainment with a view to making some money. This will let the general public know, too, that you are still alive and a working factor in the community.

Immigration

The one outstanding feature of the past year has been the effect of immigration upon trade conditions. Every industrial centre in Canada has been influenced by the large number of arrivals, and this, combined with the financial hesitancy, has brought home to every workman the importance of dealing finally and emphatically with the whole subject. Mr W. R. Trotter, whom the Congress sent to England to bring home to the English people the real labour conditions existing in Canada, will present the report of his work, and such recommendations as his study of the question may suggest. If this question has affected your living and working conditions in the past or is likely to do so in the future, would it not be money and time well spent to send your own accredited representatives to Halifax to devise ways and means to effectively check for the future the machinations of the Employers' and Manufacturers' Unions, the booking agents of the steamship companies, and the Salvation Army from flooding this country with skilled mechanics who will remain in idleness unless they act as strike-breakers or work for starvation wages? The report of our Parliamentary representative will explain the bearing of Canadian legislation and regulations upon the subject.

The last session of the Dominion Parliament has furnished its quota of important matters to be considered of organized labour, including eight-hour legislation, co-operation, Senate reform, amendments to the Election Act, to provide for a public holiday on polling day, old age pensions and many other interesting items that will be submitted in the report of our parliamentary solicitor.

In no other years have the Provincial Executives had such notable events to chronicle. Great progress has marked the year just past, and a spirit of enthusiastic resolve permeates the movement from Halifax to Victoria. A rousing and record-breaking convention is to be the result.

The report of the Executive will contain recommendations of great and immediate moment.

The growth of independent political thought has been most marked, and further suggestions for a consolidation of supporters of Independent political action will come before the Congress in convention.

The awakening of the workers has come. Renewed efforts by all hands in every industrial centre in Canada should be put forth with a view of making the coming convention in the city of Halifax the largest and most enthusiastic ever held since our Congress was first organized, a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. P. M. Draper is the Secretary-Treasurer.

Girlhood Vigor Regained.

The difficulty with most women lies in the fact that while they are anxious about the health and welfare of their family and loved ones, they rarely ever pay attention to themselves until Nature says Stop. To prevent this every woman should take Psychine regularly. It creates an appetite and is the greatest of digestants. Psychine is a boon to run-down, tired and overworked women, for there is LIFE IN EVERY DOSE. Mrs. J. T. Miller of 63 Notre Dame St., Winnipeg, proved this, for she says: "I am thankful for what Psychine has done for me. I was laid up with weakness. Oh, how I suffered. My appetite was very poor and my stomach was greatly disordered. To-day I am strong and well, for Psychine has brought me permanent relief. I feel like a new woman now to what I did before taking Psychine. I feel the vigor of girlhood in my veins once more."

TRY PSYCHINE FREE.

We want every family to know the merits of Psychine and will send every householder a trial bottle free. Cut out coupon and mail to Dr. T. A. Slocum, Ltd., Toronto.

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir.—Attention should be called to the fact that many poor children, yes, and women, too, may be seen any day eating and carrying away rotten bananas that are raked up at the back doors of shops, when they become unsaleable. Nothing can be more injurious to health or more likely to create an epidemic of contagious or infectious diseases.

Yours,
HEALTH

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I would like a little of your space to complain against a bicyclist who persists in riding on the sidewalk on Stewart street just before 7 o'clock and before 1 o'clock. He is a source of danger to the children in the neighbourhood and the other day almost ran down a little boy. Surely the police should stop the offence.

Yours truly,
"PUBLIC SAFETY."

The Examiner's Special 'Quebec Correspondent Tells Of Camp Life, Its Pleasures And Trials

Peterborough Boys Attend Military Tattoo —Drowning And Accidental Death--Camp Jester Cairn Provides Fun—Party to Visit Big Indian Chiefs.

P. WALLACE DOING STUNTS

Beds Made at 3.30 a.m.—Company Sees the Quebec Pageant on Plains of Abraham — Newsy Letter From the Historic City.

Savaurd Camp, 57th Headquarters, Quebec, July 24.—Special Correspondence to the Examiner.—The boys are still in good health and spirits, are getting lots of drill and are showing up with the very best of them. Most of the boys were out to the military tattoo last evening; there were about 15 or 20 bands in it. We heard some very fine music. Some of the 48th Highlanders gave Scottish dances and they had a small clown singing camp songs.

Some Camp Accidents

There was a fellow from the 90th Regiment, Winnipeg, drowned whilst bathing this morning and an artillery man was injured yesterday while drilling. He belongs to the 15th Battery. Two sergeants from St. Johns, while on the train coming into camp were wrestling on the platform and fell off. One was instantly killed and the other has a small chance for recovery.

We had very disagreeable weather last night. It rained all night, but has cleared up very nicely to-day. The Regiment we are in goes out to-day to line the streets for the arrival of His Royal Highness Prince of Wales. He is expected about 4 o'clock. Some of the boys saw Earl Roberts yesterday when he was around the city in civilian clothes. They gave him a hearty cheer to which he lifted his hat in acknowledgment. Johnston Paudash is going to take a party of the boys to the Indian Encampment on Sunday to visit some of the big chiefs who are friends of his. Jack Seymour took his turn playing cook's devil yesterday and we had a very good meal. Skidmore is taking his turn to-day.

The Company's Jester

Some of the boys were to Montmorency Falls and St. Annes, yesterday. Our mascot "Gilly" Cairn, is still alive and having a very "large" time. He has turned out to be the comedian and jester for the crowd. He keeps the boys in good spirits and we would be lost without him. Derocher is the model boy of the camp. He is in every night at 3.30 a.m., and has the beds made for the rest of the boys when they arrive. Peter Wallace, our 5 miler, is doing training stunts, running around the camp a couple of times every morning before breakfast.

A number of the boys were up to see the pageant on the Plains of Abraham. It was a very imposing scene, over 3,000 taking parts in it and lasting more than 3 hours. The decorations are something marvellous with arches at nearly every corner and bunting everywhere. The people are very courteous to the soldiers and try to make them feel at home in every way possible. Well, the cook house is sounding an alarm and as I am hungry I will close for to-day.

No Stores In Front Of New Rink According To New Plan

Tenders Are Called For New Building—Will Cost Between $8,000 and $9,000—Stores May Be Built Later.

BALCONIES FACE THE ICE

The plans for the new curling rink on the Charlotte street property show a change in the structure which will be erected. The dimensions are 110x157, the greater number representing the length of the building. A balance of 35 feet to the street line remains for the purpose of carrying out the original intention of having stores facing the street. For the present this idea has been abandoned but it is likely that they will be built before many years.

At the front of the new rink as now proposed there will be two floors and on each provision has been made for club rooms and sitting rooms. The space allotted for this purpose is 45 feet wide by 10 1-2 feet deep and large windows will look from both balconies on to the ice. The rooms on the first and second floors will be easily fitted up and will suffice for the present. In the other plans a large club room was provided for on the second floor just over the stores. When these are erected this plan will in all probability be carried out and thus nothing will be lacking from the original designs.

The plans have been prepared by Mr. John E Belcher and tenders have been called for the construction. It is understood that the cost is roughly estimated at between $8,000 and $9,000.

For the present the ground between the street line and the front of the building will be sown with grass and will present an appearance which will be an adornment to the street.

Sensational Story Of Burning Of Woman's Face While She Slept

London, Ont., July 24.—Special. — The local detectives are investigating a sensational rumour to the effect that on Sunday morning a man named Long threw carbolic acid in his wife's face in a Queen's avenue boarding house. Mrs. Long and her husband have been separated for some months as a result, it is said of Long attempting to commit suicide in the boarding house. On the occasion referred to he was found under the bed, and said he had taken strychnine. For several days previous he had been acting strangely and flourishing a razor. On Sunday morning Mrs. Long, when she awakened, found that she had a number of burns on her face. How they came there she does not know, but it was at first thought that her husband, in a fit of rage, had entered the room and thrown acid in her face. The police are working on the case, but so far have made no arrest.

THE REINDEER FOR LABRADOR

Those Introduced by Deep Sea Mission Pass Through Winter Successfully—Difficulties Being Overcome.

ESKIMO DOG AN ENEMY

The domesticated Lapland reindeer introduced into northern Newfoundland at the end of last year by Dr. Grenfell of the British Deep Sea Mission, have passed through their first and most trying winter successfully. The one mischance was an attack on some of them by the savage dogs owned by the settlers. One stag was seriously mauled, but Dr. Grenfell contrived to patch up his wounds, and the beast is now right again. One other difficulty has also been overcome. The Lapp herdsmen are gradually learning English, and are now able to make themselves understood. The reindeer have proved themselves the best means of transport in the northern winter; most successful and speedy journeys have been made. The Lapps have also shown the natives how to get over the snow and ice with skis. A large part of the herd will soon be conveyed to Labrador. Here they have only one enemy to fear—the savage Eskimo dog. It is hoped that when the natives realize all the benefits coming to them from the tame reindeer—food, milk, clothing and transport—the dogs will gradually disappear. Last winter one pack is said to have killed and eaten a whole Eskimo family. The driver became weak from exhaustion and hunger; the pack turned upon him and killed him, the wife, and two small children. Such stories are not uncommon. — New York Evening Post.

CHANGE IN DATE OF THE EAST END REGATTA

To Be Held on August 17th Instead of August 12th.

Norwood, July 24—Special. — The East End Stony Lake Cottagers' Association have found it necessary to make a change in the date from that first selected for the holding of their annual regatta, so as not to conflict with the regatta at the west end of the lake, to be held on August 12. The East End Association have therefore selected Monday, August 17, as the date of their annual gathering. It is understood that Norwood's civic holiday will be arranged to coincide with this date. The Methodist Sunday school had almost completed arrangements for an excursion to Stony Lake on August 12, but this also will be changed so as to get into line with the regatta. The East End cottagers will endeavour to make the day very attractive.

A LARGE QUANTITY OF STONE

Being Brought Down From the Quarry at Clear Lake for Use Here.

The steamer Dawn has just unloaded a large cargo of limestone to be used in the erection of the new church. It was brought down from the quarry at Clear Lake, where Mr. R. Sheehy still has a considerable amount of the stone. Some of the pieces are immense parts of layers, and are being piled alongside the river just north of the C.P.R. bridge.

We think that to be born a pretty girl is about the nicest thing that could happen to anybody," remarks an enthusiastic exchange. There is one thing nicer—to be the pretty girl's husband.

MERCHANTS SPEAK OF THE MARKET

Would Like to See It More Largely Attended.

One of the local merchants spoke to an Examiner representative yesterday about the local market. He stated that it was a pity that Peterborough had not a large weekly and semi-weekly market befitting such a flourishing agricultural district. While he was unable to explain the present state of affairs he suggested that two things could be done which might appeal slightly to the farmers. One was to have a pavement sidewalk instead of the old time-worn board walk which now does service. He also said that a covering around the walk should bring in more farmers as it would afford shelter from the sun in summer and from rain and snow in their seasons. The market meant much to the merchants and he for one would like to see a larger attendance of farmers.

Do not expect your chicks to thrive if they are annoyed with lice. Empire Poultry Duster exterminates all vermin. No trouble to use, simply put in poultry dust bath. 25c. box.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT?

—The bargains that the Peterborough shops put up in muslins just now are hard to beat, but we want to go one better, and offer to make, for one week, any muslin suit, no matter what style, for the sum of $3.00. Don't hesitate, as it's only for one week. Lady fitter. New York Ladies' Tailoring, 658 George street. Phone 624. Phone us and we will call to give you particulars, if desired. The Fruit Crop Prospects Are Not Extra Promising

Mr. S. D. Carver, North Monaghan, Says Last Year's Excellent Yield Is The Cause—Apples To Be Scarce.

RASPBERRIES STAND ALONE

Prospects for fine crops in grains appear to be particularly good throughout the county but the fruit growers are dubious as to the outcome of the fruit harvest. Mr. S. D. Carver of North Monaghan, in speaking to an Examiner representative last night stated that fruits around here would not be of the best. He attributed the reason partly to the fact that last season there was an extra good crop and two excellent seasons do not usually come successively.

The apple crop, he states, will not be extra for the above mentioned cause. It seems to be too much for the tree to do. The shortage in the apple crop will be noticed more particularly in the Spies and other winter apples. The harvest apples, including the Duchess and Yellow Transparent, are much better. They are now ready for cooking and soon will be ripe enough for eating purposes.

Cherries in this district are scarce and of a rather poor quality. The plum crop, too, is light, owing to the abundance of that fruit last year. But in the Niagara district a fine peach crop is anticipated and this will aid matters considerably.

The raspberry crop is different from most of the others. Mr. Carver states that he was in the north country a few days ago and the abundance of berries was wonderful. He does not believe, however, that this condition prevails in Ontario as the price of raspberries does not seem to be falling at all.

BALL GAME AT PRINTERS' PIC-NIC

Goes Down the Otonabee on August 10th, Peterboro's Civic Holiday.

The picnic committee of the Printers' Picnic met last night and completed all arrangements for the big event on Civic Holiday, Aug. 10th to Idyl Wyld. The picnic will be the 8th annual and promises to eclipse everything in bygone years. The sports to be run off will be not of the ordinary nature. Of course the great event of the day will be the baseball game between the Examiner and the Review. The latter mentioned aggregation never won a game of anything in their lives and are not expected to do very much in this contest, yet the fight will be a great one. None of the big leaguers will be on the line-ups so that plenty of runs, strikes, muffs and all other kinds of literature common to the diamond will be handed out to the fans.

Outside of the ball game, which in itself will be a whole show, just think of the sail down the beautiful Otonabee and out across the broader expanse of Rice Lake. Such an inducement is not handed out every day and especially when folks have such genial hosts as the printers.

The Printers' Picnic will be a good one. This statement will bear the most minute investigation.

DISCUSSION ON CHURCH UNION

What Was Said About It By Anglicans at Their London Congress.

St. Luke's Parish Magazine says:—Section "F" discussed the subject of Anglican Communion in relation to other bodies, and the possibilities of reunion. The scandal of a divided Christendom is increasingly a source of shame to all serious Christians, and of weakness in every part of the world. The "sinking of differences" in a common system of undenominationalism, might seem a short cut to unity, but this expedient found little or no favour from any who took part in the debates, though every speech breathed a spirit of kindliness towards our separated fellow-Christians.

The Very Rev. Dr. J. H. Bernard, Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, whilst declaring that there did not seem to be any very strong desire for reunion with their separated brethren, advocated four things—common endeavour for Christian objects, common worship, common belief, and common discipline. Spiritual federation, he argued, should precede full and frank reunion.

Dr. Mason thus sets forth the situation from an Anglican standpoint—"At present the English Churchman stands alone in the world. He is in communion with no one else, in east or west. The churches of a minority in Scotland and Ireland, the daughter churches of America and the British colonies, the daughter churches slowly rising out of our missions to the heathen, are in happy communion with Canterbury, but they are the only ones. Our isolation is complete. Is it our fault? and, if so, what can we do to amend it" He holds that at the moment, Rome is best left alone, though she is not to be put out of reckoning, and preparations should be made for a rapprochement by-and-by. We is hopeful that misunderstandings with the Greek Church will soon pass away, and free communion be re-established. An earnest plea is put forward for union between the Anglican and Presbyterian Churches in a scheme of action which would "preserve the main points for which either side contends." He also pleads for union with three groups of Christians who agreed with them in principle — the Old Catholics, the Lutheran Church of Denmark, Norway and Sweden, and the United Brethren of Moravia.

HOW BOBBY KERR WON HIS RACE

LONGBOAT WILL RUN TO-DAY

Indian Is In Pink of Condition and Favorite For Marathon — Will Be Protested by Americans and Montreal Man—American Runner Pockets Competitor to Let Fellow-Counryman Win.

London, July 24.—(C. A. P.)—The final in the 200-metre flat race was won by Kerr, Canada. Cloughen, Irish-American A. C., was second, and C. J. Cartmell, University of Pennsylvania, was third. The time for the winner was 22 2-5 seconds. The four men got away to a splendid start. Kerr quickly showed in the front, and although Cloughen made a magnificent spurt at the halfway and pulled up inch by inch, he was unable to catch the speedy Canadian, who crossed the tape 9 inches ahead of him. Cloughen led Cartmell by a foot. Hawkins, United Kingdom, was fourth.

After Bobby Kerr captured the 200-metres final, despite the officials and police, a score of Canadians jumped the railings, seized the victor and carried him on their shoulders to the dressing-room, while others yelled lustily.

Art Burn, the Marathoner, almost lost his scalp at a policeman's hands reaching for the winner.

Kerr's victory was very popular generally.

Tom Longboat was at Windsor yesterday and looked fit to run the race of his life. He says he has never trained before for any race as he has for this. He ran a final three miles yesterday, and will rest up now. He is in perfect physical condition and sleeps well. The consensus of opinion in London is that either Longboat or Duncan, the English champion, will win. The Indian likes the course, but would prefer rain and rough weather. Longboat is a general favorite in London. He is recognized wherever he visits, and is followed by crowds in the streets. The best price reported is 5 to 1 against Longboat, but money is scarce.

In the Marathon draw there are fifty-seven probable starters who will go away at 12.30 in rows of fourteen. In the first row are Simpson, Goldsboro, Longboat and Noseworthy.

In the fourth row are Tait and Cotter.

Longboat will run under protest from the United States, and the so-called Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, on the alleged pretext that they desire to protect their own athletes.

In the standing high jump Barber of Toronto failed at 4 feet 8 inches.

The general opinion here seems to be that if not Great Britain, some part of the Empire will provide the victor in the Marathon, the best Canadian or Briton being the choice.

Hefferon, South Africa's best, went to South Africa with the Canadian regiment during the Boer war.

With so many unknown quantities running, betting is practically nil.

After growling about fair play the whole meet, the American tactics showed up terribly in the 400-metres' flat race. Turning into the home stretch Carpenter deliberately ran out, shoving Halswell to the extreme outside, leaving Robbins a free route. The officials declared it no race, while thousands "booed" the offender. Amid uproar the judges examined and photographed the footprints. They are still deliberating. The time was 48 1-2 (unofficial).

Robbins finished two yards ahead of Halswell. The judges broke the tape.

The standing of the countries now is:

Country.	1.	2.	3.	Pts.
United Kingdom	15	*14	6	130
United States	14	*8	4	99
France	2	3	4	26
Sweden	3	0	4	19
Germany	2	2	3	19
Norway	0	3	1	10
Canada	1	0	5	10
Greece	0	*3	0	9
South Africa	1	0	0	5
Hungary	0	*2	0	3
Italy	0	1	0	3
Australia	0	1	0	3
Denmark	0	1	0	3
Belgium	-	-	-	-
Finland	0	0	1	1

*Includes a tie.

The finals yesterday were as follows:

Standing high jump—1, Ewry, United States, 5 points; 2, Tsiclitaras, Greece, and J. A. Biller, United States, tie.

Catch-as-catch-can wrestling—1, O'Kelly, United Kingdom, 5 points; 2, Gunderson, Norway, 3 points.

400-metres—Won by Carpenter, with Robins, American, second, and Halswell, Britain, but declared off and Carpenter disqualified for boring; race to be run over Saturday.

The program for to-day is:

11.00—Pole jump.

11.30—110 metres, hurdles, (120.2 yards), semi-final, two heats.

12.00—1,600 metres, relay race (1,749.8 yards), heat.

2.30 Pole vault.

3.00—110 metres hurdles (120.2 yards), semi-final, two heats.

3.30—High diving, final.

4.30—Swimming, 200 metres team race (218.6 yards), final.

IN SECOND SERIES.

Fourteen Canadians Survive First Round at Bisley King's Shoot.

Bisley Camp, July 24.—(C. A. P.)—The Canadians who will go into the second stage of the King's prize, 300 yards, are: Brown, Eastcott, Freeborn, McInnes, Jones, Leask, Morris, Pope, Smith, Spittal, Steele, Utton, Bayles, McInnes won his place in the shoot-off.

The Canadians entered for the St. George's Challenge vase, yesterday, a squadded competition in two stages, the first at 500 and 600 yards, the second 900 yards, will be fired on Saturday. The scores at the 500 yards were: Brown 31, Crowe 33, Eastcott 35, Elmitt 33, Freeborn 31, Haystead 31, McInnes 32, Jones 31, Kerr 31, Leash 33, Martin 32, Morris 35, Pope 30, Rowe 29, Smith 30, Spearing 34, Spittal 33, Steele 32, Utton 34, Williams 34, Sclater 33, Mortimer 29, Bayles 35.

Morris, Eastcott and Bayles all scored possibles.

The scores at 600 yards are: S. S. Brown 33, C. R. Crowe 29, W. M. Eastcott 30, T. F. Elmitt 27, Freeborn 29, A. H. Haystead 32 J. M. Jones 31, H. Kerr 27, F. H. Morris 32, Morley Pope 31, G. J. Rowe 27, W. A. Smith 29, R. J. Spearing 18, C. D. Spittal 34, A. Steele 24, F. W. Utton 30, B. M. Williams 33, Sclater 30, Mortimer 34, Bayles 33.

In the shoot for the Imperial Tobacco, squadded competition, 1,000 yards, the following scores were made: Brown 33, Crowe 41, Eastcott 26, Elmitt 33, Freeborn 37, Haystead 34, McInnes 39, Jones 43, Kerr 31, Leash 34, Martin 39, Morris 41, Pope 24, Rowe 22, Smith 24, Spearing 40, Spittal 44, Steele 38, Utton 34, Williams 34, Sclater 25, Bayles 46.

The weather was fine, but light was bad and the wind tricky.

The following men have won prizes: In the Duke of Cambridge match, Leash was 37th and won £2. In the "All Comers' Aggregate," Morris was 6th, winning £2. In the "Stock Exchange" reserve prizes, Crowe, 130th, gets £1; Brown, 160th, £1. In the Barlow, second stage, Morris, with a score of 65 points, was 71st, winning £1.

The Canadian garden party was favored with beautiful weather. About 300 were present. The pavilion was finely decorated. Col. Labelle and Mrs. Donald MacMaster received the guests.

Railwaymen May Strike.

Montreal, July 24.—Bell Hardy, chairman of the federated trades in the mechanical and car departments of the C. P. R., says that the men are restless and dissatisfied with the Winnipeg verdict.

But the men are not bound to observe the finding and while he does not say so, leaves it to be understood that they don't propose to do so.

A vote of the whole federation will be taken as to whether they will accept or go on strike. They feel that with the crop about to move they have the C. P. R. at a disadvantage, and therefore a strike would mean a cave-in on the part of the railway.

Galt Out After Weeds.

Galt, July 24.—The police yesterday, acting under peremptory orders of the council, entered on a vigorous enforcement of the bylaw providing for the destruction of weeds in the municipality.

All citizens, whether of high or low degree, who are offenders against the bylaw, have been notified to cut the obnoxious vegetation forthwith or else the work will be done for them by the corporation road gang and charged up against the property.

A good deal of feeling has been aroused by the sudden and determined action taken.

Perjury Charge Against Clergyman.

Halifax, N. S., July 24.—Rev. H. R. Grant, secretary of the Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance, was arrested at Guysboro, N. S., on a warrant charging him with perjury. The charge is laid by a Mulgrove liquor dealer, in whose premises Mr. Grant seized a quantity of liquor. The trial is set for July 28.

PREMIER OF ONTARIO NOW SIR JAMES

Premier of Ontario Is Included in Tercentenary Honors.

THREE OTHERS GET TITLES

Premier Gouin, Mayor Garneau and Col. J. Hanbury Williams Are Now Sirs In Victorian Order — Earl Grey, Drummond, Otter, Turgeon, Pope, Walker, and Others Are Given Letters.

Quebec, July 24.—Samuel de Champlain was specially and socially honored in the ceremonies of the tercentenary celebration yesterday, and Ontario participated in the reception of a knighthood by its Premier, now Sir James Pliny Whitney.

The honor of knight bachelorhood was conferred on the Premier early in the afternoon at the Citadel.

The first public intimation was given to press representatives by Sir James himself at the evening of the ceremonies at the Champlain monument.

"Knighthood," he said, "were conferred on Mayor Garneau, on Premier Gouin and on the Premier of Ontario.

"I appreciate the honor very much," he remarked later in the day, "and also the way it has been received. I am sure the people of Ontario will appreciate it as an honor really meant for the province."

SIR JAMES PLINY WHITNEY.

Col. Hanbury Williams also becomes Sir John Hanbury Williams, receiving the K. C. V. C.

Earl Grey, the Governor-General, received a G. C. V. O.

Sir George Drummond, Byron E. Walker, Adelard Turgeon, Joseph Pope and Col. Otter became Companions of the Victorian Order.

In the city of Quebec, H. J. B. Chouinard gets three more initials in the C. M. Y., and Cols. Sherwood and Roy become M. V. O. Mr. Chouinard is accorded the credit of having first suggested the celebration.

These honors added zest to the brilliant ceremonial at the foot of Champlain's magnificent statue on Dufferin terrace. The grand stands were filled as on last Sunday, but yesterday with a most brilliant company of celebrated and distinguished personages. Almost everyone mentioned so far in connection with the celebration was present. One whole front row on the south wing of the stand was devoted to the naval officers, with admirals, all resplendent in their gilt uniforms, covered as they were with medals, orders and ribbons of honor. The ladies of the company were beautifully dressed and titled dames were more numerous than ever before in a Canadian gathering.

Sir George Garneau, mayor of Quebec, was the first to approach the prince, after the royal group had assembled. He read the address, which was afterwards presented in a jeweled casket. It welcomed the prince to Canada this time in behalf of the French-Canadians of Quebec and the ancient capital. The prince replied in French and then in English.

Earl Grey at His Royal Highness' bidding read the message of King Edward to Canada. It was as follows:

"Please convey to mayor and citizens of Quebec my congratulations and good wishes on the joyous celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the foundation of their city by Samuel de Champlain.

"I am much gratified to learn of their cordial reception of the Prince of Wales, whom I have sent to represent me on this great occasion.

"I received with pleasure the renewed assurances of loyalty on the part of my Canadian subjects, in whose welfare I am deeply interested and to whom I wish an ever increasing measure of progress and prosperity."

Princess Louise, Premier Asquith, Lord Crewe, Colonial Secretary, Lord Minto also cabled felicitations.

The French representative spoke briefly delivering a cordial message from his Government. He reiterated the recent expressions of good-will between Britain and France and said that his countrymen applaud the union accomplished in Canada between the two races.

The military parade through the streets yesterday morning was a spectacle which lost something in striking effect by reason of the unevenness of the thoroughfares, which compelled the men to march in fours throughout, but nevertheless it was an impressive demonstration of the strength of the army encamped about the ancient capital.

Early in the morning the crash of bands, rub-a-bub of arms and the martial tramp were to be heard as the soldiers of the Levis encampment, who had crossed the river, formed in close order at the landing, marched to join the battalions of the east and west Savard camps on the historic plains, where they were marshaled by Gen. Otter, 12,000 strong.

Yesterday morning the Prince of Wales returned the official calls of Wednesday, and the warships were dressed in their gayest for the occasion. All forenoon the repeated thunders of saluting guns attracted dense and denser throngs to the Dufferin terrace, to watch the little green launch, the Royal Standard at her bows, and attended by a miniature flotilla of four launches, as she passed from ship to ship of the visiting navies.

France was first honored, and then the United States. The foreign vessels flew the Union Jack and played the British anthem, while they cheered as lustily as any jack tars of the King.

The display of fireworks on the Levis Heights last night attracted to Dufferin terrace a jostling, elbowing throng, while the slope above was one mass of humanity rising tier after tier.

Private Benoit of the Governor-General's Body Guards, Ottawa, died yesterday of lockjaw, which developed from a cut made by a rusty nail before leaving for Quebec.

The state dinner last night at the citadel was a most brilliant affair. The list of guests included the most eminent and distinguished Canadians, as well as all the notable visitors in the city.

TO CONSIDER MEAT SUPPLY.

British Government Will Shortly Appoint a Commission.

London, July 24.—A departmental commission will be appointed shortly on the subject of the British meat supply.

The Daily Standard suggests as a solution of the Canadian cattle embargo question that the Canadian Government should breed steers for export here; under supervision, or utilize Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, or Cape Breton as breeding grounds, strictly protected against all possibility of disease.

The president of the National Federation of Meat Traders declared that the board of agriculture was the only Government department which did not feel the force of the opinion.

On the question of Canadian cattle embargo the federation passed a resolution urging the removal on Premier Asquith.

Fanatics Still Marching.

Winnipeg, July 24.—Sharpe, with his party of fanatical Adamites, is now within 40 miles of the Doukhobor community, and is standing off the police. No concerted attempt to round them up has been made, any approach being met with a determined show of arms. Though near the border of Saskatchewan they cannot now be deported except by the request of the municipality to which they are allotted. The officials do not seem to know what to do, but there is one thing sure, and that is Sharpe will get a cool reception from the Doukhobors.

Murderer Confesses.

Hackensack, N. J., July 24.—August Eberhard, arrested this morning, has confessed that he murdered his aunt, Mrs. Ottillie Eberhard, at Hackensack. Yesterday afternoon he led the police to a place in Little Falls, where he had buried under a tree $2,500 in money which he took from his aunt's body. The money was found where it had been hidden. Eberhard is now in the Hackensack jail.

Wood Refuses Indemnity.

Ottawa, July 24.—Senator Josiah Wood of Westmoreland, N. B., has again refused to draw his sessional indemnity. For three years he has not taken his check. Senator Wood was bitterly opposed to the increase when it went into effect.

SINKS FROM EXHAUSTION

J. C. Smith of Memphis, Tenn., While Shooting the Rapids at McDougall's Chutes With Companions Is Upset—Gets Both to Shore But Excitement Turns His Head and is Overcome by Current.

McDougall's Chutes, Ont., July 24.—J. C. Smith of Memphis, Tenn., was drowned in the Buck Deer Rapids, about 30 miles north of here, while attempting to run the rapids in a birchbark canoe.

He was employed by the J. H. Reynolds' Construction Co. at the Crusher Camp, where stone is crushed for use at the crossing of the Transcontinental Railway and Abitibi river.

In company with two fellow-laborers, he started down the rapids, but when only about half-way down the swift current caused the canoe to swerve toward a rock which projected above the water. The man in the bow reached out and tried to shove the canoe away, but his action capsised the boat, and threw all three men into the water.

Smith was a good swimmer, and immediately attempted to save his companions, succeeding, after a hard battle, in getting both to shore. His exhaustion and excitement, however, seemed to have turned his head, for he struck out immediately, and tried to swim up stream against the current. He sank from sight almost at once. His body has not been recovered.

Lemieux Act Condemned.

Ottawa, July 24.—At one of the secret sessions of the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotice Engineers yesterday, the Lemieux Act came in for strong criticism. It was described as futile as a means for settling railway disputes. It was alleged that men who had brought their grievances before the tribunal had been dismissed on the first opportunity.

Every appeal to a conciliation board meant two polls and two polls on the C. P. R. alone cost $5,000.

The meeting closed yesterday afternoon with a big picnic at Rockliffe.

Kicks Out 'Phones.

New Westminster, B. C., July 24.—Exasperated at the inefficient service given by the British Columbia Telephone Co. to patrons in this city, and to the officials of the civic department in particular, Mayor Keary has ordered every instrument removed from the City Hall within 30 days.

Governor Besieged.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—A special despatch received here from Tabriz, Persia, says fighting was resumed in that city yesterday. The revolutionists captured three lines of trenches and earthworks that had been thrown up around the residence of the governor, who is in virtual captivity.

LINDSAY WON FIRST GAME IN TRENT VALLEY LACROSSE LEAGUE; BEAT PETERBOROS 1 GOAL TO 0

Lindsay, July 23.—In the opening game of the Midland Lacrosse League played at the exhibition grounds here this evening, Lindsay defeated the Peterborough twelve by 1—0, in a hard fought game that was in doubt until the last whistle blew. On their play the two teams were evenly matched. All through the first three-quarters they battled with no goal scored, and only a few close calls, and it was not until four minutes before time was called that Lindsay scored the only tally of the game. It was not brilliant, or even first class lacrosse, because the teams were not in shape, but it was hard, desperate playing all the way, and not any too clean by any means, with both teams working hammer and tongs for victory, and the fairly large crowd found the struggle decidedly exciting.

About sixty supporters accompanied the Peterborough team on a special train, which arrived here shortly before three o'clock, and they made their presence known at the game, which was not called until 6.30 o'clock.

Considering that the teams have had but little practice they made a remarkably good showing, and that augurs well for the success of the newly formed league. There is plenty of material, and with more practice, some great lacrosse should be seen in this section of the land of the beaver before the longhaired Rugby enthusiasts start chasing the pig skin this fall.

The Peterborough team was a combination of veterans and youngsters, and considering that they had never been together before they played remarkably good lacrosse. Some of the men had had no practice whatever, and when it is stated that the line up was picked on the train on the way up, it can be seen that the Petes were not any too well prepared for the game. However, they had as much and possibly a little more of the play than had their opponents, and on the actual play were entitled to a win, but Lindsay scored the only goal, and unfortunately for the visitors, goals and not form counted in this case.

The defence generally put up a fine article of lacrosse, refusing to be drawn out and checking and relieving well. For the greater part of the time they smothered their checks completely, and only once were they cleanly beaten and on that occasion Lindsay scored. A long run by "Slats" Reilly, and a well placed pass to Dobson resulted in a shot on goal, which Gilman stopped, but Primeau was on the spot and scored on the rebound.

Gilman stopped all that came his way except that one counter, handling several wicked ones nicely. Larone, Doris and Barber put up a decidedly effective defence game, breaking up many well meant attacks, while the outer fringe of the rear guard, Raymond and Johnson, not only looked after Lindsay attacks, but also kept their home well fed and took part in the attacking operations themselves very effectively, Raymond is speedy and his long runs always helped.

Ray Best, at centre, worked like a Trojan all through and played fine lacrosse. The home did not work together as they will work later on when practice will grease the machine. There was lack of system, especially when it came to working in close that prevented many opportunities for scoring, but proper combination cannot be worked without practice and the team have had few opportunities for that yet. The home field consisted of Donovan, Long and Parnell, and the three worked fairly well together, doing some very pretty stick handling and dodging. The veteran, Stroud, at outside and Galley, at inside, played hard, effective games, but the latter was handicapped by a bump which he got early in the game from McNaught.

There were three Peterborough boys on the Lindsay home, Len Dobson, Jack Primeau and Norman Dusty, and the trio were pretty nearly the whole attacking force for Lindsay; Dobson and Primeau played pretty lacrosse all the way. Dusty was not as speedy perhaps but proved himself a good ball getter and a hard worker. Clo Reilly, at centre, played a fine game, his long gallop-runs being always dangerous, and keeping the Peterborough defence on the alert. The three hockey men, Sullivan, Koyle and Newton, did splendid work on the defence, especially the former, who broke up many a well made attack.

Walter Reesor, Lindsay, was referee, and Mr. Clemens, also of Lindsay, was judge of play. Both gave every satisfaction.

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough		Lindsay
Gilman	Goal	Newton
Larone	Point	Koyle
Doris	Cover	Sullivan
Barber	First defence	McNaught
Johnston	Second defence	McVittie
Raymond	Third defence	Barnsley
Best	Centre	Reilley
Donovan	Third home	Chapman
Parnell	Second home	Chambers
Long	First home	Dusty
Stroud	Outside home	Primeau
Galley	Inside home	Dobson
Dillon	Field captain	Gartland

Both nets were watched in turn right after the start, and Gilman was called upon to stop a nice shot from Primeau, which he did neatly. Play was transferred to the other end of the field, where Galley was tumbled over and bought the grass on a heavy body check from McNaught. The naughty Lindsay man spent three minutes on the fence as the result. Parnell and Long united in a pretty combination, and the former made a pretty pass to Galley, whose shot was away wide. Barnsley swatted Long over the nose inflicting a painful cut and he did a three minutes' siesta with the penalty timer. Long retired for a short time for repairs, Koyle remaining off with him.

The second quarter was almost a repetition of the first, with play remarkably even and shots on goal few and far between. The activity for the most part was in midfield. Dusty ducked into Larone's stick and got a bad cut over the eye, and the Peterborough man was banished for five minutes. Before quarter time was called Barber and Dobson had a little mixup and the two were sent away.

The third quarter also passed without a score, although both teams were working hard all the time. The Lindsay home men appeared to develop more speed and better combination as the game went on and they made things lively, but the Peterborough defence handled them well. Stroud got five minutes for mixing it up with Sullivan.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Sullivan hit Long and was off for two minutes. The play seesawed up and down the field, and there were several scrimmages near the Lindsay goal, when a score seemed imminent. However, Reilly broke away from one of those with a long run and the Peterborough defence was drawn out, giving Primeau a chance to score, after Dobson's shot had been stopped.

There were four minutes left to play and the Petes worked desperately for a score, but the crowd swarmed half way over the field, and what chance they had to score was killed. They were out almost in front of the nets when time was called. Final score—Lindsay 1, Peterborough 0.

GREAT GAME PROMISED FOR RIVERSIDE PARK TO-MORROW

Eager to repeat their feat of last Saturday, the Cobourg team will bring a strong line-up to Peterborough tomorrow when they clash with the Athletics in a Midland League game at Riverside Park. The game will be a corker, judging from the previous exhibitions the teams put up. Fans have agreed that the game between the two on July 1st, when Athletics won by 4-2 was the cleanest and fastest exhibition seen here this year and there is no reason why to-morrow's struggle should not be a repetition. There will be any amount of good baseball for the crowd to enthuse over and no doubt there will be a big crowd on hand. The Athletics will line-up as follows:—Quinlan p, Rattray c, Graham 1b, Flaherty 2b, Shea ss, Mackrell 3b, Callaghan lf, Connors cf, Pilling rf.

ARCHIBALD LOST TO YANKEE IN HIS SECTION OF POLE VAULT

G. N. W. Special

London, July 24.—One of the best morning programmes of the Olympic games, coupled with fine weather, brought a big crowd to the Stadium early to-day. The first event was the pole vault. The refusal of the officials to allow the Americans to dig pole holes for the poles has been strongly objected to, but the officials adhered to their decision, and the Americans went in, having to jump with a spiked pole, an instrument to which they are not accustomed. Then came four heats in the semi-finals of the 100 metre hurdle race. The first heat was carried off by B. Shaw, of the Dartmouth University, who defeated Russel, Waters and Greenings, three United Kingdom runners, and covered the distance in the time of 15 3-5 seconds, only 1-5 of a second over the Olympic record. W. C. Smithson of Oregon, U.S., did even better in the second heat, which he won in 15 2-5 seconds, equalling the Olympic record. The first section of the pole vault was won by C. Gilbert of Yale University, who cleared 12 feet. Archibald of Canada was second with 11 feet 9 inches.

DAVE BELLAND WRITES FROM ENGLAND

A member of the Examiner staff has received a letter from Dave Belland, formerly of Peterborough and now of Quebec, who is one of the Canadian Olympic team in England, failing to make a showing in the sprints. Dave has the following to say of things across the pond: "Fred Simpson is barber here. He is a fine fellow and will make them all run. My race comes off on the 20th, and I think I'll make them all go some. Kerr is a good man, but can't start well, Longboat or Simpson for me to win the Marathon.

WALTER JAYES LEADS THE TEAM

In Batting—413 for the Wilmington, North Carolina, League Team.

Walter Jayes, nephew of Mr. Jack Jayes of the Munro House, is playing great ball for the Wilmington team in the North Carolina League. In the records for the last eight games he has led the squad at the bat with the splendid percentage of .423, with 11 hits out of 26 times at bat. In a game against Raleigh last week he got three hits out of three times up, and he is playing a splendid fielding game in centre for the Sailors.

HOW BOBBY KERR WON THE 200 METRE

An Early Lead Responsible—Art Burn Almost Scalped.

London, July 23.—Special.—Taking a substantial lead in the early stages of the 200 metre final, Bobby Kerr just managed to stall off the determined challenge of Cloughen, winning by nine inches in 22 2-5 seconds. Cartmell was third by a foot. Hawkins, the Englishman, was last.

Despite the officials and police, a score of Canadians jumped the railings, seized the victor, and carried him on their shoulders to the dressing room, while others yelled lustily.

Kerr's victory was very popular generally.

It says: Long distance races in other towns have been responsible for the discovering of many long distance runners, among those brought to light in this manner being Sherring, Longboat and Simpson, the last two at present competing in the Olympic Games in England.

REFEREE FOR BUTTER AND CHEESE

Mr. Joseph Burgess Appointed — An Experienced Man.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In order to meet occasional requests for the services of a referee for butter and cheese, Mr. Joseph Burgess, a member of the Dairy Commissioner's staff, has been assigned to duties at Montreal which will permit him to examine on request shipments of butter and cheese over which there is a dispute as to quality. Examinations will be made and certificates given only when the request comes from both buyer and seller.

Mr. Burgess may be addressed at Department of Agriculture, Custom House, Montreal, or telephone Main 1154.

It may be added that Mr. Burgess is well qualified to perform the duties of a referee. He is an experienced cheese and butter maker, and has been on the Dominion Dairy Commissioner's staff since 1902. He was superintendent of the Government Curing Room at Woodstock, Ont., until it was closed in 1903. Since then he has been Inspector for the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch in Western Ontario.

Yours truly,
J. A. RUDDICK,
Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner.

Ottawa, July 23, 1908.

WAS A DIFFERENCE IN THE MORNING

Chas. Beavis Decided That He Did Want a Month in Jail After All.

Charles Beavis walked into the police station last evening and asked to be shut up for a month. As the police always try to be accommodating, Mr. Beavis had a narrow escape from having his request granted when he appeared before City Clerk Armstrong at the police station this morning. However, he had changed his mind during the night, and this morning he did not want his liberty cut off.

Beavis was charged with vagrancy and pleaded not guilty. He had been working at the Collegiate Institute, he said, until the last few days, when he had fallen off the water waggon. He had been under the influence of liquor when he wandered into the police station.

The acting magistrate remarked that had he been sentencing Beavis for vagrancy he would have given him six months in the Central Prison. He advised him to let liquor alone and as he promised to do so for a year, he was discharged.

BRIGHT WATERS AND HAPPY LANDS OF BEAUTIFUL KAWARTHADOM ARE PICTURED IN THE MOST PLEASING PROSE

What the Year Book of Stony Lake Cottagers' Association Says of Our Summer Resort.

LOCATIONS FOR OUTINGS

Stony Lake has been well named the "Miniature Thousand Islands," its eight hundred rocky, verdure-clad islands that abruptly thrust themselves out of the deep brown waters having an even greater charm than their larger prototypes in the St. Lawrence. The lake itself is about ten miles long by perhaps two miles wide at its widest part, being indented with bays and fed by a number of streams bringing in the overflow of numerous smaller lakes farther back. A writer, in describing Stony Lake says, "Stony Lake combines all the grandeur, all the intricate beauty, all the luxuriant vegetation of the islands of the St. Lawrence; the travellers who speak from experience have unhesitatingly declared the scenery of this lake to equal, if not surpass, in its own delightful character, the far-famed beauties of the Swiss and Italian lakes. A moonlight sail through the maze of Stony Lake is one of the most fascinating sights imaginable, and leaves an undying memory of weird and delicate beauty. The matchless glory of a summer sunset, the last rays flooding the silvery water with a ruddy tinge and touching every verdant islet and massive boulder with a wand of gold; and tree-lined shores, dark and mysterious, rising from the shadowy water; the intermittent gleam of a camp fire seen at intervals through dark trees, with the silhouettes of the campers standing out, sharply defined, against the glow; the hoarse call of some preying night bird as it darts, arrow-like, across the darkened sky; the hush, the mysterious stillness of a twilight on Stony Lake lifts one far above all thoughts of the cares and worries of this life, and the soul for one brief hour communes with the very spirit of Nature in all its enchanting loveliness."

The principal points of interest on the lake are the store and pavilion on Juniper Island, McCracken's Landing, Breezo's, Julian's Landing, Boshink, Burleigh Falls, at all of which the steamers call

The great depth of the lake in some parts is a matter of some astonishment, it being said that two hundred feet of line have failed to touch bottom. It abounds with the best game fish, the principal being the lordly maskinonge or muskallonge and the gamey black bass. There are also plenty of salmon trout, but these so far do not seem to be susceptible to allurement by methods adopted elsewhere. In the fall they may be seen in great numbers at Boshink upon what are known as the beds or shoals spawning. The usual "small fry" may be found in great abundance anywhere in Stony Lake, and white fish are caught in great numbers when "running" in the full of the October moon. At almost any rocky point or in any secluded spot between the islands, good maskinonge or bass fishing may be found.

Few people really know the great beauty and charm of Stony Lake who have ever spent the summer there. To fully appreciate its grandeur one must see it in the delicate robes of spring, when the myriad hosts of birds of varied plumage make its shores and shady dells fairly ring with song. Then, too, when autumn has touched into crimson and gold the silent woodland, and the frosty air and azure skies throw into relief the sparkling waters as they are parted by the gliding canoe, and "all the air a solemn stillness holds," the effect is indescribably impressive. Nature in all her moods and tenses may be studied to the very best advantage on this her native heath.

Trips on the Side

For a pleasurable outing Stony Lake affords all that the camper or tourist could wish. There are points of interest, however, that may be made objects of special expeditions. At the head of the lake will be found "Jack's Creek," a rivulet emptying into Stony Lake after a sinuous course from Jack's Lake, some twenty miles north; while on the north shore, not so far east, may also be found Eel's Creek, another stream which, like Jack's Creek, may be navigated for some distance up by canoe. Both are favourite spots for picnic parties and well worth the paddle, the "shore dinner" finding appetites after the exercise.

On the south shore is Gilchrist's Bay, at the further extremity of which is another creek leading into White Lake, where excellent black bass fishing will be found. A short, easy portage is made from Stony Lake to the creek, below the falls. One day is sufficient for any of these trips, an afternoon for the last. If the sportsman is keen and does not mind a little trouble, he will find his way to Lake Koshkabogamog, a little beyond White Lake, but he will need a guide. A favourite spot for bass fishing is just below Burleigh Falls, which is about two miles west of Juniper Island, or Perry's Chute, a few minutes paddle beyond where the Burleigh Locks open into Stony Lake. From Winsor's Landing, just west of Mount Julian, a portage of three miles over a good road will land the canoeist at Big Cedar Lake, where a splendid days bass fishing may be enjoyed, and return made to Stony Lake the same evening. Above Burleigh Falls are Lovesick Lake and Deer Bay, the best fishing ground for maskinonge in the district. A day spent here will be well worth while. Guides may be obtained at Burleigh Falls. A canoe trip not often taken, but full of adventure, is from Long Lake down through Deer Bay Creek into Deer Bay and back to Stony Lake. The canoes are transported easily from Julian's Landing by wagon to Long Lake, about 20 miles. Starting from Long Lake the passage is made through Loucks Lake, Sloplog Lake and Deer Bay Creek. The trip is not a very arduous one, although there are one or two long portages. When the water is good it is all right, but in extremely dry weather the trip is not very inviting. There is good paddling to Lovesick Locks (2 miles from Burleigh Falls) or to Buckhorn (8 miles), and the enthusiast will find Chemong or Clobecay geon none too much for his muscle if he is inclined to do a little camping out.

F. M. Dela Fosse

It was not Mr. Jones' policy to allow his men any undue relaxation after their long and arduous trip. We were only in Winnipeg one day, and as our time had been fully occupied in collecting supplies, and in rounding up our stampeded steeds, we had no chance of feasting our eyes on the beauties of the city. The chase after the horses had tired the whole gang, and so soon as they had been safely stalled in a box car, we got out our blankets, curled up on the prairie, under the open sky and went to sleep. Early the next morning we started on our journey to the west. The prairie section of the C. P. R. had only been completed as far as Swift Current Creek. To-day the town is one of the divisional points of that great railway system, but at the time I write of it was represented, so far as buildings were concerned, by a telegraph operator's shack and a water tank.

Our journey, which might more correctly have been termed a "voyage," proved most enjoyable, notwithstanding certain inconveniences under which we laboured. The roadbed was horribly bumpy, and the train bounded along the rails much in the fashion of a ship bounding over the ocean billows. The management of the road were more interested in speedy construction than in smoothness of going in those days, and were laying the rails at the rate of eight to ten miles a day, so, perhaps, it is not to be wondered at that we did not feel at any particular time during the passage as though we were reclining on beds of down. But those of us who were gifted at all with an aesthetic taste, enjoyed to the full the magnificent kaleidoscopic views that passed in endless succession before our eyes.

Everything was so new and strange. The boundless prairies, dotted all over with buffalo bones and skulls, stretched to the horizon on either side, here, flat as the proverbial billiard table, there, rising in gentle undulations to the sky line. As we kept advancing further into the interior, vast herds of antelopes, came skipping into view, prancing gracefully along the ridges, and stopping ever and anon to gaze curiously at the puffing, fiery monster that was so obtrusively disturbing their peaceful seclusion. To add to the picturesqueness of the scenery, Indians and half breeds would be seen at odd intervals, cantering along the trails on their hardy ponies, or a cluster of teepees be passed, showing the noble braves stretched out on the sward, and their squaws engaged in the work of tanning hides or in the simple domestic operations of their households.

Those whose fancies turned more towards the material pleasures of life, rung the changes on eating, sleeping and talking by playing euchre and other innocent and diverting games, whilst Robson, the musician of the party, favoured us occasionally with some choice selections on the mouth organ. We got rather a surfeit of this music, and I remember what a general feeling of relief was experienced when it was stolen by a half-breed boy at the Forks of the Red Deer and South Saskatchewan.

The Officer and the Whiskey

At Moose Jaw a laughable incident occurred. At that period liquor was banned in the Territories, on account of the Indians, and all sorts of devices were resorted to for smuggling it into the country. Many of the men had endeavoured to secrete bottles of that beverage at the bottom of their hand bags, but the cook, who possessed three bottles, in order to more effectively conceal them, had placed them inside his shirt and buttoned up his coat. He was a corpulent little chap with a pale face, and the addition of the bottles gave him an appearance more resembling a mingy mangold-wurzel than a man.

The police went systematically to work through the car, and so soon as a bottle or a jar was found, which was fairly often, took it outside and smashed it on the rails.

At last a stern-faced guardian of the law came to the cook.

"Your valise, please," he said.

"Yes, sir; certainly, sir; indubiously, sir," said the cook, who was anxious enough to please, seeing that he had no contraband goods in his bag. But in diving under the seat his orb-like form struck the seat in front with a resounding smack that was audible throughout the car. The officer smiled. The bag produced nothing. The cook looked radiantly benevolent. "Open your coat, please," said the officer. The cook grew very red in the face, but proved equal to the emergency. "Say, lookye, here, officer," he protested, "there's ladies in this car and so help me, I dassent take my coat off, for I haven't got nuthin on underneath." The officer was firm, however. "Well, but lookye, here," pursued the cook, "I ain't goin' to show myself in my naked pelt before all these here Weemin. No, sirree. Ask them to leave the car," he added, assuming a look of virtuous indignation, "and I'm willin' to oblige, that is if the gentlemen don't object." The officer was nettled. "Peel that coat off at once," he said, "or I'll place you under arrest." The cook winced at this, but he made one final attempt. "Mister officer," he said, "I aint disputin' your right to make me take my coat off or do anything else you darn please, except me—I'm a man of peace, I am—but say look here, you knows what it is to be parted from home and friends and all you loves dear, donft ye know! well, if you parts me from this here whiskey, you just parts me from health and happiness and heaven," he said. —"Many's the time as I've said to my missus, when I've been readin' the noble doin's of your force in this here God forsaken country, 'Missus,' says I, them's heroes," says I, "them's the boys as would never do a mean act to any man, I'd be proud to shake hands with them at any time," says I, "and it ever I has a chance of showin' them how much I thinks of them Bill Etty's the man as'll do it," says I." How much further his eloquence would have flowed on is unknown, for at this point the officer, without further ceremony, seized him and bundled him into the passage way. Here his brother policeman came to his aid, and a search on the cook's person revealed the three bottles and the further fact that far from being in a state approaching nudity, he was wearing no less than three shirts under his coat. The bottles were of course confiscated. The cook's subsequent comments on the N.W.M.P. were not in strict accord with those he had just enunciated but there was some slight excuse for the exuberance of his language owing to the indignity to which he had been subjected.

GROWING FOWLS NEED ATTENTION

Now is the Time That They Must be Most Carefully Looked After.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

At this time of the year, growing fowls require the most careful attention. Many poultry keepers are in the habit of letting the chickens take care of themselves after the first few weeks, but until they are three of four months old, it is essential that every care should be taken. A little neglect may ruin a very promising youngster. The aim of the poultry-keeper should be to keep the chickens steadily growing from the time they leave the shell to maturity, and this can only be accomplished by the strictest attention to every one of the many details on which successful chicken rearing depends. See that the coops are well ventilated, and that they are regularly and thoroughly cleared. Avoid over-crowding at any cost, as more cases of retarded growth and actual loss can be traced to this cause than to any other.

It is a mistake to feed growing fowls solely on "dry" chick feed; much better results can be obtained by giving soft and "dry" food alternately. Vegetable food is essential, and chickens cannot be reared to the best advantage unless they have a grass run. Where, however, it is impossible for a grass run to be provided, vegetables must be given; but care must be taken that they are perfectly fresh, and renewed daily. If decayed vegetables are left about in the run, they will do much more harm than good. A great mistake, which many poultry-keepers make, is to keep their chickens in too close confinement. If strong, big birds are desired, it is essential that the chickens, after the first week or so, should be given a free range or an extensive grass run. Exercise is the finest thing in the world for growing fowls, and the birds that take the most exercise make the biggest and most vigorous adults.

A CLEANLY AGE

Twentieth Century Ideas Incline Toward Sanitation and Preventatives

Nowadays scientists believe that in cleanliness lies the secret of prevention of disease.

To prevent a disease, remove the cause.

Just as unclean habits breed many diseases, so careless habits will breed dandruff. Improper use of another's brushes, combs, etc., will surely cause dandruff, and, in time, will just as surely cause baldness.

It's microbic infection, nothing more nor less.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and causes hair to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is absolutely free from grease or other injurious substances.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

"Do you mean that you're in love with her?" asked the man at the window without shifting his position. It seemed that utter indifference was in his question, although where the light shone on his hands, tight clinched behind his back, they were bloodless.

"Love her? Well—that depends—ha! You know how it is," he chuckled coarsely. His face was gross and bestial. "I've got the judge where I want him, and I'll have her"—

His miserable words died with a gurgle, for McNamara had silently leaped and throttled him where he sat, pinning him to the wall. Glenister saw the big politician shift his fingers slightly on Struve's throat and then drop his left hand to his side, holding his victim writhing and helpless with his right despite the man's frantic struggles. McNamara's head was thrust forward from his shoulders, peering into the lawyer's face. Struve tore ineffectually at the iron arm which was squeezing his life out, while for endless minutes the other leaned his weight against him, his idle hand behind his back, his legs braced like stone columns as he watched his victim's struggles abate.

Struve fought and wrenched while his breath caught in his throat with horrid, sickening sounds, but gradually his eyes rolled farther and farther back till they stared out of his blackened visage, straight up toward the ceiling, toward the hole through which Glenister peered. His struggles lessened, his chin sagged, and his tongue protruded, then he sat loose and still. The politician flung him out into the room so that he fell limply upon his face, then stood watching him. Finally, McNamara passed out of the watcher's vision, returning with a water bucket. With his foot he rolled the unconscious wretch upon his back, then drenched him. Replacing the pail, he seated himself, lit a cigar and watched the return of life into his victim. He made no move, even to drag him from the pool in which he lay.

Struve groaned and shuddered, twisted to his side, and at last sat upweakly. In his eyes there was now a great terror, while in place of his drunkenness was only fear and faintness—abject fear of the great bulk that sat and smoked and stared at him so fishily. He felt uncertainly of his throat and groaned again.

"Why did you do that?" he whispered, but the other made no sign. He tried to rise, but his knees relaxed. He staggered and fell. At last he gained his feet and made for the door. Then, when his hand was on the knob, McNamara spoke through his teeth, without removing his cigar.

"Don't ever talk about her again. She is going to marry me."

When he was alone, he looked curiously up at the ceiling over his head. "The rats are thick in this shack," he mused. "Seems to me I heard a whole

A few moments later a figure crept through the hole in the roof of the house next door and thence down into the street. A block ahead was the slow moving form of Attorney Struve. Had a stranger met them both he would not have known which of the two had felt at his throat the clutch of a strangler, for each was drawn and haggard and swayed as he went.

Glenister unconsciously turned toward his cabin, but at leaving the lighted streets the thought of its darkness and silence made him shudder. Not now! He could not bear that stillness and the company of his thoughts. He dared not be alone. Dextry would be downtown undoubtedly, and he, too, must get into the light and turmoil. He licked his lips and found that they were cracked and dry.

At rare intervals during the past years he had staggered in from a long march where for hours he had waged a bitter war with cold and hunger, his limbs clumsy with fatigue, his garments wet and stiff, his mind slack and sullen. At such extreme seasons he had felt a consuming thirst, a thirst which burned and scorched until his very bones cried out feverishly—not a thirst for water or a thirst which eaten snow could quench, but a savage yearning of his whole exhausted system for some stimulant, for some coursing fiery fluid that would burn and strangle, a thirst for whisky, for brandy! Remembering these occasional ferocious desires, he had become charitable to such unfortunates as were too weak to withstand similar temptations.

Now with a shock he caught himself in the grip of a thirst as insistent as though the cold bore down and the weariness of endless heavy miles wrapped him about. It was no foolish wish to drown his thoughts or to banish the grief that preyed upon him, but only thirst, thirst—a crying, trembling, physical lust to quench the fires that burned inside. He remembered that it had been more than a year since he had tasted whisky. Now the fever of the past few hours had parched his every tissue.

As he elbowed in through the crowd at the Northern those next him made room at the bar, for they recognized the hunger that peers thus from men's faces. Their manner recalled Glenister to his senses, and he wrenched himself away. This was not some solitary, snow banked roadhouse. He would not stand and soak himself shoulder to shoulder with stevedores and longshoremen. This was something to be done in secret. He had no pride in it. The man on his right raised a glass, and the young man strangled a madness to tear it from his hands. Instead, he hurried back to the theater and up to a box, where he drew the curtains.

"Whisky!" he said thickly to the waiter. "Bring it to me fast. Don't you hear? Whisky!"

Across the theater Cherry Malotte had seen him enter and jerk the curtains together. She arose and went to him, entering without ceremony.

"What's the matter, boy?" she questioned.

"Ah, I'm glad you came. Talk to me."

"Thank you for your few well chosen remarks," she laughed. "Why don't you ask me to spring some good, original jokes? You look like the finish to a six day go-as-you-please. What's up?"

She talked to him for a moment until the waiter entered. Then, when she saw what he bore, she snatched the glass from the tray and poured the whisky on the floor. Glenister was on his feet and had her by the wrist.

"What do you mean?" he said roughly.

"It's whisky, boy," she cried, "and you don't drink!"

"Of course it's whisky! Bring me another!" he shouted at the attendant.

"What's the matter?" Cherry insisted. "I never saw you act so. You know you don't drink. I won't let you. It's booze—booze, I tell you, fit for fools and brawlers. Don't drink it, Roy. Are you in trouble?"

"I say I'm thirsty—and I will have it! How do you know what it is to smolder inside and feel your veins burn dry?"

"It's something about that girl," the woman said, with quiet conviction. "She's double crossed you."

—well, so she has, but what of it? I'm thirsty. She's going to marry McNamara. I've been a fool." He ground his teeth and reached for the drink with which the boy had returned.

"McNamara is a crook, but he's a man, and he never drank a drop in his life." The girl said it casually, evenly, but the other stopped the glass halfway to his lips.

"Well, what of it? Go on. You're good at W. C. T. U. talk. Virtue becomes you."

She flushed, but continued: "It simply occurred to me that if you aren't strong enough to handle your own throat, you're not strong enough to beat a man who has mastered his."

Glenister looked at the whisky a moment, then set it back on the tray.

"Bring two lemonades," he said, and with a laugh which was half a sob Cherry Malotte leaned forward and kissed him.

"You're too good a man to drink. Now, tell me all about it."

"Oh, it's too long! I've just learned that the girl is in, hand and glove, with the judge and McNamara—that's all. She's an advance agent—their lookout. She brought in their instructions to Struve and persuaded Dex and me to let them jump our claim. She got us to trust in the law and in her uncle. Yes, she hypnotized my property out of me and gave it to her lover, this ward politician. Oh, she's smooth, with all her innocence! Why, when she smiles, she makes you glad and good and warm, and her eyes are as honest and clear as a mountain pool, but she's wrong—she's wrong—and—great God! how I love her!" He dropped his face into his hands.

When she had pleaded with him for himself a moment before Cherry Malotte was genuine and girlish, but now as he spoke thus of the other woman a change came over her which he was too disturbed to note. She took on the subtleness that masked her as a rule, and her eyes were not pleasant.

"I could have told you all that and more."

"More! What more?" he questioned.

"Do you remember when I warned you and Dextry that they were coming to search your cabin for the gold? Well, that girl put them on to you. I found it out afterward. She keeps the keys to McNamara's safety vault where your dust lies, and she's the one who handles the judge. It isn't McNamara at all." The woman lied easily, fluently, and the man believed her.

"You've too good a man to drink."

"Do you remember when they broke into your safe and took that money?"

"Yes."

"Well, what made them think you had $10,000 in there?"

"I don't know."

"I do. Dextry told her."

Glenister arose. "That's all I want to hear now. I'm going crazy. My mind aches, for I've never had a fight like this before and it hurts. You see, I've been an animal all these years. When I wanted to drink, I drank, and what I wanted, I got, because I've been strong enough to take it. This is new to me. I'm going downstairs now and try to think of something else—then I'm going home."

When he had gone she pulled back the curtains and, leaning her chin in her hands, with elbows on the ledge, gazed down upon the crowd. The show was over and the dance had begun, but she did not see it, for she was thinking rapidly with the eagerness of one who sees the end of a long and weary search. She did not notice the Bronco Kid beckoning to her or the man with him, so the gambler brought his friend along and invaded her box. He introduced the man as Mr. Champlan.

"Do you feel like dancing?" the newcomer inquired.

"No; I'd rather look on. I feel sociable. You're a society man, Mr. Champlan. Don't you know anything of interest? Scandal or the like?"

"Can't say that I do. My wife attends to all that for the family. But I know there's lots of it. It's funny to me the airs some of these people assume up here, just as though we weren't all equal, north of fifty-three. I never heard the like."

"Anything new and exciting?" inquired Bronco, mildly interested.

"The last I heard was about the judge's niece, Miss Chester."

Cherry Malotte turned abruptly, while the Kid slowly lowered the front legs of his chair to the floor.

"What was it?" she inquired.

"Why, it seems she compromised herself pretty badly with this fellow Glenister coming up on the steamer last spring. Mighty brazen, according to my wife. Mrs. Champlan was on the same ship and says she was horribly shocked."

Ah! Glenister had told her only half the tale, thought the girl. The truth was baring itself. At that moment Champlan thought she looked the typical creature of the dance halls, the crafty, jealous, malevolent adventuress.

"And the hussy masquerades as a lady," she sneered.

"She is a lady," said the Kid. He sat bolt upright and rigid, and the knuckles of his clinched hands were very white. In the shadow they did not note that his dark face was ghastly, nor did he say more except to bid Champlan goodby when he left, later on. After the door had closed, however, the Kid arose and stretched his muscles, not languidly, but as though to take out the cramp of long tension. He wet his lips, and his mouth was so dry that the sound caused the girl to look up.

"What are you grinning at?" Then, as the light struck his face, she started. "My, how you look! What ails you? Are you sick?" No one, from Dawson down, had seen the Bronco Kid as he looked tonight.

"No; I'm not sick," he answered in a cracked voice.

Then the girl laughed harshly.

"Do you love that girl too? Why, she's got every man in town crazy!"

She wrung her hands, which is a bad sign in a capable person, and as Glenister crossed the floor below in her sight she said, "Ah-h—I could kill him for that!"

"So could I," said the Kid and left her without adieu.

CHAPTER XIII.

FOR a long time Cherry Malotte sat quietly thinking, removed by her mental stress to such an infinite distance from the music and turmoil beneath that she was conscious of it only as a formless clamor. She had tipped a chair back against the door, wedging it beneath the knob so that she might be saved from interruption, then flung herself into another seat and stared unseeingly. As she sat thus and thought and schemed harsh and hateful lines seemed to eat into her face. Now and then she moaned impatiently, as though fearing lest the strategy she was plotting might prove futile; then she would rise and pace her narrow quarters. She was unconscious of time and had spent perhaps two hours thus when amid the buzz of talk in the next compartment she heard a name which caused her to start, listen, then drop her preoccupation like a mantle. A man was speaking of Glenister. Excitement thrilled his voice.

"I never saw anything like it since McMaster's night in Virginia City, thirteen years ago. He's right."

"Well, perhaps so," the other replied doubtfully, "but I don't care to back you. I never 'staked' a man in my life."

"Then lend me the money. I'll pay it back in an hour, but for heaven's sake be quick. I tell you he's as right as a golden guinea. It's the lucky night of his life. Why, he turned over the black jack game in four bets. In fifteen minutes more we can't get close enough to a table to send in our money with a messenger boy—every sport in camp will be here."

"I'll stake you to fifty," the second man replied, in a tone that showed a trace of his companion's excitement.

So Glenister was gambling, the girl learned, and with such luck as to break the black jack game and excite the greed of every gambler in camp. News of his winnings had gone out into the street, and the sporting men were coming to share his fortune, to fatten like vultures on the adversity of their fellows. Those who had no money to stake were borrowing, like the man next door.

She left her retreat and, descending the stairs, was greeted by a strange sight. The dance hall was empty of all but the musicians, who blew and fiddled lustily in vain endeavor to draw from the rapidly swelling crowd that thronged the gambling room and stretched to the door. The press was thickest about a table midway down the hall. Cherry could see nothing of what went on there, for men and women stood ten deep about it and others perched on chairs and tables along the walls. A roar arose suddenly, followed by utter silence; then came the clink and rattle of silver. A moment and the crowd resumed its laughter and talk.

"All down, boys," sounded the level voice of the dealer. "The field or the favorite. He's made eighteen straight passes. Get your money on the line." There ensued another breathless instant wherein she heard the thud of dice; then followed the shout of triumph that told what the spots revealed. The dealer paid off. Glenister reared himself head and shoulders above the others and pushed out through the ring to the roulette wheel. The rest followed. Behind the circular table they had quitted, the dealer was putting away his dice, and there was not a coin in his rack. Mexico Mullins approached Cherry, and she questioned him.

"He just broke the crap game," Mullins told her. "Nineteen passes without losing the bones."

"How much did he win?"

"Oh, he didn't win much himself, but it's the people betting with him that does the damage! They're gamblers, most of them, and they play the limit. He took out the black jack bank roll first, $4,000, then cleaned the 'Tub.' By that time the tin horns began to come in. It's the greatest run I ever see."

"Did you get in?"

"Now, don't you know that I never play anything but 'hank'? If he lasts long enough to reach the faro layout, I'll get mine."

The excitement of the crowd began to infect the girl, even though she looked on from the outside. The exultant voices, the sudden hush, the tensity of nerve it all betokened, set her a-thrill. A stranger left the throng and rushed to the spot where Cherry and Mexico stood talking. He was small and sandy, with shifting glance and chinless jaw. His eyes glittered, his teeth shone ratlike through his dry lips, and his voice was shrill. He darted toward them like some furtive, frightened little animal, unnaturally excited.

"I guess that isn't so bad for three bets!" He shook a sheaf of banknotes at them.

"Why don't you stick?" inquired Mullins.

"I am too wise. Ha! I know when to quit. He can't win steady—he don't play any system."

"Then he has a good chance," said the girl.

"There he goes now," the little man cried as the uproar arose. "I told you he'd lose." At the voice of the multitude he wavered as though affected by some powerful magnet.

"But he won again," said Mexico.

"No! Did he? Lord! I quit too soon!"

He scampered back into the other room, only to return, hesitating, his money tightly clutched.

"Do you s'pose it's safe? I never saw a man bet so reckless. I guess I'd better quit, eh?" He noted the sneer on the woman's face, and without waiting a reply dashed off again. They saw him clamorously fight his way in toward a post at the roulette table. "Let me through! I've got money, and I want to play it!"

To be continued next Saturday.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 61, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

A LEAP YEAR VISION

Can I forget that winter night
In eighteen eighty-four,
When Nellie, charming little sprite,
Came tapping at the door?
"Good evening, miss," I blushing said,
For in my heart I knew—
And, knowing, hung my pretty head—
That Nellie came to woo.

She clasped my big red hand, and fell
Adown upon her knees,
And cried: "You know I love you well,
So be my husband please!"
And then she swore she'd ever be
A tender wife and true—
Ah, what delight it was to me
That Nellie came to woo.

She'd lace my shoes and darn my hose,
And mend my shirts, she said,
And grease my comely Roman nose
Each night on going to bed;
She'd built the fires and fetch the coal,
And split the kindling, too—
Love's perjuries o'er whelmed her soul
When Nellie came to woo.

And as I, blushing, gave no check
To her advance rash,
She twined her arms around my neck
And toyed with my moustache;
And then she pleaded for a kiss,
While I—what could I do
But coyly yield me to that bliss
When Nellie came to woo.

I am engaged, and proudly wear
A georgeous diamond ring,
And I shall wed my lover fair
Some time in gentle spring.
I face my doom without a sigh—
And so, forsooth, would you,
If you but loved as fond as I,
And Nellie came to woo.

THE INCANDESCENT LAMP

The New Tungsten Lamp Gives Three Times as Much Light for Same Cost as Carbon Filament Lamps

PROGRESS MADE ALREADY

(Electric News Service.)

Schenectady, N.Y., July 14.—Love of light is the greatest heritage of the human soul. And since primeval man sat in the glow of the smapping camp fire, every age has sought to improve on the methods of dispelling the darkness between sundown and sunrise.

As a rule, writers of history confine themselves to the most important details and events, and readers are too prone to associate the people of the past with the conveniences of the present.

Few realize that previous to the invention of the tallow-dip by King Alfred, the interiors of Saxon castles and banquet halls in England were lighted with torches held in iron sockets on the walls. Of course, they smoked and flickered, and it is written that the wind blew the sparks all over the room. In ancient Rome and Greece the torch was the standard method of illuminating buildings and streets, although lamps burning fat from a rush wick were extensively used.

The advent of gas lights was quickly overshadowed by the discovery of petroleum. And then, after thousands of years of groping about in almost absolute darkness, the electric light, discovered only about a score of years ago, gave the nearest substitute to actual sunlight known to man.

Since then great strides have been made in artificial lighting, until only a few days ago the scientists announced the new tungsten electric light, which is predestined to revolutionize electric lighting.

The light from the new tungsten incandescent lamps is pure white and is very closely allied to natural sunshine. It is the first artificial illuminant by which all colours can be distinguished. Colour is an ocular conception. Without light there is no colour. Red is red only because it has the quality of absorbing all other colours of the spectrum and reflecting the red rays. Artificial lights in which the yellow, violet or red rays predominate, cannot be used to match colours. Under the clear white light of the tungsten lamps violet is not blue, pink is not red, and blue is not black, as when looked at under any other kind of artificial light. The most delicate tints show clear and true.

Tungsten, or Wolfram, is a metal discovered in 1781 and named from the Swedish "tung" (heavy) and "sten" (stone). It is not found native, but occurs as tungstate of iron and manganese (in the mineral "wolframite") and as the calcium tungstate. The pure metal, which was produced only a few months ago in the electric furnace, is a bright steel gray, a hard and brittle crystalline substance. It is also used to increase the temper and tenacity of steel for hard tools. The fusing point of tungsten is higher than any other metal, which enables it to operate at the very high efficiency obtained in the tungsten lamp.

Tungsten lamps are made on the same principle as the common incandescent lamps. They look about the same but the filament is longer, looped several times in the glass bulb and anchored at both ends.

It is not alone because the tungsten lamps give a better quality of light than any other artificial illuminant that it takes first place in the lighting world. But this new lamp is the perfection of economy and will give three times as much light as the ordinary electric light for the same amount of money.

The ordinary incandescent light consumes 3-8 watts of electricity per candle-power. The new tungsten lamp consumes only 1.2 watts, or less than a third. This means that with the same amount of illumination the electric light bills are reduced two-thirds. The life of these lamps is about 1,000 hours and they work equally as well on direct or alternating current.

Every effort in the laboratories of the electrical industry is bent towards economy for both producer and consumer. The latest development in electric light, which will save two-thirds of all the electric light bills is but another long step in the right direction.

GOIN' FISHING

Goin' fishing? Guess I will;
Kinder think there'll be
All kinds of fishes great and small
Downstream near that old oak tree.

The weather's hot, jes, scorching hot,
And I'm all "het up" too
So guess I'll take a holiday and see what I can do.

"Gee Whiz"! it's great to sit (and dream
Beside the laughing brook,
An' watch the fishes jumping
As they try to take yer' hook!

And when you hook a great big trout
It kinder makes you thrill
To feel him pulling "mighty hard",
"That's when he tries your skill"!

Them city-folks all call me "Rube"
Cos' I act simple-like
They say I don't know anything,
Can't even ride a "bike".

But whene it comes to fishin'
"I tell you what", they're mad
When I come back with lots of fish
An' they can't "ketch" a shad.

You see I know the place to go
And how to bait my hook
I'm simple, but "you bet yer life"
I know this little brook.

WOULD-YOU-LIKE-TO-READ-THE-STORY OF-THE FURNACE?

Just write on a post-card, "Send Booklet A," and mail to nearest branch. The rest we'll gladly attend to.

—Just how correct principles say it should be constructed?

—Just why no other plan of construction will do?

—Just wherein lies its ability to be easy on fuel, quick in action, simple in operation?

The story is briefly told in a little booklet called "Furnace Facts." It's not an advertisement. No furnace name is mentioned, and you can read the whole story in 5 minutes.

To the party contemplating purchasing a furnace it points out the snags and pitfalls, and shows exactly what to demand of an architect, contractor or dealer, in furnace construction and installation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

(The questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club for Sunday, July 26th, are as follows:—

Saul rejected by the Lord—I. Sam. xv: 13-28.

(Read chapters 13, 14 and 15.)

(Golden Text:—The Lord our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.. Josh. xxiv:24.

Verse 13—What had God commanded Saul in the matter of the war with the Amalekites, and how had Saul disobeyed? (Verses 1-12.)

How can you justify God for commanding this wholesome slaughter of men, women, children and animals? (This question must be answereed in writing by members of the club, but do not attempt the answer without thorough inquiry and investigation.)

(Did Saul know that he was lying to Samuel?

Is a lie ever justifiable, or ever necessary, either from a human or Divine standpoint?

May a person be guilty of continuous sin, lie to cover up his tracks, and succeed in deceiving himself that he is very pious?

Verses 14, 15—May a person, like Saul, be very religious and practise sin, without the "bleating of the sheep" being heard by his neighbours?

Is a professed Christian generally rated at his true moral worth by his fellows?

If a man keeps part of God's commandments and breaks the rest, does God give him any credit? Why or why not?

Is a professed Christian who knowingly breaks any of God's commandments, any better than the ordinary sinner?

Verse 16—Does God to-day ever give one person a revelation of another person's true character?

Verse 17—Does worthy advancement generally make good men better, and bad men worse, or what is its moral and spiritual tendency?

Verses 18, 19—What was Saul's real motive in disobeying God?

Is "graft," that is a man enriching himself from a public position, ever right?

Verses 20, 21—Which is the guiltier, to do a bad thing, or to put it off on some other person when it is done?

Verses 22, 23—How does God value prayers, or worship, of one who is living in known sin?

Does secret sin in a man's life, have any effect on the success of his business or profession?

Verses 24-28—Was Saul sorry because he had sinned, or because he had been found out and was suffering the painful results?

If a man quits sinning and turns to God, because his sin is hurting him, will God accept him?

Lesson for Sunday, Aug. 2nd, 1908—David anointed in Bethlehem. I Sam. xvi: 4-13.

Wit and Wisdom

Nothing would be a lesson to us if it did not come too late.

To ease one aanother's heartaches is to forget our own.

Those whom sorrow has visited can best understand the meaning of joy.

Every human being is intended to have a character of his own, to be what no other is, to do what no other can.

Let us labour to make the heart grow larger as we become older, as the spreading oak gives more shelter.

False shame is the devil's pet weapon. He does more work with it even than with false pride; for with false pride he only goads evil but with false shame paralyses good.

Sympathy is the grandest word in the world. It overcomes evil and strengthens good; it disarms resistance, melts the hardest hearts, and draws out the better part of human nature.

The hardest of all ordeals for an honest man is to stand arraigned at the bar of his own conscience. He knows more than the keenest counsel, the most vindictive enemy could urge for a verdict of guilty.

The onnly real happiness in thics
The only real happiness in this life directly from honest, hard work.

The one thing that is never too big for a man to carry is the good opinion of himself.

There's a good many grades of the simple life and most everybody is trying to live the upper one.

The friends that wealth makes are as the quicksands, but the friends of poverty are like the fixed stars in the heaven.

"Who gave the bride away?" "Her little brother. He stood up in the midle of the ceremony, and yelled—"Hurrah, Fanny, you've got him at last!"

"What is the most aggravating thing in married life?" asked Dorothy. "Sometimes," said the bachelor friend, "it's the husband, and sometimes it's the wife."

Henceforth the young lady who wishes the tear of sentiment to linger on her long silken eyelashes need not despair, even though nature has been penurious towards her in that poetic particular. Transplanting eyelashes is the newest profession. By right it ought to have been originated in the same locality as the extensible cartilage; but Paris and London have stolen a march on us.

This shows the Fused Joint idea in
"Hecla" Furnaces

No dust can escape through "Hecla" Fused Joints. They are absolutely tight and will remain so. That is what makes the "Hecla" the safest and most sanitary furnace to buy. It supplies only pure and fresh warm air, without a trace of gas or dust.

The "Hecla" is economical in the consumption of fuel. The Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots, which have twice as much radiating surface as any other style of fire pot, draw a great deal of heat from the fire that in other furnaces would be sent out of the chimney.

Our catalogue tells more about these and other exclusive features of "Hecla" construction. 59

Are We Happiest In Summer?

IT'S THE SUNSHINE THAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

In spite of many disappointments due to days bereft of sunshine and the constant uninvited intrusions at picnics and garden parties of thunderstorms and biting winds, the fact remains that summer possesses a magic all its own, and has a mysterious power of raising low spirits, or smoothing away wrinkles, and even of showing us the silver lining of its own clouds.

The man who rises in winter to dress by candlelight, sits down to breakfast half numbed with cold, and has his endurance further tested by a comfortless journey in 'bus or train, finds his cheerfulness—like the thermometer—sinking below zero.

In these circumstances he is not likely to regard the world in a more agreeable light than as a place for strenuous effort, for work in its dullest aspect, nor to feel his heart glowing with benevolence towards his fellow-beings.

A fog is apt to communicate its own qualities of gloom to the unfortunate creatures groping in its shadows, and on such occasions optimists have a trying time, especially as their resolute happiness receives little encouragement from unappreciative friends, who ungratefully prefer genuine depression to sham cheerfulness.

A man's attitude towards life is much like his attitude towards his cold tub. In summer, it seems delicious luxury; in winter—well, at least—an unpleasant duty.

Love-Making Comes Naturally

There is the winter face and the summer face, both well known to any observer who travels regularly by omnibus or tram, or is often in the places where people congregate without the social obligation of making themselves ageable.

The one is grim, "dour," misanthropic; the other is smiling, tolerant, overflowing with spontaneous charity. The man who gives you five pounds now without being asked for it, will probably, in a few months, decline to lend five shillings—even to his best friend.

Love-making comes much more naturally in summer than in winter. The seaside girl is just as pretty when the snow is on the ground, but no one ever raves about her then. The river girl does not die with the forget-me-nots and water lilies, but in her unchronicled December phase her fascinations appear to be without effect.

A fire has more attractions than any lover in chilly weather, and charming human angels stay in the house to read and work, instead of wandering forth to snare the hearts of susceptible youths. Outside there is no temptation to linger in leafy lanes on quiet corners, and evening—the mystic hour for romantic souls—is bereft of all its many possibilities.

All the love-poetry ever written tells of the time when flowers are in the grass, and birds are singing, and maidens wear muslin frocks and bewitching hats with shady brims.

Enjoy the Golden Moments

It is true, of course, that marriages sometimes take place in the winter, but no dreaming girl, asking her fate from the ox-eyed daisies in the meadow, ever imagined such a contingency.

A wedding, when the bridesmaids' noses are blue and the bride's teeth chatter as she enters the church porch; a honeymoon, without sunshine and flowers, are miserable and unsatisfactory travesties of these supreme events of life.

Winter holidays are not what people work for. They do not think of going away at Christmas and enjoying themselves in some absurb, but delightful fashion.

It is not then that mothers renew their youth, playing with their little ones on the sands in the clover fields, and fathers forget the income tax, influenza, and the difficulties of making both ends meet. It is not then that chronic grumblers are silent, and the wail of the unemployed, the suffragette and others of their kind ceases to be heard in the land.

All these miracles happen in summer even though the weather should be spiteful enough at times to try the patience of anything less optimistic than an English holiday crowd.

Let us enjoy the golden moments of summer while they are with us, for now is the time in which we can lay in our stock of courage, cheerfulness, and resolution for the coming winter.

Only too soon we shall be talking about next summer as we shiver under a cold January blast, imagining and longing for all its glorious possibilities.—London Paper.

FINALE.

We've pored vacation folders through—
We've traced the lakes and Georgian Bay—
Investigated Long Branch, too.
And found what others have to say—
We've bothered Travel Bureaus some,
And got the rates to every point,
Till agents hate to see us come—
We've put their tempers out of joint!
We've doped the situation, good.
From folder, picture ads. and card,
And now decide (I knew we would!)
To spend the week in our back yard.

NOT to discriminate but we will add that June grobms, too, have reached the stage where they hunt through their think dome for an excuse for lingering at the corner store a little later in the evening.

THE SPRINKLER

Sprinkle, sprinkle, water cart,
How I wonder what thou art;
Never can I find you nigh
When the dust is deep and dry.

When the clouded sun is set,
And the streets with rain are wet,
Then you wing your little flight,
Sprinkle, sprinkle left and right.

When the crossing, Sunday clean,
Full of well-dressed folks are seen,
Men, amid their shrieks and oaths,
How you sprinkle all their clothes.

And when bright my boots are "shined,"
And my hands in kids confined,
Battling down the thirsty street,
How you soak my hands and feet.

Some day, when this deed is done,
I will draw my trusty gun,
Then we'll wonder where thou art,
Buckshot sprinkled water cart.

THE TORTURES WOMEN SUFFER

Can be Relieved by Keeping the Blood Supply Rich With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

A woman needs a blood building medicine regularly just because she is a woman. From maturity to middle life, the health and happiness of every woman depends upon her blood, its richness and its regularity. If her blood is poor and watery she is weak, languid, pale and nervous. If her blood supply is irregular she suffers from headaches, backaches, sideaches and the other unspeakable distresses which only women know. Some women have grown to expect this suffering at regular intervals and to bear it in hopeless silence. But women would escape much of this misery if they took a box or two of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to help them over each critical period. These Pills actually make new blood. They help a woman just when nature makes the greatest demand upon her blood supply. They have done this for thousands of women throughout Canada, why not for you?

Mrs. Joseph Kinney, Gilbert's Cove, N.S., says: — "For ten years I suffered from nervousness and those troubles that make the lives of so many women one of almost constant misery. At times I would be confined to my bed for weeks. I spent sleepless nights and seemed to lose all courage. I tried several doctors but they failed to give me any relief. The last doctor I consulted told me frankly that he could not undertake my case unless I would undergo an examination. It was then I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. After taking six boxes I was much improved in health, but I continued to take the Pills for a couple of months more when I felt like a new woman, and was enjoying such health as I had not experienced for ten years before. I have had no return of this trouble since, but I have used the Pills once since that time for the after-effects of la grippe and the result was all I hoped for. These are plain facts from my own experience and I have always felt that I cannot too strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the many women who suffer as I did."

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FRED SIMPSON'S SHOWING WAS MOST CREDITABLE AFTER ALL; WAS FIRST FAVOURITE HOME

The great Marathon race, regarded as the titbit of all the Olympic events, is over and the result, from a Canadian view point, is decidedly disappointing. The Canadians did well in getting fifth, sixth and seventh places, but it was regarded here as a certainty that Canada would annex the big race, and that it did not do so is a source of much regret. With the splendid brigade of long distance runners which Canada sent over, with Longboat, the wonderful Indian, who had travelled 25 miles in a fraction under 2.25 at Boston, reported to be in the best shape of his life, it is not to be wondered at that Canada confidently expected to win the event. But Longboat failed and collapsed after going 20 miles, and in the lead, while the others of Canada's dozen were fighting their way along somewhere in the rear.

It was a disappointing race to those who dope out results on form. The first flight were all dark horses, with the possible exception of the ultimate winner, John F. Hayes, who was regarded even by his countrymen as having very little chance. Durando, the Italian, who crossed the line first, was never thought of, and Hefernon, the South African, had few supporters, except from his own country. Forshaw and Walton, the two Americans, who came next, were not counted on, nor was Wood, who was sixth, considered to be the best of Canada's representatives.

The men who went down in the desperate race, or who struggled in after the leaders, were the runners who were picked to have the best chance. Duncan, Lord, Jack, Price and Appleby, England's pride; Longboat, Simpson and the other Canadian cracks; Jas. P. Morrissey, who won the Boston Marathon this year, and Sidney Hatch, of Chicago, whom America called to win the race, all these men were killed off; in fact, Fred Simpson, of the local Y. M. C.A. Harriers, who came sixth, was the nearest to the top of any of these favourites.

We in Peterborough are disappointed, perhaps, that our representative did not win the classical event, but when the fact is considered that what was regarded as the very cream of long distance runners from all over the world were defeated by dark horses, we get a little consolation. As far as can be gathered from the cabled reports, the Indian seems to have run of his characteristic races. As in Hamilton last fall and in the two Ontario trials this year, Simpson seemed to have allowed the leaders to go away from him at the start, and then when it was too late started out in pursuit of them. He finished in the Stadium yesterday like a whirlwind, the strongest of any of the competitors, and he had mowed down twelve men in the last five miles. It was apparently the old trouble of lack of speed and aggressiveness in the earlier part of the race. His time was very slow compared to that made in the trial two weeks ago, when he covered twenty miles of the same course in 1.57.

However, Peterborough's representative did splendidly and may call himself the sixth best runner in the world. To come sixth in a field of over fifty gathered from all quarters of the globe, is a most creditable achievement, and Peterborough may well be proud of his showing. He trimmed such world famous runners as Duncan, English champion; Sidney Hutch, Jas. P. Morrissey, of the United States; Lawson and the other Canadians, who had previously beaten him, and was, as has been said, the first man of all those selected by the dopsters to win, to finish.

THE FIRST FIVE CHEESE BOARD SALES BRING ABOUT $164,000

That Amount of Money Already Distributed Among the Farmers of Peterborough County---17,470 Boxes Boarded.

COMPARED WITH LAST YEAR

That the dairy industry in Peterborough county is a profitable one cannot be disputed. The farmers of this district are making money out of this vast asset, which appears to be yet only well begun. These statements are substantiated by the figures from the first five sales on the Peterborough Cheese Board, which show prosperity on the farm, and illustrate the large amount of money distributed through here in a little more than two months.

At these sales 17,470 cheese were boarded, which represent in the neighbourhood of a million and a half pounds. Figuring at 11 cents per pound, which is an under average, that quantity would be approximately worth $164,000, all of which is distributed among many of Peterborough County's most prosperous farmers. At the various sales 979,2,643, 4,561, 4,874 and 4,413 cheese were boarded. The highest prices were respectively 10 13-16, 10 15-16, 11 5-16, 11 9-16, and 11 3-4, showing a gradual increase.

In 1907 a comparison shows that at the first five sales the quantity of cheese boarded was 809, 2,987, 3,918, 4,316 and 5,000, making a total of 17,030, or 440 less than last year. The best prices last year for the first five sales were 11 1-2, 11 5-8, 11 5-16 and 11 5-16.

HISTORIC MOUNDS OF NORTH AMERICA'S FIRST INHABITANTS THAT STAND ON THE BOUNDARIES OF THE BEAUTIFUL RICE LAKE

Described By David Boyle, The Widely Known Archæologist, Who Travelled Extensively Through Southern Portion of Otonabee Township----Mounds As Means of Defence----What They Contain.

HUMAN SKULL-SEEKERS USE THEIR SPADES ON THE SURFACE TO DIG

Mound Builders were a race of men who once inhabited North America, but of whom little is known. Perhaps the best evidence that they lived here is shown by their work in the mounds that have been thrown up here and there at various points throughout the country.

Otonabee township in the vicinity of Rice Lake is one of these favoured spots and in the provincial Archaeological report issued when the Hon. G W Ross was Minister of Education some interesting information is given by David Boyle, a well known geologist who travelled the Rice Lake regious extensively, his story is as follows:—

Last summer, my friend, Mr. H. T. Strickland of Peterborough directed attention to an embankment of considerable extent on a piece of property owned by himself and Mr. G W Hatton, on lot 7 concession 7, township of Otonabee, and which embankment Mr. Strickland believed to be of artificial origin. Notwithstanding my confidence in his judgment, it was not without more than a little misgiving that I visited the place, which is beautifully situated on Mizzra's Point, near the mouth of the Indian River, on the north shore of Rice Lake, about ten miles southeast of Peterborough. The situation is one of the most commanding on the shore, the land rising with a sharp acclivity to a height of not less than 70 or 80 feet from the water.

On the very crest of this point lies an embankment nearly 200 feet in length, in a generally easterly and westerly direction, one end pointing a few degrees north of east, and in line with an oval mount twenty three feet distant, the longer axis of which measures fifty, and the shorter axis thirty-seven feet. South of these, and just on the beginning of the slope, are several small mounds, and 136 feet north of the western end is a larger one, all of which will be referred to hereafter.

In view of the conclusion ultimately arrived at regarding the principal of these earthworks, it may appear strange that there should ever have been any doubt in my mind as to their origin, but this will be understood when it is stated that in the first place the conditions were wholly new to me so far as Ontario is concerned, if, indeed, the bank was not merely an interglacial drift, which I strongly suspected; that, in the second place, the outline of the works was somewhat disfigured by the promiscuous digging of persons in search of skulls, and finally, that in any event, stronger evidence was required to prove the artificial origin of the ridge and other elevations than was yielded by external appearances alone. Every one who has paid any attention to topographical features in those portions of the continent that betray glacial action most markedly, knows how frequently works of human origin are simulated (if it be allowable so to say) as a result of deposition or of denudation. A critical examination of the situation from the geological standpoint, resulted in the following conclusions: First, that as Mizzra's Point is itself of glacial origin, it would seem improbable that the banks and mounds on or near the crest of the slope, towards the lake could have been laid down with their longer axis across the line of deposition that formed the ground itself, on which they stand; second that for a similar reason, their existence could not be attributed to erosion or denudation, and, third, that no natural action could be held accountable for the fact that the ground immediately along the north side of the elevations is considerably lower than the general level. The apparently irregular shape of the long mound lent colour to the supposition that the formation was a natural one, and the presence of the egg shaped structure near its eastern extremity suggested a former connection between the two.

A Means of Defence

Whites, as well as Indians (Mississaugas), in the vicinity were agreed that the long mound had been thrown up as a means of defence against the Mohawks. This supposition implies a much longer period of Ojibwa occupation than we are warranted in acknowledging on historical grounds, but at any rate, the assumption is a baseless one, for the reason that, as a fortification it must have lacked completeness, the whole of the neighbouring area being accessible from the lake shore on the eastern and western sides of the point, besides which, the embankment exists where, on account of the steepness of the descent towards the water, such a work was less necessary than on the plain lying to the north.

The only reason for referring thus in detail to the conditions affecting the identification of the Otonabee earthworks is to impress upon readers the necessity that exists for the exercise of great caution before venturing the assertion that any bank

Beet Sugar Proved To Be Not Inferior To Cane Brand; Good News For Ontari

The popular delusion that beet sugar is not equal to that produced from cane has been frequently refuted, but many a housewife has been prejudiced against beet sugar because of the impression that it was inferior to cane sugar for preserving fruit, jellies, etc. A bulletin recently issued by the University of California giving results of many experiments with both kinds of sugar completely disproves this old-time prejudice. It says: "Several kinds of fruit were placed in cans in the ordinary manner, and stored in a rather unfavourable location for a period of two years, cans of each variety being opened from time to time to observe the change, if any. Of the 2,000 cans, which were thus treated, only six cans from the beet sugar lot and seven from the cane sugar lot spoiled during the two years, and these are evidently due to imperfect sealing of the cans, thus showing the utter lack of foundation for the idea that fruits do not keep well when preserved with beet sugar, and that such sugar does not work well in the cannery.

"In the household trials both apricots and peaches were canned in 40 per cent. syrup, fifty cans in each lot, the ordinary Mason jars being used as containers in each case. From these not a single can spoiled during the two-year period.

"In the jelly trials, apples and currants were used as the basis, equal quantities of juice and sugar being used, and the mixture boiled until of the right consistency to jell. The product in each case was as clear as it is possible for jelly to be, and not the slightest difficulty was experienced in the making of it.

"In connection with this work an attempt was made to trace numerous reports to the effect that fruit has been lost through the use of beet sugar, but in not a single case was found that the person so losing fruit positively knew that the sugar from the beet had been used."

CANOEIST IN TROUBLE IN A FOG THAT FALLS OVER STONY LAK

Makes Visit to Lady Friend—On Return Trip He Fails to Pierc the Overhanging Shadows— Spends Night on Unknown Roc

HOME IN THE MORNIN

Examiner Special

Stony Lake, July 25.—Alone on a bare granite rock in the vicinity of Hell's Gate, apparently thousands of miles from human habitation was the fate of a Peterborough young man during most of Tuesday night.

The unfortunate gentleman, spending his vacation with friends at their cottage near Burleigh Falls and left there early in the evening to spend a few hours with his affianced who is summering with relatives near Spook Island. He apparently did not notice that about ten o'clock a dense fog settled over the lake and islands, making navigation exceedingly difficult even to those familiar with the channels. This, however, did not present any terrors for this midnight canoeist who on leaving the wharf said he wasn't "afraid to come home in the dark." Little did he realize that it wasn't a question of bravery and that his chances of reaching home before daybreak were about one in ten. It will never be known how long he kept on his course, but long after he had lost all hope of reaching his destination he was suddenly given a rude jolt and landed high on a rock which presented the appearance of the Blue Mountains, yet in reality was about thirty square feet in area. However although small and barren it was the island, it looked good to the voyager and thanking the boat up safely he crawled in and awaited the coming of the day.

EXCURSION TO INDIAN RESERVE

Chemong People are Arranging for a Two Days Trip

The people of Chemong intend to run an excursion during the first week in September to Orillia, and on the first day across to the Rama reserve. The next day they intend to go to Georgina Island. The excursionists will have a concert at each of these Indian reserves, the first night at Rama town hall and next night at Georgina Island town hall. The route will be through Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Falls, Fenelon Falls, Cameron Lake, Rosedale, Balsam Lake and Kirkfield, where they lift lock is located, and twenty miles of canal from Balsam Lake to Lake Simcoe. The trip will be an enjoyable one and should be largely attended.

Actions of the Goverment Steamers on the Trent Canal

The Government steamer Bob Hall is now working on the Pigeon Creek near Omemee, assisting in the cleaning out of the channel there. The Bessie Butler is here awaiting the loading of a scow for Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls and Kirkfield and the Empire is still attending the dredge "Emmerson" below the Lakefield lock.

A drive belonging to the Peterborough Lumber Company has arrived at Little Lake and another, the property of the McDonald Estate, is just being run over the dam at Lakefield.

Laying Of Methodist Church Corner Stone An Important Event

Lakefield, July 25—Special — Wednesday was an epoch in the history of the Methodist Church in Lakefield, and will long be remembered by the congregation. The occasion was the laying of the corner stone of the new church, and the event attracted a large crowd of interested spectators. Shortly after three o'clock the ceremony commenced, Rev. H. M. Manning, Rev. John Bedford and Rev. S. S. Burns taking part. After singing and prayer, and a few words from the clergymen, the Hon. Geo. A. Cox, of Toronto, stepped forward and the corner stone was pronounced to be well and truly laid, a handsome silver trowel being used. Cut in the stone were the words, "G. A. Cox, 1908." The ceremony was a most impressive one and was followed with close attention by the large crowd present. After the ceremony a collection was taken up, the handsome sum of over twelve hundred dollars being realized. Of this amount the Hon. Geo. A. Cox generously contributed a cheque for $1,000. An adjournment was then made to the parsonage lawn, where the ladies of the congregation had a number of tables laid out and a most bountiful repast was served. In the evening a social was held and a most enjoyable time was spent in listening to music from the Citizens Band and vocal and musical selections. When completed the new church will be one of the most handsome edifices in this section, and one of which the congregation will feel justly proud.

Rev. Wm. Major Of All Saints For Montreal

Montreal, July 25.—Rev. William James Leonard Major, rector of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, Ont., has accepted the call to the assistant ministership of St. George's Parish Church, vacant by the departure of Rev. H. P. Plumptre for England. He will assume his duties on October 1st.

Rev. Mr. Major took orders at Toronto in 1896, was at Gore's Landing 1896-97, Cummington, 1897-1903, Trinity Church, Toronto, 1903-04. He became rector of All Saints, Peterborough, in 1904.

An Excursion From Rice Lake To Band Concert

The steamer Monarch last night brought up an excursion from Gore's Landing to the city to attend the band concert at Victoria Park. There was a fairly large attendance and everyone enjoyed the trip. Music and dancing were pleasant pastimes on the boat. The return trip was begun in good time to reach home as early as possible.

NO EVENING TRIPS TILL FRIDAY

On account of the absence of the Steamer Otonabee in the upper lakes there will be no evening trips until Friday, the 31st of July, when the steamer will leave at 8 o'clock, as usual. jd

Huckleberries Plentiful in the Back Country

"I never saw such a crop of huckleberries in all my life," is Mr. W A McIlmoyle's reference to the huckleberries which are ripening in rich profusion in the rocky districts to the north of the county. Mr. McIlmoyle was back as far as Pull Lake, above Bobcaygeon, on a fishing expedition. He was one of a party of eight, and as they had a launch with them they travelled extensively. Mr McIlmoyle got a few pails of the berries, and in fixing the party practically got their full allowance.

Brothers Leave to Recover Body of the Late Harry Whibbs

Messrs. Thos. E., and Augustine Whibbs left last night for McDougall's Chute, Nipissing, where their brother Harry Whibbs, was drowned in the Abitibi River. The latest despatch stated that the body has not yet been recovered, so that they will attempt the search. In case of finding it, the body will probably be brought home for burial.

Large Number of Campers Along Otonabee This Year

Rice Lake, July 25. — From Our Own Correspondent.—The fishing in the river and lake is fine at present, and the early morning fishermen are having all kinds of luck. The bass in different places are beginning to show themselves, and the still fishing has greatly improved.

There are at present an unusually large number of campers along the Otonabee, more, in fact, than during any other year. They are found as far down as Jubilee, and camping seems to be more popular than ever. The summer resorts on the lake are filling up well and keep about the same number of boarders.

Mr. Arthur Fuller returned to the city last night after several weeks holidays at Jubilee. He was quite successful in the fishing.

Messrs. Bessie and Ernie Mitchell spent the latter part of the week at Jubilee. They had their launch with them.

Messrs. Harry Quinlan, Vincent Sullivan, and Herb and Frank Hickey who have enjoyed a ten days' holiday at "Cosy Nook" cottage, Rice Lake returned home last night. They got their complement of fish, Mr. Quinlan landing a lunge that weighed 13 1-2 lbs.

Double Drowning Narrowly Averted On Sturgeon Lake

Lindsay, July 25—Special—At the early hour of 5.45 yesterday morning a tragedy was narrowly averted at a spot about a mile north of Sturgeon Point Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Fisher, of town, who are occupying their cottage at the summer resort, were the parties whose safety was sorely threatened. They arose at 5 o'clock to go fishing in a canoe, and after paddling about a mile a large muskalonge took the bait. When almost up to the boat the fish plunged under the canoe and then something happened. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher found themselves struggling in the water on opposite sides of the boat about a quarter of a mile from shore.

They were rescued by Mr. D Cinnamon and his nephews who happened to be near the scene of the accident.

THE RIGHTS OF MUNICIPALITIES.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company sought to obtain a franchise along a highway which is the boundary between the city of Winnipeg and an adjacent rural municipality. The application was resisted by both corporations. It seems probable that the Canadian Northern Railway and the Canadian Pacific Railway were interested in this application as well as the Grand Trunk Pacific Company, for all three were represented at the hearing of the the case by the Board of Railway Commissioners.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Company gave as its reason for wanting a franchise of the street that the land along it had been reserved for industrial sites and they wished to have an opportunity to get a share of the carrying business. It was shown in reply to their plea that the owners of the reserved property had also reserved a right-of-way for the purpose of laying a spur railway track, presumably with the intention of requiring all the railways to use it. It was also shown that if the Grand Trunk Pacific Company's request was complied with, the railway to be constructed would keep the city away from the waterfront.

Chairman Mabee of the Railway Commission, speaking the unanimous decision of the Board, announced their intention to preserve to the municipalities, no matter where located, the control of their highways. Without waiting for the representatives of the municipalities to present their side of the case they dismissed the application and stated that the company would have to present some more cogent reason before it could be allowed the franchise of a street in defiance of the wishes of the people.

This decision of the Railway Commissioners will bring gladness to all who have been struggling for years to prevent railway corporations from obtaining franchises detrimental to municipal interests. With the municipalities it has been a case of eternal vigilance being the price of safety. It is not fair that those who are guardians of the public interests should be forced to keep such close watch as municipal officials have been compelled to keep to prevent the rights of the public from being impaired. Presumably this decision will be widely announced through the medium of the newspaper press, and it will carry satisfaction and encouragement wherever it is read. Railways will hereafter be more chary of making such applications unless they have the public opinion of the locality overwhelmingly on their side.

HISTORIC MOUNDS OF NORTH AMERICA

As a rule, all doubt may be set at rest by making an examination of the structure internally. If it is of natural formation, the arrangement of the materials of which it is composed will differ very much from that of one erected by human agency. In the former case, and if of clay, a section three or four feet deep will present a homogeneous appearance—if of sand and gravel, these will be arranged in parallel layers; while, if artificial in its character, the soil will show a "disturbed" appearance, that is, it will be mixed in small masses, or in streaks, of different colours, corresponding to the various depths from which it has been collected by the workers who were engaged in its construction.

It now only remained to make a deep cut through, or into, one of the mounds, with the permission of Messrs. Hatton and Strickland, who, on the spot, and in less than an hour the men employed to dig laid bare a section of the oval mound, which left no doubt as to its human origin.

Having become satisfied on this score, I determined to carry the trench clear through, five feet east of the shorter axis of the mound, the men working on opposite sides. This line was selected at the outset because some skull seekers had already done a little surface digging there to a depth of about eighteen inches, near the crown. Eight feet from the north edge, and two feet below the surface, were two human skeletons in a sitting position, and about the same distance from the south side were a skull and some of the large bones of the arms and of the legs—these also were within two feet of the surface, but somewhat more than twelve inches higher, measuring from the general level. From the western end another cut was made five feet wide to meet the former cut, the two thus forming a large "T." The depth of the latter cut at the centre of the mound was six feet four inches, which carried us somewhat below the outside level, and in addition to it we made test holes at intervals to a depth of over a foot further, to be sure that no disturbed soil should escape observation.

The making of this opening revealed at various depths, all beyond three feet, a human skull, some dog or wolf teeth, the jaw of a small quadruped, small pieces of mussel shells and charcoal, until at a depth of four feet seven inches (at this point on the base level) we came upon a human skeleton lying on its right side. While there was no doubt that the remains found in the first cut were those of intrusive, or comparatively recent burials, it seemed quite as clear that the bones here found on the base level had been so placed before the construction of the mound, and it appears probable that the same holds good in relation to the isolated skull found only a little more than a foot higher.

Within seven feet of the centre of the mound, and two feet from the surface, were burnt human bones but not associated with ashes or charcoal, and a few inches below these were two or three small fragments of pottery, the only specimens of the kind observed. Still nearer to the centre, and twenty inches deeper or three feet eight inches from the surface, was a bed of black earth mingled with ashes and mussel shells, and below this, on the base level, was a circle of stones rudely put together, about three feet in diameter. The stones were such as may be found in the neighbourhood, but little or no choice had been exercised as to size or shape, for they varied from four or five pounds to twice as much in weight, some being angular, and others water-worn. Although many (not all) of the stones bore evidences of having been subjected to considerable heat, there was no trace of charcoal or ashes near the circle.

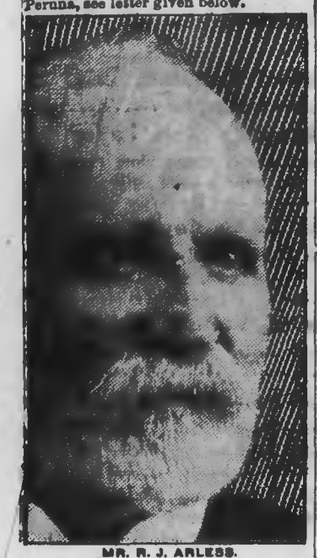
NASAL CATARRH PRODUCES DEAFNESS RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

Mr. R. J. Arless, 401 City Hall Ave., Montreal, Quebec, is an old gentleman of wide acquaintance, having served thirty-eight years in the General Post-office of Montreal, a record which speaks for itself. Concerning his use of Peruna, see letter given below.



MR. R. J. ARLESS.

"I have been afflicted with nasal catarrh to such a degree that it affected my hearing.

"This was contracted some twenty years ago by being exposed to draughts and sudden changes of temperature.

"I have been under the treatment of specialists and have used many drugs recommended as specifics for catarrh in the head and throat—all to no purpose.

"About three years ago I was induced by a confrere in office to try Peruna.

"After some hesitation, as I had doubts as to results after so many failures, I gave Peruna a trial, and am happy to state that after using eight or ten bottles of Peruna I am much improved in hearing, and in breathing through the nostrils."

THE Y. M. C. A. BOYS IN A SWIM ACROSS BROAD CLEAR LAKE

Examiner Special

Y M C A Camp, Sandy Point, July 23.—Monday morning found us up bright and early and a clear sunshiny day ahead of us. Cook "Tomatoes" soon had the porridge on and the old familiar sounds of "pass the cow, the sweet, and the salve" were heard on all sides. After breakfast some fellows went fishing, some berry-picking and others swimming. Two boys Art Hall and Grant Mowatt, swam across Clear Lake a distance of 1 1-4 miles. It was a splendid swim and speaks volumes for the training we fellows get at the Y.M.C.A. Every one of us can swim fairly well.

The cook and Mr. Frowde went over to Juniper Island for the mail and while they were away we certainly had a wild time. We fried fish and made pancakes and tried awfully hard to break into the storehouse and get at the cook's candies. We were so "full" that we couldn't eat any supper, which made the cook think the supper was bad. Ha, ha, ha, well, we certainly had fun. Then to cap all, just about dusk, two girls came down from somewhere in a canoe and said they wanted to buy some bread. Well, it wasn't long before we saw our physical director paddling them up the lake. Of course we fellows got out and serenaded them with such sayings as "Queer kind of bread you've got there." Well, it was mushy.

Tuesday it was raining again, so we slept more than anything else. They do tell me that Mr. Wright is an expert boatman, especially at steering. The other day a lady friend loaned him a boat in which to go home to the camp, and they do say as how he crossed to the other side of the lake before he finally landed at the right spot. Ha, ha, ha. Well I never. There are some pretty fine girls who live not so very far away from our camp. I don't like to mention any names, but just you ask Mr. Wright.

Oh, say, I forgot to tell you that Sunday was Dr. Middleton's birthday and he brought us up a "peach" of a cake with a button, ring and a five cent piece in it. I couldn't say for sure who got the button, but its a pretty good guess when I say that it was the genial Dr. Joe himself. And of course its another sure guess when I say that Mr. Sesson (Charlie, as we fellows call him) got the ring. Ha, ha, ha, well I never, I got the 5 cent piece, but pshaw, that doesn't mean anything. Well, I'll tell you more next time. We fellows are all in love with the "Y" Camp.

WILLIE-NEVER-TIRE.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT FOR EARLY MORNING BLAZE

About 5 o'clock this morning when most people were enjoying sweet slumber, the fire gong sounded calling the firemen to a blaze on Hunter street in Mr. Halpin's blacksmith shop. The alarm was carried to the hall by Mr. Jas. Hayes and the men were soon on the spot. The fire had worked through the floor from the forge where it started, and burned the joists. The forge then fell through the cellar floor but the men were able to extinguish it with only one line of hose as it was kept back low the floor. Everything was quiet again by ten minutes to six.

A BIG CROWD AT BAND CONCERT

Some Splendid Numbers Were Rendered by 57th Musicians Last Night

A splendid programme and the biggest crowd of the season were the outstanding features of the weekly concert of the 57th Band in Victoria Park last night. The band was in rare form last night, and their great playing was received with round after round of applause. Two of the most popular numbers were the Mexican Serenade, "La Paloma," a delightful selection, and the descriptive number "The Forge in the Forest," which had to be repeated. The selection of plantation songs was another number in which the band was notably successful, and the lively cake walk, "King of Rags," made a big hit.

G. T. R. Train Service

A great deal of caustic comment is being caused by the failure of the Grand Trunk Railway Company to run their trains on schedule time to Lakefield.

It has frequently been the case lately, that hundreds of Peterborough cottagers and visitors to the lakes have been kept waiting for long periods of time at the station, owing to the non-arrival of the Port Hope train. This is not as it should be. Surely some consideration is due to the large number of cottage owners and others from this city, who contribute so much towards the traffic to Stony Lake.

Under the present system many of them in place of arriving at their destinations at a reasonable hour, are not able to get there till late at night.

MARKET LIKE SINBAD THE SAILOR

Some Influences are Tending to Bear It Down to Smallest Attendances

There was another small market to-day. The warm sun is undoubtedly driving the farmers away from that blazing square. There were plenty of berries compared with the attendance of farmers, and a pailful sold at from $1.00 to $1.25. New potatoes did not sell any too rapidly at 35c. a peck. CLERKS WENT PICKING BERRIES

Cressman's Men Made Good Use of Their Half Holiday

Thursday afternoon's holiday was spent in a berry patch by a number of the male employees of Cressman's store. Under the guidance of Mr. Titterson, they journeyed to a woods west of the city, where the genial carpet clerk and the other counter-hoppers industriously picked the dainty fruit into baskets, pails, etc.

DROVE 75 MILES IN ONE DAY

Business Trip to Verulam Accomplished Easily—Crops Looking Fine

A seventy-five mile drive in one day, while by no means a record, is certainly out of the ordinary. On Thursday Mr. C. Blewett, real estate dealer, left the city at 6.30 a.m. and drove to Verulam, north of Bobcaygeon, and after many stops on the road, arrived home again at midnight.

Speaking of the condition of the crops, Mr. Blewett says that in the outskirts of the city they are looking better and are farther advanced than in the Bobcaygeon district.

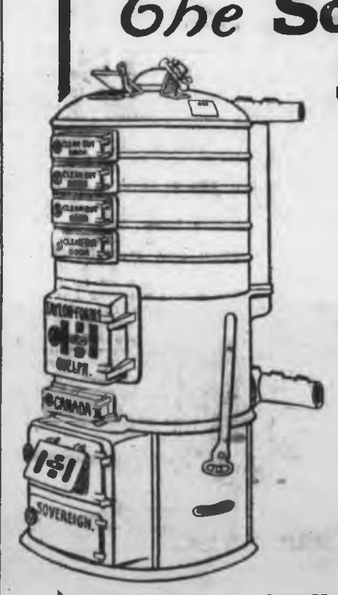
The "Sovereign" Boiler Saves the Coal



Warm air furnaces never had but one advantage, which is that they will raise some heat quickly.

Hot water boilers never had but one drawback, which is that it takes any ordinary boiler from 20 minutes to three-quarters of an hour to put an appreciable degree of heat into the radiators.

This defect is still a drawback in the ordinary boiler.

It never was a defect of "The Sovereign"—the boiler with the larger first section.

"The Sovereign" is responsive to every pound of coal burned. From the minute the fire is started it raises heat steadily and quickly and uniformly throughout the house.

The larger first section promotes rapid circulation and saves the coal. It is a structural improvement. The habit of saving coal is built into "The Sovereign."

The "Sovereign"

The "Sovereign" shown above is a high cellar type, with five boiler sections and a sifting grate. The "Sovereign" for low cellars has four sections and a lower base.

Do not stubbornly hold to the wrong idea that, while the hot water system of heating is more sanitary and efficient than the warm air system, it is more expensive of maintenance—a "Sovereign" boiler, properly installed, will heat a twelve-room house during a winter like last on 8 tons of coal.

We will send unquestionable proofs of the surprisingly small amount of coal "Sovereign" boilers uniformly use to any address upon post card inquiry.

Active Career Of Former Peterborough Man In The Farthest Western Province

Mr. W. J. Armstrong One of the Pioneers of British Columbia—Fifty Years in New Westminster

SOME INTERESTING HISTORY

The following is clipped from the New Westminster Daily Columbian. The Mr. Armstrong referred to is a brother of Mr. James Stratton, Gilmour street. Mr. Armstrong was born in the Township of Cavan and visited Peterborough with his family, crossing the continent on the first Canadian Pacific through train from Vancouver, when the road was first constructed. Mr. Armstrong has many friends in this district, who will be pleased to know that he is hale and hearty, enjoying the best of health in his eighty-second year.

Half a century ago to-day, Mr. W. J. Armstrong, New Westminster's pioneer citizen, first set foot on British Columbian soil. Four months later he, in company with his half brother, George Armstrong, pitched his tent at Langley where the old military post was then established and in the following March, 1859, he landed on the spot where this city now stands and slept the first night after his arrival on the ground with the blue sky his only covering.

W. J. Armstrong was born in Peterborough, Ontario, 31st of October, 1826, of Scotch and Irish parentage, his father being William Armstrong, a native of Ireland. When about 26 years of age he went to New York and shipped for California around Cape Horn, arriving in the Flower State in the spring of 1852, and six years later he continued his journey up the coast, arriving at Victoria on July 10th, 1858.

Brief History

Last evening Mr. Armstrong gave a Columbian reporter a brief history of the circumstances leading up to his arrival on the mainland and his final settling in New Westminster. The colonial government had sent men to survey a townsite at Langley during the year '58, and a number of real estate men, taking advantage of the boom that was likely to ensue at Langley, surveyed a townsite a few miles from Langley which they named Derby. The promoters of the Derby townsite offered Mr. Armstrong a corner lot if he would go there and build a house. The place was talked of considerably as a promising location, and Mr. Armstrong decided to accept the offer, so he accordingly boarded the steamer Otter, which sailed regularly between Victoria and the mouth of the river. They were sixteen hours, from 4 o'clock p. m. of one day to 10o'clock the following morning, making the trip up the gulf. The passengers were transferred at the mouth of the river to a smaller boat, which landed them at Langley. After Mr. Armstrong had settled, he learned that the Derby promoters could not obtain a title to the property and a short time later Governor Douglas dropped the Langley townsite and took over the Derby townsite, intending to make it the permanent city. The government sold the Derby lots by auction in the fall of '58.

When Col. Moody of the Royal Engineers arrived on the scene in January, 1859, he was dissatisfied with the location because of its being on the south side of the river and, notwithstanding the improvements, including the erection of barracks, jail, church, etc., which had been made by Royal Engineers who had arrived ahead of him, Col. Moody ordered that the permanent post be located where New Westminster now stands.

About a month after he arrived, Col. Moody sent a man to clean away brush and erect a cabin for him, and the cabin was put up in the section now included in Sapperton. Mr. Armstrong came here in March of that year, after learning that this would be made the permanent post. There were no buildings in any part of the section now included in the New Westminster townsite, except Col. Moody's cabin. A few fireplaces in the woods showed that some persons, probably miners, had camped on the ground previous to Mr. Armstrong's arrival. He was accompanied by his half-brother, Geo. Armstrong, and John S. McDonald. They slept in the open, and later secured timber and lumber and put up the first house. Within a few days a large number of people had arrived, having also heard off the new townsite. Mr. Armstrong decided to start a store here, and with that object in view, went to Victoria and chartered a schooner to bring in a load of provisions. He found a ready demand, and was soon established in business. He continued to conduct the store until 1872, by which time the city had grown to considerable proportions, when he entered the Legislature as a member for New Westminster district. He remained in the Government for three years as Minister of Finance, and some time later represented New Westminster city for a year and occupied a position in the Cabinet as Provincial Secretary. In the late seventies, Mr. Armstrong erected a sawmill, which he operated for about five years, and in 1882 he became sheriff of this district, which position he continued to occupy until he resigned and retired from active life in 1893. Mr. Armstrong was connected with the city government from 1860 to 1873, first as alderman, then as president of the Council, which was the same position as reeve or mayor.

After nearly 82 years of active life, Mr. Armstrong is still strong and in the possession of all his faculties. He is often seen on the street walking, and he attends service on Sundays in Holy Trinity when the weather is favorable.

While Mrs. Armstrong did not the "pleasure" of living in New Westminster before they had houses here, she is nevertheless one of the pioneers, having arrived here 47 years ago. Even at that time there were no houses further up the hill than where Dr. Hacking now lives, and even below that the roads and lots were still in a broken and unsettled condition. Mrs. Armstrong is 75 years of age, but shows the vivacity and spirit of a woman a score years her junior.

Description Of System Of Ozone Filtration Under Consideration In This City

Water Commissioners Hear Mr. Howard Bridge In Connection With The Proposition.

INSTALLATION IN LINDSAY

As the Peterborough Water Commissioners are considering the installation of a new system here, and as Mr. Howard Bridge has presented his proposition to them, the subjoined article on the Ozone Filtration will be of particular interest to the interested citizens of Peterborough. It was written especially for the Examiner by Mr. John Hogan, city editor of the Free Press of Lindsay. Mr Bridge, the promoter of the proposition, is now in Lindsay. The following is a thorough detailed account of the system mentioned:

The electric process of water purification which the town of Lindsay has decided to adopt is one that will attract the attention of sanitarians all over the world. Unlike most electrical processes of treating water which have been much advertised, this is not a process of electrolysis; it is one of ozonization. In other words, electricity is not used to dissolve metallic electrodes in water, which by their dissolution form sediments to entangle bacteria and carry them down to the bottom of the tank. On the contrary, the electricity is not applied to the water at all. Atmospheric air, of which there is a never-failing reservoir to draw upon, is passed between electric discharges, where it comes in contact with a blue flame, and in some mysterious way is thus charged with ozone. This ozone is, to all intents and purposes, exactly like that produced by a thunderstorm; and the characteristic smell of atmospheric air, thus artificially electrified, is like that which is often perceived after an electrical storm. Stated in chemical terms, ozone is condensed oxygen. In physic oxygen is written "oz., which indicates that it takes two atoms to make one molecule of the gas. Ozone is written "oz.," showing that there are three atoms to the molecule, instead of two, as formerly. In this condition it occupies only two-thirds its usual volume, so that the term "condensed oxygen" very fittingly describes it. In this state, oxygen, or ozone, as we now know it, has many properties which it does not possess in its normal condition. For example, it decolorizes blue litmus; it decomposes potassium iodide; it oxidizes ammonia and transforms it into nitric acid; it decomposes hydrochloride acid, liberating chlorine; it combines with phosphoretted hydrogen, emission of light. Oxygen does none of these things in its ordinary state.

Its Germicidal Effect

It is, however, in its germicidal effect that ozone, or electrified oxygen, possesses its greatest interest. Liberated in a room full of disease germs, it instantly destroys them, not by poisoning, but by combining chemically with certain oxidizable elements in their bodies. Blown into water, the gas acts in the same way with a rapidity which may be called instantaneous. At the same time, when thus introduced into water, it removes any objectionable colour, taste or smell due to the decomposition of organic matter. Brown, peaty waters are thus made as bright and sparkling as a mountain spring; and the fishy taste and smell which sometimes renders surface water unpalatable, are removed by the oxidation of the dissolved organic matter which produces such taste and smell.

Not a New Discovery

All this is no new discovery. It has been known to scientists for upwards of twenty years. The difficulty has been in generating ozone in quantities large enough for commercial use. Its remarkable effects have been noticed and experimented with in laboratories; but it is only during the last ten years that electrical science, progressing rapidly along other lines, has reached such a development as to make a continuous production of ozone a commercial possibility. At the present time there are about a dozen towns in Europe which have their water supplies either entirely or in part purified by ozone. Wiesbaden is on of these; Nice is another, and the town of Paderborn in Germany has, during the last six years, thus entirely removed typhoid fever from its mortality lists.

In Europe, however, people are willing to pay liberally for sanitation, and the high cost of ozonization as a means of purifying municipal water supplies, has not had the deterrent effect observable among ourselves.

During the last two years, American inventiveness has succeeded in so cheapening the cost of ozone production that it can now be applied to the purification of water at only a fraction of the cost of any method of filtration. By the Howard-Bridge system, which is being installed by the Town of Lindsay to purify its entire water supply, the guaranteed cost is only one-fifth that which the city of Philadelphia pays for a result that is less than one-hundredth as efficient. And yet Philadelphia has already spent nearly thirty million dollars in establishing sand filters. As for the cost of installing an ozonizing plant, it is, in the case of Lindsay, exactly one-third that of an estimated sand filter having only half the capacity. Need we insist, then, on our opening statement that the experiment will be watched with intense interest by the municipal officials and sanitarians all over this broad continent, where, as never before, public interest in pure water has been aroused.

The Lindsay Plant

The Lindsay plant which is being installed will have a daily capacity of a million and a half gallons per day. The water is taken from the Scugog River and flows by gravity through a rough strainer, to move floating matter, mud, sand, etc., and flows thence into a sterilizing chamber, where it is thoroughly mixed with ozone produced by two electrical units so constructed that either or both can be operated at any time. The electric current is taken from the town main at a pressure of 220 volts and raised, by means of step-up transformers, to ten thousand volts. At this high tension the current passes through large, perforated sheets of aluminum. These look like enormous nut meg graters. A brilliant, violet light gleams from each of five million metallic points surrounding the perforations, and air is drawn from the atmosphere and passed in a million tiny jets through the violent dischargers. Here the air undergoes the mysterious change which gives it its extraordinary power to destroy bacteria. The passage of water under treatment to the sterilizing chamber is ingeniously arranged so as to suck in the ozonized air needed for its purification; and almost instantaneously the water, however charged with bacteria and however discoloured and foul to taste and smell, is rendered bright and sparkling, and as free from germs as a mountain spring. In this condition it flows into a large concrete well and is thence pumped directly into the mains of the town. It is an interesting fact that as soon as the ozone has accomplished its beneficent, it disappears, or rather, it changes back into its original condition of ordinary oxygen. It will thus be seen that the process is one of aeration. It is this addition of air to the water that makes it so bright and sparkling, and above all palatable to the taste.

Extraordinary Test

Some very extraordinary tests of this process were recently made by Dr. Rivas, assistant bacteriologist to the city of Philadelphia. This gentleman took for his tests the foulest water he could find. He did not have to go far to seek it. The Schuylkill River below the Wall street bridge in Philadelphia is nothing but an open sewer. It contains the sewage of the northern part of the city, the drainage from the slaughter houses and the sewage from acres of festering manure heaps collected by the railways for removal from the city. At this point it is a tidal stream; and this mass of corruption passes to and fro on every tide in front of the plant where Dr. Rivas made his tests. Of course he found it alive with bacteria. There were over three million micro-organisms to each thimbleful. This by actual count. Treating thousands of gallons an hour he produced water that, for brightness and purity, surpassed any of the bottled spring waters sold for fifty cents a case.

These results were so remarkable that officials from other cities went to Philadelphia as to a hygienic Mecca. The official bacteriologist of New York repeated the test on a larger scale, and obtained the same results.

To Lindsay must be accorded the distinction of being the first community on this continent to adopt, for the purification of its waters, this latest gift of science to sanitation. Other towns, hesitating at the enormous expense and doubtful efficiency of sand filters, are watching the experiment with almost anxious interest. Lynn, Mass., committed to sand filtration a few months ago, has dropped to study ozone. Niagara Falls, with one of the highest typhoid fever rates in the world, is looking dubiously at a proposal to spend half a million dollars in a tunnel under the river, and talks about sending a committee to Lindsay to see if ozone will not give better results at a third of the cost. Buffalo, having spent nearly three million in an effort to get pure water from the lake, is beginning to have doubts which may find their solution in ozonization. Cohoes, New York, with a typhoid fever rate nearly four times greater than the average in the United States, has had its official commission investigating the ozone process. London, Eng., has offered facilities to Mr. Bridge for the demonstration of his process in metropolitan waters. Even Barcelona in Spain, and Tunis, Africa, have opened negotiations with this inventor in the hope of obtaining relief from disease conditions which filtration is powerless to remedy. It is thus seen that Lindsay by its great progressiveness in this particular, is in the way of receiving enough free advertising for its expenditure, without counting the boon to its citizens afforded by an absolutely perfect water supply.

Two Canadian Cyclists Who Have Distinguished Themselves

Harry Young, Who Was Formerly a Peterborough Boy, to Return From Olympic Games With Two Medals.

ANDREWS' PLUCKY RIDE

While the Canadian bicyclists at the Olympic Games in England have added one point to the score for Canada, Harry L. Young, who formerly lived in Peterborough, will return home with two medals commemorative of his visit. A bronze medal has been awarded him by the judges of the Olympic, and a silver medal been tendered by the Polytechnic Athletic Club of London, in appreciation of Young's act in pacing Bartlett, the English rider, in the 62 mile bicycle race.

Young and Andrews entered the finals for the 100 kilometre race, and as Andrews had showed most speed, the understanding appears to have been that Young should pace his team mate. Had this plan worked smoothly there is but little doubt that Andrews would have finished first in the race. But owing to an accident, the particulars of which have not been cabled, Andrews sustained an ugly cut on the leg. Young, therefore, finding that Canada's prospects had been diminished, devoted his efforts to pacing the most promising English rider.

HARRY YOUNG,

W. E. Andrews excited the admiration of the spectators at the Olympic Games by riding 40 miles in the 100 kilometre bicycle race with a cut in his leg that afterwards required three stitches. He finished sixth in the race, but the accident, which was probably sustained by coming in collision with the pedal of another bicyclist, was sufficient to spoil his prospects for winning the event.

The Canadian bicyclists all showed up strong in the long, hard races at the Olympic. It is a remarkable thing, however, that while the Canadians won no firsts at the Olympic, the time they made at the Toronto trials was lower than the Olympic records for two distances, and only three seconds higher in the 12 1-2 mile, or 20 kilometre race. The following tables give the comparative times:—

Best time at Toronto trials—

600 yards	49 1-5
1000 metres	1.37 3-5
5000 metres	7.43 4-5
20 kilometres	34.16 3-5

Record time at Olympic—

600 yards	51 1-5
1000 metres	1.29 2-5
5000 metres	8.36 2-5
20 kilometres	34.13 2-5

It is significant fact that the Canadians won a bronze medal in the pursuit race. This was a race from the crack of the pistol, and the Canadians were at home in it, coming in third, and beating France and Holland. The Canadians are used to making hard work of a race, and this is not the custom on continental tracks. Particularly the French riders are adepts in the art of "jockeying" on a wheel. They will spin a race out, keeping a watchful eye on each other until the last lap, or part of a lap, and then they sprint for the tape. The Canadians have not developed the sprint as the European riders have, and one Canadian in a bunch of riders, trained on continental tracks, would have no chance to make the others work. He would be pocketed or his competitors would put him in the rear and keep him there until all were ready to put on speed. The 16th heat of the 600 yard race was void, because the judges declared the riders "fouled." This is the distance the Canadians did two seconds faster in Toronto than was done on the Olympic track.

W. E. ANDREWS,

The medal which Young receives from the Olympic authorities is in the nature of a prize for pacing. The silver medal from the Polytechnic Athletic Club is accompanied by a letter expressive of appreciation.

The French riders have entered a strong protest against Young. They protested against his entering the finals for this race, claiming that he had lost a lap in his heat. Young's performance in the finals proves this to have been incorrect.

FRED SIMPSON FINISHES THE MARATHON LIKE A WHIRLWIND

London, July 25.—Special—Canada, the great Longboat, and, in fact, the British Empire, were soundly beaten in the great Marathon yesterday. The much-feared, unknown dark horse did the trick. Duncan, Appleby, Jack, Lord, United Kingdom's pride, and Canada's great brigade of distance runners, even had to bow to an unknown Italian, Durando, a little ball of muscle and grit, who looks and runs like Freddie Young.

Wood, of Brantford, a quiet Canuck, who loafed in all the trials, and was not considered one of Canada's hopes, made Canada's feet showing, finishing fifth. Wood came from behind, and he took time and ate them up in the last mile.

It was a cruel race, Jack Duncan, Appleby and Lord all killed themselves in the first twelve miles, trying to lose Longboat.

Longboat Dropped Senseless

The Indian was the bugaboo. He ran a mighty race, mowing them down one by one till the twentieth mile post, when with only Hefferon of South Africa, between him and victory, he spun around and dropped senseless. Medical officers refused him permission to go on. Longboat had beaten the Italian to this point and seemed to have the race well in hand.

Hefferon was quite 2 miles out when the Italian passed him, and came again and was third at the Stadium, but dropped senseless also. The Italian dropped three times on the track, but staggered over the tape a winner by half a lap.

The Yankee Hayes came up strong. Another Yankee, Forshaw, was third, and dead beat. Still another Yankee, Welton, was fourth, finishing strong. A Canuck, Wood, was fifth, also finishing strong.

Simpson Finished Like a Whirlwind

Simpson came like a whirlwind at the end, beating twelve in the last five miles. Lawson was next, and was weakening.

Tewani, a Yankee Indian, was eighth, staggering. Svenberg, Sweden, was ninth, collapsing at the tape.

The race was run at a fiery pace. The Englishmen made an awful race. Runners collapsed everywhere. Goldsboro had early speed but couldn't stay. Caffery, Newsworthy, Lester, Cotter, had endurance, but the fierce pace left them in the rue.

Rumoured the Yankees Were Doped

The finish of the Yankee runners, it is said, was due to dope, and an investigation is in progress.

Flanigan is heartbroken over Longboat's collapse.

Longboat arrived in an auto after the 5th man. He was received with laughter from the Americans, and cheers from the crowd.

BOX CAR TRAVELLER FROM MONTREAL TELLS OF HIS RIDE; NOTHING TO EAT OR DRINK

Locked With a Friend in Narrow And Dark Enclosure—An Unpleasant Trip—How Escape Was Made in Peterborough.

CAME WEST FOR WORK

From Montreal to Peterboro, locked in a boxcar with not so much as a crumb to satisfy a lingering hunger, is perhaps one of the last experiences a person would desire. It is an uninviting experience that falls to the lot of a few, and that few is almost confined to the membership of the "Knights of the Road"—those "weary Willies" whose sole aim is an aimless journey through parts presenting the least resistance and providing the most "grub" and ale for nothing. However, on Friday, before the clocks announced the time for the midday meal, two youths arrived in Peterborough inside a boxcar, which had provided them a shelter, but nothing else, from the city of Montreal, about 250 miles away.

Interviewed by an Examiner reporter on Saturday afternoon, Tom Eastman, one of the two, related some interesting details of the tedious and eventful journey of a day and a half's duration, which was only terminated by good fortune on the part of the boxcar travellers. Eastman is a lively youth, who scarcely yet has got beyond his teens. He says his home is in Waterville, Que., and that he had never heard of Peterborough until he saw the name written on the station wall. This seemed rather peculiar to the newspaper man, when he recollected that we had a big lift lock here and that we turned out in our time some famous hockey players, not, mentioning dozens who have shone in other fields of sport. But Eastman did not know of Peterborough probably because he had spent his days among the rural districts of Quebec and apart from places, where newspapers were procuable.

Locked in the Car

Finding himself in Montreal a few days ago without work and with little of the necessaries of life, he with his friend, David Pearson, decided to come west to somewhere and look for work. Not desiring to spend the meagre sum of money they had, they chose the uncongenial interior of a boxcar on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Montreal was soon left behind. Eastman was the only one of the travellers who could say he had money, and he had but a lone dollar in change.

A boxcar possibly possesses few comforts for a passenger, but the young hopefuls didn't mind the absent cushion seats. No conductor called around between stations for their tickets, and this more than counterpoised the lack of comfortable apartments. All went well for the first 50 or more miles. The door had not been locked and they were able to look out upon nature's fields and woodlands and enjoy life. But not for long. At the fourth or fifth station on their journey some unconscionably inconsiderate trainman locked the door of the car, and from that time forth they saw little of the light of day until they emerged from their sombre prison on Friday at noon in Peterborough.

A Passing Samaritan

In relating the story, Eastman told of how he managed to escape. Peering through a small crack in the door of the car, he noticed someone pass, whose attention was soon attracted by violent kicking on the side of the car, but the passer-by was somewhat "leery" of letting them out. Finally, through the assistance of twenty-five cents of his money, he persuaded the party on the outside to break open the door, and once more he and his friend gained their liberty.

With seventy-five cents left, they betook themselves to an hotel and were soon enjoying a hearty meal. During the afternoon Pearson became intoxicated. Wine had exerted its somniferous influence over him, and in disgust Eastman deserted him. On Friday night the latter stayed at the Peterborough House, spending his last quarter for a bed—with breakfast kindly thrown in—and on Saturday he started out to look for work with a farmer, with not so much money as would buy a postage stamp. He was directed to a farmer near Millbrook, to which place he walked yesterday in search of labour.

ANDREW THOMPSON KILLED IN RAILWAY WRECK IN SEATTLE

Mr Peter Thompson, plumbing inspector, has received a letter from W. H. Coughlin, 302 American Bank Building, Seattle, Wash., asking for information regarding the relatives of the late Andrew Thompson, who was killed in that city in a railway accident, July 7th. The deceased, at the time of his death, was 41 years old. His father's name is William Thompson and his mother Ann Thompson. He had three brothers in Toronto and two nieces in Hamilton.

Mr. Thompson in reply stated that he did not know the deceased. He handed the letter over to Chief Roszel, and any person knowing the whereabouts of relatives of the late Andrew Thompson are asked to leave the information with the chief.

Salvation Army Band Has Decided Upon Two Trips

The Salvation Army Band's trip has been finally decided upon and the week's tour will not be held because many of the bandsmen find it impossible to leave their work. However, the band will go to Cobourg on Saturday, August 8th and will return in the evening of Monday, Aug. 10th, Civic Holiday. This week end affords an outing of almost three days and the idea appeals to the bandsmen.

On September 7th the Band will have a trip to either Montreal or Ottawa, possibly the latter city. The trip will be begun on Saturday, Sept. 5th, and as Monday is Labour Day the trip will be like the first. The band will be strong, having nearly all its bandsmen and under Mr. J. M Greene they should give a good account of themselves. They have been practising faithfully and their appearance has never been better. The result is that they should win fresh laurels for themselves and the city.

Says A Shortage Of Cars Will Again Affect Price Of Coal

A prominent local coal dealer asserted to-day that in all probability there will be a high price demanded for coal this winter for the same reasons as last year. The prospects in the west are that an enormous crop will be harvested and a larger number of cars will be required to handle the grain.

This affects the supply of coal cars there will be a shortage. This resulting, the coal will not be delivered as it should and on account of the short supplies the price will be sure to increase. Thus the dealer explains the state of affairs. The large factories are beginning to boom and are ordering their shipments of coal. The dealer spoke as it he were giving a bit of solid advice and urged the early purchase of coal for the winter.

CAMPBELLFORD MAN'S MONEY DISAPPEARS

Fred Burleigh Said to be the Guilty One.

Mr. Arthur Blue was robbed on Sunday evening of a purse containing $31 and other valuable papers, by a slick gent from Peterborough, named Fred Burleigh. He met Mr. Blue at Peterborough on July 12 and asked him if there was work in Campbellford. Mr. Blue told him there was a great amount of work being done on the canal and that he might get a job. He then borrowed a dollar from Mr. Blue to pay his fare here. He succeeded in getting work on the canal, but on Saturday night he was paid in full—and got full.

On Sunday just after tea he went to Mr. Blue's house for a friendly visit, but did not remain long. Mr. Blue had left his vest on the table with the purse in it, and while looking in the bookcase for some books, Burleigh did the trick. Soon after he departed the purse was missed, and Constable Linn was notified, but the thief had jumped the town, and no trace of him has yet been found. —Campbellford Despatch.

THE INCREASE OF THE PUBLIC DEBT.

Conservative journals are trying to make capital at the expense of the Laurier administration, by calling attention to the great increase which has taken place in the capital expenditure of the Dominion. It is their right to criticize that expenditure and to protest against its increase on public grounds, but if their protests are to be effective they will have to show that their attitude and course in Parliament have been in harmony with their present contentions.

Mr. Fielding was able to show, replying to the criticisms of Mr. Foster, that some of the very members of the Opposition, who were raising the strongest objections to the increasing expenditure had, during the session, been making complaints because no appropriations were proposed for their constituencies. The man who finds fault with increasing expenditure on the one hand, and with the Government's refusal to make an appropriation for his constituency, on the other, is a political Peckaniff of the most contemptible kind.

At the same time there is a good deal of force in the contention that the expenditure for other purposes should be kept down as much as practicable during the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway. It was foreseen from the beginning that the expense of putting through the eastern division as a Government work would be very great. The experience of the last three years has proved conclusively that it will be considerably greater than was anticipated. There is in this fact all the more reason for economy to the utmost practicable extent until the road has been constructed and is in a position to begin earning revenue for the company that is to operate it.

It will be impossible to prevent the public debt from increasing during the next few years, but, the passing away of the present sharp depression and the influx of immigrants will speedily increase its buoyancy and there will be the useful old-fashioned revenue. The proper course will then be to keep down expenditure on works of a purely local character, and set off the annual surpluses against the increasing debt. If this policy is pursued there can be no danger to the credit of the Dominion in the great money centre of the world.

CANADIANS AND THE PRINCE OF WALES.

According to the Prince's own statement he has now visited Canada some half-dozen times, the most recent visit, until the present, having taken place some few years ago, when he was accompanied by the Princess. Both then and now he acted as representative of his father, King Edward VII. On each of these visits he received the most ample proof, if any were needed, of his popularity with the Canadian people of all races and classes.

On the occasion of his last visit he was making a tour of the Empire. He was then in a position to make comparisons between the Dominion of Canada, the colonies of South Africa and the Commonwealth of Australia. There can be no doubt that he was then greatly impressed with the progress and prospects of this country. He is too frank to be a mere disburser of compliments and he unquestionably spoke his own opinions in appraising the standing and influence of Canada as highly as he did.

Short as the interval has been between these two visits he would be able to see a great deal of progress, not so much with the physical eye, but with the mental apprehension resulting from his coming in close contact with those who have the direction of public affairs and from whom no doubt he will receive information and obtain impressions that will prove useful to him, in forming an idea of our progress.

The exceptional popularity of the Prince of Wales is easily understood. It is due in part to his representative character; in part to his personal qualities. He comes officially as representing a throne. He brings to the tercentenary celebration of the founding of Canada the greetings and good wishes of the King. It is just forty-eight years since King Edward visited this country as Prince of Wales. It is well known that ever since he has cherished kindly recollections of that journey and has taken a deepening interest in the progress of this country. It is in his time that Canada included only the provinces of Quebec and Ontario. Within a very few years after his visit these two provinces with New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were united in one Dominion. Now that Dominion extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the United States to the Arctic Ocean. Instead of two provinces there are nine, and each of these nine has a greatly increased and still increasing population. The Prince is, therefore, in a position not merely to convey his father's appreciation of the value of the Dominion, but his own matured opinion on the same point.

But his popularity depends also on his own popularity. He is absolutely free from any affectation of dignity, goes about without any oppressive sense of his real status, and displays on all occasions a consideration for others which is the outcome of genuine kindness of heart. He had had the good fortune to be in his youth for a number of years an officer in training for the Royal Navy, and the Prince is to a great measure lost in the sailor. He knows what the British marines have to undergo, and he is constantly thinking of ways by which he can save them trouble. His attitude towards the crowds at the celebration partook of the same character and no body of people could be quicker than Canadians to notice these personal traits.

This visit of the Prince will do a world of good. It will enable him to understand many things which would otherwise remain obscure to him. It will enable him to play his part in the councils of state, not merely when he becomes King, as he will, but now, whilst he keeps a very close relationship with the King, his father. It will also enable him to check and test the opinions of statesmen on colonial questions, and while he may not be able to treat projects of which he approves, in the way they should be treated, he can express opinions privately, if not publicly, to those who can advance them. May the day be distant when he ascends the throne, but when in the course of nature that event comes about the people of Canada can rest assured that they are not losing anything in the change of monarchs.

THE ESCAPING OF TORONTO PRISONERS

A few days ago several Toronto prisoners escaped from the city jail in the middle of the afternoon under circumstances that made the story of their achievements read like a fiction. They had to pick a lock, dig a hole in the wall of the jail, and make their escape over a twenty-foot wall enclosing the jail yard. They let themselves down from their cell by an extemporized rope, made of bed clothes, and they made their escape over the wall by hoisting one of their number to its summit, where he was able to pull the other up.

It seems incredible that all this could have taken place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, in a building well supplied with guards, unless there was the grossest negligence, or treachery to the management. The jail is under the charge of a governor who is a retired clergyman and who seems to have acted on the theory that his prisoners were mere unfortunates entitled to sympathy, and likely to profit by the consolations of religion. The sooner the Ontario Government appoints, at the head of Toronto Jail, a trained veteran turnkey with the genius of a detective and the vigilance of a sleuth-hound, the better for the administration of justice.

Pending the investigation that is now in progress, it is not necessary to assign blame to anyone, but it is clear that the Provincial Government will have to take steps to make the management of Toronto Jail thoroughly efficient. Circumstances make it inevitable that it should be in some sense a Provincial prison. Hardened criminals naturally resort to a large city as a meeting place after committing burglaries, or even murders, in other parts of the Province. A large city is the best of hiding places for a man who is seeking obscurity. One of these prisoners had been found guilty of excessive brutality. He had struck over and over again people perfectly defenceless, either through age or sex. He was kept in jail for a few days awaiting sentence. He had nothing to lose by an attempt at jail-breaking, because his sentence was to be imprisonment for life. Common-sense people are asking why such a man should not be sentenced at the time of conviction, and passed on to the penitentiary with the least possible loss of time.

This, along with other occurrences during the past two or three years, has brought home to the people of Ontario a realization of the fact that a great change has taken place in the Department of Justice in this Province. Laxity has taken the place of rigid enforcement of the law. The Provincial detective force is honeycombed with inefficiency or worse. Crown prosecutions on the local circuits are conducted without skill and result in failure. This state of affairs has become notorious, and it will soon become calamitous, unless something is done to put it on a proper foundation.

COMPLAIN OF EAST CITY CESSPOOL

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I see by the Evening Examiner of a few evenings ago, that the aldermen were out making an inspection of some of the lonesome places about the city with a view to giving the people some light. They should have had the Medical Health Officer with them, and then extended their travels into Ward Five. There they would find an excellent chance to get busy. I refer to that disagreeable cess pool lying south of Hunter street and a few yards from Hunter street bridge.

This place at the present time is one of the most loathsome places that any person could possibly look on and it it belonged to a private individual he would get just 24 hours to remove the intolerable nuisance, or he would have to answer for his neglect in the police court. But the city authorities with their characteristic ability for not doing things allow this nuisance to remain. Probably the aldermen are overworked and have not got time to look into this nuisance complained of.

The city council's zeal for street improvement is still very much in evidence a few months ago they paved Hunter street eastward from the post office with crushed stone, rolled it down and left the street in good condition. All this work was paid for with the people's hard earned money, now they are ripping it all up for sewer purposes at the people's expense. I presume the sewer is a necessary thing, but why was it not put there before the street was paved, and save the people the extra cost. It this sort of thing is charistic of shrewd civic management I am glad I am not an alderman. Would you kindly give me space for this letter and oblige?

Yours truly,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

CAMP.—Monk lf, Giroux 2, Froode 3b, Sheehy 2b, Hall p, Kerr lb, Mitchell ss, Stevens rf, Mowat cf.

Score by innings—

Camp ..... 3010001—5
Lakefield ..... 3200001—6

On Saturday afternoon three of the boys went to one of the cottages to make ice cream for their large bonfire party on that night, which was certainly enjoyed by the visitors. After it was all over and things took the sleepy side, the boys retired, but after staying in bed for some time found it was of no use, and prepared to serenade the cook. Songs were sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body" and "We Won't be Home Till Morning." The cook didn't look at it as a joke, as it interfered with his sleep, and soon put a stop to it by entering the leader of the gang.

Notes of the Camp

The boys claim a game of football by default from the Brightman party. The game was to have taken place on Monday last, but the latter failed to appear.

The cook is certainly a poet, and he doesn't know it.

No. 2 tent is the hospital tent "Jack" is sick whenever there is anything to do.

The boys are dreading the day the camp closes, as two weeks never went faster to them.

We all appreciated Mr. Sisson's treat of fruit for supper on Sunday.

I will now have to close, as we are invited out for the evening.

Camp Correspondence.

A PECULIAR SHOOTING ACCIDENT

Fragment of Bullet Strikes and Lacerates Man's Thumb.

Minden, July 27—Special — A peculiar accident happened to Mr. Archie Taylor a few days ago. He and his brother-in-law, Stewart Taylor, were shooting woodchucks, and being somewhat in advance of Stewart as he (Stewart) was shooting past him, a fragment of the bullet, cut by the twist in the barrel of Stewart's rifle, deflected and caught Archie's thumb, lacerating it considerably.

Macdonald, the talented window dresser at Richard Hall & Son's store. Mr. Macdonald will leave on Saturday, and during his three weeks absence will, as stated above, attend the convention of the association, of which he is a member.

Later Mr. Macdonald will go to Chicago, where he will spend a week at that widely known store of Marshall Field, with the intention of getting the latest in autumn ideas for window dressing.

COLOURED SHIRTS WORN TOO LONG

London Lancet Says They Attract Disease By Infrequent Cleaning.

London, July 25.—According to the Lancet, a man who wears coloured shirts is a sloven. The medical journal also declares coloured handkerchiefs an abomination.

"When a man finds it convenient to wear coloured shirts and cuffs," is the argument advanced, "it means in reality he can carry dirt for a little longer without giving offence than if he wore spotlessly white material.

"Materials which don't compel constant change by becoming offensive to the eye, if slightly soiled, are bound to be worn too long. By wearing religiously white linen, a man can reduce his chances of picking up bacteria."

MUSIC, ART AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE TO BE TAUGHT

New Teachers on Local Staff—Work To Be Divided.

It is rumoured that the Board of Education will advertise for five new teachers for special subjects. These subjects include music, art and domestic science, and will likely be taught in the old Collegiate Institute. A meeting was held on Saturday afternoon and the question talked over. The new teachers will, it is stated, be also employed at the Normal School part of the time, and that the greater portion of their salaries will be paid by the Government.

HORSE RAN AWAY FROM BERRY PICKERS

A party of Peterborough berry-pickers had an experience one day last week which will teach them to be more careful in the future. They were out near Cavanville at a particularly good patch. They had driven out in a buggy, and left the horse loosely tied at the roadside. While the pickers were busy in the bush the horse became frightened at something, and breaking away from its tether, started on a mad canter up the country highway. The buggy was badly shattered and the top was left at one side. The horse was finally stopped, but the farmer who related the incident was unable to say how the pickers returned to Peterborough.

Chas. Hefferon, who ran second in the Marathon race, enlisted in "E" Squadron of the South African Constabulary at Brandon, Man. He gave his age as 23 and his occupation as farmer. He was born in Newbury, Berks, Eng., and his mother lives in London.

A FALSE CALL FOR THE STEAMER

Unnecessary Delay Occasioned at Campbelltown Landing.

A delay was occasioned on Saturday night by the steamer Otonabee grounding at Campbelltown, so that the passengers on board did not arrive back as early as they had intended. Some persons on shore seemed to be beckoning for the steamer to call, which she courteously did, but it proved to be a false alarm. The result was the bow landed on shore and it was some time before she could get a release.

THE SERMON SUBJECT UP WITH THE TIMES

Rev. H. J. Keith Speaks on the Tercentenary of Quebec.

At Knox Church last night Rev Mr Keith, instead of delivering a regular sermon dealt with the Tercentenary celebration at Quebec. He reviewed the history which the brilliant pageant of the past week retold—history which both the great Canadian races have proudly enacted again. Mr. Keith stated that when Wolfe and Montcalm met on that memorable day on the heights of Abraham, the two races were bitter enemies. Time had healed the old wounds, and the receding years had smoothed out the differences which then existed.

Mr. Keith, in referring to the results of the celebration, said that the Tercentenary brought the two peoples closely together and served to unite them, as in the years of 1812-14, making them one in their allegiance to the Empire and the young country which they had established and rapidly developed.

SHOULD NOT RAISE THE GATES

Practice of Raising Street Railway Gates Is Punishable by Law.

A young man living at Parkdale was fined $10 and costs a few days ago for raising the gates at a railway crossing in the Toronto suburbs. This is practice which seems to be growing in this city and those who are guilty of it are reminded that their action is not only forbidden but is punishable. The result which might happen from the gates being raised could easily be most serious and the practice should be stopped.

EFFECT OF STANDARD OIL DECISION

The Most Important Event of Financial Week.

Examiner Special

New York, July 27.—By far the most important event of the week in financial circles, and for that matter the most momentous development that has transpired for many months past, was the handing down of the decision by the United States Court of Appeals at Chicago reversing the ruling of Judge Landis and overthrowing the fine of $29,240,000 which was imposed upon the Standard Oil Company by that Judge in the case instituted by the Government against that company for alleged violations of the law in accepting rebates from the Chicago & Alton Railway. At first the far-reaching significance of this decision did not fully dawn upon the financial community, but as soon as it did its influence was felt to a marked extent in the general stock market. Not only did prices for all classes of securities enhance still further in value, but there was also greater activity on both the New York Stock and Consolidated Stock Exchanges, and in places where confidence had not yet been restored optimism took the place of fear.

To those acquainted with the effect which the imposition of the fine against the Standard Oil Company, the largest, by the way, which was ever imposed upon any corporation, had upon the general stock market, the fact that values responded in a pronounced measure to the reversal of the decision of the trial judge will not be at all surprising. Although the panic of last fall was not caused immediately by the imposing of this tremendous fine, the event unquestionably went a long way toward precipitating the ruthless sacrificing of stocks and bonds which took place during that period. London and other foreign financial centres were particularly shocked by that happening and it is therefore very natural that, since a new trial has been ordered, confidence on the part of investors abroad will be greatly, if not wholly, restored. It was but to be expected that President Roosevelt would order his Attorney-General to again proceed with vigour against the Standard Oil Company and the announcement of such an order tended in some degree to check the buoyant tone of the stock market toward the close of the week. Nevertheless, the fact has been firmly established that none of the large corporations of this country can be mulcted in any such high-handed manner as was attempted in the case of the Standard Oil Company without being proven guilty of infractions of the law beyond all shadow of a doubt and this will tend in a large degree to entirely restore confidence in the future of all classes of securities.

Peterborough Regiment Returns On Sunday From The Historic City Of Quebec

An Account of Incidents During Their Stay—Nine Die in Camp and 400 in Hospitals—They Fall From the Ranks.

LOCAL BOYS IN GOOD TRIM

Peterborough's militia representatives at the great Tercentenary at Quebec, returned home yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock after having been absent exactly one week and 40 minutes. The company came by special train, which arrived in two sections, the first bearing one division of the Queen's Own and the local boys. The latter brought the 93th Highlanders, the 91st of Hamilton and other western city regiments.

The boys of the 57th report a splendid time in the historic city of Quebec. In fact the scenes they saw there are indescribable but the spirit of them will always remain fresh in their memories. The Pageants—representing the battles and historic occurrences since the landing of Champlain 300 years ago — the British, French and United States Warships lying in the harbour, the city dressed in its purple garb, the resplendent fireworks and the memories of the long past event all conspired to imprint on the minds of the Peterborough people a picture that will remain long with them.

The great event of the celebration so far as the volunteers were concerned was the military review on Friday afternoon when some 20,000 troops formed one long line. The 57th composite company showed up well among the others and were congratulated for their splendid marching and movements.

Death Amongst Them

During the week, nine men died from accidents, lock jaw and sunstroke. One of the members of the 57th stated that the heat was so wilting that every day men standing in the ranks were seen to drop to the ground. Besides the nine dead 400 were or are in the hospitals at Quebec. The militia men therefore learned something of what a soldier's life is like and others may see that it is not all a bed of roses. The Peterborough men, however, were of the sturdy variety and not during the whole week did one of them drop out of the ranks.

British Jack Tars

The local boys have great praise to offer for the manner in which the British Marines conduct themselves while on or off the big men-of-war.

"They are gentlemen, all the way through," remarked the Examiner's informant, "and no one who saw them act could fail to have respect for them."

As far as soldierly bearing, uniforms, stature and marching are concerned they excel over their French and Yankee friends.

Camp life in Quebec was not without its amusing scenes as previous letters from the Examiner's correspondent there indicated. Ask the boys from Peterborough whether they had beans for breakfast, dinner or tea or not and how they thrived on the vegetarian diet. Their camp jester too, who returned with them yesterday, was the source of much mirth.

The celebration continues another week and by July 31 will be a thing of the past. But the memory of the event, its wonderful and unique incidents, will be the reward of the thousands of pilgrims who journeyed eastward to witness a tercentenary for the first and last time in their lives.

Tramp Struck Hired Man And Refused To Go Away Hungry

Was Arrested at St. Joseph's Hospital This Morning by P. C. Meharry—Promised to Leave the City And Was Taken at His Word.

HE HAD DEMANDED FOOD

In the absence of Magistrate Dumble this morning, City Clerk Armstrong held a reception for "hoboes," and concluded by giving one man fifteen days on the hill and the other fifteen minutes to find the city's boundary and beat it in whatever direction he chose.

J. Oliver was the first prisoner heard. His only offence was that of being poor and unable to support himself. The other of the duet was a man named Quinlan. He had landed in the city yesterday, and this morning stirred up trouble at St. Joseph's Hospital. He went around to the kitchen and demanded food. Officer Meharry stated that he had used abusive language towards several of the sisters, and refused to go away when ordered. He had been promised food, but his actions led to his being refused it, and he considered that no matter what he had done he should receive what had been promised him. A hired man at the hospital tried to eject Quinlan, but in spite of his fifty-nine years, he proved to be the master of the situation and struck the hospital man on the head.

"I asked him what he wanted," the officer stated in court, "and he said he wanted something to eat. I told him he had better come along with me and see what could be done for him."

At ten o'clock he still had nothing to eat. He promised the court that he would leave the city directly and was let go with a warning, and with the understanding that he would transport himself to "any old place" other than Peterborough.

AUTHORITIES' ATTENTION DIRECTED TO EAST CITY CREEK

The city authorities cannot act too soon in the removal of the awful stench existing in the creek south of Hunter street east, just east of the Rapid Tool factory. In fact, the conditions there demand the immediate attention of the Board of Health, Health Inspector, and all other authorities interested in the health of the citizens. The odour arising from this "hot bed" of disease is simply beyond description, and unless something is done we will be hearing of typhoid fever cases before long.

The water in the creek is low and stagnant. Weeds and rubbish lying in it have become decomposed by the heat of the sun beating down upon them. Nobody can tell exactly what other ingredients are mixed up among the foul-smelling molecules of this repugnant spot, and it is safe to say that nobody cares to investigate.

This matter is something that should be attended to at once, before the health of citizens in East City is imperilled by its existence.

WEALTHY PITTSBURGER HAS FINE LAUNCH

A beautiful, well equipped yacht was launched from a flat car on the G.T.R. tracks in Lindsay last week. It is the property of Mr. Rowe, a Pittsburg man. It was built by the Canadian Power, Gas and Launch Co., Toronto. It is about 28 feet long, with a very powerful gasoline engine, and fully equipped with electric lights. The crew of five, with provisions, later sailed for Mr Rowe's cottage at Stony Lake, and last Friday went over the lift lock here and down to Rices Lake.

PASSING OF THE PAVILION PIANO OCCASIONS A FEW REGRETS AT JUNIPER ISLAND

SATURDAY EVENING DANCE

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, July 27.—"Going, Going, Gone!" The auctioneer's hammer falls, twenty-one dollars is forthcoming, and the pavilion piano—which "almost plays itself," goes the way of Tara's harp.

It was not without a pang of regret that the week-end merry-makers at Juniper Island beheld the passing of the venerable instrument which has radiated central energy for the past revels of Stony Lakers for almost a decade. Although overtaken prematurely, perhaps, by senile infirmities, the varied usefulness of its service is attested by the autographs and quaint inscriptions with which it is embellished externally, after the manner of a rural railway station.

"The soul of music" henceforth will be shed by a new upright of excellent tone and more prepossessing appearance. It was brought into service for the first time on Saturday night.

The end of the week at the lake brought with it the usual melange of colour and music and gaiety, and more than the usual number of visitors. Each up boat poured forth its quota of tired city toilers to be assimilated by care-free sojourners in Kawarthadom.

It is doubtful if any event in the summer social calendar will bring together a jollier crowd than that which participated in the week-end dance, the pleasure of which was enhanced in no small measure by the special musical features. Interspersed with the piano numbers were several dance selections, played by Misses Wallis, Sanderson and Choate, violinists, and Miss Sanderson, accompanist.

During the evening the piano was disposed of by auction, the Hon. L. Grahame being the highest bidder.

Among those present at the dance were: Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton, Miss Alberta Gooding, Mrs. (Hon.) L. Grahame, the Misses Grahame, Mrs. Sanderson, Miss Sanderson, Miss Lenore Sanderson, Mrs. Quarrington, Miss Quarrington, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. McClennan, Mr. Harold Meldrum, Mr. Crane, Mr. E. Johnston, Mr. Bruce Gillespie, Mr. F. S. Anderson, Mr. W. J. Bradley, Mr. Roy Trebilcock, Mr. W. C. Gall, Mr. Wallis.

Rev. Dr. Chown, of Toronto, addressed a large audience at the Juniper Island pavilion on Sunday morning. The special music in the form of a solo, rendered by Master Clarence Quarrington, Toronto, was a pleasing feature of the service.

Preparing for Regatta

Mr. Wm. J. Bradley of the Toronto Canoe Club is spending a few days about the lake, and while here will make arrangements for a number of the club's members to take part in the regatta. THE NEW VEST-POCKET BOX OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Allows Everyone to Try Out These Wonderful Fruit Juice Tablets at a Cost of Only Twenty-five Cents.

Put up in 50c. boxes only, "Fruit-a-tives" has in the last four years gained a tremendous and rapidly increasing sale, and a reputation for remarkable cures in every part of Canada.

During this time hundreds of people have been asking for a 25c. box to try. They have heard of "Fruit-a-tives," and of the benefit it is giving to thousands, but some people hesitate to pay 50c. just to try a remedy that is new to them.

It has been found, too, that many would like to carry a box of "Fruit-a-tives" in their pocket, so as to have them handy for regular use, and the 50c. box is too large for that.

To meet these needs we have put out a new 25c. trial size—a neat, compact little box that can easily be carried in the vest-pocket, and which contains tablets enough to last two or three weeks—long enough to find out that "Fruit-a-tives" is the best remedy of the kind in the world.

There is now no reason why every person in Canada who suffers from Constipation, Biliousness, Kidney or Liver Trouble, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Skin Diseases, Indigestion, Dyspepsia or Headache should not try "Fruit-a-tives" and get quick relief and eventually a complete cure. "Fruit-a-tives" are concentrated Fruit Juice Tablets. 25c. is all it costs to test the value of the most successful medicine ever produced in Canada.

If your dealer has not both the 25c. trial size and the regular 50c. boxes, write direct to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont., and we will send to you direct.

BANQUET AT HISTORIC QUEBEC

Imperial Notables Address Gathering at Big Dinner.

ROYAL GUEST IS THANKED

Lord Grey Expresses Appreciation of Prince's Kindly Interest In Canada —Letter of Regret and Felicitation From Louis Botha of Transvaal —In Times of War Races Are One, Says Whitney.

Quebec, July 27.—The state dinner was a brilliant function on Saturday night at the Citadel. Colonial representatives were a feature of the celebration, which more fully represented the imperial character of the celebration than any previous social function.

The guests were received by the Governor-General, before the magnificent dining-room in the Citadel was entered by the guests among whom were practically all the notable visitors who are kept at the celebration.

After the royal toast, Earl Grey proposed that of the Prince of Wales.

Great enthusiasm was manifested as the National Anthem was played. When the cheering ended the Prince addressed the company. In the course of his speech he said:

"I can assure you that everything which conduces to the prosperity and well-being of the Dominion is watched with the keenest interest by the Mother Country. As the representative of our King I knew that an enthusiastic greeting awaited me in Quebec, but the marked affection of that greeting has touched me more deeply; indeed, it is not possible to express all I feel. The three hundredt birthday of Quebec has been made the occasion, not of parochial or provincial, but of national and imperial importance." (Cheers.)

It was announced by Earl Grey before Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposed the toast of the self-governing colonies that he had ordered Australian and South African wine to be poured so that the toast would be honored in no foreign wine.

In proposing the toast of the self-governing colonies Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that as he advanced in years he appreciated more the wisdom of the British constitution, under which he was born and brought up and which had given to the various portions of the Empire their separate free Governments.

"It is our proud boast that Canada is the freest country in the world. It is our boast that in this country liberty of all kinds, civil and religious, liberty flourishes in the highest degree," declared Sir Wilfrid, who referred to the presence of Vice-President Fairbanks and the representative of the French republic, and went on:

"While we are loyal British subjects, it must not be forgotten that we are French subjects of His Majesty, and while we have been separated from France in a political sense for nearly 150 years, all our sympathies go out to the country to which we owe our origin."

Sir Wilfrid touched in happy terms on each of the colonies. He regretted that Premier Botha of the Transvaal could not be present and read Gen. Botha's reply to Sir Wilfrid's invitation. It contained the heartiest hopes for the solidifying of the Empire and thanking the Premier for his interest in South Africa.

Hon. Stewart Pitts replied on behalf of Newfoundland, and was followed by Lord Dudley, the newly-appointed Governor-General of Australia. In conclusion the latter said:

"Your Royal Highness, amidst strife and suffering, and as the cost of much valuable life, the national edifice has been constructed, but these celebrations bring home to us a realization of the fact that to-day old differences are forgotten in the determination of a united people, to march forward in undivided strength to the great destiny which awaits them."

Earl Ranfurly, formerly Governor-General of New Zealand, responded for that colony. He thanked Sir Wilfrid Laurier for his kind reference to Sir Richard Seddon, who was Premier during the several years of the earl's governorship. New Zealand's message, said the earl, was that it might take the practical form for which the Dominion and its people were noted. New Zealand was ready to give liberally of her sons when their active services were needed. When famine or fire caused distress and disaster, she sent large contributions to India, then to Ottawa.

"I have the great honor of handing to His Excellency the Governor-General a check for £1,000, as a small contribution, showing practically the sympathy of the people of New Zealand in this great movement."

Sir H. Devilliers, noted his presence as the result of the first occasion on which the different South African Governments had come to a joint decision. They had not rivers or lakes in South Africa, as in Canada, but they had European races as virile as in Canada. A large proportion of the people were descended from French Huguenots and they had retained the faith of their forefathers just as the French-Canadians had adhered to their old faith, while the same French blood flowed in their veins.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec, proposed the health of the visiting Premiers of other provinces.

Premier Whitney replied, sketching in briefly the swift spirit of union that had grown up among the races. It was when a foreign power had attacked Canada in 1812 that Chateauguay and de Salabery had risen to arms along with the Anglo-Canadians and had shown that French or English, in time of stress the nationalities were one.

His Royal Highness then arose, and, with the manifest approval of the guests present, toasted Earl Grey in a speech that was loudly applauded.

"If it were possible to propose the toast with which I am now entrusted to the whole population of the Dominion," he said, "it would, I am sure, be certain of a welcome no less enthusiastic, no less affectionate than will be accorded to it by this distinguished company, for it is the health of my noble friend, the Governor-General."

On rising to reply Earl Grey was loudly cheered.

He thanked the sister colonies for their support and help in the tercentenary and the foreign nations that had lent their aid to make it a success.

His Royal Highness having handed to the Governor-General a check for £10,000, representing the contributions from England to the battlefield fund, His Excellency thanked the prince for this additional proof of the interest he had shown in the redemption of the battlefields. He said that he would send a cable in the name of all present thanking Lord Middleton, chairman of the English committee, for their contribution and for their action in affording the people of England an opportunity of associating themselves with the gift of Canada on her 300th birthday through the hands of the Prince of Wales.

The Prince of Wales attended divine service in the English Cathedral of the Holy Trinity yesterday morning. The church was reserved and no crowding occurred, the arrangements being excellent. Saturday's performance of the pageants before the Prince of Wales surpassed all previous ones.

The singing of "O, Canada" at the finish brought the Prince of Wales to the front of his box, where he stood with bared head. After the National Anthem had been sung the armies lined up around the Wolfe and Montcalm monument.

Every regiment which took part in the great conflict was represented, and the sight was one of beauty as the ranks presented arms, the flags of 150 years ago were dropped in salutation, and a wreath from every host was laid at the foot of the monument.

Says Conflict With Germany Will Come In Few Years.

FEARS TURKISH SITUATION

Kaiser May Take Hand In Present Crisis In Sultan's Domain and Precipitate Trouble—Cromer Warns Government Against Careless Extravagance—Consols Drop on Account of His Speech.

London, July 27.—Not for a long time has England been disturbed by so grave a warning from an eminent statesman as was uttered last week when Lord Cromer gave his ultimate reason for opposing the policy of the present Government. He frankly affirmed his belief that while the Government was light-heartedly embarking on an old-age pension scheme of enormous expense, the country was rapidly approaching the deadly crisis of a European war.

His words have been read throughout Europe with apprehension and alarm. Consols fell sharply when they became public, and now they are being discussed with the seriousness that their import demands. It is this excerpt from his speech that is attracting universal attention:

"What is the present condition of Europe is the main duty which devolves upon the Government of this country? Their main duty is to make provision betimes for a European conflict which may not improbably be forced on us before many years have elapsed.

"I am aware that the mass of the people of this country are not alive to the possibility of any such conflict taking place. It says it is the duty of a Government to provide betimes for that danger, a danger of which I, in common, I believe, with most people who can speak with real authority on foreign affairs, am firmly convinced exists.

"My lords, I am now treading on delicate ground. It is neither necessary nor desirable that I should state at any length my reason for this opinion. I will only say that in order to justify it it is quite unnecessary to impugn the good faith of those high authorities abroad who constantly reiterate their peaceful intentions. Neither is it necessary to hold that any intentions deliberately hostile to this country.

"We are, however, living in times when the influence of individuals, however highly placed, is limited. When national interests are involved and race passion is excited there is always a risk, and more than a risk, that a collision between rival nations will take place, however pacific the intentions of their rulers. Let me add that if, as I believe will be the case, the enactment of this law imperils the cause of free trade, the chances of a collision will be materially increased."

It is, of course, perfectly understood that the peril Lord Cromer foresees lies in the direction of Germany. His special information can, of course, only be conjectured, but it is a fact that all who possess it share his apprehension. Some of these individuals criticize rather severely King Edward's latest move in the formation of a great European peace bund. They argue that the combination is now too large for stability. Moreover, the recent Anglo-Russian entente has exasperated Germany to a dangerous extent.

For this reason the serious crisis in the near east is regarded with some uneasiness throughout Europe. The revolt of the Young Turks has reached the proportions of a revolution, and Abdul Hamid, clever as he is, has been compelled to yield to the present. But it is by no means certain that his grant of a constitution will check the rebellion. No previous discontent in Turkey has involved the widespread sedition in the army which undoubtedly exists now.

Turkish patriotism is religious rather than political or dynastic. The Musaulman's loyalty is to the Koran, not to the sovereign. The present fear is that the Sultan will seek the military aid of Germnay and there are many rumors to this effect. Such action would create a grave situation among the powers as well as locally. Changes which have been made in the Sultan's entourage are widely interpreted, however, especially in London, as signifying a break in German influence and the re-establishment of the English, because the deposed Grand Vizier was of German proclivities and his successor is of English sympathies.

Fisherman Drowns.

Drops Dead In Fields.

East Toronto, July 27.—Henry Sharrard, a farmer living about a mile and a quarter northeast of the town, while engaged in cultivating with a team of horses on Saturday afternoon, was taken suddenly ill with heart trouble, and expired before aid arrived.

Ice Cream Kills Her.

Toronto, July 27.—It is expected that Dr. Sheard, medical health officer, will to-day commence a searching investigation into the methods employed by street ice cream vendors in preparing their wares.

As a result of ptomaine poisoning due to eating ice cream purchased from an itinerant dealer, Teresa, the 13-year-old daughter and only child of John and Rose Latchen, 7 Niagara street, died last evening.

On Tuesday last she had partaken of some of the congealed "deliciacy," so greatly sought after by children, and purchased it on Portland street, and the same night she was seized with violent pains. All efforts to save her were in vain and she died last night.

Fatal Melee at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 27.—In a general melee which took place among the Italians in their quarter of the town last night, one man is dead, having been riddled with bullets, five penetrating his breast and one through his head, and another was severely clubbed and stabbed so badly that no hopes are held for his recovery. Others were more or less injured by knives and clubs, which were used in the fight. Seven arrests have been made, and the police think they have the murderers. Other arrests are likely to follow.

Three Children Perish.

Fostoria, Ohio, July 27.—The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Doke were burned to death in their home here Saturday. The father and mother had gone down town shopping and left the little ones at home, locked in the house. It is supposed they attempted to light a gasoline stove. The house was burned. The children, two girls and a boy were aged 6, 4 and 2 years.

Venezuelan Consul Mobbed.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, July 27.—The relations between Venezuela and the people of the Island of Curacao, Dutch West Indies, are strained to the breaking point.

Mobs gathered in force in this capital Saturday night and yesterday and expressed their resentment in an attack upon the home of a Venezuelan who had published statements in Venezuelan papers derogatory to the island, and later held violent demonstrations in front of the residence of the Venezuelan consul; surrounded the German consulate, where he had taken refuge, and compelled the ordering out of armed troops so that the consul might be protected from injury.

LAKE SHORE TOWN LOSES TO HOMESTERS IN SHUT-OUT GAME

Athletics Play Errorless Ball on Saturday—Have 10 Hits to 3—Quinlan's Great Work.

SOME GOOD PLAYS MADE

Peterborough Athletics shut out Cobourg in a Midland League game at Riverside Park on Saturday, 5—0.

The homesters always looked sure winners and for this reason the game was lacking in exciting features. Quinlan did the heaving for the locals and held the visitors to three hits and issued no charities. On the other hand, the home team reached McKinnon's benders for ten safeties and also had a perfect fielding record. Cobourg had the weakest team they have mustered this season, and did fairly well under the circumstances. Manager Mulhall had to play first base and had three fumbles that helped in the run getting. He came in for considerable attention from the grand stand.

"Two bits you strike out," was one of the remarks that was wafted down by the breezes as "Slick" made a vicious swing and missed.

"I don't believe any of you has two bits," was Mr Mulhall's retort, which shows that he is a man of much knowledge and superior judgment.

About 300 people saw the game and were well pleased with the result. The Athletics got two in the first, one in the second, one in the fourth and one in the sixth. Only 31 Cobourg men were at bat,, the side going out in one, two, three order in five innings.

Common Sense Necessary In Newspaper Journalism

Weird Report in Lindsay Free Press of Lacrosse Game There —Some of the Sporting Editor's Remarks.

WHERE INACCURACY EXISTS

The report given by the Lindsay Free Press of the Peterborough-Lindsay lacrosse match of Thursday, is the most laughable account of a sporting event that has ever graced the annals of Canadian journalism. It reads very much like the description that might be given by a ten year old school boy, and the Peterborough people who have seen the article have been wearing a broad smile ever since. If possible the report should be framed and sent to the museum. It would be a shame to have it drift into oblivion.

Some idea of the ridiculous nature of the account may be had when it is stated that the Free Press called the Peterboroughs the strongest lacrosse team that ever left the Quaker City. Aint it awful, Maud? Did you ever hear anything like that before?

The Peterborough team was picked up at the last minute. They had had no practice whatever. Some of the men had never played in their positions before, and the twelve men were together for the first time. A more ridiculous statement it would be hard to imagine.

The Free Press, in a three column heading, remarks that Peterborough was utterly outclassed. A 1—0 score made in the last four minutes of play looks as if the Peterboroughs were outclassed, doesn't it? And the Free Press knows so little about the game that it doesn't even give the correct account of how the goal was scored.

The Free Press says that Bangely, of Lindsay, has everything in eastern Ontario skinned at the great game. The one thing that made Bansely conspicuous was a green sweater. Probably a tip to the sporting editor resulted in the boost.

The writer of the article should be ashamed of himself. His disregard for the truth and his utter lack of knowledge of lacrosse should make him leave the assignment of writing up lacrosse games to some one that knows a lacrosse stick from a tennis raquet.

The other Lindsay papers have fair, impartial accounts of the game, and the Free Press will go on the rocks soon if it allows the insane partiality of its ambitious city editor to run away with his sense of fairness as it has done in this case. It is certain that the write up will be regarded as a joke, even in Lindsay. It is country journalism of the crudest type and worthy of the smallest backwoods weekly, where indeed, the man who wrote it would have a hard time holding his own. Although it seems like boasting, the Peterborough twelve will make Lindsay look as cheap as John Hogan's new Panama in the return game that will be played this week. The same John is, no doubt, the author of the remarkable story of the game. It sounds very much like his style, and although he has turned out some marvellous articles, this is certainly his masterpiece.

WARSAW DEFEATS HAVELOCK IN SEMI-FINAL SOCER GAME

Havelock and Warsaw football teams, winners of their respective districts, met on Saturday afternoon at Norwood in the semi-final game in the Midland League, the victory being won by the latter. The score was 2 to 1. The game was rather fast and exciting, considering the heat, and, according to the winners, they had it all over the men from the railway town. The latter, perhaps, may have a different story to tell. Warsaw's goals were scored by Billy Bell and A. Payne, the latter being the result of a long drive. Fred Doherty of the Norwood team refereed satisfactorily.

The winners lined up as follows:—

Goal—A. Carvetn.

Backs—Graham, H. Payne.

Half Backs—A. Payne, Kidd, Charlton.

Forwards—Darling, M. Carvetn, Bell, McCuhill, Johnston.

WELLINGTONS WIN A GAME

Kids Defeat T. A. S. and Notch Their First Victory.

Probably the biggest surprise in the city league this summer was the T.A.S.-Wellington game on Saturday afternoon. The tail-enders certainly stirred up the quiet finals of the league by winning out from the T.A.S. by the score of 19—9. Both teams started out with only 8 men a side and after the third innings McFadden of the red and black retired leaving "Lay" Deracher only 7 men to fight it out. This handicap certainly counted and took the vim out of the team. Another report says that Dickey the Wellington's extra slab artist was not touched freely for hits while the "kids" did not have much trouble in connecting with Hayes' shoots. Bill Shaw of the Strathconas went in to umpire but on the request of the T.A.S. was replaced by Clancy on account of his decisions. The red and black were certainly up against it and the Wellingtons took advantage of every opening.

The teams lined up as follows:

The teams lined up as follows:—

Wellingtons—

Dickey, pitcher.
Billington, catcher.
Fillon, 1st base.
R. Johnston, 2nd base.
L. Johnston, shortstop.

Rightmeyer, right field.

DOMINION AMMUNITION

LOCAL INDIAN WALKED FIVE TIMES

Aftermath of the Marathon—Queen Applauds Woods, the First Canuck Home.

London, July 27.—Special. — Archibald was unnerved in his pole vault yesterday on hearing that Longboat had expired in the great long Marathon race. But the Indian quieted all these exaggerated rumours by appearing in the Stadium all smiles.

He was second at 16 miles in 97 1-2 minutes, but walked the 17th. Overtaken by Appleby, he collapsed, and was placed in a motor car and brought to the Stadium. He fainted when he fell, and his mouth was bloody.

Queen Applauds

The early pace, which was very fast, and the sticky weather killed off the favourites.

Sherring Shocked

Trainer Sherring was dumbfounded at the backwardness of the Canadians in the race, considering the slowness of the time. They were not overtrained, in his estimation.

Woods alone of the Canadians ran throughout. Simpson walked five times.

SAYS LONGBOAT WAS AHEAD

Indian Had Passed Dorando and Overtaken Hefferon When He Collapsed

London, July 27.—Flanagan states that Longbout overhauled the field in fine style in the Marathon, and between the fifteenth and sixteenth mile had passed the Italian, overtaking Hefferon, the only man in front, and Flanagan thought the race certain when the collapse came, and the Indian spun round and fell heavily, bleeding at the nose. "It was probably the heat," says Flanagan. "I still think Longbout the finest runner in the world.

Longbout, seen after the race, could not explain his collapse. He was running strong and in a good position when he fell like a log.

Flanagan said it was incomprehensible, the other Canadians were quite fit.

WARSAW AND WARKWORTH ARE IN THE FINALS

To Play Off for Championship of Midland League Next Saturday.

The finals in the Association football games in the Midland League will be played between Warsaw and Warkworth. Last Wednesday evening Warkworth and Bowmanville met in Colborne, the former winning easily by the score of 3 to 1. On Saturday Warsaw trimmed Havelock in Norwood by the score of 2 to 1, thereby completing the semi-finals. The finil will likely be another sudden death game in Norwood next Saturday for the championship and the Stratton Trophy.

TERCENTENARY SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S

History of Canada Reviewed—Special Music Given.

The morning service yesterday at St. John's was made special yesterday in connection with the Tercentenary celebration last week at Quebec.

The organ voluntaries were airs of British and French national anthems, and the choral service opened with the processional hymn, "Rejoice To-day With One Accord." The service was splendidly led by the large choir, and the congregation heartily did their part. Archdeacon Batty, in his sermon, reviewed the history of Canada from the founding of Quebec to the present time, and he fully believed that the reason for the leading position occupied by the Anglo-Saxon race was that they had a firm trust in God. The character of a nation was as that of its citizens and the present generation would largely give the tone to the great nation now being built up with such brilliant prospects.

During the offertory Mr. G. Chandler sang Kipling's "Recessional" with great effect, and the service was concluded with the hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." Mr. R. J. Devey's post-voluntary was "God Save the King," (varied) by John Hiles.

The Evensong was fully choral and the anthem "There Is a Blessed Home," by Marks, was sung well by the choir. The opening solo was sweetly sung by Cyril Devey and Arthur Horsfield, and the duet, "There is a Land of Peace," was expressively rendered by Mrs. R. J. Devey and Mr. G. Chandler.

After Evensong in the vestry, Archdeacon Beatty, in bidding good-bye to the choristers, congratulated them on their splendid work for God and the church, and expressed his great personal pleasure in the services during his two months stay. After giving out the notices in the evening service Archdeacon Batty took the opportunity to heartily thank the congregation for their many acts of kindness and hospitality to him during his stay among them.

BOX CAR TRAVELLER FROM MONTREAL TELLS OF HIS RIDE; NOTHING TO EAT OR DRINK

Locked With a Friend in Narrow And Dark Enclosure—An Unpleasant Trip—How Escape Was Made in Peterborough.

CAME WEST FOR WORK

From Montreal to Peterboro gin, locked in a boxcar with not so much as a crumb to satisfy a lingering hunger, in perhaps one of the most experiences a person would desire. It is an uninviting experience that falls to the lot of a few, and that few is almost confined to the membership of the "Knights of the Road"—those "weary Willies" whose sole aim is an aimless journey through parts presenting the least resistance and providing the most "grub" and old for nothing. However, on Friday, before the clocks announced the time for the midday meal, two youths arrived in Peterborough inside a boxcar, which had provided them a shelter, but nothing else, from the city of Montreal, about 250 miles away.

Interviewed by an Examiner reporter on Saturday afternoon, Tom Eastman, one of the two, related some interesting details of the tedious and eventful journey of a day and a half's duration, which was only terminated by good fortune on the part of the boxcar travellers Eastman is a lively youth, who scarcely yet has got beyond his teens He says his home is in Waterville, Que., and that he had never heard of Peterborough until he saw the name written on the station wall This seemed rather peculiar to the newspaper man, when he recollected that we had a big lift lock here and that we turned out in our time some famous hockey players, not mentioning dozens who have shone in other fields of sport. But Eastman did not know of Peterborough probably because he had spent his days among the rural districts of Quebec and apart from places where newspapers were procurible.

Locked in the Car

Finding himself in Montreal a few days ago without work and with little of the necessaries of life, he with his friend, David Pearson, decided to come west to somewhere and look for work. Not desiring to spend the meagre sum of money they had, they chose the uncongenial interior of a boxcar on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Montreal was soon left behind. Eastman was the only one of the travellers who could say he had money, and he had but a lone dollar in change.

A boxcar possibly possesses few comforts for a passenger, but the young hopefuls didn't mind the absent cushion seats. No conductor called around between stations for their tickets, and this more than counterpoised the lack of comfortable apartments. All went well for the first 50 or more miles. The door had not been locked and they were able to look out upon nature's fields and woodlands and enjoy life. But not for long. At the fourth or fifth station on their journey some unconsciously inconsiderate trainman locked the door of the car, and from that time forth they saw little of the light of day until they emerged from their sombre prison on Friday at noon in Peterborough.

A Passing Samaritan

In relating the story, Eastman told of how he managed to escape. Peering through a small crack in the door of the car, he noticed someone pass, whose attention was soon attracted by violent kicking on the side of the car, but the passer-by was somewhat "leery" of letting them out. Finally, through the assistance of twenty-five cents of his money, he persuaded the party on the outside to break open the door, and once more he and his friend gained their liberty.

With seventy-five cents left, they betook themselves to an hotel and were soon enjoying a hearty meal During the afternoon Pearson became intoxicated. Wine had exerted its somniferous influence over him, and in disgust Eastman deserted him. On Friday night the latter stayed at the Peterborough House, spending his last quarter for a bed—with breakfast kindly thrown in—and on Saturday he started out to look for work with a farmer, with not so much money as would buy a postage stamp. He was directed to a farmer near Millbrook, to which place he walked yesterday in search of labour.

ANDREW THOMPSON KILLED IN RAILWAY WRECK IN SEATTLE

Mr. Peter Thompson, plumbing inspector, has received a letter from W. H. Coughlin, 302 American Bank Building, Seattle, Wash., asking for information regarding the relatives of the late Andrew Thompson, who was killed in that city in a railway accident, July 7th. The deceased, at the time of his death, was 41 years old. His father's name is William Thompson and his mother Ann Thompson. He had three brothers in Toronto and two nieces in Hamilton.

Mr. Thompson in reply stated that he did not know the deceased. He handed the letter over to Chief Rogzel, and any person knowing the whereabouts of relatives of the late Andrew Thompson are asked to leave the information with the chief.

Salvation Army Band Has Decided Upon Two Trips

The Salvation Army Band's trip has been finally decided upon and the week's tour will not be held because many of the bandsmen find it impossible to leave their work. However, the band will go to Cobourg on Saturday, August 8th and will return in the evening of Monday, Aug. 10th, Civic Holiday. This week end affords an outing of almost three days and the idea appeals to the bandsmen.

On September 7th the Band will have a trip to either Montreal or Ottawa, possibly the latter city. The trip will be begun on Saturday, Sept. 5th, and as Monday is Labour Day the trip will be like the first. The band will be strong, having nearly all its bandsmen and under Mr. J M Greene they should give a good account of themselves. They have been practising faithfully and their appearance has never been better. The result is that they should win fresh laurels for themselves and the city.

Says A Shortage Of Cars Will Again Affect Price Of Coal

A prominent local coal dealer asserted to-day that in all probability there will be a high price demanded for coal this winter for the same reasons as last year. The prospects in the west are that an enormous crop will be harvested and a larger number of cars will be required to handle the grain.

This affects the supply of coal cars there will be a shortage. This resulting, the coal will not be delivered there will be a shortage. This as it should and on account of the short supplies the price will be sure to increase. Thus the dealer explains the state of affairs. The large factories are beginning to boom and are ordering their shipments of coal. The dealer spoke as if he were giving a bit of solid advice and urged the early purchase of coal for the winter.

CAMPBELLFORD MAN'S MONEY DISAPPEARS

Fred Burleigh Said to be the Guilty One.

Mr. Arthur Blue was robbed on Sunday evening of a purse containing $31 and other valuable papers, by a slick gent from Peterborough, named Fred Burleigh. He met Mr. Blue at Peterborough on July 12 and asked him if there was work in Campbellford. Mr. Blue told him there was a great amount of work being done on the canal and that he might get a job. He then borrowed a dollar from Mr. Blue to pay his fare here. He succeeded in getting work on the canal, but on Saturday night he was paid in full—and got full.

On Sunday just after tea he went to Mr. Blue's house for a friendly visit, but did not remain long. Mr. Blue had left his vest on the table with the purse in it, and while looking in the bookcase for some books, Burleigh did the trick. Soon after he departed the purse was missed, and Constable Linn was notified, but the thief had jumped the town, and no trace of him has yet been found. —Campbellford Despatch.

THE INCREASE OF THE PUBLIC DEBT.

Conservative journals are trying to make capital at the expense of the Laurier administration, by calling attention to the great increase which has taken place in the capital expenditure of the Dominion. It is their right to criticize that expenditure and to protest against its increase on public grounds, but if their protests are to be effective they will have to show that their attitude and course in Parliament have been in harmony with their present contentions.

Mr. Fielding was able to show, replying to the criticisms of Mr. Foster, that some of the very members of the Opposition, who were raising the strongest objections to the increasing expenditure had, during the session, been making complaints because no appropriations were proposed for their constituencies. (The man who finds fault with increasing expenditure on the one hand, and with the Government's refusal to make an appropriation for his constituency, on the other, is a political Pecksniff of the most contemptible kind.

At the same time there is a good deal of force in the contention that the expenditure for other purposes should be kept down as much as practicable during the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway. It was foreseen from the beginning that the expense of putting through the eastern division as a Government work would be very great. The experience of the last three years has proved conclusively that it will be considerably greater than was anticipated. There is in this fact all the more reason for economy to the utmost practicable extent until the road has been constructed and is in a position to begin earning revenue for the company that is to operate it.

It will be impossible to prevent the public debt from increasing during the next few years, but, the passing away of the present sharp depression and the influx of immigrants will speedily increase its buoyancy and there will be the usual old-fashioned revenue. The proper course will then be to keep down expenditure on works of a purely local character, and set off the annual surpluses against the increasing debt. If this policy is pursued there can be no danger to the credit of the Dominion in the great money centre of the world.

CANADIANS AND THE PRINCE OF WALES.

According to the Prince's own statement he has now visited Canada some half-dozen times, the most recent visit, until the present, having taken place some few years ago, when he was accompanied by the Princess. Both then and now he acted as representative of his father, King Edward VII. On each of these visits he received the most ample proof, if any were needed, of his popularity with the Canadian people of all races and classes.

On the occasion of his last visit he was making a tour of the Empire. He was then in a position to make comparisons between the Dominion of Canada, the colonies of South Africa and the Commonwealth of Australia. There can be no doubt that he was then greatly impressed with the progress and prospects of this country. He is too frank to be a mere diabarser of compliments and he unquestionably spoke his own opinions in appraising the standing and influence of Canada as highly as he did.

Short as the interval has been between these two visits he would be able to see a great deal of progress, not so much with the physical eye, but with the mental apprehension resulting from his coming in close contact with those who have the direction of public affairs and from whom no doubt he will receive information and obtain impressions that will prove useful to him, in forming an idea of our progress.

The exceptional popularity of the Prince of Wales is easily understood. It is due in part to his representative character; in part to his personal qualities. He comes officially as representing a throne. He brings to the tercentenary celebration of the founding of Canada the greetings and good wishes of the King. It is just forty-eight years since King Edward visited this country as Prince of Wales. It is well known that ever since he has cherished kindly recollections of that journey and has taken a deepening interest in the progress of this country. It is in his time that Canada included only the provinces of Quebec and Ontario. Within a very few years after his visit these two provinces with New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were united in one Dominion. Now that Dominion extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the United States to the Arctic Ocean. Instead of two provinces there are nine, and each of these nine has a greatly increased and still increasing population. The Prince is, therefore, in a position not merely to convey his father's appreciation of the value of the Dominion, but his own matured opinion on the same point.

But his popularity depend also on his own popularity. He is absolutely free from any affectation of dignity, goes about without any oppressive sense of his real status, and displays on all occasions a consideration for others which is the outcome of genuine kindness of heart. He had had the good fortune to be in his youth for a number of years an officer in training for the Royal Navy, and the Prince is to a great measure lost in the sailor. He knows what the British marines have to undergo, and he is constantly thinking of ways by which he can save them trouble. His attitude towards the crowds at the celebration partook of the same character and no body of people could be quicker than Canadians to notice these personal traits.

This visit of the Prince will do a world of good. It will enable him to understand many things which would otherwise remain obscure to him. It will enable him to play his part in the councils of state, not merely when he becomes King, as he will, but now, whilst he keeps a very close relationship with the King, his father. It will also enable him to check and test the opinions of statesmen on colonial questions, and while he may not be able to treat projects of which he approves, in the way they should be treated, he can express opinions privately, if not publicly, to those who can advance them. May the day be distant when he ascends the throne, but when in the course of nature that event comes about the people of Canada can rest assured that they are not losing anything in the change of monarchs.

THE ESCAPING OF TORONTO PRISONERS

A few days ago several Toronto prisoners escaped from the city jail in the middle of the afternoon under circumstances that made the story of their achievements read like a fiction. They had to pick a lock, dig a hole in the wall of the jail, and make their escape over a twenty-foot wall enclosing the jail yard. They let themselves down from their cell by an extemporized rope, made of bed clothes, and they made their escape over the wall by hoisting one of their number to its summit, where he was able to pull the other up.

It seems incredible that all this could have taken place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, in a building well supplied with guards, unless there was the greatest negligence, or treachery to the management. The jail is under the charge of a governor who is a retired clergyman and who seems to have acted on the theory that his prisoners were mere unfortunates entitled to sympathy, and likely to profit by the consolations of religion. The sooner the Ontario Government appoints, at the head of Toronto Jail, a trained veteran turnkey with the genius of a detective and the vigilance of a sleuth-hound, the better for the administration of justice.

Pending the investigation that is now in progress, it is not necessary to assign blame to anyone, but it is clear that the Provincial Government will have to take steps to make the management of Toronto Jail thoroughly efficient. Circumstances make it inevitable that it should be in some sense a Provincial prison. Hardened criminals naturally resort to a large city as a meeting place after committing burglaries, or even murders, in other parts of the Province. A large city is the best of hiding places for a man who is seeking obscurity. One of these prisoners had been found guilty of excessive brutality. He had struck over and over again people perfectly defenceless, either through age or sex. He was kept in jail for a few days awaiting sentence. He had nothing to lose by an attempt at jail-breaking, because his sentence was to be imprisonment for life. Common-sense people are asking why such a man should not be sentenced at the time of conviction, and passed on to the penitentiary with the least possible loss of time.

This, along with other occurrences during the past two or three years, has brought home to the people of Ontario a realization of the fact that a great change has taken place in the Department of Justice in this Province. Laxity has taken the place of rigid enforcement of the law. The Provincial detective force is honeycombed with inefficiency or worse. Crown prosecutions on the local circuits are conducted without skill and result in failure. This state of affairs has become notorious, and it will soon become calamitous, unless something is done to put it on a proper foundation.

COMPLAIN OF EAST CITY CESSPOOL

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I see by the Evening Examiner of a few evenings ago, that the aldermen were out making an inspection of some of the lonesome places about the city with a view to giving the people some light. They should have had the Medical Health Officer with them, and then extended their travels into Ward Five. There they would find an excellent chance to get busy. I refer to that disagreeable cess pool lying south of Hunter street and a few yards from Hunter street bridge.

This place at the present time is one of the most loathsome places that any person could possibly look on and if it belonged to a private individual he would get just 24 hours to remove the intolerable nuisance, or he would have to answer for his neglect in the police court. But the city authorities with their characterisite ability for not doing things allow this nuisance to remain. Probably the aldermen are overworked and have not got time to look into this nuisance complained of.

The city council's zeal for street improvement is still very much in evidence a few months ago they paved Hunter street eastward from the post office with crushed stone, rolled it down and left the street in good condition. All this work was paid for with the people's hard earned money, now they are ripping it all up for sewer purposes at the people's expense. I presume the sewer is a necessary thing, but why was it not put there before the street was paved, and save the people the extra cost. If this sort of thing is charistic of shrewd civic management I am glad I am not an alderman. Would you kindly give me space for this letter and oblige?

Yours truly,

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

I AM A MOTHER

How many American women in lonely homes to-day long for this blessing to come into their lives, and to be able to utter these words, but because of some organic derangement this happiness is denied them.

Every woman interested in this subject should know that preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by the use of

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Maggie Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I was greatly run-down in health from a weakness peculiar to my sex, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. It not only restored me to perfect health, but to my delight I am a mother."

Mrs. Josephine Hall, of Bardstown, Ky., writes:

"I was a very great sufferer from female troubles, and my physician failed to help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound not only restored me to perfect health, but I am now a proud mother."

Y. M. C. A. Boys In Camp Lose Ball Game To Lakefield Club

Examiner Special

Y.M.C.A. Camp, Sandy Point, July 26.—On Thursday, July 23, the Emmanuel church of Lakefield held its annual picnic to Sandy Point, and the usual game of baseball was played, which was very close. Had there been fewer errors in certain places we would have won easily. The score at the end of seven innings was 6 to 5 in favour of Lakefield and then the game was called. The teams were as follows—

CAMP—Monk lf, Giroux 2, Froude 3b, Sheehy 2b, Hall p, Kerr 1b, Mitchell ss, Stevens cf, Mowat cf.

Score by innings—

Camp ..... 3010001—5
Lakefield ..... 3200001—6

On Saturday afternoon three of the boys went to one of the cottages to make ice cream for their Lego Bonfire party on that night, which was certainly enjoyed by the visitors. After it was all over and things took two sleepy sids, the boys retired, but after staying in bed for some time, found it was of no use, and prepared to serenade the cook. Songs were sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body" and "We Won't be Home Till Morning." The cook didn't look it as a joke, as it interfered with his sleep, and soon put a stop to it by catching the leader of the gang.

Notes of the Camp

The boys claim a game of football by default from the Brighman party. The game was to have taken place on Monday last, but the latter failed to appear.

The cook is certainly a poet, and he doesn't know it.

No. 2 tent is the hospital tent. "Jack" is sick whenever there is anything to do.

The boys are dreading the day the camp closes, as two weeks never went faster to them.

We all appreciated Mr. Sisson's treat of fruit for supper on Sunday.

I will now have to close, as we are invited out for the evening.

Camp Correspondent.

COLOURED SHIRTS WORN TOO LONG

London Lancet Says They Attract Disease By Infrequent Cleaning.

London, July 25—According to the Lancet, a man who wears coloured shirts is a sloven. The medical journal also declares coloured handkerchiefs an abomination.

"When a man finds it convenient to wear coloured shirts and cuffs," is the argument advanced, "it means in reality he can carry dirt for a little longer without giving offence than if he wore spotlessly white material.

"Materials which don't compel constant change by becoming offensive to the eye, if slightly soiled, are bound to be worn too long. By wearing religiously clean linen a man can reduce his chances of picking up bacteria."

A FALSE CALL FOR THE STEAMER

Unnecessary Delay Occasioned at Campbelltown Landing.

A delay was occasioned on Saturday night by the steamer Otonabee grounding at Campbelltown, so that the passengers on board did not arrive back as early as they had intended. Some persons on shore seemed to be beckoning for the steamer to call, which she courteously did, but it proved to be a false alarm. The result was the bow landed on shore and it was some time before she could get a release.

HORSE RAN AWAY FROM BERRY PICKERS

A party of Peterborough berry-pickers had an experience one day last week which will teach them to be more careful in the future. They were out near Cavanville at a particularly good patch. They had driven out in a buggy, and left the horse loosely tied at the roadside. While the pickers were busy in the bush the horse became frightened at something, and breaking away from its tether, started on a mad canter up the country highway. The buggy was badly shattered and the top was left at one side. The horse was finally stopped, but the farmer who related the incident was unable to say how the pickers returned to Peterborough.

Cook, Heffron, who ran second in the Marathon race, enlisted in "E" Squadron of the South African Constabulary at Beaudon, Man. He gave his age as 23 and his occupation as farmer. He was born at Newbury, Berks, Eng., and his mother lives in London.

THE SERMON SUBJECT UP WITH THE TIMES

Rev. H. J. Keith Speaks on the Tercentenary of Quebec.

At Knox Church last night Rev Mr Keith, instead of delivering a regular sermon dealt with the Tercentenary celebration at Quebec. He reviewed the history which the brilliant pageant of the past week revoid—history which both the great Canadian races have proudly enacted again. Mr. Keith stated that when Wolfe and Montcalm met on that memorable day on the heights of Abraham, the two races were bitter enemies. Time had healed the old wounds, and the preceding years had smoothed out the differences which then existed.

Mr. Keith, in referring to the results of the celebration, said that the Tercentenary brought the two peoples closely together and served to unite them, as in the years of 1812-14, making them one in their allegiance to the Empire and the young country which they had established and rapidly developed.

SHOULD NOT RAISE THE GATES

A young man living at Parkdale was fined $10 and costs a few days ago for raising the gates at a railway crossing in the Toronto suburbs. This is practice which seems to be growing in this city and those who are guilty of it are reminded that their action is not only forbidden but is punishable. The result which might happen from the gates being raised could easily be most serious and the practice should be stopped.

EFFECT OF STANDARD OIL DECISION

The Most Important Event of Financial Week.

Examiner Special

New York, July 27.—By far the most important event of the week in financial circles, and for that matter the most momentous development that has transpired for many months past, was the handing down of the decision by the United States Court of Appeals at Chicago reversing the ruling of Judge Landis and overthrowing the fine of $29,240,000 which was imposed upon the Standard Oil Company by that Judge in the case instituted by the Government against that company for alleged violations of the law in accepting rebates from the Chicago & Alton Railway. At first the far-reaching significance of this decision did not fully dawn upon the financial community, but as soon as it did its influence was felt to a marked extent in the general stock market. Not only did prices for all classes of securities enhance still further in value, but there was also greater activity on both the New York Stock and Consolidated Stock Exchanges, and in places where confidence had not yet been restored optimism took the place of fear.

To those acquainted with the effect which the imposition of the fine against the Standard Oil Company, the largest, by the way, which was ever imposed upon any corporation, had upon the general stock market, the fact that values responded in a pronounced measure to the reversal of the decision of the trial judge will not be at all surprising. Although the panic of last fall was not caused immediately by the imposing of this tremendous fine, the event unquestionably went a long way toward precipitating the ruthless sacrificing of stocks and bonds which took place during that period. London and other foreign financial centres were particularly shocked by that happening and it is therefore very natural that, since a new trial has been ordered, confidence on the part of investors abroad will be greatly, if not wholly, restored. It was but to be expected that President Roosevelt would order his Attorney-General to again proceed with vigour against the Standard Oil Company and the announcement of such an order tended in some degree to check the buoyant tone of the stock market toward the close of the week. Nevertheless, the fact has been firmly established that none of the large corporations of this country can be mulcted in any such high-handed manner as was attempted in the case of the Standard Oil Company without being proven guilty of infractions of the law beyond all shadow of a doubt and this will tend in a large degree to entirely restore confidence in the future of all classes of securities.

Peterborough Regiment Returns On Sunday From The Historic City Of Quebec

An Account of Incidents During Their Stay—Nine Die in Camp and 400 in Hospitals—They Fall From the Ranks.

LOCAL BOYS IN GOOD TRIM

Peterborough's militia representatives at the great Tercentenary at Quebec, returned home yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock after having been absent exactly one week and 40 minutes. The company came by special train, which arrived in two sections, the first bearing one division of the Queen's Own and the local boys. The latter brought the 48th Highlanders, the 91st of Hamilton and other western city regiments.

The boys of the 57th report a splendid time in the historic city of Quebec. In fact the scenes they saw there are indescribable but the spirit of them will always remain fresh in their memories. The Pageants—representing the battles and historic occurrences since the landing of Champlain 300 years ago — the British, French and United States Warships lying in the harbour, the city dressed in its purple garb, the resplendent fireworks and the memories of the long past event all conspired to imprint on the minds of the Peterborough people a picture that will remain long with them.

The great event of the celebration so far as the volunteers were concerned was the military review on Friday afternoon when some 20,000 troops formed one long line. The 57th composite company showed up well among the others and were congratulated for their splendid marching and movements.

Death Amongst Them

During the week, nine men died from accidents, lock jaw and sunstroke. One of the members of the 57th stated that the heat was so wilting that every day men standing in the ranks were seen to drop to the ground. Besides the nine dead 400 were or are in the hospitals at Quebec. The militia men therefore learned something of what a soldier's life is like and others may see that it is not all a bed of roses. The Peterborough men, however, were of the sturdy variety and not during the whole week did one of them drop out of the ranks.

British Jack Tars

The local boys have great praise to offer for the manner in which the British Marines conduct themselves while on or off the big men-of-war. "They are gentlemen, all the way through," remarked the Examiner's informant, "and no one who saw them act could fail to have respect for them."

As far as soldierly bearing, uniforms, stature and marching are concerned they excel over their French and Yankee friends.

Camp life in Quebec was not without its amusing scenes as previous letters from the Examiner's correspondent there indicated. Ask the boys from Peterborough whether they had beans for breakfast, dinner or tea or not and how they thrived on the vegetarian diet. Their camp jester too, who returned with them yesterday, was the source of much mirth.

The celebration continues another week and by July 31 will be a thing of the past. But the memory of the event, its wonderful and unique incidents, will be the reward of the thousands of pilgrims who journeyed eastward to witness a tercentenary for the first and last time in their lives.

Tramp Struck Hired Man And Refused To Go Away Hungry

Was Arrested at St. Joseph's Hospital This Morning by P. C. Meharry—Promised to Leave the City And Was Taken at His Word.

HE HAD DEMANDED FOOD

In the absence of Magistrate Dumble this morning, City Clerk Armstrong held a reception for "hoboes," and concluded by giving one man fifteen days on the hill and the other fifteen minutes to find the city's boundary and beat it in whatever direction he chose.

J. Oliver was the first prisoner heard, His only offence was that of being poor and unable to support himself. The other of the duet was a man named Quinlan. He had landed in the city yesterday, and this morning stirred up trouble at St. Joseph's Hospital. He went around to the kitchen and demanded food. Officer Meharry stated that he had used abusive language towards several of the sisters, and refused to go away when ordered. He had been promised food, but his actions led to his being refused it, and he considered that no matter what he had done he should receive what had been promised him. A hired man of the hospital tried to eject Quinlan, but in spite of his fifty-nine years, he proved to be the master of the situation and struck the hospital man on the head.

"I asked him what he wanted," the officer stated in court, "and he said he wanted something to eat. I told him he had better come along with me and see what could be done for him."

At ten o'clock he still had nothing to eat. He promised the court that he would leave the city directly and was let go with a warning, and with the understanding that he would transport himself to "any old place" other than Peterborough.

AUTHORITIES' ATTENTION DIRECTED TO EAST CITY CREEK

The city authorities cannot act too soon in the removal of the awful stench existing in the creek south of Hunter street east, just east of the Rapid Tool factory. In fact, the conditions there demand the immediate attention of the Board of Health, Health Inspector, and all other authorities interested in the health of the citizens. The odour arising from this "hot bed" of disease is simply beyond description, and unless something is done we will be hearing of typhoid fever cases before long.

The water in the creek is low and stagnant. Weeds and rubbish lying in it have become decomposed by the heat of the sun beating down upon them. Nobody can tell exactly what other ingredients are mixed up among the foul smelling molecules of this repugnant spot, and it is safe to say that nobody cares to investigate.

This matter is something that should be attended to at once, before the health of citizens in East City is imperilled by its existence.

A beautiful, well equipped yacht was launched from a flat car on the G.T.R. tracks in Lindsay last week. It is the property of Mr. Rowe, a Pittsburg man. It was built by the Canadian Power, Gas and Launch Co., Toronto. It is about 28 feet long, with a very powerful gasoline engine, and fully equipped with electric lights. The crew of five, with provisions, later sailed for Mr. Rowes' cottage at Stony Lake, and last Friday went over the lift lock here and down to Rices Lake.

They are finding some very rich ore and the company are about to put in a steam hoist and a steam pump, and as soon as these get installed they are going to put on a night gang. They are putting up a building over the whole plant. The success of this mine will be a valuable asset for the Leason family as they are to receive a good thing as soon as it has commenced to pay.

PASSING OF THE PAVILION PIANO OCCASIONS A FEW REGRETS AT JUNIPER ISLAND

SATURDAY EVENING DANCE

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, July 27.—"Going, Going, Gone!" The auctioneer's hammer falls, twenty-one dollars is forthcoming, and the pavilion piano—which "almost plays itself," goes the way of Tara's harp.

It was not without a pang of regret that the week-end merry-makers at Juniper Island beheld the passing of the venerable instrument which has radiated central energy for the past revels of Stony Lakers for almost a decade. Although overtaken prematurely, perhaps, by senile infirmities, the varied usefulness of its service is attested by the autographs and quaint inscriptions with which it is embellished externally, after the manner of a rural railway station.

"The soul of music" henceforth will be shed by a new upright of excellent tone and more prepossessing appearance. It was brought into service for the first time on Saturday night.

The end of the week at the lake brought with it the usual melange of colour and music and gaiety, and more than the usual number of visitors. Each up boat poured forth its quota of tired city toilers to be assimilated by care-free sojourners in Kawarthadom.

It is doubtful if any event in the summer social calendar will bring together a jollier crowd than that which participated in the week-end dance, the pleasure of which was enhanced in no small measure by the special musical features. Interspersed with the piano numbers were several dance selections, played by Misses Wallis, Sanderson and Choate, violinists, and Miss Sanderson, accompanist.

During the evening the piano was disposed of by auction, the Hon. L. Grahame being the highest bidder.

Among those present at the dance were: Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton, Miss Alberta Gooding, Mrs. (Hon.) L. Grahame, the Misses Grahame, Mrs. Sanderson, Miss Sanderson, Miss Lenore Sanderson, Mrs. Quarrington, Miss Quarrington, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. McClennan, Mr. Harold Meldrum, Mr. Crane, Mr. E. Johnston, Mr. Bruce Gillespie, Mr. F. S. Anderson, Mr. W. J. Bradley, Mr. Roy Trebilcock, Mr. W. C. Gall, Mr. Wallis.

Rev. Dr. Chown, of Toronto, addressed a large audience at the Juniper Island pavilion on Sunday morning. The special music in the form of a solo, rendered by Master Clarence Quarrington, Toronto, was a pleasing feature of the service.

Preparing for Regatta

Mr. Wm. J. Bradley of the Toronto Canoe Club is spending a few days about the lake, and while here will make arrangements for a number of the club's members to take part in the regatta. It is understood that Mr. Robt. Blackburn will enter in the single canoe race, while several of the other events will be contested by members of the T.C.C.

THE NEW VEST-POCKET BOX OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Allows Everyone to Try Out These Wonderful Fruit Juice Tablets at a Cost of Only Twenty-five Cents.

Put up in 50c. boxes only, "Fruit-a-tives" has in the last four years gained a tremendous and rapidly increasing sale, and a reputation for remarkable cures in every part of Canada.

During this time hundreds of people have been asking for a 25c. box to try. They have heard of "Fruit-a-tives," and of the benefit it is giving to thousands, but some people hesitate to pay 50c. just to try a remedy that is new to them.

It has been found, too, that many would like to carry a box of "Fruit-a-tives" in their pocket, so as to have them handy for regular use, and the 50c. box is too large for that.

To meet these needs we have put out a new 25c. trial size—a neat, compact little box that can easily be carried in the vest-pocket, and which contains tablets enough to last two or three weeks—long enough to find out that "Fruit-a-tives" is the best remedy of the kind in the world.

There is now no reason why every person in Canada who suffers from Constipation, Biliousness, Kidney or Liver Trouble, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Skin Diseases, Indigestion, Dyspepsia or Headache should not try "Fruit-a-tives" and get quick relief and eventually a complete cure. "Fruit-a-tives" are concentrated Fruit Juice Tablets. 25c. is all it costs to test the value of the most successful medicine ever produced in Canada.

If your dealer has not both the 25c. trial size and the regular 50c. boxes, write direct to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont., and we will send to you direct.

BANQUET AT HISTORIC QUEBEC

Imperial Notables Address Gathering at Big Dinner.

ROYAL GUEST IS THANKED

Lord Grey Expresses Appreciation of Prince's Kindly Interest In Canada —Letter of Regret and Felicitation From Louis Botha of Transvaal —In Times of War Races Are One, Says Whitney.

Quebec, July 27.—The state dinner was a brilliant function on Saturday night at the Citadel. Colonial representatives were a feature of the celebration, which more fully represented the imperial character of the celebration than any previous social function.

The guests were received by the Governor-General, before the magnificent dining-room in the Citadel was entered by the guests among whom were practically all the notable visitors who are kept at the celebration.

After the royal toast, Earl Grey proposed that of the Prince of Wales.

Great enthusiasm was manifested as the National Anthem was played. When the cheering ended the Prince addressed the company. In the course of his speech he said:

"I can assure you that everything which conduces to the prosperity and well-being of the Dominion is watched with the keenest interest by the Mother Country. As the representative of our King I knew that an enthusiastic greeting awaited me in Quebec, but the marked affection of that greeting has touched me more deeply; indeed, it is not possible to express all I feel. The three hundredth birthday of Quebec has been made the occasion, not of parochial or provincial, but of national and imperial importance." (Cheers.)

It was announced by Earl Grey before Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposed the toast of the self-governing colonies that he had ordered Australian and South African wine to be poured so that the toast would be honored in no foreign wine.

In proposing the toast of the self-governing colonies Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that as he advanced in years he appreciated more the wisdom of the British constitution, under which he was born and brought up and which had given to the various portions of the Empire their separate free Governments.

"It is our proud boast that Canada is the freest country in the world. It is our boast that in this country liberty of all kinds, civil and religious, liberty flourishes in the highest degree," declared Sir Wilfrid, who referred to the presence of Vice-President Fairbanks and the representative of the French republic, and went on:

"This we as loyal British subjects, it must not be forgotten that we are French subjects of His Majesty, and while we have been separated from France in a political sense for nearly 150 years, all our sympathies go out to the country to which we owe our origin."

Sir Wilfrid touched in happy terms on each of the colonies. He regretted that Premier Botha of the Transvaal could not be present and read Gen. Botha's reply to Sir Wilfrid's invitation. It contained the heartiest hopes for the solidifying of the Empire and thanking the Premier for his interest in South Africa.

Hon. Stewart Pitts replied on behalf of Newfoundland, and was followed by Lord Dudley, the newly-appointed Governor-General of Australia. In conclusion the latter said:

"Your Royal Highness, amidst strife and suffering, and as the cost of much valuable life, the national edifice has been constructed, but these celebrations bring home to us a realization of the fact that to-day old differences are forgotten in the determination of a united people, to march forward in undivided strength to the great destiny which awaits them."

Earl Ranfurly, formerly Governor-General of New Zealand, responded for that colony. He thanked Sir Wilfrid Laurier for his kind reference to Sir Richard Seddon, who was Premier during the several years of the earl's governorship. New Zealand's message, said the earl, was that it might take the practical form for which the Dominion and its people were noted. New Zealand was ready to give liberally of her sons when their active services were needed. When famine or fire caused distress and disaster, she sent large contributions to India, then to Ottawa.

"I have the great honor of handing to His Excellency the Governor-General a check for £1,000, as a small contribution, showing practically the sympathy of the people of New Zealand in this great movement."

Sir H. Devilliers, noted his presence as the result of the first occasion on which the different South African Governments had come to a joint decision. They had not rivers or lakes in South Africa, as in Canada, but they had European races as virile as in Canada. A large proportion of the people were descended from French Huguenots and they had retained the faith of their forefathers just as the French-Canadians had adhered to their old faith, while the same French blood flowed in their veins.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec, proposed the health of the visiting Premiers of other provinces.

Premier Whitney replied, sketching briefly the swift spirit of union that had grown up among the races. It was when a foreign power had attacked Canada in 1812 that Chateauguay and de Salabery had risen to arms along with the Anglo-Canadians and had shown that French or English, in time of stress the nationalities were one.

His Royal Highness then arose, and, with the manifest approval of the guests present, toasted Earl Grey in a speech that was loudly applauded.

"If it were possible to propose the toast with which I am now entrusted to the whole population of the Dominion," he said, "it would, I am sure, be certain of a welcome no less enthusiastic, no less affectionate than will be accorded to it by this distinguished company, for it is the health of my noble friend, the Governor-General."

On rising to reply Earl Grey was loudly cheered.

He thanked the sister colonies for their support and help in the tercentenary and the foreign nations that had lent their aid to make it a success.

His Royal Highness having handed to the Governor-General a check for £1,000, representing the contributions from England to the battlefield fund, His Excellency thanked the prince for this additional proof of the interest he had shown in the redemption of the battlefields. He said that he would send a cable in the name of all present thanking Lord Middleton, chairman of the English committee, for their contribution and for their action in affording the people of England an opportunity of associating themselves with the gift of Canada on her 300th birthday through the hands of the Prince of Wales.

The Prince of Wales attended divine service in the English Cathedral of the Holy Trinity yesterday morning. The church was reserved and no crowding occurred, the arrangements being excellent. Saturday's performance of the pageants before the Prince of Wales surpassed all previous ones.

The singing of "O, Canada" at the finish brought the Prince of Wales to the front of his box, where he stood with bared head. After the National Anthem had been sung the armies lined up around the Wolfe and Montcalm monument.

Every regiment which took part in the great conflict was represented, and the sight was one of beauty as the ranks presented arms, the flags of 150 years ago were dropped in salutation, and a wreath from every host was laid at the foot of the monument.

Troops Leave Quebec.

Quebec, July 27.—All the Ontario troops have left Quebec with the exception of the 21st (Essex) and a company of the 19th (St. Catharines), which stay till Wednesday, and the composite regiment of companies from 12th, 23rd, 31st, 34th, 35th, 36th, 44th and 77th.

The London district composite regiment left yesterday and the Sudbury company of the 97th leaves today. The permanent corps will remain in camp till Saturday next.

LORD CROMER SEES WAR COMING

Says Conflict With Germany Will Come in Few Years.

FEARS TURKISH SITUATION

Kaiser May Take Hand In Present Crisis In Sultan's Domain and Precipitate Trouble—Cromer Warns Government Against Careless Extravagance — Consols Drop on Account of His Speech.

London, July 27.—Not for a long time has England been disturbed by so grave a warning from an eminent statesman as was uttered last week when Lord Cromer gave his ultimate reason for opposing the policy of the present Government. He frankly affirmed his belief that, while the Government was light-heartedly embarking on an old-age pension scheme of enormous expense, the country was rapidly approaching the deadly crisis of a European war.

His words have been read throughout Europe with apprehension and alarm. Consols fell sharply when they became public, and now they are being discussed with the seriousness that their import demands. It is this excerpt from his speech that is attracting universal attention:

"What is the present condition of Europe is the main duty which devolves upon the Government of this country? Their main duty is to make provision betimes for a European conflict which may not improbably be forced on us before many years have elapsed.

"I am aware that the mass of the people of this country are not alive to the possibility of any such conflict taking place. It says it is the duty of a Government to provide betimes for that danger, a danger of which I, in common, I believe, with most people who can speak with real authority on foreign affairs, am firmly convinced exists.

"My lords, I am now treading on delicate ground. It is neither necessary nor desirable that I should state at any length my reason for this opinion. I will only say that in order to justify it it is quite unnecessary to impugn the good faith of those high authorities abroad who constantly reiterate their peaceful intentions. Neither is it necessary to hold that any intentions deliberately hostile to this country.

"We are, however, living in times when the influence of individuals, however highly placed, is limited. When national interests are involved and race passion is excited there is always a risk, and more than a risk, that a collision between rival nations will take place, however pacific the intentions of their rulers. Let me add that if, as I believe will be the case, the enactment of this law imperils the cause of free trade, the chances of a collision will be materially increased."

It is, of course, perfectly understood that the peril Lord Cromer foresees lies in the direction of Germany. His special information can, of course, only be conjectured, but it is a fact that all who possess it share his apprehension. Some of these individuals ascribe rather severely King Edward's latest move in the formation of a great European peace bund. They argue that the combination is now too large for stability. Moreover, the recent Anglo-Russian entente has exasperated Germany to a dangerous extent.

For this reason the serious crisis in the near east is regarded with some uneasiness throughout Europe. The revolt of the Young Turks has reached the proportions of a revolution, and Abdul Hamid, clever as he is, has been compelled to yield to the present. But it is by no means certain that his grant of a constitution will check the rebellion. No previous discontent in Turkey has involved the widespread sedition in the army which undoubtedly exists now.

Turkish patriotism is religious rather than political or dynastic. The Mussulman's loyalty is to the Koran, not to the sovereign. The present fear is that the Sultan will seek the military aid of Germnay and there are many rumors to this effect. Such action would create a grave situation among the powers as well as locally. Changes which have been made in the Sultan's entourage are widely interpreted, however, especially in London, as signifying a break in German influence and the re-establishment of the English, because the deposed Grand Vizier was of German proclivities and his successor is of English sympathies.

Montreal, July 27.—Two men rowing on the St. Lawrence late Saturday made a gruesome find.

A skeleton of a man with merely shreds of flesh hanging to the bones was found floating on the surface of the water.

Chatham, July 27.—As a result of a mosquito bite, the left arm of Mrs. Walter Griffin is swollen to twice its normal size, and is infected with blood-poisoning.

TO STUDY OUR BANKS.

U. S. Will Look Into Canada's Money System.

Narragansett Pier, July 27.—The National Monetary Commission at the last session of Congress to devise plans for currency legislation, adjourned to meet in Washington in November, 1908.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the commission, after adjournment, issued a statement in part as follows:

"The commission deemed it of the utmost importance that steps be taken to secure a thorough examination of the leading commercial nations. Preparation for this work was entrusted to a sub-committee. This committee will sail from New York on Aug. 4, for Europe.

"It is the intention of the full commission to visit Canada at an early date, for the purpose of making a special examination into the Canadian system."

Ice Cream Kills Her.

Toronto, July 27.—It is expected that Dr. Sheard, medical health officer, will to-day commence a searching investigation into the methods employed by street ice cream vendors in preparaing their wares.

As a result of ptomaine poisoning due to eating ice cream purchased from an itinerant dealer, Teresa, the 13-year-old daughter and only child of John and Rose Latchen, 7 Niagara street, died last evening.

On Tuesday last she had partaken of some of the congealed "deliacy," so greatly sought after by children, and purchased it on Portland street, and the same night she was seized with violent pains. All efforts to save her were in vain and she died last night.

Fatal Melee at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 27.—In a general melee which took place among the Italians in their quarter of the town last night, one man is dead, having been riddled with bullets, five penetrating his breast and one through his head, and another was severely clubbed and stabbed so badly that no hopes are held for his recovery. Others were more or less injured by knives and clubs, which were used in the fight. Seven arrests have been made, and the police think they have the murderers. Other arrests are likely to follow.

Three Children Perish.

Fostoria, Ohio, July 27.—The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Doke were burned to death in their home here Saturday. The father and mother had gone down town shopping and left the little ones at home, locked in the house. It is supposed they attempted to light a gasoline stove. The house was burned. The children, two girls and a boy were aged 6, 4 and 2 years.

Venezuelan Consul Mobbed.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, July 27.—The relations between Venezuela and the people of the Island of Curacao, Dutch West Indies, are strained to the breaking point.

Mobs gathered in force in this capital Saturday night and yesterday and expressed their resentment in an attack upon the home of a Venezuelan who had published statements in Venezuelan papers derogatory to the island, and later held violent demonstrations in front of the residence of the Venezuelan consul; surrounded the German consulate, where he had taken refuge, and compelled the ordering out of armed troops so that the consul might be protected from injury.

LAKE SHORE TOWN LOSES TO HOMESTERS IN SHUT-OUT GAME

Athletics Play Errorless Ball on Saturday—Have 10 Hits to 3—Quinlan's Great Work.

SOME GOOD PLAYS MADE

Peterborough Athletics shut out Cobourg in a Midland League game at Riverside Park on Saturday, 5—0.

The homesters always looked sure winners and for this reason the game was lacking in exciting features. Quinlan did the heaving for the locals and held the visitors to three hits and issued no charities. On the other hand, the home team reached McKinnon's benders for ten safeties and also had a perfect fielding record. Cobourg had the weakest team they have mustered this season, and did fairly well under the circumstances. Manager Mulhall had to play first base and had three fumbles that helped in the run getting. He came in for considerable attention from the grand stand.

"Two bits you strike out," was one of the remarks that was wafted down by the breezes as "Slick" made a vicious swing and missed.

"I don't believe any of you has two bits," was Mr. Mulhall's retort, which shows that he is a man of much knowledge and superior judgment.

About 300 people saw the game and were well pleased with the result. The Athletics got two in the first, one in the second, one in the fourth and one in the sixth. Only 31 Cobourg men were at bat,, the side going out in one, two, three order in five innings.

Jack Mulhall, of Cobourg, was umpire and gave satisfaction.

Common Sense Necessary In Newspaper Journalism

Weird Report in Lindsay Free Press of Lacrosse Game There —Some of the Sporting Editor's Remarks.

WHERE INACCURACY EXISTS

The report given by the Lindsay Free Press of the Peterborough-Lindsay lacrosse match of Thursday, is the most laughable account of a sporting event that has ever graced the annals of Canadian journalism. It reads very much like the description that might be given by a ten year old school boy, and the Peterborough people who have seen the article have been wearing a broad smile ever since. If possible the report should be framed and sent to the museum. It would be a shame to have it drift into oblivion.

Some idea of the ridiculous nature of the account may be had when it is stated that the Free Press called the Peterboroughs the strongest lacrosse team that ever left the Quaker City. Aint it awful. Mlaud? Did you ever hear anything like that before?

The Peterborough team was picked up at the last minute. They had had no practice whatever. Some of the men had never played in their positions before, and the twelve men were together for the first time. A more ridiculous statement it would be hard to imagine.

The Free Press, in a three column heading, remarks that Peterborough was utterly outclassed. A 1—0 score made in the last four minutes of play looks as if the Peterboroughs were outclassed, doesn't it? And the Free Press knows so little about the game that it doesn't even give the correct account of how the goal was scored.

The Free Press says that Bangely, of Lindsay, has everything in eastern Ontario skinned at the great game. The one thing that made Bangely conspicuous was a green sweater. Probably a tip to the sporting editor resulted in the boost.

The writer of the article should be ashamed of himself. His disregard for the truth and his utter lack of knowledge of lacrosse should make him leave the assignment of writing up lacrosse games to some one that knows a lacrosse stick from a tennis raquet.

The other Lindsay papers have fair, impartial account of the game, and the Free Press will go on the rocks soon if it allows the insane partiality of its ambitious city editor to run away with his sense of fairness as it has done in this case. It is certain that the write up will be regarded as a joke, even in Lindsay. It is country journalism of the crudest type and worthy of the smallest backwoods weekly, where indeed, the man who wrote it would have a hard time holding his own. Although it seems like boasting, the Peterborough twelve will make Lindsay look as cheap as John Hogan's new Panama in the return game that will be played this week. The same John is, no doubt, the author of the remarkable story of the game. It sounds very much like his style, and although he has turned out some marvellous articles, this is certainly his masterpiece.

WARSAW DEFEATS HAVELOCK IN SEMI-FINAL SOCER GAME

Havelock and Warsaw football teams, winners of their respective districts, met on Saturday afternoon at Norwood in the semi-final game in the Midland League, the victory being won by the latter. The score was 2 to 1. The game was rather fast and exciting, considering the heat, and, according to the winners, they had it all over the men from the railway town. The latter, perhaps, may have a different story to tell. Warsaw's goals were scored by Billy Bell and A. Payne, the latter being the result of a long drive. Fred Doherty of the Norwood team refereed satisfactorily.

The winners lined up as follows—

Goal—A. Carveth.

Backs—Graham, H. Payne.

Half Backs—A. Payne, Kidd, Charlton.

Forwards—Darling, M. Carveth, Bell, McCahill, Johnston.

WELLINGTONS WIN A GAME

Kids Defeat T. A. S. and Notch Their First Victory.

Probably the biggest surprise in the city league this summer was the T.A.S.-Wellington game on Saturday afternoon. The tail-enders certainly stirred up the quiet finals of the league by winning out from the T.A.S. by the score of 19—9. Both teams started out with only 8 men a side and after the third innings McFadden of the red and black retired leaving "Laj" Derocher only 7 men to fight it out. This handicap certainly counted and took the vim out of the team. Another report says that Dickey the Wellington's extra slab artist was not touched freely for hits while the "kids" did not have much trouble in connecting with Hayes' shoots. Bill Shaw of the Strathconas went in to umpire but on the request of the T.A.S. was replaced by Clancy on account of his decisions. The red and black were certainly up against it and the Wellingtons took advantage of every opening.

The teams lined up as follows:

LOCAL INDIAN WALKED FIVE TIMES

London, July 27.—Special. — Aronibald was unnerved in his pole vault yesterday on hearing that Longboat had expired in the great long Marathon race. But the Indian quieted all these exaggerated rumours by appearing in the Stadium all smiles.

He was second all 16 miles in 97 1-2 minutes, but walked the 17th. Overtaken by Appleby, he collapsed, and was placed in a motor car and brought to the Stadium. He fainted when he fell, and his mouth was bloody.

Queen Applauds

The early pace, which was very fast, and the sticky weather killed off the favourites.

Sherring Shocked

Trainer Sherring was dumbfounded at the backwardness of the Canadians in the race, considering the slowness of the time. They were not overtrained, in his estimation.

Woods alone of the Canadians ran throughout. Simpson walked five times.

SAYS LONGBOAT WAS AHEAD

Indian Had Passed Dorando and Overtaken Hefferon When He Collapsed

London, July 27.—Flanagan states that Longboat overhauled the field in fine style in the Marathon, and between the fifteenth and sixteenth mile had passed the Italian, overtaking Hefferon, the only man in front, and Flanagan thought the race certain when the collapse came, and the Indian spun round and fell heavily, bleeding at the nose. "It was probably the heat," says Flanagan. "I still think Longboat the finest runner in the world.

Longboat, seen after the race, could not explain his collapse. He was running strong and in a good position when he fell like a log.

Flanagan said it was incomprehensible, the other Canadians were quite fit.

WARSAW AND WARKWORTH ARE IN THE FINALS

To Play Off for Championship of Midland League Next Saturday.

The finals in the Association football games in the Midland League will be played between Warsaw and Warkworth. Last Wednesday evening Warkworth and Bowmanville met in Colborne, the former winning easily by the score of 3 to 1. On Saturday Warsaw trimmed Havelock in Norwood by the score of 2 to 1, thereby completing the semi-finals. The final will likely be another sudden death game in Norwood next Saturday for the championship and the Stratton Tropoy.

TERCENTENARY SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S

History of Canada Reviewed—Special Music Given.

The morning service yesterday at St. John's was made special yesterday in connection with the Tercentenary celebration last week at Quebec.

The organ voluntaries were airs of British and French national anthems, and the choral service opened with the processional hymn, "Rejoice To-day With One Accord." The service was splendidly led by the large choir, and the congregation heartily did their part. Archdeacon Batty, in his sermon, reviewed the history of Canada from the founding of Quebec to the present time, and he fully believed that the reason for the leading position occupied by the Anglo-Saxon race was that they had a firm trust in God. The character of nation was as that of its citizens and the present generation would largely give the tone to the great nation now being built up with such brilliant prospects.

During the offertory Mr. G. Chandler sang Kipling's "Recessional" with great effect, and the service was concluded with the hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." Mr. R. J. Devey's post-voluntary was "God Save the King," (varied) by John Hiles.

The Evensong was fully choral and the anthem "There is a Blessed Home," by Mark, was sung well by the choir. The opening solo was sweetly sung by Cyril Devey and Arthur Horsfield, and the duet, "There is a Land of Peace," was expressively rendered by Mrs. R. J. Devey and Mr. G. Chandler.

After Evensong in the vestry, Archdeacon Batty, in bidding good-bye to the choristers, congratulated them on their splendid work for God and the church, and expressed his great personal pleasure in the services during his two months stay. After giving out the notices in the evening service Archdeacon Batty took the opportunity to heartily thank the congregation for their many acts of kindness and hospitality to him during his stay among them.

PRIZE FIGHTING IS PROFITABLE

Nelson Worth $250,000 — First Love Began at Age of 10 Years—Is Now 26.

A GREAT MATHEMATICIAN

The match between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson, by which they were to meet again on Sept. 7th at Ely, Nev., has been declared off and for the present the Battler will probably enjoy himself at his favourite sport of hunting big game.

Nelson is the recognized lightweight champion fighter of the world. He says he is worth $250,000.00.

His first love for the fighting game was awakened in 1892 when Corbett defeated John L Sullivan. He was then 10 years old and is now 26.

Nelson's christened name is Oscar Matthew but from his "scrapping" propensities his father added "Battling" and he has lived up to the promises of his youth.

Nelson is indifferent to punishment as an army mule. Terry McGovern, Young Corbett, Jimmy Britt, Aurelia Herrera and Joe Gans have all in turn battered his jaw and sent home blows to the region of the solar plexus but the Battler has always come back for more and now he looks back on his old opponents who are now in the pugilistic discard.

Nelson boasts of his proficiency as a mathematician, having been particularly adept at Algebra. In his first "exam." in that subject he took the total, 100 per cent., and is proud of that as any of his victories. As a boy he never played "hookey."

Nelson says that his only dissipation is dancing. He is now wondering if he can find a girl who will have him as a husband. He says that when he finds the one he will retire from the ring for good.

As a concluding note Nelson says of himself: "I have never smoked, chewed, drank or played cards for money in my life, and I never intend to. I have fought eighty-one battles during my career as a prize fighter, and I am proud to say that every one of them was on the square. I have tried to make a record in the ring so that when I do retire people will say of me—'He was the most honest fighter that ever graced the ring, and if there were more like him it would be a boost to the game.'"

Monthly Government Report Says Wheat Looks Promising

Average Yield of 25 Bushels in Ontario — The Conditions of Other Grains in the Province.

CLOVER WINTER KILLED

The "Census and Statistics Monthly," is a publication of the Census and Statistics Office, Ottawa, and its chief aim is to issue reports on the crops and live stock of Canada. In dealing with the crops in Ontario it states that wheat shows a decreased acreage of 8,207, the total area under this crop being 812,471 acres. In general the fall wheat throughout the province looks promising. It has headed out well and an average yield of 25 bushels per acre is anticipated. Here and there on low lying lands are evidences of winter-killed grain. In a few localities wire worm is reported as doing damage, and in some cases rust has appeared. Spring wheat which is not sown in this province to so large an extent as fall wheat, is backward and hardly promises so well. There are localities, however, where the spring wheat is reported upon favourably and where a good yield is anticipated. The percentage of standard condition for wheat is 81. The acreage under oats is estimated at 3,108,460, which is an increase of 175,951 acres over last year. In spite of late sowing the crop appears to be doing well and may yield from 35 to 40 bushels per acre. In many parts rain would be welcome. The per cent of standard condition is as high as 90. Barley shows an acreage of 748,884, a decrease of 23,007 since last year. Where it was possible to get this crop in early the prospects are fairly good, but the late sown is reported as poor and thin. The standard condition is 81. Rye occupies 63,468 acres less than last year. It appears to have stood the winter well and to be well headed. A percentage of 90 represents the standard condition. Peas total 254,616 acres, exceeding last year's acreage by 13,639. They are reported as just coming into blossom and promise to be a satisfactory crop. Their percentage of standard condition is 87. Beans as a field crop aggregate 42,806 acres, a decrease of 4,750 acres as compared with 1907. Where grown the prospects in the majority of cases are good. In other instances the crop is suffering from the want of rain. A few crops were injured to some extent by frosts. The per cent. of standard condition is 77. Mixed grains are sown on 420,945 acres, a decrease of 22,155. As a rule these crops look well, and the per cent of standard condition is 86. The acreage under hay and clover is 3,552,716, an increase of 263,164 acres over last year. The crops of hay and clover appear to be hardly so good as last year. A great deal of clover was winter-killed. In many cases the new meadows are doing well, while the old ones are thin. Good crops are, however, reported in numerous instances. The average yield may be estimated at about 1 1-2 tons per acre. The per cent of standard condition is 80. Permanent pasture, which gained a good start owing to the wet spring, is generally reported to be excellent and the growth to be well maintained. It has, however, begun to feel the effects of the long spell of dry weather. Condition is represented by the standard figure of 100.

The Young Men's Fancies in Dress

The summer season is just at its zenith and already the clothiers have begun to offer special inducements to dispose of their lines of goods which are in popular demand during these warm months of the year. Particularly is this true in the case of the dealer in men's toggeries. For various reasons the prices are relaxing and special offers are being made which should appeal to the careful buyer and the man who delights in fashionable clothes.

The tendency in men's clothes is a bright effect in colours combining with a loose airiness, suggestive of ease and coolness. Novelties are sought after this season by the dressy man, and in consequence almost every article of his wardrobe has been played upon by the sartorial artists and the popular idea has been carried out.

Fancy Hat Bands

For instance, in hat bands, dainty designs have been very noticeable. Vertical stripes, Spearhead and Swastika have been favourite figures, particularly the latter. The colours of the bands are seen in navy blue, tan, gray, green, garnet, and red, and the figures in blue, white, red, orinz, etc., to suit the colour of the band. Dressy young men are very partial to these effects.

In cravats, the stripe is in vogue, although figures, spots, etc., show a tendency to come in for the autumn.

When goods are in demand, but with the four in hands, it is with difficulty that a satisfactory knot can be formed. The bow ties are in favour. A popular idea is the tie with cross-bars. Bright shades are sought, and some beautiful effects have been secured. In four in hands, the folded open ends are in vogue, and wide ends are desired.

New styles are found in collars, all tending towards coolness. The outing collar is the favourite.

In shirts and hose the aim is towards colours, and many bright and showy designs are being worn. The man of taste is dressing in colours which blend, or where the same design is found throughout. That is, the shirt, cravat, hose and hat band combine the same colours in each. Some wearers go to the extreme and a showy combination is found. The average young man, however, likes tasteful and dainty originality in dress, and not a freakish display.

ARE FRUIT DEALERS IN A COMBINE?

"Fruit Eaters" Believes So—Some Prices are Compared

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In your to-day's issue you record an interview with a fruit grower, but you fail to elicit from him any reasons for the exorbitant prices of fruit. While evincing a desire to account for the high price because of the scarcity of some of the fruits not yet in season, he admits that berries generally are unusually plentiful, leaving no other conclusion to be arrived at than that there must be a combine among the dealers, which has apparently existed here for years. I have seen peaches sell at 25c per basket in the Niagara District when they were asking here 75c. per basket. The house keepers ought to form an association and bring in their own peaches by the car load.

Yours, etc.,
FRUIT EATER.

HUGHEY JENNINGS IS A SORE LOSER

Wants to be Alone After His Team Drops a Game.

There is a whole lot more going on under that sorrel thatch of Manager Hugh Jennings of the Detroit Baseball Club than his modest manner would lead one to suspect, says a writer in the Detroit Free Press. One of these instances came to light the other day when Jennings started out to hunt up an abode. The manager is a widower, and, with his eight-year-old daughter safely in a convent boarding school, has no one to look after but himself. Instead of finding quarters at some of the downtown hotels, however, he announced that he was looking for some quiet place just out of the swirl of the business section of town.

"I want a place where I can be by myself after the game if I want to," he explained. "I don't mean to sidestep the fans, and I'll be as ready as any other fellow to talk over our good games with the people who make baseball possible by their support at the gate.

"But I don't want to get into any arguments with any sore losers. I'm too sore a loser myself to want to be round where post-mortems of that sort are going. I want to be able to go home and think it over quietly. If I got to discussing it elsewhere I'm afraid there might be some disagreements."

And the more you think of it the more you have to give it to the maddest little Irishman for his zeal and foresight.

LETTER TO PRINCE

Nationalist Says Tercentenary Does Not Represent the French.

JUST GREY'S MASQUERADE

His Highness Has Been Grievously Deceived by Festivities, Says Paper, and They Are an Outrage to French-Canadians — Earl's Imperial Demonstration Excludes One-Third of the Nation.

Montreal, July 27.—The Nationalist publishes an open letter to the Prince of Wales, the gist of which is a claim that the demonstration at Quebec is nothing more than a huge imperial parade, and the heart of the French-Canadian people has no sympathy at all with the doings at the ancient capital.

"When Your Highness leaves Quebec," says The Nationalist, "you will have spoken to many people and listened to many speeches, but in spite of it all, you will not know the true sentiment of the people of this province.

"You will have failed to penetrate the sentiments of two million of your subjects, and the French-Canadians will deeply regret that you considered it to be your duty to attend these festivities, which are an outrage to their feelings. They would have wished to celebrate this year the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of Champlain, yet our governor brutally opposed this idea in order to transform this family gathering into an imperialist demonstration thus excluding the third of the nation.

"We are faithful subjects of the throne, and we would at the proper time be only too happy to associate ourselves with the celebration of Gen. Wolfe's memory. Your Royal Highness has been told that there was but one heart and one soul in this celebration, and that all Canadians celebrated the event with an equal enthusiasm, but you have been grievously deceived.

"Although you believed that you were participating in festivities which united Canadians of all races and creeds, yet as a matter of fact you gave your support to a coterie which represents a very small fraction of the Canadian people. The Canadians speaking the French tongue would have wished to glorify the founder of Quebec, yet our governor prevented this under the pretext of helping them in the noble task."

After declaring that the Prince of Wales was to be excused for the error he made, The Nationalist says:

"The French-Canadians with whom you have spoken, and those whom you have decorated, reflect in no possible manner the sentiment and character of their fellow citizens. Thank God we are better than they. If, in fact, all the French-Canadians were like them you would have been in the right in supposing that we possessed so little dignity as to be satisfied with Lord Grey's imperial masquerade. If we were really like those people we would indeed be ripe for the grave, and this demonstration would be nothing more or less than our funeral.

"These people are, however, not the true French-Canadians. They are the incarnation of an era which is fast drawing to a close. They represent a generation that is fast dying out, and it is not to the real French-Canadians to whom Lord Grey would have dared submit his project of an imperial manifestation.

"In a word, the humiliation which has been imposed upon us may perhaps hasten the hour of our awakening, and such is the message which you will carry back to the King."

Why She Asked.

"Have you ever kissed a girl before?" she asked.

"Why do you put that question to me?" he replied.

"I only wished to know whether it was lack of experience or natural awkwardness that made you go about it in such a ridiculous way."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Pretty Quarrel.

"Yes," said the suburban citizen, "it is a very pretty quarrel as it stands."

"No hard words, I hope."

"None whatever. My folks are trying to play the piano late enough every night to make the lawn mower artists next door oversleep themselves next morning."—Washington Star.

ENGLISHMAN WINS.

Lieut. Spittal Stands a Close Second In King's Prize.

Bisley Camp, July 27.—(C. A. P.)—The King's prize was won Saturday by an Englishman, Private Gray, who shot in the same target as did Lieut. Spittal of the Canadians. Gray's score was 325. Spittal and Gray were tied at 286.

War Minister Haldane presented the prizes.

The Canadians' final scores were:

At 900 yards—Brown 42, Freeborn 45, Jones 45, Morris 46, Smith 43, Spittal 46, Steele 42.

At 1,000 yards—Brown 41, Freeborn 36, Pownal 39, Morris 29, Smith 33, Spittal 31, Steele 27.

Spittal, on getting into position at the 1,000 yards, made a bull for his first shot, when the range officer drew Elmitt's attention to Spittal resting the butt of his gun on the ground when shooting. Elmitt offered to speak to Spittal, but the range officer spoke instead. Spittal's next shot was a miss. Spittal's comrades say some mistake had been made. A bystander thought Spittal rested his gun on the ground. Elmitt and others say he did not rest his gun as the range officer thought.

According to the official scores the scores and prizes in the King's second stage won by Canadians should be: Leash, 141, £4; Bayles, 187, £4; Pope, 195, £4; McInnes, 177, £3; Utton 34, Eastcott 34, Bayles 32.

In the St. George's, at 900 yards, the Canadians scored as follows: Morris 70, Spittal 68, Williams 62.

Morris won the shoot-off with three others for third place, winning £20. Spittal was eighth, £10; Bayles, fifteenth, £5; Lieut. Love of Hartney, Manitoba, was twenty-first.

Sclater ties for first place in the Association Cup.

In the Cortes unsquaded competition, 600 yards, the following Canadians won place and prizes: Kerr, seventh, £2; Bayles, eighth, £2; Spearing, twenty-first, £1.

DORANDO PROTESTS.

Italian Says He Was Interfered With In Marathon Race.

London, July 27.—Dorando, the Italian runner, who was assisted to the tape in the finish of the Marathon race and who has quite recovered from the strain of his awful effort, decided on Saturday to lodge a protest against the giving of this race to John J. Hayes, Irish-American A. C., on the ground that he had been interfered with by officials of the course and that had he been left alone he could have finished without assistance. His protest, however, would have come too late for consideration and he therefore did not enter it.

T. & N. O. and Grand Trunk Will Build Their Own Stations.

North Bay, July 27.—The announcement is made that the Grand Trunk Railway and the T. & N. O. Railway have signed an agreement by which these railroads will occupy their own station and freight sheds, entering the town on their own right of way from Nipissing Junction, with four passenger tracks leading to the new station.

Negotiations have been quietly conducted, and it is doubtful if the C.P.R. had the faintest inkling of the move.

[illegible] didn't you tell me that your father had a sore throat and couldn't speak?"

"I don't see what difference that could make."

"You don't? Why, it enabled him to concentrate all his energy in his feet."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

London Boy Drowns.

London, July 27.—Victor Ross, the 15-year-old son of Mrs. William Ross of this city, was drowned at Locke Springs, north of the city, yesterday. Redney and the Lady.

By FRANK HOWE.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Archibald Harris, better known to his one time friends as "Redney," in graceful allusion to his brightly colored thatch of hair, gazed disconsolately into the shop window while the warm, enticing odor of freshly baked bread came through the grating beneath the window.

He was debating whether to buy a loaf of bread and make an evening meal or to save his sole remaining dime for a bed after he should have had a cup of coffee and a thick slice of bread on the "bread line." The bread line did not open until 1 o'clock, and Redney decided in favor of supper immediately. He was used to sleeping in the open, but he was unused to going hungry.

He half turned to go inside the bakery when his attention was attracted to a girl who had joined him before the plate glass. She was not uncomely, in spite of a certain shabbiness, and something seemed to stamp her as one of the homeless. With quick sympathy Redney turned to her.

"You hungry, too, sister?" he demanded.

The girl sprang back at the sound of his voice and made as though to move on, but the "too" was a common bond of sympathy, and she nodded silently.

"Ain't had nothin' since last night," she affirmed. "The landlady threw me out because I owe three weeks' board, and there ain't a chance in town for a job."

"Come on in," he invited, leading the way to the door. The girl stood silent while Redney purchased a loaf of bread and half a dozen cakes, depositing the last dime. Then he led the way to one of the small parks and divided the loaf and the cakes with her.

Both devoured the bread ravenously, and neither spoke until the last crumb

"YOU BET I AIN'T," WAS THE FERVENT ASSURANCE.

of cake had been eaten. Then the girl turned to her companion.

"You're all to the good," she declared gratefully. "What you goin' t' do now?"

"Nothin'! There's nothin' to do," he declared, with light humor. "No one seems to want me for odd jobs, and there's no chance for my regular job in these parts."

"What's that?" she demanded.

"Ridin' range," he answered, with a laugh, "tendin' cows."

"You are a cowboy!" she gasped. "You a real cowboy?"

Redney nodded his head.

"I guess that's what," he assented.

"You c'n throw a lasso?" she demanded, her eyes growing bright. Redney nodded again.

"I c'n fix you up," she declared. "Got your lasso?"

"They're at the place where I bunked last night," he assented. "I came east to try the theaters, but the theater fellows say they're all booked up, which means that they are some few shy of jobs for me. I'd go back west, but I'm busted."

"I'll show you," declared the girl. "You know amateur nights?"

Redney shook his head.

"That's a strange brand," he said.

"It's for the yaps," explained the girl. "They have 'em at all the theaters. If you're the biggest hit you get $10. It's a cinch if there's a girl with you. I'll let you throw the ropes at me, and we'll cop the coin."

"Where do they have 'em?" asked Redney, growing interested.

"All over." The girl made a sweeping gesture with her hand to indicate the scope. "They're all the go now. They have to have 'em on different nights because there ain't enough amateurs to go around. We can play the lot. Come on and get your things, and I'll show you."

She sprang to her feet, and Redney followed after. He was doubtful of ultimate success, but he was willing to do anything that would permit him to enjoy the cheering society of the girl for a couple of hours.

They went over to the lodging house where Redney had stored the valise containing his spare shirt and his ropes, all that was left of the outfit he had brought east. The rest had gone to the pawnshops.

The good natured clerk permitted them to go into the empty dormitory to practice, and presently the girl dragged him toward a theater whose big sign entreated the passerby not to forget that it was amateur night.

After a short parley with a gray coated special officer in the lobby they found themselves herded in a cellar under the auditorium with an odd assortment of "talent."

It was a long wait before the amateurs were marshaled upon the stage, but at last the chance came, and with the girl's final admonition to do his best ringing in his ears Redney followed her out upon the stage.

The lights bothered him a bit, and he was glad that he was not obliged to talk above the babel of noises, but the catcalls and boots elicited by his appearance died down when it was seen that he was able to do strange things with a rope. When at last the turn was ended and he sought the comparative dusk of the wings the girl's warm "You done great" thrilled him with satisfaction.

Then the amateurs all lined up on the stage, and there was a lot of applause, and the stage manager thrust ten one-dollar bills into his trembling hands, and, with the girl's prompting, Redney bobbed his head in thanks and backed off the stage.

In the wings a man with a fur lined coat was waiting to lead him over into a corner. Presently Redney beckoned for the girl.

"This is the manager of the show that's here this week," Redney explained. "He says he'll give us jobs with the show. You get eighteen in the chorus, and I get thirty-five for doin' my rope act. I'll give you five to help me out. Want to come?"

"Do I?" echoed the girl. "Watcher want t' ask me for? Why didn't yer say 'Yes' before he changed his mind?"

"I'm not going to change my mind," assured the fur coated one, with a laugh. "Come around at 11 tomorrow."

He turned away, leaving the two face to face. Redney looked into the girl's glowing eyes. There lay knowledge of privation and of toil and of the ways of the world, but they met his fearlessly, and Redney was satisfied.

"Thirty-five and eighteen makes fifty-three," he said softly. "Wouldn't you rather share the fifty-three with me, Bess?"

"Sure," was her assent, half laughing, half bashful. "The manager's eighteen and your five makes twenty-three, and that ain't no sort o' luck. Besides," she added, as her face grew tender, "you're a white boy, kiddoo, an' yer ain't ever goin' t' be ashamed o' yer wife."

"You bet I ain't," was the fervent assurance. "I knew it was you I wanted out there in front of the bakery. Let's go and get somethin' real to eat, cow meat and coffee and sweet truck."

"Just as you say," Bess assented meekly. "It's up to you now." And she followed him toward the stairs up which they had climbed an hour before with such different feelings.

His Revenge.

Shirley Brooks, one time editor of Punch, was noted for his whimsical humor.

"It annoys me," he said one day, "if I am discourteously treated at the threshold of a friend's door. I remember once calling on some one, and the maid, in her rudest manner, told me he was not in and shut the door in my face. I felt I must be revenged upon her somehow, so I returned after an interval of five minutes, rang the bell and in my meekest manner mildly said, 'Did I say he was?'"

SUNSHINE FURNACE
And Coal Economy

COMBUSTION taking place in the dome or top chamber of furnace fire-pot is the result of air and heat mingling with fumes. This combustion produces heat-energy, which the radiating surfaces above and around fire-pot absorb or draw in and then deflect or throw off. Incoming cold air receives this heat-energy, the result being heated air. Now, if the combustion takes place at a faster rate than the radiating surfaces can absorb and deflect, the surplus heat-power will pass up the chimney or into cellar—a waste of coal.

There is no waste of coal in "Sunshine" Furnace. Circuit of radiator is so complete, and air-circulating space so large, that every bit of heat-energy is quickly absorbed and quickly deflected on the circulating cold air, which is thus quickly heated and ascends through the hot-air pipes to rooms above.

The check-draft of a furnace is situated on the smoke-pipe. When this draft is closed—especially on an "ordinary" furnace—heat particles can escape up chimney. When check-draft is opened the incoming cold air from the cellar drives all heat particles back into furnace proper. If the grates and fire-pot of furnace are not constructed properly, there's a clogging and gathering of ashes, and fire does not burn up readily. If no provision is made for gas escape, the check-draft must be left closed indefinitely—a waste of coal.

There is no waste of coal in "Sunshine" Furnace. No clogging can take place in the 4-piece grate, no ashes can gather on the straight fire-pot walls, and the Automatic Gas Damper makes every provision for the escape of gas; consequently, check-draft can be opened shortly after cooling and all heat-energy saved for radiation.

KISS BROUGHT BACK LIFE.

Woman In Trance, About to Be Buried, Restored by Husband's Kiss.

A woman named Mrs. Carton, of Tonbridge, England, has been through one of the most terrible ordeals ever known.

She fell into a trance after a short illness, and was placed in a coffin, in the belief that she was dead.

She lay silent, unable to move or speak, while preparations for her funeral were going on all around her.

She watched her husband bend over her body to kiss her for the last time.

The warmth of her cheek as his lips touched her face saved her from being buried alive.

Mrs. Carton's husband, who is an engine cleaner, was distracted with grief when, a few days ago, he found her apparently dead after a few days' illness.

All arrangements were made for the funeral; a coffin was brought, and the woman was laid in it.

Then, just as the coffin was about to be screwed down, Mr. Carton asked to be left alone with the body for a moment. He bent over his wife to kiss her for the last time. The cheek on which his lips rested was warm. His wife was alive.

The man, dazed with joy and wonder, sent at once for a doctor, who confirmed his hopes. The doctor ordered her to be removed at once to the hospital. Her condition rapidly improved, and she is now well on the way to recovery.

The woman's story of her experiences during the trance is extraordinary.

"I knew everything which was going on around me," she said, "but I could not move. I could not even speak when I saw that they thought I was dead."

Even when she was put in her coffin and it seemed almost certain that she would be buried alive, she was unable to utter a word to save herself. She could not even speak to her husband as he bent over her.

Only the touch of his lips on her cheek saved her.

Between Two Icebergs.

A captain of an Atlantic liner told me that once when he was crossing the banks of Newfoundland he slowed down for fog and presently suspected that he was not far from ice. He was blowing his whistle at regular intervals. The nearest land was hundreds of miles away. He could not see as far as the bow of his own ship. He stared and listened as he paced the bridge, as all captains do under such circumstances. Hearing what he supposed to be the whistle of another ship close aboard on the port side, he reversed his engines and put the helm over to avoid her. Hardly had he done this when still another whistle sounded over the starboard bow. He thought then that he was between two other steamers. His own was at a standstill, but as often as he blew his whistle theirs responded without going ahead or astern. Were they also hove to? It was unaccountable till the fog lifted, when instead of ships on both sides of him he found two towering icebergs, blue and white and glistening, the flanks of which had but echoed the sound of his own whistle.—William H. Rideing in Youth's Companion.

The Great Unknown.

Newton at his death said to his friends, who expressed their admiration of his discoveries, "I do not know what I may appear to the world, but to myself I seem to have been only like a boy playing on the seashore and diverting myself in now and then finding a smoother pebble or a prettier shell than ordinary, while the great ocean of truth lay undiscovered before me."

The same thought passed in Laplace's mind when, dying, he said to his friends, "What we know is but little; what we do not know is immeasurable." Gassendi, the man of approved morals, religion, science and humanity, a minute before his death whispered into a friend's ear the sad confession, "I was born without knowing why, I have lived without knowing how, and now I die without knowing either why or how."

Impostor and Malefactor.

Carlyle used to tell of an old Scotchwoman who, speaking to her family, said: "There's twa sons, baith doin' weel in Glasgie. T'ane's an impostor, and t'ither's a malefactor." It was found that she meant "upholsterer" and "manufacturer."

Good Intentions.

"The question is as to the intent of the law."

"That's easy. The intent of the law is to make business for the lawyers."—Syracuse Herald.

A CRIME THAT IS NOT PUNISHABLE.

How many people reading this article have gone into a drug store and asked for some well known and highly tried medicine and some unscrupulous druggist has said, "Yes I we have that, but have you ever tried this remedy, it is just as good and costs less." Any druggist doing this has not the interest of your health at heart, but the interest of his pocket, as he can make more profit out of the cheap substitute.

For the protection and benefit of the public, we wish to say that DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY has been used in thousands of homes for the past sixty-three years and has never failed to give prompt relief and cure in all cases of Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Stomach Cramps, Summer Complaint, Sea Sickness, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all Fluxes of the Bowels. When you buy DR. FOWLER'S, you are not experimenting with a new and untried remedy, but are getting one that has stood the test of time.

Miss Lettie Reid, Vivian, Ont., writes: "Last year I suffered untold agony from cramps in the stomach and did not know what to do until a friend suggested I should try DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY and as I was glad to try anything I purchased a bott'e.

"When I had taken four doses I found relief and since then I never fail to keep a bottle in the house."

ARTIST OR ARTISAN.

Do You Practice an Art or Follow a Trade?

What are you—you who bake the bread and brew the tea—artist or artisan? You may roast a joint for two or twenty, you may toss an omelet on occasion or pursue that occupation as a profession, and still be either an artist or artisan.

Some one has said in writing of Mme. Poulard, whose little inn was for years one of the attractions of Mount St. Michael:

"To see her preparing an omelet or a stew or keeping an eye on the chickens revolving over the fire was to see a woman practicing an art rather than following a trade."

That distinction between an art and a trade is an interesting one, by the way, and one which may be applied to the realm of cooking as well as to that of any other field of endeavor.

In common parlance house painting is termed a trade, while painting miniatures on ivory would surely be referred to as an art. Still, with no inaccuracy in definition the terms might be reversed.

Of course the difference in the two terms, stating it broadly, is one of conscious effort. The artist adds the imprint of his own personality to his work; the artisan merely performs manual labor. An art perhaps is only a trade with the creative element added.

And so it was said of this Mme. Poulard:

"In handling her utensils she had the grand air which distinguishes the artist from the artisan, the cook whose heart is in her work from the cook bent on earning a living."

Is it too high a standard to set for the mere business of cooking to demand that it be done with individuality? A criticism which was once made of the table of a club is that it "had no love in it." To quote again: "The actual needs (of the club) were generally met, but there was no margin, no suggestion of human interest. You were treated as a boarder to be fed and not as a human being with taste as well as appetite."

How different this from the attitude of a woman whose apple pies invariably caused some favorable comment and who was once asked how she made them!

"Oh, I don't know," she said. "Just the usual way, I guess, only I always think of the nice folks I am making them for and put in a pinch of love."

The woman was a practical, hard-working housekeeper with a big family of boarders, not a sentimental newly wed, but she meant pretty literally what she said. Most women in her circumstances would have put in only a pinch of grim necessity.

The pinch of love, or, if you please, the spontaneous interest, that went into that work was the thing that made those pies the work of an artist rather than an artisan.

And when you hear a woman talk about the drudgery of "messing around the kitchen" and the awful bore it is to get meals you may make up your mind that, however gifted she may be in other lines, in her home at least she is an artisan and not an artist.

THE INNOCENT FOX.

Blamed For Offenses Committed by His Wicked Cousins.

We are often told of the fox as a destroyer of grouse, but I should like to hear the story of some eyewitnesses as to his work in this direction. It is very easy to find fox tracks about the remains of a bird and then say a fox did it. I believe that many of the offenses laid at his door are committed by weasels, mink and wildcats, or lynx.

During a part of the year I have known foxes to spend a part of each day digging among potato hills in a retired hollow for white grubs or mice in the adjoining fields and to return to the mountain at nightfall, passing a farm which was almost covered with young poultry out for grasshoppers. From an experience of about ten years in a locality where foxes abound I am convinced that this animal destroys but few, if any, chickens. Our trouble there was, first of all, hawks, then skunks, owls and raccoons. The fox never invaded the chicken coops or broke up the sitting turkeys out at the base of the mountain. Of course in winter a fox may sometimes trap a grouse in the snow at night, but who has ever seen a fox actually catch a grouse? Come, now, brothers of the forest, be honest and own up. I would be glad to learn how the fox does the trick, if any one has seen it done.—Forest and Stream.

THE PERSONAL EQUATION.

It Plays a Very Large Part In Success in Business.

If you stop for a moment to analyze success in business you will see it comes through contact with people. It is all hinged upon the manner of your contact. On every side you are surrounded by a multitude of persons, in every one of whom there exists a potential force that may be exerted, at one time or another, to add to your success. The oftener you cause that force to be exerted the faster your business will grow. You can attract these individual forces if you choose and get the most from them, or you can repel them and suffer actual damage from having come in contact with them, or you may take a middle course, as many business men do, and drift along in a purely negative manner.

Looking at business in this light, it is apparent that the underlying element which contributes most to the success of any undertaking and to business in the aggregate is the art of finding the vital points of human contact that will set in motion these forces. The personal element must be stamped upon your business.—Edward Payson Hatch in System.

AN EASTERN MAGICIAN.

The Feat a Ceylon Fakir Is Said to Have Performed.

This curious picture of an eastern magician is from Caroline Corner's "Ceylon, the Paradise of Adam:" "The fakir forthwith commenced to unpack the burden on his back, the principal item being a bamboo framework or scaffolding. This he held with his right hand, while he mounted step by step of bamboos. At the summit, a height perhaps of eleven feet, he paused, with arms extended, to effect a balance. For some reason or other the framework remained perfectly steady and perpendicular, while the fakir stretched himself out like a spider on its web. At intervals on the bamboos were heavy nails, rusty, but sharp at the point. These nails distinctly penetrated the man's mahogany colored flesh when he stretched himself out on the framework.

"Thus he remained, a hideous wound made by each nail, from which the purple blood flowed, lying there for the space of ten minutes or so, except for the blood a lifeless figure of clay. Then, muttering some strange gibberish, animation returned, and, making movements so that the nails were extricated from the wounds, the fakir with his toes kicked away the scaffolding and remained himself alone unsupported in midair.

"Yes, there this weird creature remained, his lean, chocolate colored limbs apparently stiff and cataleptic, his eyes fixed upward and glazed. 'It's a fact,' said Cynthia in low tones of wonder. 'At home they would say we were hypnotized.'"

KOREAN ETIQUETTE.

A Native's New Year's Call Upon an American Lady.

The native Koreans, who have become familiar with foreigners and their ways, take very readily to the custom of calling—and eating—on New Year's day, and one American lady had a very peculiar experience with a native official in Seoul on New Year's day. She was keeping open house and had made preparations for receiving her guests in the proper manner.

Among other things she had made a very excellent and rather large cake, which she expected to distribute in small slices to her callers. A party of native gentlemen arrived, and, having given one of them a cup of tea, she placed this fine cake before him, with an invitation to help himself.

She then went with the others to another room and was gone some time. When she returned she saw, to her horror, that her cake had all but disappeared. The native, according to his ideas of etiquette, had done his best not to leave any of the eatables set before him.

The lady's vexation was banished by a feeling of pity for the poor fellow, who was quite sick from overfeeding. It is said that this call was his first and last visit day. He declared to his friends that foreigners must be "all stomach" if they could go from house to house and "eat that much every time."—London Mail.

Learn to Obey.

Learn to obey! By obedience I do not mean a merely outward submission to outward force and authority, but the voluntary subordination of one's own will under the will of a better and higher intelligence. He who has not learned to do this in childhood will have great difficulty in learning it in later life; he will rarely get beyond the deplorable and unhappy state that vacillates between outward submission and uproarious rebellion. No greater wrong can be done to childhood than the one caused by our desire to spare it the necessity of obeying. Whoever conceives the duty of the educator to consist in giving in to all desires of the child, in gratifying all its wishes, makes himself guilty of the gravest sin toward his child. He denies it what, in view of its future mission, it cannot afford to lose—namely, the exercise in voluntarily subordinating its own will under necessity, be it a natural or a social one.—Professor F. Paulson, University of Berlin, in Educational Review.

Strange Feats of Eye and Hand.

An expert who prided himself upon the smallness of his writing sent the president of the French academy a grain of wheat on which he had written 221 words. A Polish poet wrote all of Homer's "Illiad" on a piece of paper which could be rolled up small enough to go into a nutshell.

In the sixteenth century a man named Mark offered to Queen Elizabeth a gold chain of fifty links. The chain was so fine it could not be seen unless it was put on a sheet of white paper. To prove its lightness Mark tied it to a fly, which flew away with it. The most curious fact in this matter, which required so extraordinary a facility of touch for making this ornament, was that Mark was a blacksmith, accustomed to all kinds of heavy tools all day long.

A Spaniard, Joseph Faba, made a carriage as large as a grain of wheat. Under a magnifying glass it was possible to see the interior fitted up with seats, every detail being carried out to perfection.

Cosmopolitan New York.

Just think of it! New York is the first Irish city of the world. Belfast, the biggest city in Ireland, has a population of only 400,000, while this city has an Irish population of nearly 600,000. It is, moreover, the real metropolis of the Jewish race, since it has a population of 725,000. Warsaw has not quite 300,000. As for Germans, it is the third German city of the world, with nearly 700,000 native German inhabitants, Berlin and Hamburg alone exceeding her in this respect.

New York is, further, the second Austrian city in the world, the fifth Swedish, the sixth Norwegian, the seventh Italian and the eighth Russian city in the universe.—New York World.

SEAL CATCH DECREASES.

May Start Experimental Farm In Newfoundland.

The Canadian trade commissioner at St. John, N.B., E. D. Arnaud, reports to the Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa as follows:

The last of the sealing steamers to return from the ice-fields was the Diana on May 7, and the results of the fishery are now known. The total catch has been 213,863, which is 31,188 less than last year, and a decrease in value of $90,767.66.

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather conditions on the coast, early in March when the steamers left for the ice, were exceptionally favorable, the season proved to be severe, and resulted in the loss of three vessels, which were crushed in the heavy ice-floes. Fortunately these wrecks were not attended with loss of life, as the crews were able to make their escape to other steamers that happened to be in the vicinity. It is understood that the owners of the lost steamers are already taking steps to replace them with modern specially constructed and more powerful vessels, that will be adapted for freighting purposes when not employed as sealers during the few weeks that the seal fishery lasts. It may be noted that this business is undergoing a change in recent years, and is passing into the control of a few wealthy shipping concerns.

A local trade journal writes as follows regarding last season's uncured fish: The impression generally held last fall, that there was a very large quantity of codfish remaining uncured in the various outports, appears to have been an erroneous one; at all events, the fish is not coming into the city this spring in anything like the quantity that was anticipated. Most city dealers now believe that the uncured holdings last fall did not aggregate much more than the quantity stocked in ordinary years, to be carried over for curing during the winter. If these calculations be right, we have now as small a national fish bulk as we have had for many years at this time.

The following are the quotations here:

Fish, large merchantable, (qtl.)	$6.00
Fish, small merchantable	5.00
Fish, large Madeira	5.00
Fish, small Madeira	4.80
Fish, large West Indian	4.00
Fish, small West Indian	4.00
Fish, Labrador	3.50 to 3.80
Fish, shore cure	4.00 to 4.50

At the last session of the Legislature a sum of $20,000 annually was voted for the establishment of an experimental farm for the colony, and Prof. C. A. Zavitz, of the staff of the Agriculture College at Guelph, Ont., has arrived here to consult with the Minister of Agriculture as to the most efficient way in which the work can be commenced and carried on. Owing to the very great importance of the fisheries in the commercial life of the colony, the subject of agriculture has not hitherto received the attention it deserved.

There can be no doubt that the steps now being taken to procure the necessary information, in regard to the capability of the country to produce certain crops to advantage, and to diffuse this knowledge amongst the people, will prove of much benefit in the future, and may obviate the necessity for the large quantities of agricultural produce now imported from Canada and the United States to supply the requirements of the colony.

Synod Scores Gambling.

The Anglican Synod at Toronto recently passed the following resolution: "Your committee observes with deepest concern the great increase of the habit of gambling in many ways in the community, and especially deplores the serious prevalence of race track gambling at the Woodbine, and urges the synod to express in the most emphatic manner the possible conviction that existing legislation should be extended so as to make race track gambling unquestionably illegal, and that the Dominion Government should be urged to take such steps as may be necessary to secure this end.

"The committee also deplores the fact that so many members of the Church of England should attend race meetings in Toronto. We regret the extreme worldliness of so many of the members of our church. We regret that the lives of so many are absolutely self-centred, and that there is very little of the spirit and practice of self effacement which should be the mark of the true members of our church."

Excessive and indiscriminate novel reading, week-end excursions, undue time spent in playing games of chance are among the things mentioned as leading to lack of spirituality.

"It is sincerely to be deplored that in many of our families, of eminent respectability, the afternoon should be devoted to such games as bridge, which is played for money, and many of the younger members of our families are introduced into the gambling and betting habit. We regret most keenly the prevalent lack of careful and conscientious supervision by parents over the habits and conduct of their children, a lack which allows among other evils an unhealthy intercourse and intimacy between young men and women."

Family prayers, greater activity of church people in church work, and practical lessons and pastoral letters from the archbishop dealing with such matters, were the remedies suggested by the committee.

Canadian Mail Subsidy.

A new arrangement has been made with reference to the mail subsidy to the Far East. For several years the British Government has been contributing £60,000 and the Canadian Government £10,000 a year. The Home Government, however, gave notice that it would discontinue the subsidy at the expiration of the contract this year. However, by a new arrangement the joint subsidy to the Canadian Pacific Co., which has been performing the service, is reduced to £45,000. Of this the British Government will contribute £20,000 and the Canadian Government £25,000 a year.

Johannesburg Telephone Exchange.

The new telephone exchange recently installed at Johannesburg will accommodate 24,000 lines. There are now about 6,500 entering the building.

The Lovers' Knot.

By Martha Cobb Seaford.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Ella Marden suddenly dropped her golf club and sat down under the shade of an elm tree.

"It's too hot to play," she announced languidly. "Do you mind finishing the course by yourself, Mr. West?"

Lyndon West glanced at her with very evident concern.

"You're not ill?" he asked anxiously.

"Not a bit of it," Ella assured him; "just lazy. Now, do finish and then come and tell me your score."

West hesitated.

"All right, if you wish it," he assented finally. "You'll promise to stay right here?"

She watched West swinging off over the green stretching links and then, bending forward, began to unlace one of her smart little tan boots.

"H'm," she said to herself, "that was easy." Suddenly she paused, her boot only partially loosened. "If he really liked me better than golf," she mused, "he would have insisted on staying with me. He's a selfish brute, after all, like the others. Well, it's lucky I had this chance to find out."

"Oh, Miss Marden," called a masculine voice very near her, "what are you doing all by yourself under a tree?"

Ella hid her foot under her skirt.

"Resting," she answered indifferently, "or at least trying to."

The man laughed incredulously.

"Something new for you, isn't it? I thought you were an indefatigable golfer. As for me, I always prefer resting," he finished jocosely, at the same time seating himself uninvited beside her.

Ella sighed. The man misinterpreted her meaning.

"Beastly hot!" he agreed.

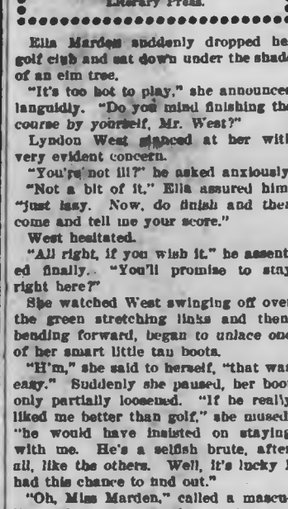
Ella let the remark pass unnoticed.

Soon she sighed again.

"Can't I fan you?" urged the man, taking up his hat and suiting the action to the words.

"Please don't," protested Ella, not overgraciously.

"But you're in distress," he insisted, noticing the drawn look on her face.



"SHALL IT BE A TRUE LOVERS' KNOT, DEAREST?"

"Is there anything I can do? A glass of water, perhaps?"

Ella accepted the suggestion eagerly.

"Oh, if you will, Mr. Stearns!"

The man disappeared precipitately. The clubhouse was a considerable distance away, and Ella rejoiced in the fact.

"What egotists men are!" she soliloquized. "Any man halfway intelligent would have left me alone."

"Played out, Miss Marden?" called a cheery voice behind her. "It is pretty warm."

Again the telltale unlaced boot was hastily concealed.

"I thought you men were never conscious of the weather when golf was in question," generalized Ella, evading the personal implication.

"I hadn't thought much about it, to tell the truth, till I saw you curled up comfortably here in the shade. I think I'll follow your lead, Miss Marden," whereupon, without so much as adding "by your leave," the newcomer disposed himself indolently on the velvety turf beside her.

Ella frowned, but her companion was oblivious.

"Made a good score today, Miss Marden?"

"Fair," replied Ella listlessly, "until I lost my ball." Then, with a sudden animation, "I suppose it would be asking too much of you, Mr. Brayton, to hunt a bit for it?"

Mr. Brayton rose gallantly.

"Most certainly not," he assured her. "Where did you lose it?"

With a vague gesture Ella indicated the woods back of them, and Brayton started forth good naturedly.

"There," breathed Ella, at last pulling off the torturing boot. "What a relief! Now I'll investigate."

She thrust her hand into the boot, drawing it out again immediately with a little cry of pain. She had cut her finger somehow, and it was bleeding.

A familiar whistle caused her to look up. Lyndon West was coming toward her rapidly. There was no time to mend matters. Ella wrapped her handkerchief hastily around her wounded finger and thrust the offending boot beneath her skirt.

"Well, here I am again!" sang out Lyndon. "Been lonely?"

"Haven't had a chance," handed out. "Everybody that's passed felt called upon to sit down and keep me company."

"I don't wonder," was Lyndon's frankly admiring comment.

"Not one of them," announced Ella condemningly, "had the sense to see that I wanted to be by myself—to rest. You are either exceptionally perceptive, Mr. West, or exceptionally callous."

West, who had thrown himself wearily down on the grass, looked up in time to catch the mischief in Ella's sparkling eyes.

"I am exceptionally perceptive," he affirmed laughingly. "I knew you didn't want me to stay."

"But you are quite sure I am glad you are back?" she teased.

Whatever Lyndon had in mind to reply was not spoken.

"Jump!" he shouted excitedly. "A ball's coming!"

Ella grasped his hand and sprang up just as a swiftly driven ball brushed by her skirt. Then, still holding Lyndon's hand, she hopped on one foot to a nearby stump.

"It struck you," gasped Lyndon. "You are hurt. Where?"

Ella, convulsed, raised her handkerchief to her face.

"It is your hand—it is bleeding," he exclaimed. "Let me see it! I thought it was your foot."

At this dramatic moment Stearns appeared with a glass of water.

"I'm sorry I was so long, Miss Marden," he began apologetically.

West snatched the glass from him.

"You were miraculously quick," he said gratefully. "Here, Miss Marden," he began, "drink this."

But Ella, who was apparently sobbing, could not be induced to lift her face from her handkerchief.

"Just leave her to me, Stearns," urged West. "She'll be all right in a few minutes. And thanks ever so much, old man."

Stearns, utterly flabbergasted, but well aware that he was quite de trop, walked slowly off.

Hot upon the heels of his involuntary retreat Brayton loomed into view.

"Here's the ball, Miss Marden," he called victoriously.

"Who cares about the ball?" snapped Lyndon. "Go find the one who sent it if you want to make yourself useful!"

"Well, what's the matter with you?" demanded the angered Brayton.

At this climax Ella lifted her face. It was certainly flushed—whether with weeping Lyndon West was a bit in doubt.

"Thank you, Mr. Brayton," she said humbly. "It was awfully good of you to hunt it for me. Now please go on with your own game or you won't be able to finish before dark."

Brayton, though mystified, took his conge like a thoroughbred.

For a few eloquently silent seconds Ella and Lyndon looked at each other—Lyndon with the air of a man who has been the victim of a practical joke and Ella with an expression half mischievous, half embarrassed.

"Perhaps you can explain," suggested Lyndon at length.

"Um, hum! I can," Ella assented. "Do you mind going back to where we were sitting? I think I left something there."

Lyndon went on the errand. He soon returned, carrying Ella's tan boot dangling by its lacings.

"If the beautiful Cinder-Ella will permit," he begged, kneeling before her.

"It isn't a cinder at all," sniffed Ella scornfully. "It's a nail."

While Lyndon, with the aid of a stone or two, pounded down the refractory nail Ella made clear to him the sequence and denouement of the afternoon's events.

The boot finished, Lyndon again begged the privilege of putting it on the lady's dainty foot.

The lacing process was executed with great precision, but when it came to tying the knot Lyndon hesitated.

"Shall it be a true lovers' knot, dearest?" he asked, looking up at her with grave affection.

Ella laughed. She couldn't help it—Lyndon was so serious and she was so happy.

"Is that the same as a beau knot?" she asked him archly.

And somehow, both helping, the knot was tied.

Village Income From Golf.

The village of Brancaster has made an arrangement with the Royal West Norfolk Golf club under which it receives 4 per cent of the club's gross income, with a guarantee of not less than $250 in any year, for the use of the land which has been converted into links. Each year the money is distributed equally among householders of not less than twelve months' residence. This year's distribution has just been made, and the club paid over $315, an increase of $42 upon last year's contribution. The amount sufficed to give every householder in Brancaster $1.25 and leave a balance in hand.—London Standard.

Electric Campaign Cane.

An electric campaign cane is being manufactured as one of the novelties of the approaching presidential campaign. The handle of the cane is modeled to represent the head of the candidate in whose interests the cane is being carried. Inside the head, which is of glass, is a small electric bulb, which lights it up at night in an effective manner. Instead of being fastened directly to the upper end of the cane, the illuminated head is connected with it by a leather sleeve or neck and bobs back and forth with the swing of carrying it. The battery is placed within this sleeve.—Popular Mechanics.

"Look as if you was feelin' pretty good today, James," said the first waiter.

"Yes, tiptop," replied the other.

"Some streak o' luck maybe?"

"Yes, tiptop tip."

HOW A GUN IS MADE.

Casting Giant Weapons For Defence of Great Britain.

Although the British navy is so widely discussed, the average man knows little or nothing of the ships and the guns that guard him. The Pall Mall Magazine contains an article setting forth how one of these giants of defence and destruction is wrought to perfection, and how the man who uses the gun is drilled and trained into that marvel of nerve and skill, the British naval marksman. Says the author:

Brains She is all brains—not to be matched in the world for accuracy and strength together. In respect of her highly intellectual personality, a volume, but not an article, might do the big gun justice. She is made of a kind of steel evolved by a whole generation of inventors, and comes to Woolwich in solid blocks of it from Sheffield. Much technical education goes to its forging. Sheffield University is famous. The molten metal poured from a great crucible that turns over like a soda-water bottle on trunnions. The stream is white-hot. It is so hot that the metal becomes actinic, with light enough to be photographed instantaneously in a shed that is otherwise twilit. And its temperature is judged to a nicety by the degree of whiteness. One skilled man does nothing else but judge it—wearing blue spectacles, as you look at the sun through smoked glass. Mr. Brock has nothing so fine in fireworks as the cascade of sparks that fall in gushes from the neck of the crucible while it is heated; and, "a fortiori," the fulguration of casting is beyond his powers. The tubes are to fit along their whole surface far more closely that a glove to the hand; and they must be flawless. Much more time is taken up in gauging and examining them than in any work beside—the innermost rifled tube especially. It is measured inside and out, all the way down its 46 feet of length.

First they do this measuring before it has been slipped in, and then afterwards to make sure that the tube has been nowhere squeezed. The examination of its fine surface for cracks, flaws, and errors of alignment is equally minute. They look it over inside with a sort of laryngoscope on a long pole—a mirror that carries a little electric lamp; and they take impressions of it, piece by piece, with gutta-percha wedged up against it. No defects can well escape the microscopic scrutiny. The tubes are specially hardened. The innermost tube has to withstand the extreme wear and tear of the traveling shell, that leaves the gun's muzzle at a rate of 2,600 to 3,000 feet a second, which is about 30 times faster than an express train. No steel that ever was forged could remain unaltered by such work, and the surface will be gradually dragged out till the tube projects at the muzzle. By then it will be time to put another in. But to make this tube and the others as hard as possiblt they are reheated in a vertical brick furnace after being cast, and are then—at an exact temperature—taken out and dipped into a deep pit of oil.

Trained Elephants of India.

The Government of India has 15,000 men who catch and train wild elephants in the northern jungles. Dacca, in Bengal, is the headquarters of his Majesty's parchyderm department. Here is an elephant depot nearly a mile square, deeply intrenched and with an immense shed in the centre, where the animals are kept during the heat of the day. Tuskers are picketed in long rows awaiting transport by sea and land to all parts of India for military and civil use. There is a hospital for sick beasts. The depot abuts on a branch of the River Ganges, so the animals can have their bath and be watered. Hunting parties leave Dacca at the beginning of December, and after working three or four months in the forests of Chittagong the white sahibs in charge return about May with hundreds of captured monsters. The method of capture is ancient and simple. When the feeding ground of a herd is reached an army of laborers fells trees and builds a great enclosure with a funnel-shaped opening. Above the entrance is a drop door secured by a cable. The native beaters and shikaris, armed with tomtoms, brass gongs, fireworks and flint locks surround the frightened herd and drive it into the corral. The cable is cut, the door drops. Afterward men mounted on tame, intelligent beasts enter the inclosure and rope one wild specimen at a time and lead him outside. If necessary, the tame ones give him a good "licking." The process of taming is often speedy, but it takes some time to educate an animal for the military or civil service. Every military elephant, which will carry artillery and baggage for the British army in mountain expeditions, must learn how to salute with its trunk. Twenty-five of the least valuable of the herd of animals recently captured were sold at a public auction for $1,000 apiece.

"I can get an English coachman a place twice as quickly as a German or a Yankee coachman," said an employment agent. "Each country, I find, is supposed to turn out one kind of workman of peculiar excellence. Thus England's specialty is the stableman.

"France's specialty is the chauffeur. The cook, too, is a specialty of France.

"Scotland is noted for its engineers and in the field of sport for its golf coaches.

"The Swiss are considered to be the best watch makers. It is never any trouble to get a Swiss watchmaker a job.

"The Swedes are the best sailors."

"Germans are at a premium as brewery hands.

"Italians are in demand as plaster workers, a trade wherein they wonderfully excel."

Great City for Prayer.

A visitor to Moscow soon discovers why it is called the Holy City. Every 200 or 300 feet there is a cathedral, church, chapel or shrine, and whichever way you look you see people crossing themselves. Until one has seen Moscow the piety of the place is not easily understood. The outsider cannot imagine Moscow conditions. He cannot imagine church bells ringing all the time and people praying in the public streets at all hours of day and night.

FEMININE VANITY.

The Jewish and Egyptian Women Were Arrant Coquettes.

Feminine vanity is not the product of our effete civilization, but is as old as the history of the world.

The Jewish and Egyptian women were arrant coquettes and well versed in the artificialities of the toilet. When Jezebel learned of the approach of Jehu she sought to enhance her charms by painting her face and blackening her eyes with antimony.

Judith before she proceeded on her murderous mission to the tent of Holofernes bathed and perfumed her person with infinite care and wrapped herself in a splendid veil, in whose voluminous folds she concealed her cruel weapon. The Roman belles of the empire dyed their hair blond, red and even blue, according to the caprice of the moment. They used cosmetics of every kind to excess and, like the Moorish women, augmented the luster of their eyes by means of antimony. They also pencilled their eyebrows with a bodkin blackened in the smoke of frankincense.

Wealthy women bathed in asses' milk and slept with their faces poulticed with bread steeped in asses' milk in order to efface wrinkles. Even poets sang the praises of certain cosmetics, and Ovid wrote a laudatory poem on the merits of a preparation which, he asserted, preserved the freshness of the skin to old age. It was a curious mixture and was compounded of lily roots, yolks of eggs, hartshorn, gum benzoin, flour and honey, which were all boiled together.

Pliny mentions a species of face powder made of earth from the island of Chio dissolved in vinegar. Juvenal writes that the countenances of the Roman women were disfigured with this supposed beautifier. Among the Roman ladies it was the fashion to be very pale, as red cheeks were not deemed aristocratic. To attain this desirable pallor a quantity of chalk was rubbed on the face.

Many of the cosmetics in use in Greece and Rome have been discovered among ancient relics. Antimony, the oldest of them all, has been found in the utensils belonging to the stone age.

Panama Mosquitoes.

A visitor to the canal zone of Panama can have the privilege of an introduction to not less than eighty-three species of mosquitoes, thirty of them found nowhere else. Fortunately they do not all bite, and the contagion of yellow fever is carried by only one of them. Certain genera, technically called megarhinus, psorophora and lutzia, are found, which instead of spreading any disease hostile to men wage war on their weaker cousins and at times even on their brothers and sisters. The yellow fever mosquito, the only kind in America spreading this infection, scientifically called stegomyia, is very scarce. It is possible to live for weeks on the line of the canal without seeing a single specimen. This mosquito is a strictly domestic insect, never found away from man. It breeds only in artificial receptacles, such as barrels, water coolers, bottles and tin cans in and around human habitations.

An Author's Trick.

One of the abler modern writers made this confession the other day: "I am so devoted to my wife that I allow her to break in upon me whenever she pleases. Naturally she cuts into my line of thought and often destroys the continuity of genius. The only way for me to do a good day's work is to quarrel with her, to make her so angry that she will cry, fuss, break a few dishes, smash a kitten, scald a puppy or two, then go to her room and stay there. By the time I have done a day's work she is in excellent humor and tired of being alone. Then we make up."

ROY DRIVEN OUT.

Quebec Ex-Speaker and Bank President Stirred From Old Home.

Montreal, July 28.—La Patrie publishes the following special from Quebec:

"The Hon. Philippe Roy, formerly Speaker of the Legislative Assembly and ex-president of the Bank of St. Johns, arrived at the Parliament buildings Saturday, with all his family and baggage, with a view to take up his residence in his old quarters.

"His presence, in view of what had recently taken place, created intense excitement, and for the moment Sir Lomer Gouin was in a quandary.

"Finally the Prime Minister sent the Deputy Attorney-General to Mr. Roy and plainly gave him to understand that under no consideration must he remain in the Parliament buildings.

"The ex-Speaker, after some hesitation, adopted the wiser course and departed, bag and baggage; without even unpacking his trunks."

Brothers Held For Murder.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 28.—As a result of a fight in the Italian colony here Sunday night, Beaga Pachiocio is dead and his brother Charles lies dangerously wounded. Two brothers, Benny and Alex. Scigliano, are held in connection with the murder, while another brother, Ike, escaped, and is still a fugitive.

According to a witness at the preliminary hearing the fight started over the kicking of a dog near the office of Benny Scigliano, who conducts a cigar factory, and who is agent of the Sudbury Brewing Co. Four shots were fired, and the witness claims Benny Scigliano and his brother murdered the dead man.

Convict Calls on Mafia.

New York, July 28.—Threats of death at the hands of the Mafia were made to Judge Rosalsky in court yesterday, just after he had pronounced sentence on an Italian. "The Mafia will get you for this," shouted the enraged man. Then, turning to some of his friends in the court-room, he cried: "He has given me ten years; take care of him for me."

The prisoner on whom the judge imposed a penalty of not less than nine years and three months and not more than ten years in prison was Cosmic Riccobona. He pleaded guilty to robbing a bank messenger of $48,000.

Child Killed by Mower.

Brockville, July 28.—The three-year-old daughter of John Beznette, who resides near Dekalb, had both feet cut off by coming in contact with the knives of a mowing machine. The child's mother was on the machine doing the mowing, and took the girl to the field, leaving her on a distant hill picking berries. Mrs. Beznette, while busily engaged with her work, was startled to see the child emerge from the tall grass directly in front of the swiftly-moving knives. Her efforts to stop the team was unavailing, and the child was precipitated on the cutter-bar.

Trenton Burglar Arrested.

Belleville, July 28.—John Campeau of this city is under arrest, charged with burglarizing three stores in Trenton on Saturday night. There were two others with him, who escaped. The stores broken into were Mowat's hardware store, Barber's dry goods store and Parks' grocery.

The robbers were discovered in Parks' grocery and the police followed them, arresting Campeau, who was yesterday morning remanded to jail for ten days.

City Hall Lighthouse.

Kingston, July 28.—It is now estimated that the damages to the dome of the City Hall by fire, and to the buildings by water, will reach some $20,000.

To aid navigation a huge electric light now surmounts the City Hall. Hitherto the illuminated clock tower was used as a lighthouse. The 1,800-pound bell is useless. The heat was so intense that it melted and fell in big pieces about the dome floor.

Laborer Captures Thug.

Victoria, B.C., July 28.—After successfully holding up three different persons on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, George White, 25 years old, of Idaho, was captured Sunday night by a posse of police.

John Evans, a laborer living near Elk Lake, recognized the highwayman when he asked for food and shelter, and, decoying him to a neighbor's house, the two secured him and notified the police.

J. J. Hill Coming Home.

Guelph, July 28.—The Old Boys' reunion to be held here next week promises to come up to the rosiest of expectations. Crowds are assured, an excursion of 400 having been arranged from Detroit.

Among the celebrities to attend will be J. J. Hill, the great railway magnate, and Rear-Admiral Kingsmill.

Electric Bath Fatal.

Manila, July 28.—Lieut. Oswall of the 29th infantry met death accidentally by electrocution. The officer was preparing to take a bath and had entered the bathtub when he endeavored to arrange the lighting current to take an electric bath. In some way he came in contact with the wires, receiving the full charge.

Carnegie Library Robbed.

Vancouver, July 28.—Thieves Sunday night broke into the Carnegie Library Museum during the absence of the night watchman between 9 and 10 o'clock. A great collection of old coins valued at from five to ten thousand dollars was stolen. This is the second robbery of the kind in a year.

Returns to Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 28.—Hon. R. W. Scott, the first of the Cabinet Ministers to return from Quebec, arrived in the capital at noon yesterday.

It was the first time Mr. Scott had been away from Ottawa for several years.

Killed by Lightning.

Killarney, Man., July 28.—During a thunderstorm, the 13-year-old son of William Baxter was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, July 27.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending July 25, were 2073 cattle, 519 sheep and lambs, 1268 hogs and 240 calves. The supply for local consumption this morning was 800 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 500 hogs and 100 calves.

The trade for export account was slow, as there was no suitable stock on the market and in addition to this cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday were easier at a decline in prices of ¼c to ½c per lb., with choice Canadians quoted at 12¾c to 13¼c; hay fed ranchers at 12c to 12½c, and grass-fed at 11¼c to 12c. The top figure realized here for the best beeves was 5¼c, but the bulk of the sales was made at 5c to 5¼c, and the lower grades ranged all the way from 2¾c to 4¼c per lb.

The stronger feeling which developed in the market for sheep a week ago has continued and prices have scored a further advance of ¼c per lb., owing to the increased demand from exporters and the fact that supplies are coming forward in very limited numbers.

Sales of choice stock were made at 4c and the culls at 3¼c to 3¾c per lb. There has also been an increased demand for lambs for local consumption and contracts for some fair sized lots have been made at 7c per lb. for future delivery.

The few offered this morning met with a ready sale at prices ranging from $3 to $5.50 each. The demand for calves continues good, of which the offerings were small and prices ruled firm at from $3 to $7 each, and really choice veals would bring $10 to $12.

Owing to the small supply of hogs coming forward the undertone to the market remains strong, but prices show no actual change, as compared with this day week, on account of the fact that the competition between buyers is not as keen as might be expected as some of the leading packing concerns have contracted for a number of Manitoba hogs at a fraction or so under the ruling figures for selected Western Ontario stock and therefore they are not operating in the local market to any great extent at present. The demand, however, from local dealers was good and sales of selected lots were made at $7.25 to $7.35, and rough as low as $6.50 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

Veals—Receipts, 2400 head; slow and 25c lower; $5 to $7.50; a few at $7.75.

It assures the protection of his wife and children in case of his sudden demise—and the healthiest of us never knows when the end may come. We can afford families this protection by offering attractive terms in the Life Insurance at the lowest rates—such as are hardly felt by the thrifty.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life insurance policy must be gauged by the Security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it." The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no payment and the profits paid—let the figures within tell their own forceful story.

VISIT TO STE. ANNE

Prince and Earl Grey Make Call at Miracle Shrine.

HE CHATS WITH HABITANTS

Has Merry Time Meeting Crowd of Country People at Door of Church —Church Dignitaries Show Him the Relics—Searchlight Demonstration and Sham Torpedo Boat Fight—Levis Reception.

Quebec, July 28.—The visit of the prince to St. Anne's de Beaupre yesterday morning was perhaps the most picturesque incident of the trip, and one unique in the annals of the little miracle town.

The prince had not been expected, although the Duke of Norfolk and Lord Lovat had been out and signed the visitors' book last week. It was known during the morning that the prince would call on his way back from St. Joachim in his motor car, and the place was all decorated for the occasion.

At 3.15 a joyful peal from the Basilica announced the approach of the royal party, and at 3.30 all the bells in Beaupre broke out jubilantly as the prince dismounted at the entrance to the grounds of the shrine.

Here, in 1658, the first miracle was performed, and yesterday morning it was stated the latest wonder was added to the long record. A girl declared herself healed of an injury to one of her limbs, and the plaster cast was removed and hung on the wall of the Basilica, blood and matter still adhering to it, while she walked healed to her chair. So it is affirmed.

The prince, with Earl Grey, entered the Basilica guided by Mgr. Maturin, president of Laval University, and Fathers Lemieux and Caron, with other members of the community. By some oversight the lights were not turned on and the full magnificence of the church was not displayed, nor the beautiful effect of the aureole shown around the great statue of good St. Anne.

But the prince saw the shrine as other people see it, gorgeous as it is. He was conducted first to the wonder working statue, and then into the chancel, where the fine stained glass was pointed out.

The National Anthem was played on the organ on his entrance, and George F. Fortier, the organist, played a finale of Guilmant's as the prince passed into the chancel. Subsequently Madame Charles Beaudoin sang a hymn to St. Anne, to the tune of "Home, Sweet Home." The singularly sweet rendering of the familiar melody gained interest as Madame Beaudoin substituted for one of the times the words "God bless our prince and throne."

The prince was conducted behind the high altar and into the sacristy, and the relics in the treasury shown him. These include the first statue of St. Anne, brought from France in 1661, a magnificent mass vestment worked in silk and gold, made and presented by Anne of Austria, mother of Louis XIV., in 1666, the several reliquaries of St. Anne, who is the patron saint of Canada, and many other precious memorials. These things having been seen, the prince signed the register, "George P.," with the date, and underneath the Governor-General wrote "Grey."

Emerging from the sacristy the prince found a merry crowd of the country people awaiting him, and he quite entered into the spirit of the scene, laughing and chatting and shaking hands with all and sundry. The motor car speedily moved off, followed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lord Strathcona in another car. The remainder of the party were waiting at the main entrance and followed the royal car to Quebec.

In the evening the naval display in the harbor was one of the great spectacles of this spectacular celebration.

A signal from the flagship Exmouth caused the instantaneous illumination of the harbor by the combined searchlights of the fleet. These powerful and dazzling beams swept the whole scene and brought everything into prominence, from the tiniest rowboat on the river to the coping-stones of the Citadel.

A sham torpedo attack followed the searchlight demonstration, pinnacles representing torpedo boats.

The town of Levis gave a civic reception yesterday to Count Levis, Marquis Levis-Mirepoix and Marquis de Montcalm. Six years ago Count Levis had citizenship conferred on him.

Lieutenant-Governor Fraser, Nova Scotia, on behalf of the people of that province, presented the prince yesterday morning with a mink coat for the Princess of Wales. Premier Murray and Hon. W. S. Fielding assisted his honor. The coat is magnificently matched fur, with 24 karat gold buttons inlaid with Nova Scotia pearls and amethysts. It is valued at $8,000.

PEACE SOCIETY MEETS.

Congress Representing Sixteen Counties In Session In London.

London, July 28.—The seventeenth universal peace congress, organized by the Society of Friends, assembled at Canton Hall here yesterday. Over 100 societies in sixteen different countries are in attendance. The Bishop of Carlisle, president of the congress, during his opening address, said:

"Nothing has impeded the national prosperity so much as partisan strife and blind antagonism. They were told to think imperially, but a rider was needed—let them not act imperially."

King Edward and Queen Alexandra received the delegates at Buckingham Palace at noon.

"Bobs" Itinerary.

Quebec, July 28.—Another change has been made in regard to Lord Roberts' visit to Toronto, though even the new arrangement is only tentative.

As matters stand now, he will leave for Montreal on July 30, afterwards going to Ottawa. He is due at Toronto on Aug. 5 and will leave there on the morning of the 8th for Hamilton and Niagara Falls. Thence he goes to Banff, B. C.

On the return journey he will stop at Kingston, and also visit the Thousand Islands.

The C. P. R., whose guest he will be on the trip, is placing a special car at his disposal.

Crash Involving Pacific Express at Hemlo Is Indirect Result of Derailment a Few Miles Away—Second Section of Train Runs Into First —Belfast Tourist Is Instantly Killed In the Smash-Up.

North Bay, July 28.—Two accidents have occurred on the Lake Superior Division of the C. P. R., one being the indirect cause of the other.

Hemlo, a little station 422 miles west of North Bay and 210 miles east of Fort William, was the scene of the most serious one, with a casualty list of one killed and eight injured.

A peculiar feature is that it was the second accident in 24 hours in a radius of four miles.

Sunday a sun-kinked rail put 19 cars in the ditch at Pringle, blocking the mail line until yesterday afternoon, when traffic was resumed, only to be worse than demoralized an hour later.

Pacific Express No. 97, running in two sections, left North Bay with a heavy passenger list for the west on Sunday morning, and was delayed by the freight wreck at Pringle. The first section of 97, when the tracks were cleared, started on the journey and stopped at Hemlo. The second section, following too closely, crashed into the train ahead, the engine plowing through the caboose and tourist passenger car, smashing them to kindling wood and tearing up the track for many yards.

The collision occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and as soon as the first effects of the shock passed, the train crews and passengers turned to the work of reacue.

Doctors from White River and Schreiber were soon at the scene and injuries of passengers attended to.

It seems a miracle that the list of dead and injured is so small, considering the nature of the accident and the crowded cars. The casualties all occurred on the first section, which was standing still when the collision occurred.

Engineer Evans of the second 97 and his fireman jumped when they saw the train ahead, on rounding the curve, and escaped with their lives. No one was hurt on the second section.

J. McCormick, a tourist from Belfast, Ireland, was instantly killed, and the following were injured: Millie Davis, Southerk, Man.; Charles C. Amey, Miniota, Man.; Miss Florence Broad, Vancouver; Mrs. F. Hatcher, Winnipeg; Harriett Strong, Winnipeg; John Morse, Innisfail, Alberta; Frances Morse, Innisfail, Alberta; Aubrey Allen, Homefield, Man.

The injured passengers are doing well and all will recover, as the injuries, while painful and severe in several instances, are not serious.

President Fallieres Visits Czar of Russia at Reval.

French Ruler Takes Leaf Out of King Edward's Book—Is Greeted With Naval Review Including Most of Russia's Fleet — Marseillaise Hymn Forbidden by Czar, Is Played as Compliment.

Reval, July 28.—The harbor of Reval was bathed in sunshine for the meeting between Emperor Nicholas of Russia and President Fallieres of France, which occurred yesterday afternoon.

The ceremony was similar to that of the interview King Edward and the Emperor had some time ago.

President Fallieres arrived here at 3 o'clock in the afternoon on the French battleship Verite, which was escorted by the armored cruiser Dupetet Thouars, and the gunboat Cassini, and found awaiting him the principal part of Russia's fighting fleet, including the battleships Slava and Tsarevitch, drawn up in two lines.

As the French ships swung into place, a series of salutes which covered the bay with a pall of smoke were fired, and the crews of both nations exchanged hearty and prolonged cheers. The strains of the Marseillaise, so long interdicted in Russia on account of its revolutionary connections, were heard on the quarter deck of the imperial yacht Standart and the Russian warships.

The Emperor immediately sent Admiral Dickoff, Minister of Marine, to bid President Fallieres welcome to Russia, and after a short interval, accompanied by his suite, the French President proceeded to the Standart. The Emperor later returned the President's visit on board the Verite, and spent an hour inspecting the modern French warship.

A dinner was served last night on the imperial yacht Standart.

MORE LADIES THAN MEN

All Summer Resorts Have This Experience And Idyl Wyld Is Along With The Rest.

DANCES ARE REPORTED TAME

Summer resorts seem to be strikingly similar in one respect, at least—the women outnumbering the men. Idyl Wild, according to report, is like the rest. A gentleman who has been recently visiting at the breezy Rice Lake resort says the men are sadly in the minority. Every evening when all gather in the large hall for a dance, most of the young women have to select partners from their own sex. The few men that are holidaying there are like prize dolls at a charity bazaar—sought after by all the girls. If they possessed one of the qualities of an octopus the situation might be relieved, but as it is, the young ladies are sighing for more men. If they can dance, so much the better; if not, it will be a case of have to learn.

Fire At Fanning's Laundry Spread Through The Building Before The Brigade Arrived

Building Was Gutted—Eye Witnesses State Fire Was Burning More Than Five Minutes Before The First Stream Was Turned On.

MACHINERY INSURED

At twenty minutes after nine this morning fire broke out in the building used by Mrs J. S. Fanning as a steam laundry, at the rear of his office on George street, opposite the Grand Opera House. The alarm was sent in by Mr. Art Jobe from box 21 at the corner of King and George streets. The bell at the market did not answer, as usual, but the brigade had received the message. Several minutes elipsed and a telephone message was sent to the firehall, as it was thought that the alarm system was not in working order. Chief Howard explained that one of the men was out working on the line, hence there was no signal given at the town clock.

Spread Rapidly

When Chief Howard and his men reached the fire it had spread so rapidly that practically the whole building was enveloped in flames.

From the open windows and doors volumes of smoke poured out, lit up by the long tongues of fire. The heat was intense, and the barn which is connected with McColl's blacksmith shop was on fire. It is divided

Stony Lake Suffers Its First Drowning Accident Of Season; Peterborough Youth Loses Life

TO CONDUCT SERVICES AT THE KNOX CHURCH IN PASTOR'S ABSENCE

REV. J. CORDNER,
Of Montreal, who will be there next Sunday.

Mr. R. McKelvey, proprietor of "Belvidere" summer resort, head of Stony Lake, is in the city to-day making arrangements for the erection of additional cottages to his resort. His house is crowded at present, and several parties are booked for August.

Bathing With Others at Noon To-day Off Kenmore Island—Home is on Park Street.

BODY IS RECOVERED

Examiner Special

Stony Lake, July 28.—The unconstrained pleasure of the population of Stony Lake to-day received a sudden shock when it was learned that Howard Mallory, a well known Peterborough young man of about twenty-one years of age, met death in a watery grave. The accident occurred about mid-day, when he and other friends were bathing off "Kenmore"—Mr. Leech's Island — and having a jolly time in the pleasant waters.

Dismay, however, soon broke in upon the astonished swimmers, when in the midst of their merriment it was observed that young Mallory was on the brink of death and was about to sink. Apparently he had been seized by cramps, as he was considered a good swimmer.

His companions noticed the look of awakened terror in his face, and they immediately went off to his assistance. But in the blind struggle for life he almost pulled his friends beneath the surface. Everything possible was done to save him, but he sank to the bottom and could not be located in time.

A short time later young Mallory's body was recovered, and this afternoon left on the Steamer Empress for Lakefield, where it will be conveyed by Grand Trunk to his home in Peterborough. The unfortunate young man was camped with others on Juniper Island. His home is at 584 Park street, being a son of Mr. Wm. W. Mallory, carpenter, of Peterborough.

IMPROVES THE SERVICE

Mr. R. R. Hall's Efforts Result In Fast Service of Mails to Springville---Mail Catchers Erected.

RESIDENTS ARE APPRECIATIVE

The unsatisfactory postal service to Springville, which has so long been a source of annoyance to residents of that village, has at last, thanks to the untiring efforts of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., undergone a considerable change for the better.

By the old system of service, letters and papers from Peterborough were taken to Port Hope and thence to Fraserville, from which place they were taken to Springville by mail-carrier. This entailed a wholly unnecessary delay in the transmission of mail matter.

At last, however, a mail catcher has been installed at Kendry station and Springville residents will be enabled to receive their correspondence and papers from Peterborough with far greater despatch than before was possible.

NINETEEN-YEAR OLD GIRL TELLS OF COMMITMENT OF AN ALLEGED WRONG

Case Was Heard Before County Magistrate Edmison This Morning—She Says Accused Promised Marriage.

INFORMATION LAID TOO LATE

A young girl scarcely beyond her teens, in the witness box in the County Police Court this morning, told Magistrate Edmison of an alleged wrong done her by Michael Anderson, under promise of marriage. The court room was well filled with spectators, there being a preponderence of men, many of whom came from Havelock. Miss Johnston, the plaintiff, told of her location previous to the time of the alleged offence. She went to Toronto in September, 1906 and returned in June of the following year. During her absence there she was a domestic in two private houses and before returning remained with her friends a couple of weeks.

Anderson, the accused young man, had been paying her attention previous to her departure for Toronto. They had corresponded during her absence, but he had never visited her. On arriving home in June he met her at the station in Havelock. On

ABSCONDING YOUTH GETS AWAY IN A BOAT WITH A LOCAL MAN'S MONEY

Given $92.50 to Deposit--Rents Skiff at Otonabee Boat House --Walks From The River to Fraserville.

HE WANTS TO BE COWBOY

Yesterday morning Mr. H. T. Elliott, baker and confectioner, George street, sent his youthful employee, Jas. Armstrong by name, to deposit $92.50 in the Bank of Ottawa, but he neglected to fulfil his mission and his whereabouts are now unknown. The police have traced him as far as Fraserville, and they know that he went by way of the Otonabee River and the fields between it and Fraserville. Arriving at the Otonabee boat house he rented a skiff of Mr. Douglas Loomis, paying him 50 cents cash, stating that he would be absent a couple of hours. It was this same craft that Mr. Rye was sending to Stony Lake, and when the express man called it wasn't there.

Mr. Wm. Richardson, who was going down in his launch, was requested to ask the boy to hurry back. Near the first bridge, opposite Mr. Latimer's residence, the skiff was discovered pulled up on shore, with one of the coin-holders in the bottom, and the boat was brought

INFATUATED LOVER FOLLOWS WRONG TRAIL; OBJECT OF HIS SEARCH GOES THROUGH THIS CITY

Madrid, July 28.—Special. — A drama of infatuated love and hopeless search has ended here by the suicide of Pedro Teixeira, a handsome and highly educated Portuguese of great wealth. He is said to have been worth close to $10,000,000.

Last September, when staying at Mentone, Teixeira saw and fell in love with a beautiful English girl, who, in company with her father, sat at a table next to his in the hotel dining-room. He learned the young woman's name, and by paying silent attentions to her father, tried to get an introduction; but the haughty Englishman refused his advances. For three days the young Portuguese had the bliss of gazing at the fairest face he had ever seen. Sometimes he fondly imagined that the blue eyes looked at him with sympathy, but they were quickly averted under the father's stern gaze.

Parent and Child Missing

Suddenly both parent and child disappeared. Inconsolable, but not without hope, Teixeira set out to track the only woman he had ever loved. He traced the pair to Paris, but reaching there he found they had left for London. In London the forlorn Portuguese sought his beloved in vain. He searched for her surname in books of reference, patrolled the parks and fashionable streets, and even employed a private detective agency. While in the depths of despair, he discovered the girl's address, but on inquiry at the house learned that she and her father had left for Canada the day before.

Still Hopeful Lover

Ten days later the still hopeful lover arrived at Quebec. The father and daughter had left for Montreal. In a hotel in that city he missed them again by a few hours. Through a clerk's blunder he was put upon a wrong scent and followed a married couple of similar name over the Canadian Pacific Railway to Vancouver. The object of his search had travelled Westward by C. P. R. by way of Smith's Falls, Peterborough, Toronto and Detroit. Despairing of over gaining a reward for his devotion, Teixeira returned to Portugal. But three months later he was in London again. His mind was made up. He resolved to go to his beloved's house, force his way in, if necessary, and demand her hand. The morning after his arrival he drove to the Mayfair house where the girl lived. As he alighted from a transom an unexpected sight met his eyes. A carriage was drawn up and a gaping crowd stood with their eyes fixed on the door. The lover's heart sank, and not without cause. A moment later, leaning upon her father's arm, decked in bridal array, there came from the hall the maiden he had sought so long and lost. For a second their eyes met. The girl turned pale, and appeared to stagger. But with a proud look she recovered herself and entered the carriage.

Teixeira took the first train for Madrid, arranged his personal affairs, and, bidding his friends good-bye, went to his mansion and shot himself dead. His death was a great shock to his friends, who thought the millionaire was joking when he took his farewell of them.

THE PROVINCIAL UNIVERSITY.

In a recent meeting of the Board of Governors of the University of Toronto it was made clearly apparent that the institution is badly in need of funds. When Mr. Whitney was leading the Opposition this was a chronic condition. It will probably always be its chronic condition, because the more effective it becomes as a teaching institution the larger the number of students who will crowd to its halls for the purpose of obtaining an education. The situation that now develops invites a few words of comment and comparison.

Under the new constitution given to the University by the Legislature two years ago, the whole institution was placed under the control of a Board of Governors. Their responsibility was made final. (Previous to that time every appropriation of money and every statutory change of curriculum had to be ratified by Order-in-Council in order to be operative. This extraordinary change was made on the plea that it was necessary to take and keep the University out of politics. It bids fair to have the opposite effect. The expenditure of public funds by an irresponsible body cannot endure. The University will become unavoidably a subject of discussion in Parliament, simply because the people who contribute the funds will insist on knowing beforehand how they are to be expended.

When the University Bill was under discussion in Parliament the members in Opposition moved to amend it by making it necessary to submit all matters of importance, and especially of expenditures out of capital, to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council for executive approval. It is safe to predict that no long time will elapse until this provision is restored to the University Constitution. No body of men, however select, is fit to be entrusted with unlimited responsibility, and the Board of Governors is made up of men selected by the Government of the day. Once chosen they remain in office for a long time, unless dismissed for misconduct. Unless the University is subjected to popular government it cannot be otherwise than restricted in its operations through want of capital and revenue.

FINANCES OF THE DOMINION.

Owing to a change made recently by Parliament, the financial year of the Dominion now ends on the thirty-first of March of the calendar year. A complete statement of the receipts and expenditures of the last financial year has just been issued, and it is sufficiently suggestive to warrant a brief comment.

As is usual and proper, a distinction is made between expenditure on capital account and expenditure on account of consolidated revenue. The politicians and publicists who are hostile to the Government, make a practice of ignoring this distinction, but the resulting conclusions they draw are misleading, and are obviously intended to mislead. It is their cue to make the financial showing as discouraging as possible, in order to create a want of confidence in the present administration.

The increase that has taken place in the revenue of the Dominion since the advent of the Liberal party to power is very disappointing to the Opposition. The revenue for the last fiscal year was over ninety-six million dollars. This increase of revenue does not mean an increase per head of taxation to the general public. It arises from the increase that has taken place in the population as the result of increased immigration.

Each immigrant who comes into the country brings with him on the average a certain amount of capital, which he at once begins to spend. During the first year he has, as a rule, to live on the money he brings with him. He spends a large part of this in purchasing imported goods, and on these he pays customs duties, thus largely increasing the revenue without those already in the country paying any more than they have been doing. When he begins to earn an income he will still consume dutiable goods, and will thus continue to increase the revenue. He will do the same thing by his involuntary contributions to the receipts from the post-office, from public works, from excise, and from the Crown domain.

Out of this immense revenue, payments must be made annually for a great variety of purposes. There are interest charges on the public debt. There are the salaries of the civil servants and the cost of their offices. There are the expenses of the militia department, from which, unlike the post-office, no revenue is obtained; and so on. If only the annual expenditure proper were taken out of revenue, as distinguished from payments on capital account, the total expenditure charged to consolidated revenue would have been very much less than seventy-six and a half millions charged to revenue last year, and the surplus would have been correspondingly increased. As it is, it amounts to nearly nineteen and a half millions, which is considerably more than the Finance Minister's estimate.

The expenditure on capital account during the last financial year was thirty-five and a quarter millions. This looks a large sum, but it must be borne in mind that most of it went into the construction of the eastern division of the National Transcontinental Railway. To put the matter another way: Canada paid out of revenue last year not merely all the ordinary expenses of government, and all ordinary payments on capital account, but also four millions out of the capital sum spent on the Transcontinental Railway. This exhibit is extraordinary, even among the financial achievements of the Laurier-Fielding regime.

As the contracts on the eastern division will soon be all let, while none of them are yet finished, the capital expenditure for two years must be very much larger than it was last year. This means a temporary increase of the public debt which, but for the Transcontinental Railway, would have been greatly reduced in the next five years. By the end of that interval the whole of the line will be complete and in operation, and, with the continuous and increasing influx of population, the public debt will then rapidly shrink, unless Parliament undertakes other large public works, which it will probably do.

Mr. Graham, Minister of Public Works, intimated before the close of the session that a new Welland Canal has become a necessity, and its cost estimated at twenty-five million dollars. New St. Lawrence canals must follow, unless the present canals are to be enlarged. The Hudson Bay Railway is to be constructed, probably as a Government work. This is a growing country, and if it is not to continue growing it must stand still. That, no one desires.

EARL GREY'S SPEECHES.

The importance of preserving our historical material is not sufficiently appreciated. Much of the intimate history of Canada, has been, and is being, lost day by day as the pioneers who possess the only knowledge of early conditions have passed, or are passing, away. It falls to the duty of bodies like the Historical Society of Peterborough, to collect viva voce relations of the pioneer people. In default of this the latter carry to the grave the historical secrets of which they are the repositories. This work has been neglected and in consequence much information of historical value is lost to us. Under these circumstances the action of the Dominion Government in issuing a pamphlet, containing the addresses presented to Earl Grey, our Governor-General, since his arrival in Canada, and his speeches in reply, becomes a matter of moment, both from the historical value of these speeches as well as an incentive to the preservation of historical records. This country, apart from some early and undesirable exceptions, has generally been peculiarly fortunate in the governors sent to us by the Mother Country, and the present incumbent very successfully maintains the highest traditions of the office. He at once, on his arrival in Canada, fell into a mood of sympathy with Canadian aspirations and closely identified himself with the interests and welfare of the people. He has lost no opportunity to become thoroughly acquainted by personal inspection and investigation with the resources of, and conditions of, the country. He has personally visited every one of the nine provinces which compose the Dominion and made himself familiar with their condition and possibilities. Wherever he has gone he has been presented with addresses, and has replied to them in statesman-like utterances, marked by knowledge of the resources of the country, an intelligent appreciation of its requirements, a cheerful optimism and faith in its future, a practical common sense and an eloquence that has evoked hearty admiration. Therefore a preservation of these addresses in book form affords means of a widespread knowledge of the same which will be beneficial to the people of not only Canada but of the Empire at large. A man in Earl Grey's position incurs a grave responsibility in his public utterances and a perusal of the addresses printed in the volume in question shows to what an admirable degree he has appreciated and met this responsibility.

TERCENTENARY PAGEANTS.

The Battle of the Plains of Abraham will be repeated in elaborate pageantry on the ground where Wolfe wrested from Montcalm the dominion of the great North. The anchorage of the tiny ships that sailed up the St. Lawrence in 1608, under the command of Samuel de Champlain, greatest of French navigators, will be occupied by towering war vessels of the twentieth century, one of them flying the flag that the gallant Montgomery tried in vain to plant upon the walls of the Quebec citadel. The knight errantry of the past will mingle at every stage of the celebration with the precise, and calculating and powerful civilization of today. Quebec is something more than the warden of the St. Lawrence. It stands as the most significant symbol of the Imperial career upon which England entered under the direction of the first Pitt. It was the pivot of the final struggle with France for the "few acres of snow" that Voltaire affected to despise, and which has since expanded into a vast commonwealth of illimitable possibilities. The transfer of Quebec from France to England was of infinitely more consequence to human progress than was the capture of Arcot by Clive, which began the conquest of India eight years earlier.—Brooklyn (U. S.) Eagle.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAW.

The Ottawa Journal assumes that the almost entire absence of protests, arising out of the Ontario election contests, means that the election was an entirely clean one. Our contemporary may be correct in its surmise, but not necessarily so. There is at present no effective machinery for exposing corrupt practises at elections, save that supplied by political parties, and it is not to be wondered at if the Provincial Liberals are found both unable, and unwilling, to put up the funds for any such purpose at the present time.—Branttord Expositor.

There is no doubt that in this district the late election contest was marked on behalf of the party in power, by practises, which were contrary to the letter and spirit of the election law more than sufficient to void the elections. When these instances have been brought to the attention of the Conservatives the latter have said that it such things existed, the Liberals who suffered from them, should institute prosecution— a self-evidently absurd proposition. The administration of the law is a duty of the party that is in possession of the machinery, and strictly speaking it would be as absurd for the public to take the initiative in the enforcement of the license law as in the application of the election law. It would be perhaps expecting too much of human nature to ask the party in power to initiate prosecution for offences by the party it represents. This is especially the case when the Government of the day in this province shows such deplorable laxity in administering the law of the land and bringing offences under the purview of justice. When the spoils system eats into every department of provincial administration, a fearless administration of the law, might, undesirably affect the faithful of the party in power. We hear the claim made that the license law is free from conditions like those suggested, but, one has only to travel a little and keep his eyes open to discover that even in the field of special excellence claimed by the Conservatives—license administration — there is abundant opportunity for improvement. According to the reasoning of the Ottawa Journal and other Conservative publications, the "temperance people" are to blame. They suffer in sentiment and otherwise by breach of the license law. And if it is the part of the Liberals, as claimed by an eminent local authority, to punish infraction of the election law, it becomes the duty of the public who suffer, to relieve license inspectors of the responsibility of putting the law in motion, and also, by taking action, to neutralize the apathy of other officials like Crown Attorneys presumptively charged with the duty of active administration of the law.

The Bobcaygeon Independent recalls that a reverend gentleman speaking at the Orange demonstration in Peterborough, said he hoped to see a day when the law would not permit a Catholic to become Premier of Canada; and it remarks in comment that "it is just possible that there may be persons who hope for the day when none but Christian men will occupy pulpits."

MANAGER CROCKER THINKS THAT HEAT AFFECTED THE CANUCKS

London, July 27—Manager Crocker and Coach Sherring are so disgusted over the result of the Marathon race and the showing made by the Canadian runners on Friday that they are looking around for some means to demonstrate to Canadians at home that the distance men are better than they showed in the big Olympic event.

With this end in view and with the idea of proving that it was not the fast early pace that killed off the Canadians, Longboat, Simpson, Cotter and Wood will be sent over the course on Wednesday providing the weather is cool. It is the opinion of Crocker and Sherring that the intense heat knocked the men out.

"All of these men can cover the Marathon distance in 2 hours and 40 minutes," is Crocker's declaration.

The manager looks for big things on Wednesday from the Indian Simpson, who is now properly acclimatized. He is expected to win.

Manager Crocker is in Birmingham to-day making arrangements with the Alexander Birchfield Harriers to send a team of eight Englishmen to Canada next year. He has promised them union meets at Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton.

The Canadian team has scattered, and all but Savage, Keath and Elliott will sail for home on Friday.

Tom Longboat has completely recovered and will sail for New York on Wednesday evening, accompanied by Tom Flanagan.

FAST RACES PROMISED AT THE SUMMER MEET OF TURF CLUB

A meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club was held yesterday afternoon, when arrangements were made for the summer meet, to be held August 10 and 11. There is every prospect of two days' splendid sport, and the members of the club have been promised a large entry of fast horses. On the first day, Civic Holiday, there will be a named race and the 2.22 class; on the second day there will be a 2.30 event and a 2.16. If the named or green race, thirteen horses have already been selected, and possibly this number will be increased. The entry list will be left open until the night before the race. The heats will be half miles, and the Colborne, Hastings and other horses that are promised sno'ld make things lively. In the 2.22 and 2.16 classes a number of horses from Toronto will be entered, and Hazel Belle, Dr. Johnston's fast mare, will be brought back to the city to be entered against the best horses that will be here.

The booking privileges will likely be sold to Messrs. Cooling and Wallis of Columbus. O. The Turf Club promises the lovers of horse racing two days of fine sport, and it is expected that large crowds will be out both days.

ATHLETICS AND PETES TO MEET

Probably the Last Meeting of These Two Teams.

The Athletics are going to make a big effort on Saturday to break even with the Petes in their league games. These teams have already met three times. Twice have Corney Burns and his huskies carried off the honours and the other game was an Athletic victory. If the latter team should win on Saturday they will break even in their games and they have the best of intentions toward that end. On the other hand the Petes are determined to settle any doubt regarding the abilities of the two teams and will try to make it three out of four. The fans may look forward to a rattling game on Saturday afternoon.

The Peterborough cricket team will journey to Millbrook on Thursday to play the return match. The locals have collected a strong team.

back without its passenger. From Mr. Latimer's he is supposed to have walked across to Fraserville, where he boarded the G. T. R. train about 9.30 o'clock for the west.

Mr. Elliott believes he is making for Western Canada, as he was always talking of becoming a cowboy. North Bay authorities have been telegraphed, and he may be caught there. He has been with Mr. Elliott since June 5th, to whom he stated his home was in Toronto.

He was always found to be an honest boy until his disappearance yesterday.

AUGUST WEATHER CONDITIONS AS TOLD BY PROF. IRL HICKS

The following are Prof. Irl Hicks' predictions of the conditions of August weather:—

A regular storm period covers the first five days of August, having its centre on Sunday the 2nd: The moon is on the celestial equator on the 2nd and at first quarter on the 5th. As early as the 2nd the barometer will fall to storm readings in western and central sections, attended by cloudiness and severe thunder-gusts. During the 3rd, 4th and 5th, these conditions will pass across the country to the Atlantic, breaking into severe wind and thunder storms in many localities. Rising barometer will appear in the west, behind the storm area, about the 4th causing change to some cooler and clearing weather. This change will follow in the wake of the storms, touching most parts of the country in the eastward progress by about the 7th. The storm diagram for August shows that the Venus period begins about the 4th, hence very decided change to cooler will be most natural with the oncoming of the high barometer that follows this and all other August storm periods.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 8th and 9th, the moon being at greatest south declination on the 9th. A reaction to storm conditions will make itself felt on these dates in falling barometer, rising temperature, cloudiness and possible rains. Under the Venus influence threatening weather will most likely be prolonged over the 10th and 11th, merging into the storm period following. Full moon near perigee falls on the 11th, which facts promise not only to bridge the time between the two storm periods, but to increase seismic probabilities on or within three to four days of the 11th.

A regular storm period begins on the 12th, extending to the 16th. It is central on the 14th, with moon on the celestial equator on the 15th. The storm diagram for August shows that earth's autumnal equinox will also be a factor in storm and other disturbances at this period. Low barometer and threatening, forceful storms are to be anticipated during this period. West India storms are not improbable, and those who live along exposed southern coasts should interest themselves in all storm indications at this and all subsequent August periods. As above stated, marked storm conditions may prevail over the 11th, but the period will culminate on and touching Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the 14th, 15th and 16th. Unusual barometric conditions about this time, especially in the extreme south, should be positive admonition of possible danger. Between the 16th and 19th, progressively from west to east-southeast, an unseasonably cool wave should be expected.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 19th, 20th and 21st. The storm diagram shows the centre of the Venus period on the 19th. The moon is at quadrature, or last quarter, on the 18th. Lower barometer, warmer and severe, summer blustering will be natural about Wednesday the 19th, to Friday the 21st. Venus hail storms are quite probable at this and other August periods. Sudden and phenomenal changes to very cool must be counted on directly after the passage of storm areas at most of the periods in August. The moon is at extreme north declination on the 22nd, which fact may prolong great summer heat at this time, even up to the next storm period; but such conditions will break down and bring change almost or quite to the frost line in northern directions, before the close of the Venus period.

A regular storm period covers the 24th to the 27th, having new moon on the 26th. The moon is also in apogee on the 26th. One of two things must naturally occur about this period: Either wide areas of low barometer and dangerous equinoctial storms will appear in the south coast region, or a great crisis of summer heat and hurtful drouth will prevail in most parts of the central and northern states. If equatorial storms dominate the south, a result rather to be expected, great atmospheric tides will flow from the north, bringing very cool weather and possible frosts to many sections northward. The period will reach its culminating crisis on or within two days of the 26th. Great seismic probabilities lie within and next to the same dates. The month goes out in the midst of a reactionary period. Thunder storms and gales will occur on the 30th and 31st.

We have often called attention to the fact that great atmospheric disturbances of the autumnal and vernal equinoxes are not limited to the exact days on which the Sun is said to "cross the line." The conditions out of which these equinoctial storms grow begin to affect the earth and atmosphere at least a month before we reach the centre of the equinoctial season. Fully a month passes after the centre of the periods before we are out of the influences of the peculiar relations of earth and sun at these times. A history of the facts for a long series of years will prove that many of our most violent West India hurricanes have visited the gulf and South Atlantic regions before the end of August. The destructive storms that so often strike the great northern lakes and the North Atlantic in October, are also boreal counterparts of the autumnal equinoctial period—a period having its rise in August, its centre in September, and its subsidence in October. The fact that the Venus period reaches its culmination the last half of August greatly increases the possibility of general and heavy equinoctial storms in the south before the end of the month. We do not say, that such results must absolutely be expected, but we do insist that they are entirely possible and probable.

It is needless that we tell our readers about the storms, tornadoes and floods that have continued in great destructiveness in many sections to the end of June. Our space would not contain the accounts of loss of life and property. At the same time, complaints of dryness and drouth are beginning to be heard in other wide districts of the country. This we have feared, especially as we entered July and early August, as may be seen by consulting our forecasts printed a year ago.

To give only a brief summary of endless lists of death and loss of property by storm, tornado and flood, down to the end of June, would require many times the space of this whole magazine. Earthquake and volcano were not omitted from the general programme. Following are some sample incidents taken from scores:

Ogdensburg, N.Y., June 16. — A slight earthquake shock was felt here at 3.45 this afternoon. The quake passed from east to west, and was described as a distinct waving movement, lasting several seconds.

San Francisco, June 8.—According to a report brought to this city by the steamer Leon, just arrived here from Apia, Samoa, the volcano Mu, which broke out in August, 1905, on the Island of Savaii, one of the Samoan group, is again in violent eruption and covered a large and fertile part of the island, which previously escaped, with lava.

Mauston, Wis., June 7.—A tornado struck the farm of John Dalton, a well-to-do farmer living about four miles south of Mauston, about 4 p.m., killing Mr. Dalton and his 12-year-old son.

Charles City, Ia., June 7.—At 5 o'clock this afternoon a tornado struck this city, demolishing 200 residences and barns. One man, W. Beck, is known to have been killed, and four children are missing. Several barns were toppled over while stock was inside, and the animals were killed. Big trees were torn from their roots and heaved through buildings. While the storm was at its worst there was a loud, roaring noise. Many had warning of the approaching storm, and fully 3,000 people sought shelter in cellars.

Clinton, Minn., June 29.—An appeal has been sent to the state authorities for food and shelter for more than 200 persons rendered homeless by the tornado which swept this section Saturday evening June 27th. Seven persons were killed, 60 injured and more than 60 homes wholly or partially wrecked.

Janesville, Wis., July 1.—Many persons were injured, none fatally, early to-day when a cyclone swept over the western portion of Rock county, doing $50,000 damage. At Utterbain Corners a funeral cortege was struck and the hearse and a dozen carriages were overturned. The corpse was thrown into the road and the occupants of the carriages were thrown out and injured.

If we take account of loss of life in other parts of the earth, the mournful figures would run into thousands, while property losses would run high into the millions. When will humanitarian efforts grapple this great problem as they do others of less importance?

NIP IT IN THE BUD

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and in time falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

FIRE AT FANNING'S LAUNDRY SPREAD THROUGH BUILDING

from the laundry by only a big gy driveway. The street railway barn at the rear was dangerously close and the many sheds on the south side of the laundry building offered ready material to help spread the conflagration.

Two Streams in Play

This was the proposition, the brigade had to deal with when they arrived. Fortunately the building is not in close contact with any large buildings, being connected only on the south side with a shed. The firemen soon had two streams on the building, having first, however, extinguished the small blaze which had broken out in the end of the barn. It was practically the real institution of the new brigade. Chief Howard, in spite of the disadvantage of the headway the fire had made, soon had it under control. The men handled themselves well, according to the comments of the crowd.

How it Started

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fanning were unable to explain the cause of the fire. The employees had rushed into the office giving the alarm, and in a minute the flames had done rapid work.

Mr. P. Leamy happened to notice the first puff of smoke from the Peter Hamilton Company's yards on King street, where he was working. "The whole place seemed to be in flames in an exceedingly short time," he said.

The fire evidently had its origin at the west end of the building, where there are a boiler and heater, which are fed with shavings. At any rate, the flames seemed to be working from that part.

The loss to Mr Fanning was roughly estimated at about $1,000, and is covered by insurance. The building is owned by Mr J. J. Lundy.

It was believed that part of the machinery escaped unhurt, but an examination will alone reveal the exact damage.

Property Committee Deal With The East City Creek

No Isolation Hospital This Year—To Secure Options for Library Building.

AN INCREASE IN SALARY

Steps have been taken by the city authorities to have the water pollution in the old race-way in East City, mentioned in yesterday's Examiner, removed. The Property Committee met last night and talked over the question.

No Isolation Hospital comes to Peterborough this year. This was finally decided last night also, in view of the scarcity of contagious diseases and the large expenditures this year. At the meeting last night there were present Ald. Bradburn (Chairman), Mayor Rush, Ald. Gillespie, Johnston and Morgan. A letter was read from Robert Wilson, caretaker, asking that his salary be increased to $600. On motion of Ald. Johnston and Morgan it was decided to increase the salary to $575 a year, dating from July 1st, 1908.

It was moved by Ald. Morgan and Gillespie, that the committee report to the council that they have been unable to obtain information in regard to the matter of a public abattoir, as they have no information that there is one operated in Canada, and are not in a position to make any recommendation as to the establishment of such an abattoir in Peterborough.—Carried.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, that the chief constable be instructed to take such action as may be necessary to have the old raceway on the east side of the river immediately cleaned and put in a proper sanitary condition.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Johnston and Ald. Morgan that this committee recommend to the Board of Works that they have the watering trough on Hunter street east, connected with the sewer.—Carried.

On motion of Ald. Johnston and Morgan, it was decided in view of the heavy expenditure at the present time, and the absence of contagious diseases, it is not advisable to erect an Isolation Hospital at present, and that the Board of Health be advised to have the hospital tent ready to put up for use should the necessity arise.

It was moved by Ald. Gillespie and Mayor Rush, that Ald. Johnston and Morgan be a sub-committee to procure options on property for a site for a public library.—Carried.

The programme was as follows:

PADGET—McGAHE

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on July 8th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McGahey, of North Emily, when their only daughter, Emma, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Robert Wesley Padget, of Emily.

The ceremony took place at four o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. F. L. Barber, of Bobcaygeon, officiating. The bride entered the parlour leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away, and looked charming in a gown of white Persian lawn trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion, and carrying in her hand a shower bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair ferns.

The happy couple were unattended, and after congratulations all sat down to a dainty tea which was served for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Padget left that evening for their own home in Emily on the homestead, amid showers of rice and good wishes.

June 26, both attended the wedding of the sister of the accused and it was some time during the following morning the alleged offence occurred. Up to that time she had been a virtuous girl she said, and on that occasion he had promised to marry her.

Mr. R E Wood, Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution and Mr. G Gordon, of O'Connell & Gordon, looked after the defence. Mr. Gordon pointed out during the cross-examination that the information had been dated July 6th which was too late. To be of value it should have been made on or before June 27th—one year after the offfence. Mr. Gordon, to substantiate his plea read law authority. The Magistrate stated that an information had been laid in May, but that it had never been acted upon and he decided to adjourn the case until 3 o'clock to determine whether or not it could be renewed. Crown Attorney Wood agreed that the information as it stood had been laid too late.

CHEMISTRY STUDIED BY MR. BAILEY

Desires to More About the Filtration System.

Sir—In the account of the proposed scheme to purify the city's water there are two or three mistakes. The formula for oxygen is O2 and that for ozone should perhaps read O3. I doubt very much whether ozone has anything to do with the purification process, and would like further details explaining the chemical changes.

HEROIC ATTEMPT MADE BY FREDERICK MILES TO SAVE HIS UNFORTUNATE COMPANION

Is Pulled Beneath the Surface Three Times by the Death-Grip of the Drowning Man—Details of Yesterday's Sad Accident.

THE FUNERAL TO-MORROW

Details of the sad drowning accident at Stony Lake yesterday in which Howard Mallory was the unfortunate victim bring prominently into the limelight an heroic personage, Mr. Fred Miles. The latter along with Messrs. Wood, Clarence Pickard and Harold Gray, were the companions of young Mallory at the lake. They had only gone up towards the end of last week to spend a few holidays away from their daily grind in Peterborough and were passing a pleasant time.

On Monday night they all went up to Crowe's Landing and participated in the programme. The following morning they went up the lake in search of berries and on their return to Loch's Island at Boschink, all went in bathing.

The customary swim was between two islands not more than a hundred yards distant. Mallory was the one to ask in which manner they would enter the water. Some person said, "Anyway at all," and a couple of the boys dived off the shore while others immediately struck out across the narrow passage. Both Wood and Pickerell are strong swimmers and they were a considerable distance in advance of the remaining trio.

"Come and help me," was the startling call that soon reached Miles' ears and on turning he saw to his dismay that his friend was in danger of losing his life. Swimming back to his aid as rapidly as possible Miles grabbed the unfortunate young man by the hair of the head and struck off for shore. But the latter had evidently received a sudden shock possibly from swallowing a mouthful of water and as usual with drowning men, seized his rescuer with a death grip about the neck and the struggling two went beneath the surface. On rising Miles was able to shake off the grip and once again made an effort to take his companion to the island. A second time he shook himself free but a third time he was forced below.

Wresting himself free in the bottom of the lake Miles alone rose to the surface and in a semi-unconscious state was dragged to shore by the others who had by this time come to their assistance. In a few moments the gallant rescuer became himself again, and fatigued as he was once more jumped into the lake in search of his lost friend. But his efforts were unavailing.

The canoes were then brought around to the scene of the drowning and with the aid of the flagpole, the body was located. Miles, headfirst, went down the long pole but he could not extricate it so tightly had it been wedged in among rocks. On his second descent, however, he secured the body and soon the young men were trying to bring their companion back to life. Miles' foot had been badly cut at the excitement and with the sight and loss of blood he fainted away on the rocks.

Such is the story of the affair as told by one of the party. Mallory's body was conveyed by steamer Empress to the Lakefield wharf where it was met by Mr. C L Bickell, Lakefield undertaker and taken charge of by him until it was brought to the father's home on Park street, where Mr. D Bellegham took charge of it. Miles remained unconscious until he arrived in Peterborough and last night was unable to recollect many of the incidents in the sad event in which he had played such a prominent role.

The boys had been having a splendid time at the lakes and last evening were to have spent a few hours with friends at a farm house on the Dummer shore. They were all musically inclined and were becoming favorites with the holidayers at Stony Lake. The deceased young man was a member of the George street Methodist Church and had a host of friends in the city who will be much grieved to learn of his accidental death while so young in years.

Howard Mallory was only twenty years of age, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mallory, 584 Park street. He has one brother, about thirteen years of age, who yesterday was holidaying at Port Hope when the news of the accident reached him. The unfortunate young man was an employee of the C. G. E., and, as stated above, was widely and most favourably known in the city. His untimely death came as a sudden shock to his parents, who are stricken with grief.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

EXPLOSION OF COAL OIL STOVE BURNS TO DEATH TWO CHILDREN

Smith's Falls, July 29.—In a fire which destroyed the home of Robt. Howard, a C.P.R. conductor, here this morning at 8.30 o'clock, two of Howard's little children, Dorothy, aged five years, and Cecil, aged four years, were burned to death. The fire was caused by the explosion of a coal oil stove.

Feeling That House Rent Is On The Decrease In The City

It should be welcome news to tenants to learn that house rent shows signs of decreasing. This rumour has been circulated very freely of late and to-day an Examiner representative asked a real estate man what was the condition of affairs. He was very loth to say anything, but he remarked that while there was no general falling off in rent there was a prevalent feeling that it would be easier. Many tenants have found themselves unable to continue paying the amount which they believe too great, and in some cases the landlord has lessened the price to retain the tenant. These isolated cases have given rise to the feeling that the decrease was general. Whether it would become so he was not in a position to say, as it depended upon the work that is to be had by the labouring class and the mechanics.

THE WEATHER

For some days the weather has been very warm, and each day the thermometer has registered a degree or two higher than the previous day. It is to be hoped that the limit has now about been reached. On Sunday we had it up to 85 degrees in the shade, on Monday 86 degrees, yesterday 87 degrees, and to-day at noon it marked 89 degrees, with every prospect of going several degrees higher. This is the first continued hot spell that we have had this summer, and there is no immediate prospects of much cooler conditions.

On Monday night they all went up to Crowe's Landing and participated in the programme. The following morning they went up the lake in search of berries and on their return to Loch's Island at Boschink, all went in bathing.

The customary swim was between two islands not more than a hundred yards distant. Mallory was the one to ask in which manner they would enter the water. Some person said, "Anyway at all," and a couple of the boys dived off the shore while others immediately struck out across the narrow passage. Both Wood and Pickerell are strong swimmers and they were a considerable distance in advance of the remaining trio.

"Come and help me," was the startling call that soon reached Miles' ears and on turning he saw to his dismay that his friend was in danger of losing his life. Swimming back to his aid as rapidly as possible Miles grabbed the unfortunate young man by the hair of the head and struck off for shore. But the latter had evidently received a sudden shock possibly from swallowing a mouthful of water and as usual with drowning men, seized his rescuer with a death grip about the neck and the struggling two went beneath the surface. On rising Miles was able to shake off the grip and once again made an effort to take his companion to the island. A second time he shook himself free but a third time he was forced below.

Wresting himself free in the bottom of the lake Miles alone rose to the surface and in a semi-unconscious state was dragged to shore by the others who had by this time come to their assistance. In a few moments the gallant rescuer became himself again, and fatigued as he was once more jumped into the lake in search of his lost friend. But his efforts were unavailing.

The canoes were then brought around to the scene of the drowning and with the aid of the flagpole, the body was located. Miles, headfirst, went down the long pole but he could not extricate it so tightly had it been wedged in among rocks. On his second descent, however, he secured the body and soon the young men were trying to bring their companion back to life. Miles' foot had been badly cut in the excitement and with the sight and loss of blood he fainted away on the rocks.

Such is the story of the affair as told by one of the party. Mallory's body was conveyed by steamer Empress to the Lakefield wharf where it was met by Mr. C. L. Bakell, Lakefield undertaker and taken charge of by him until it was brought to the father's home on Park street, where Mr. D. Bellegham took charge of it. Miles remained unconscious until he arrived in Peterborough and last night was unable to recollect many of the incidents in the sad event in which he had played such a prominent role.

The boys had been having a splendid time at the lakes and last evening were to have spent a few hours with friends at a farm house on the Dummer shore. They were all musically inclined and were becoming favourites with the holidayers at Stony Lake. The deceased young man was a member of the George street Methodist Church and had a host of friends in the city who will be much grieved to learn of his accidental death while so young in years.

Howard Mallory was only twenty years of age, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mallory, 584 Park street. He has one brother, about thirteen years of age, who yesterday was holidaying at Port Hope when the news of the accident reached him. The unfortunate young man was an employee of the C. G. E., and, as stated above, was widely and most favourably known in the city. His untimely death came as a sudden shock to his parents, who are stricken with grief.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Feeling That House Rent Is On The Decrease In The City

It should be welcome news to tenants to learn that house rent shows signs of decreasing. This rumour has been circulated very freely of late and to-day an Examiner representative asked a real estate man what was the condition of affairs. He was very loth to say anything, but he remarked that while there was no general falling off in rent there was a prevalent feeling that it would be easier. Many tenants have found themselves unable to continue paying the amount which they believe too great, and in some cases the landlord has lessened the price to retain the tenant. These isolated cases have given rise to the feeling that the decrease was general. Whether it would become so he was not in a position to say, as it depended upon the work that is to be had by the labouring class and the mechanics.

THE WEATHER

For some days the weather has been very warm, and each day the thermometer has registered a degree or two higher than the previous day. It is to be hoped that the limit has now about been reached. On Sunday we had it up to 85 degrees in the shade, on Monday 86 degrees, yesterday 87 degrees, and to-day at noon it marked 89 degrees, with every prospect of going several degrees higher. This is the first continued hot spell that we have had this summer, and there is no immediate prospects of much cooler conditions.

NO SAFE CUSTODIAN.

If the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific is needed in the interests of development and national progress, then the wisdom and even necessity of another lease of confidence to the Laurier Government is self evident. Mr. Borden and his followers show an attitude, which it is no misnomer to call hostile, to this great national undertaking and its satisfactory completion under his auspices could not be regarded with any degree of confidence. It is difficult to understand why this hostility exists. It is true that when the building of the Canadian Pacific was under consideration and under way there was some criticism on the part of those who were inclined to doubt its feasibility and usefulness as a development medium, to doubt whether the advantage would compensate for the immense expenditure it involved. However, more point was made of the undesirable conditions that attended its construction. Taken altogether there was reasonable ground for adverse criticism. Not only the cost but the manner of construction and management were elements in engendering doubts but the value of the Northwest as a wheatfield and home for millions was not demonstrated as conclusively and undoubtedly as has been done subsequently. The construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been very amply justified as well as the faith in the future which led its promoters and builders to carry out one of the implied conditions of the Confederation pact. The fertility and fruitfulness of the Northwest are no longer doubtful, but, instead, a magnificent fact. The necessity of another trasncontinental railway is great. The remarkable enterprise of the management of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has done wonders in coping with the situation its existence and successful operation have created. It is clearly inadequate to meeting the demands which the development of our Northwest heritage and the necessities of transportation have created, but there is no doubt of the necessity of another transcontinental railway; there is no doubt of its usefulness; there is no doubt of the value of, and extent of, the resources of our boundless west, whose development is dependent upon increased transportation facilities. There is equally no doubt of the wisdom of building the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, there is equally no ground for lack of faith as might have been excused in the time immediately ante-dating the construction of the Canadian Pacific, and there is certainly no ground connected with the national welfare, for the hostility to the present project so unmistakably shown by Mr. Leader Borden and the party of which he is the head. There is finally no doubt that in the interests of Canada, in the interests of development of our resources, in the interests of national progress there is necessity for the Government which inaugurated the great transcontinental railway enterprise to continue to manage its construction. Mr. Borden is too closely in sympathy with rival interests to make him a safe custodian of national interests in connection with the completion of a transportation project whose successful operation is so vitally necessary to the country at large.

TWO FINANCIAL MISREPRESENTATIONS.

The Mail and Empire is not to be blamed because it is partisan, but this need not hinder it paying a certain amount of deference to truth in its discussion of the financial position of the Dominion of Canada. Two of its misrepresentations are worthy of comment, not merely because of their ungenerous character, but also because of the persistence with which it reiterates them.

The first is the assertion that the Government put forward at the inauguration of the National Transcontinental Railway scheme the contention that it would cost the country only a little over thirteen million dollars. The very ludicrousness of this assertion makes its falsehood quite apparent to anyone who knows anything of the magnitude of the enterprise. Whatever else Liberal statesmen may be, they are certainly not so stupid that they would think of trying to humbug the people with any such calculation.

The explanation of the sum abovementioned is simple enough. In the course of his speech in Parliament on the subject of the Transcontinental Railway five years ago, Mr. Fielding put before the House of Commons a very interesting statement and calculation. He summed up the outlay for which the Government would receive no return, and which would, therefore, be in the nature of a subsidy to the Grand Trunk Pacific Company. He treated the cost of construction as an investment on which the company had agreed to pay three per cent. during the fifty years of its lease of the line, but a certain amount of interest has to be paid on this expenditure before the Grand Trunk lease comes into force. A certain amount of interest has to be paid also on the mountain section in British Columbia, which also is in the nature of a subsidy. Putting this and some other amounts of less account together, Mr. Fielding stated that the whole cost of the railway to the country might be met at the end of fifty years if the sum of thirteen million dollars were put out at compound interest at the present time, and allowed to accumulate till the expiration of the lease.

It turns out that Mr. Fielding underestimated the expense of construction, and, therefore, underestimated the amount of interest. If he were to revise his calculations he would probably have to add one or two millions to the thirteen millions for this reason. But when he made the calculation everyone understood what he meant, and also understood that the amount was subject to change with better knowledge. There is nothing in this that will afford the slightest excuse for misrepresenting his statement there on record in Hansard, and which may be seen any time.

The other misrepresentation has to do with the expenditure for the year. The Mail and Empire of Monday last makes this bold statement, "Last year's deficit was ($15,840,000." In order to arrive at this sum that journal sets on one side of the account all the revenue of the Dominion from various sources, amounting to $96,054,605, and on the other side all the expenditure chargeable against not merely capital, but against consolidated revenue account. It is not intended or expected that the annual revenue will ever pay for all the great public works of the country, as well as its running expenses. What should have been set off against the ninety-six millions of revenue is the sum of $76,641,654, leaving a surplus for the year of $19,412,951. In order to make up the total expenditure which is added to the expenditure on revenue account the sum of $35,253,579, spent out of capital and chiefly on the National Transcontinental Railway. This is so obviously intended to deceive that it is useless to regard the above statement as a correction of something done in ignorance. Such a method of dealing with public finances of the Dominion does some harm in any case, and would do a great deal more if the erroneous character of the statement were not so apparent on its face.

THE YEAR'S PROSPECTS.

Last year the grain and hay crops of the Province were about one fourth below the normal. The present promise points to a return to average conditions. Such, in brief form, is the report which The Sun is able to present, thanks to the hearty co-operation of its friends, on page five of this issue.

In the West conditions are equally satisfactory. In the opinion of those most competent to judge, the Prairie Provinces will have a surplus over and above home requirements of very nearly the even hundred million bushels of wheat, while yields in other grains promise to be correspondingly abundant.

What of the market prospects for the harvest which is promised? The situation of the two chief sections of the Dominion differs materially when we come to the selling end. Speaking broadly, the West sells grain as grain, while Ontario disposes of it in the form of hogs, dairy products, and cattle.

So far as wheat is concerned, on which the West chiefly relies, the outlook is favourable. The bread crop of Europe, although fairly good, is likely to be somewhat below the five-year average, while population is constantly increasing. There will be no famine such as reduces the general buying capacity of a vast area on the other hand, there is likely to be sufficient shortage of to put a keen edge on the market. The United States, while able to do a good deal towards meeting this market, will not, according to present indications, be able to flood it. In the United States there is a good but not a bumper crop, but the number of consumers at home is steadily growing greater. Australasia, in which the harvest comes about Christmas, will be out of it this year on account of drought, and the only other source of supply between our harvest and a year hence is Argentina. Since Argentina's next crop will not reach its ultimate destination much before February, wheat seems likely to maintain a fairly high level until this year's crop from Western Canada has been disposed of.

In the case of those products on which Ontario farmers mainly depend the prospect is also encouraging. The indications are for a liberal yield of feeding grain at home and cheap supplies from the West. On the other hand, hogs, on the basis of grain prices in sight, are selling well. Dairy goods, produced at less than the usual cost owing to abundant pastures, have sold exceedingly well all summer, and the outlook is still bright. Cattle may be rather low while the Western ranchers are moving, but winter stall feeders are fairly certain to give reasonable returns on feeders bought at quotations now ruling. In apples, if wisdom is shown in the handling of the crop, average returns will be obtained.

Much may occur between now and the end of the season, but the darker period is nearly over. The Western crop is about three weeks ahead of last year, and so reasonably safe from frost, and in Ontario, the only present danger seems to be from rust on oats. On the whole, the prospect is for a year which will measure up with the average of the decade from '96 to 1906.—Weekly Sun.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Canadians who shot at Bisley will bring home a good bag, about three thousand in prize money.

One of the ideas brought out prominently by the Quebec demonstration is that not only has the race a brilliant future, but a glorious past.

Minnesota editors are amazed at what they saw in Manitoba wheat fields, and it takes a good deal of wheat to amaze Minnesota editors, the Montreal Herald thinks.

A correspondent wishes to know whether the Grand Trunk Railway Company's telephone at the station is suffering from a chronic disorder. He says it is the hardest telephone in the city to get an answer from.

Richard Croker, a former Tammany boss, an irreconcilable anti-Britisher, declares that King Edward is the most popular man in the world today. Mr. Croker was a Philistine from afar, but a period of residence in the Mother Country, and a more intimate knowledge of the Sovereign, has compelled appreciation.

Reports of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company received from their agents and travelling inspectors show that crops have made steady gain and improvements during the past week, good rains being fairly general, which with the warm weather, has materially assisted the filling process. Samples received show that splendid progress is being made, and another two weeks of such weather will see a large proportion of the crops ready for the binders. Barley harvesting has already started at some points.

The Conservative Government, in eighteen years, increased the public debt by $118,000,000, over six and a half millions a year. In twelve years the Liberal Government has added to the public debt only $19,000,000, largely on account of the Transcontinental, or a little over a million and a half a year. And what a contrast between the Canada of 1896 and the Canada of 1908!

It seems that there is dense ignorance abroad among our neighbours across the line regarding Canada. During the Quebec Tercentenary proceedings there was much talk of the rapid growth, progress and prosperity of Canada. Those, however, who know the domestic conditions, especially our Conservative politicians and journals, with a political axe to grind, assert that we are a moribund nation, on the down grade of deterioration, on the verge of ruin. This view is not seriously disturbing, seeing that this ruin set in only a dozen years ago, when the Liberals came into power, and is contradicted by facts.

Mr. Frank Sanderson, of the Canada Life, by the way, a Peterborough boy, has returned to Toronto from a visit to the Canadian West. He found that the conditions of the country, the promise of its future, warrants him in recommending the Canada Life authorities to greatly increase its western investments. The practical opinion of shrewd financiers as to the future is of much greater weight than the croakings of the political pessimists. With a crop of one hundred and fifteen million bushels of wheat, and generally improving conditions, the story of progress will be a serial, as well as a cereal one.

A deputation representing the Canadian Press Association will, says the Brantford Expositor, shortly wait on the Ontario Government soliciting certain changes in the law of libel as it affects newspapers. The effort is not to secure greater immunity for newspaper publishers in the matter of attacks on private character, or to relieve them from any reasonable responsibility for anything which appears in the columns which they control, but simply to make the existing law clearer and to make more difficult the institution of frivolous and vexatious suits for the purpose of extorting settlement money.

CHRONIC CATARRH RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

MRS. F. CARR.

MRS. F. CARR, Vineland, Ont., Can., writes:

"For several years I was afflicted with catarrh, which made life a burden. The coughing and hacking which accompanied the disease was terrible.

"The complaint finally extended to the stomach and I was in a wretched condition.

"I tried different remedies and the best professional treatment all in vain.

"Finally, as a last resort, I tried Peruna upon the recommendation of my sister in Hamilton.

"I could see steady improvement and after using four bottles of that precious medicine I was feeling well again, my old trouble being completely a thing of the past.

"To-day I would not take one thousand dollars for what this grand medicine has done for me."

Peruna is a universally recognized catarrh remedy. It will relieve catarrh in its most obstinate form.

EXPLANATION OF THE DELAY AT HALL

Chief Was Expecting Test When the Real Alarm Was Sounded—In a Momentary Quandary.

GOOD WORK AT THE FIRE

In regard to the fire at Fanning's laundry yesterday morning, an explanation of the circumstances which delayed the brigade will probably dispel any doubts that may arise in regard to the delay in the response. Chief Howard had sent out one of his men to do some repair work to the alarm system, as a change was being made on the George street section. The particular box was in the southern part of George street, and the fireman was to send in an alarm from that box to test the system. Just about the time the message was expected, one was sent in from Box No. 21. This is on the same wire, and for a moment Chief Howard was not certain about this call. The fireman was due to send in his test alarm, but this was from box 21. Knowing its location, Chief Howard soon decided that this was a regular alarm, and the teams were out in short order, and just as they were about to leave the hall, a telephone message settled all doubts. The brigade was rapidly on the scene, and were not at all dilatory in their attack on the fire. However, several minutes had elapsed before the brigade got away, and the fire had made headway. Those who did not know the circumstances were at a loss to understand why the brigade did not answer with their usual promptness.

THE COW TESTING AT WARSAW

Better Milkers There Than at St. Amelie —A Sharp Contrast.

WHAT IS A GOOD AVERAGE?

The branch of the Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioners, Dominion Department of Agriculture, gives out the following report of cow testing associations:

At Ste. Emelie, Que., in June, 142 cows gave an average yield of 545 lbs. milk, 3.8 test, 20.8 lbs. fat. The best herd average was 631 lbs. milk, 3.8 test, 24.3 lbs. fat. The highest yield of any one cow was 1030 lbs. milk testing 3.5. The poorest herd was one of 13 cows that averaged only 392½ pounds of milk, and 16 lbs. fat. If the 13 cows in this herd had given only enough milk extra to bring them up to the average yield of all the 142 cows in the association they would have given enough milk in the month to make an extra 182 pounds of cheese worth $20. That would not be much improvement to ask just to bring them up to the average, not the best, herd; and if the cows are such that they cannot be made to yield an average quantity, should they be kept?

At Warsaw, Ont., in June, 118 cows gave an average yield of 929 lbs. milk, 3.2 test, 29.9 lbs. fat. The best herd average was 1042 lbs. milk, 32.3 lbs. fat, from a herd of 26 cows. This association record is in rather sharp contrast to the one above, and indicates the great differences that exist between the results obtained in different sections of the country. Stated in another form, if the Ste. Emelie cows were as good milkers as those at Warsaw they would have given an extra weight of 54,340 lbs. during the month!

FENCE TOO WEAK FOR THE BOVINE

Owner of Cow Fined $2—Second Case Enlarged.

The usual morning faces peered over the railing in the police court this morning to hear the history of the breaking loose of a Homewood avenue bovine. Another case was to have been ventilated about a man said to have been accused of reckless driving, disorderly conduct, getting liquor while on the blacklist and several other charges on the police court calendar.

Cow at Large

John Williams was accused of allowing his cow to run at large on Homewood avenue. The trouble seemed to be over a defective fence, which Mr. Williams stated was all right on the morning of the day on which he was charged with allowing his cow to run at large. The fence, he claimed, was destroyed by a calf belonging to another party.

Acting Magistrate Armstrong maintained he should have entered a complaint against the calf, and that he was to be censured for the presence of the cow on other property.

He was assessed $2, to be paid within ten days. The money was handed over.

Meehan an Absentee

The name of George Meehan was called three times, but that person did not appear before the magistrate. His case was enlarged until Saturday morning, when the witnesses will be asked to appear again.

SHAKESPERE AT THE CRYSTAL

Macbeth Shown for First Time in Moving Pictures.

Something new is being shown at the Crystal to-day and to-morrow. Shakespere's celebrated tragedy, "Macbeth," is realistically shown in a set of splendid films. This is the first time it has been portrayed in moving pictures.

The scenes are true to the Shakesperian idea, so it is said, and lovers of the tragic should not fail to see the moving picture machine's portrayal of the drama.

THE ICEMAN HELD IN ENVY

The Coolness His Waggon Suggests Would be Welcomed by Many.

The ice man certainly comes in for considerable envy these days. Whether he appreciates his position is doubtful, but those poor mortals who toil in this torrid weather—and every good citizen does that, yearn for the coolness that pervades the boxed-in waggon which calls at our back door to replenish the refrigerator. Summer is here with all its beauty, its birds and bees and fruits, and Tom Fun's treasury has doubtless its holdings during the past month. Yes, this is great laundry weather.

The command that our bread shall be earned by the sweat of our brow is being carried out to the full just now, and with a deep sigh we go back to our school days. The top of the breezy pine, far above the dust of the street, the swimming in the river, yes, and the carrot bed, which we failed to weed and the wood we forgot to cut.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—This morning I rang up the police station 190k—and was unable to raise anybody, though the telephone operator made several attempts to make her call effective. I want to ask if there shouldn't be somebody at the station ready to receive a call, or an appeal for help all the time, day and night? On the occasion referred to I might have been robbed or assaulted and nobody could have got in touch with the police by 'phone. The matter upon which I wished to get at the police was comparatively trifling, but it would have been all the same if it had been a case of murder or manslaughter. Shouldn't some person be "on guard" at the police station continually?

Yours truly.
TURNED-DOWN.

THE COURT OF REVISION MEETING

Deputation From Harvey and Antrim Street Regarding Sewer There.

The Court of Revision held a meeting last night in the City Clerk's office, the most important question being the special assessment on the proposed new sewer on Antrim and Harvey streets. A deputation consisting of Messrs. E. Elcome, F. Petcher, J. H. Yelland and C. Whatley waited on the board to object to the statement that they would be able to connect with the sewer. The decision was left over until Friday night.

Adjustment of income taxes and considerable other business was attended to.

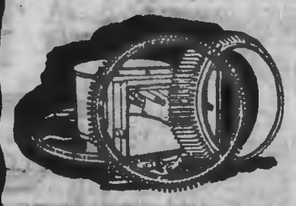
Another 1908 Improvement in "Hecla" Furnaces



The fire pot is the most effective radiating surface in a warm air furnace. That is why every manufacturer seeks to increase that surface by the addition of cast iron flanges, or pins or corrugations. As each of these flanges or pins covers a large part of the primary surface of the fire pot there is a limit to the number of such cast flanges as can be effectively used.

The "Hecla" Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pot is a step far in advance of any other fire pot. Instead of thick and sandy cast iron flanges those in the "Hecla" are steel and are neat and clean. Being uniform they can be set so close together that, where we formerly used 19 cast flanges we now use 97 steel ones without covering any more of the primary surface of the pot.

Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots provide twice as much effective radiating surface as any other fire pots made, and in consequence radiate far more heat with the same amount of fuel.

In a test extending over two years, Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots showed a saving of 11% in fuel, over cast flanged pots.

RICH MILK NOT MOST NUTRITIOUS

So Declares Dr. Gilbert of Portland—Tissue Building Foods Almost Same in All Milk.

AN ERRONEOUS IDEA

Why should milkthat contains much cream be accounted the best? Cream is only fat, and we do not rate the food value of meats solely by the amount of fat they include. Dr. J. A. Gilbert, Portland, Oregon, writing in the Medical Record (New York), takes the view that this devotion to "rich" milk has no logical basis. In our earnest search after a fat milk, he says, we have probably gone too far. To quote from an editorial in the Hospital (London, Eng.) which notes Dr. Gilbert's opinion appreciatively:

"The milk which is richest in cream is not therefore the most nutritious, for the very simple reason that a rich milk is less easily digested and absorbed than a milk in which the fat percentage is low. As far as its other constituents are concerned, a milk poor in fat is as valuable a food as a milk rich in fat. The fat percentage, the popular standard by which milk is judged, is most variable, while the proportions of the albuminoids, sugars and salts vary but little in the different samples of milk. In other words, while the energy producing and heat giving qualities of the several kinds of milk may be great or little, the valuable proteid ingredients which go to the building up of the tissues—the prime property of any food—remain very much the same in all varieties of cows' milk. Thus a "rich" milk is for all purposes, save for energy and heat production, as valuable a food as the so-called "rich" milk. Indeed, it not infrequently happens, as the experimental feeding of young growing animals has shown, that a thin milk may prove, in the long run, more flesh forming than a rich milk, inasmuch as the former is less liable to induce gastro-enteric disorders.—Com.

Peterborough Young Man Tells Of Trip In England

Mr. H. C. M. Potter Visits Scenes of His Boyhood Days—Accompanied by Mr. Pratley.

DESCRIPTION OF VOYAGE

Mr. H. C. M. Potter, who, with Mr. Geoffrey Pratley, is taking a trip through England, in writing home to Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, tells some interesting tales of his travels. In part he says in his letter:

Killarney Cottage, Southall Green, Southall, Middlesex, July 12, 1908.

Dear Sir,—"You will see by the above address, that we have arrived at our destination safely. We had a splendid trip across the water. For two days we had rough water, and many of the passengers were sick. I myself was one of the lucky ones. The Virginian is a very good boat, but she rolls badly in a rough sea. We left Montreal at 3 a. m., July 3rd, and on arrival at Quebec we went ashore for a couple of hours, and visited the fort and other places of interest. Elaborate preparations were being made at Quebec for the Tercentenary celebration. We sailed from Quebec at 4 p. m. on Saturday, and stopped at Rimouski to take on the mails. Then we journeyed through the Straits of Belle Isle, passing a number of icebergs on the way. On the coast of Labrador snow still showed on the mountains, and there was a great drop in temperature. At Quebec it was very warm, yet, while passing through the straits we were glad to put our overcoats on.

"We arrived in Liverpool at 4 p. m. on Friday, the 10th, so you will see we had almost a record run. I enjoyed the trip very much, and I already look the better for it. Travelling steerage on the up-to-date liners, such as we came on, isn't nearly so bad as one is sometimes led to believe. We stayed in Liverpool over night. Mr. Pratley was very much taken up with the shipping at this port. We saw the Empress of Ireland, and also the Mauretania at Liverpool. The Mauretania is indeed a monster. At Birkenhead Railway depot, where we took train for London, my friend took occasion to laugh at our Liliputian trains. He said; "They look like circus cars." But when we were travelling over sixty miles an hour he changed his opinion. wanted to know where the cow-catcher on the engine was, and, of course, I told him, the cows couldn't get on the tracks here. This morning (Sunday) we went to church, and I had the pleasure of meeting again Rev. Mr. Roberts, our minister, and also my old master, for whom I worked some seven years ago. They seemed very pleased to see me again and remarked, that in bringing Mr. Pratley, I had brought a very good sample of a Canadian with me. My old master is a very wealthy gentleman. He took us into his pew in the church with him.

"Tomorrow we visit the Franco-British Exhibition. From an exterior view the buildings look magnificent. We shall spend a couple of weeks in Devonshire, and then return to visit some of our great naval dockyards. My brother, who is a gunner in the navy, is getting a couple of weeks' leave of absence, so he will be able to take us around.

"All the West End of London, from Southall to Paddington, has changed wonderfully since I was last here. We talk of our Canadian cities growing, but I never saw anything like the change that has occurred here during the past few years. Southall has almost doubled its population during the past five years."

BREATHE HELP FOR CATARRH

Druggist Wm. Madill Having Splendid Reports From Hyomei Users.

It's the poison germs in the air you breathe that creates and feeds catarrh. Hyomei simply catches these germs on their way to work and destroys them. The first breath of Hyomei air kills all catarrhal poison.

This makes the air you are breathing inward helpful, it goes on its way through the air passages, bronchial tubes and lungs charged with germ destroying power that cannot be resisted, it soothes and heals the wounded and inflamed membrane.

That is why Hyomei is so instantly helpful for any distress of the breathing organs. colds, croup, bronchitis, asthma or dreaded pneumonia, they are the germ life that Hyomei kills.

A PERILOUS PASTIME THAT SHOULD BE STOPPED

Foolhardiness May Sometimes be Closely Akin to Felony.

A practice which is carried on to a reprehensible extent in Peterborough and which, in fact, ought to be entirely prohibited, is that of cyclists carrying young children in front of them when they go out wheeling. Parents and older brothers and sisters may do this from the kindest motives imaginable, but it would be hard to mention anything which is more likely to prove detrimental to life and limb than such a method of giving children an airing. This morning, a young girl was noticed disporting herself along Hunter and Reid streets and careering round sharp corners at a high rate of speed, with a youngster of about four years of age, seated in front of her. The slightest slip of the wheel on any obstruction would have placed two lives in jeopardy. In Toronto, we believe, there is a bylaw providing a heavy penalty against the practice. Isn't it about time that some thing of the same sort was put in force in Peterborough?

KITCHEN OF COTTAGE AT STURGEON POINT BURNED

Fire Occurs While Occupants are Away—Origin Unknown.

The kitchen of Mr. W A Goodwin's cottage, Cherry Tree Lodge, Sturgeon Point, was burned down at 11.30 a.m. yesterday. The fire broke out while the occupants were absent and had got a considerable start when two boaters on the lake noticed it. The splendid service of a bucket brigade saved the main part of the building. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Local Men Prevented From Working In Toronto By Plasterers On Strike

The strike of the plasterers in Toronto is now practically over and nearly all the men have resumed their work. The total number who have been idle sine July 1, was 350 and at $4 a day their total loss is estimated at $33,600, while the plasterers' labourers, who were idele as a result, lost $21,900. The cause of the strike was an attempt to reduce the plasterers' rate to 40 cents an hour, instead of 50 cents. They refused to submit and went out on strike, which they have carried to a successful issue, as the former rate will be paid.

Peterborough men

In connection with the above two Peterborough plasterers went up to Toronto to work some weeks ago, but were held out by the strikers. They were Messrs. Fred and Alfred Veenman, Albert street. They read an advertisement in the Toronto Telegram, calling for plasterers and went up to the Queen City several days later. On arriving at the Union Station they were met by a large number of the strikers, who stopped them and asked them what they were going to do. They replied that they had secured work and were going to start at it.

The Toronto men stated that they were on strike, and asked the Veenman brothers if they were aware of the fact. They knew nothing about it and did not offer any opposition when the strikers took the kit of tools from the Peterborough men and left them at the Labour Hall.

Writing home this week Mr. Alf. Veenman stated that they expected to go to work in a few days as the struke was almost over.

Large Berry Crop Has Been Gathered During The Season

The summer of 1908 is closing on one of the most bountiful harvests of berries that could be expected in this district. The strawberries made their appearance first, and the gardeners reported a large crop. The fruit stores handled hundreds of crates of them, and on the market many more were disposed of. The raspberries are now nearly done, and the tame and wild varieties have been found in profusion. They are not yet all picked. Thimble-berries huckleberries and others are also in their prime. Hundreds of berry pickers have gone to the country, where the bushes are found, and from every direction the fruit is reported plentiful. The huckleberries are said to have never been seen in so large a crop.

ARDENT LOCAL COLLECTOR OF STAMPS WRITES TO HONOLULU

The Pacific Commercial Advertiser of Honolulu, Hawaii Islands, Pacific Ocean, contains this story of a Peterborough man:

The following letter has been received by a local individual from a stranger residing in Peterborough, Ontario.

The writer is hungry for Hawaiian stamps, and the modesty of his demands makes the communication worth publishing:

"I take the liberty of writing to you on the subject of stamps. I am desirous of obtaining a few thousand of the stamps in use in the Hawaiian Islands, and if you can secure them for me I will be very glad. If not, kindly hand letter to some English boy who would be interested.

"A mixture of the stamps in common use taken from old letters, parcels, etc., is all I expect. There may be hundreds of one or two of the commoner kinds, which will be quite satisfactory.

"In return I will be glad to send anything I can that would be of interest or use. I could send a nice collection of a few hundred stamps, all different, which would be a valuable start to a collector; or I could send picture postcards of local Canadian views, or cash at the rate of fifty cents per thousand stamps.

"Gather a sample thousand and send, telling me what you would like, and I will try and please you so well that you will wish to continue the exchange.

"Hoping for a favourable reply, with at least a few hundred stamps, I am,

"Very truly yours,

"J. H. CALLANDER."

"I can send rare cactus plants in exchange, if desired, or books, or whatever may be in your line."

It is remarkable that the writer doesn't suggest a trade of nails, glass beads or red calico for his much coveted stamps.

More Than A Dozen Boys And Girls In The Shelter

The Children's Aid Society are in a quandary to know just what to do with the fourteen or fifteen children, which they have housed in their shelter on the Hilliard farm. The expense of keeping them there is great and they would be quite willing to have the number lessened as soon as possible. They have a number of bright boys and girls around the ages of eight or nine years, who would be very suitable for adoption.

The local society is not the only one with too many children in their shelter, as the same conditions are existing in Toronto.

Toronto Man Above Boschink After The Examiner Prize

Hooked a Big 'Lunge Recently—Messrs. Morrow and Walker Lucky.

CROWE'S LANDING COLONY

Special Staff Correspondence.

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, July 27.—The East End colony has nearly all arrived here now and nearly all the cottages are open and filled with a jolly crowd. From now on the pavilion at the Landing will be constantly in use, as a number of concerts and dances have been arranged, while there is usually a more or less large hop every evening.

The church services in the pavilion last night were largely attended, and the congregation, which came skimming across the lake in all varieties of floating craft seemed to enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion. The male quartette from the George sttee' Methodist church, Peterborough, who are encamped at Boschink, took part in the musical side of the services, and their singing was appreciated.

Fishing in this section of Stony Lake is apparently excellent, and good catches are being reported. This morning Messrs. W. G. Morrow and D. Walker succeeded in landing two fine 'lunge near "Oakdene," Mr Morrow's summer home.

Mr. Gifford of Toronto, who is the guest of Mr. H. P. Gould of Toronto at "Woodseat Hall," captured a magnificent 'lunge on Friday last near "Maplehurst," that should be right in the running for the Examiner prize. The "big un" weighed over 20 lbs. Mr. Gifford has been very successful, catching another beauty that weighed 12 1-2 lbs.

Messrs. Geo. Manning, Ernie Bartlett and Chas. Reid of Peterborough spent Sunday at the Landing.

Mr. W. Stroud came up this afternoon to spend the week the guest of his father-in-law, Mr. R. H. Jackson, at Eel's Creek.

Judge Hudspeth of New York arrived on Saturday and "Kawartha Lodge" is now open for the season.

Miss Mabel Robinson of Montreal is the guest of Miss Edna Winch at "Wauwinnett."

Miss Viola Pentland, who returned last week from a visit to Montreal, is at "Yarrow Brae" for the summer.

Mr. A. B. Mitchell of Toronto, who has been spending a few days at "Sunnyside," his summer home, returned to business this morning.

Mr. C. M. Bennett of Peterborough has been spending a few days at "Belle Chasse."

Mrs. Bliss has a large number of Buffalo folks as her guests.

Mr. Stanley Pringle, Peterborough, is the guest of Mr. Colin Lees.

Mr. Rich. Lees, County School Inspector, came up to his cottage on Saturday.

Mr. Taylor, optician, Peterborough, spent Sunday at "Maplehurst," where his mother and sisters are the guests of Miss Williams.

BOARDER WAS SHOT BY POLICEMAN

Chief Kimball of Leamington Kills Man at Tilbury.

DIDN'T PAY BOARD BILL

William Healey, Three Weeks' Bridegroom, Charged With Fraud Is Mortally Wounded In Trying to Escape Arrest—Young Bride Sees Whole Affair—Kimball Is In Jail For Manslaughter.

Tilbury, Ont., July 29.—Fired on at less than five feet, by Alex. J. Kimball, chief of the Leamington police, who had attempted to arrest him, William Healey was killed yesterday morning, in full view of his three weeks' bride. Kimball is now locked up in the Chatham jail, awaiting trial for manslaughter.

The cause of the unfortunate affair was an unpaid board bill. Three weeks ago Healey married a daughter of Richard Wellington of this place, and the couple spent the intervening time boarding in Leamington, where Healey had been working. Last week they came to visit at the bride's former home, and, it is alleged, left Leamington without paying their board.

His landlady kept his valise until he gave her an order for the amount, and after delivery of the valise she claimed the order was a fraudulent one, and hence the warrant for his arrest.

Early yesterday morning Chief Kimball arrived in town with a warrant for Healey's arrest on a charge of fraud. Without waiting to notify the local police, he went straight to the Wellington home and asked for Healey. The young bride answered the door and said her husband was in bed. The chief was ushered into the parlor, where he read the warrant to Healey and placed him under arrest.

The prisoner said he wanted to wash and went to the back of the house, and at once ran out of the back door.

Kimball made a dash after him and chased him around the house into the front door, where a fierce scuffle ensued. Healey broke loose and again got through the back door entrance, with the policeman after him. The fugitive scaled a fence and had taken about three steps when Kimball, who had reached the fence, fired, he says, to scare him.

Healey dropped in his tracks with a bullet in his back. Medical aid was summoned, but the victim died in 15 minutes within 50 feet of where he had fallen. He could barely summon enough strength to bid farewell to his wife to tell her to notify his mother, who lives in London.

Chief Kimball immediately surrendered himself to Magistrate James Colwood, and was detained until the inquest opened at 4 p.m. under Coroner Dr. McKeough of Chatham. The following verdict was rendered:

"That the said William Healey came to his death from the wound of a bullet discharged by the hand of Elliott J. Kimball, while the said William Healey was running away to avoid arrest at the hands of the said Elliott J. Kimball, and that we would recommend that some restrictions be placed upon the carrying of firearms by the constabulary of the province."

Kimball was then arrested by local Chief Constable William A. Smith on a warrant issued by Crown Attorney H. D. Smith, charging manslaughter. He was remanded for preliminary trial until Monday at 10 a.m. and taken as prisoner to Chatham jail.

MONEY RATHER TIGHT IN THE WEST

New Banking System Checks Western Dealers.

WHOLESALERS GET BURDEN

Financial Institutions Afraid of the Western Love of Gambling Make Big Eastern Dealers Responsible and Stringency In Money Market Results — Retailers Well Stocked and Are Confident.

Regina, July 29.—With over a million dollars in sight for their golden grain, the great Canadian Northwest is for the moment tied hand and foot by a fetter even more powerful than that forged by transportation blockade. The difficulty is partially due to the prevailing money market conditions, accentuated by Canadian Northwest circumstances.

A new system of banking has been inaugurated. The banks found that the western spirit of enterprise was prone to carry the retail merchant too frequently into the speculative sphere, especially when a real estate excitement was on. The bankers saw a way to administer a wholesome check to this. The retailers were given to understand that their notes would have to pass through the hands of the eastern houses. That meant that the notes were sent to Toronto and Montreal. They were then discounted by the wholesalers, who have had to assume the risk so that while the banks furnish the money the eastern wholesalers are carrying the western retailers.

At present the retailers are well stocked. Confidence is absolute that the stocks will be rapidly depleted in the early fall, but at the moment buying is blocked.

Want Officials Dismissed.

Constantinople, July 29.—Now that the first rejoicings over the constitution granted to Turkey by the Sultan last week are at an end the people are beginning to discuss the future; already they are clamoring against those high officials who were responsible for the abuses and injustices of the old regime. Public opinion is demanding a clean sweep, especially of the palace officials, who are identified with the days of "personal rule."

The Sultan, it is now known, broke into tears at the conference of Thursday, at which is was decided to grant a constitution.

Tries to Rob Detective.

Ottawa, July 29.—The home of Detective Joseph Ethier was the scene of an attempted burglary at 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

A man climbed on the roof of a summer kitchen and looked into the sleeping room of some members of the family. A yell of fright called the detective hurriedly to the scene and in his effort to catch the interloper, he dropped from a 16-foot window.

But the man was not to be found, and he left nothing to reveal his identity.

Pavers on Strike.

Brantford, July 29.—About 40 employes of the Warren Bituminous Paving Co., at present paving Dalhousie street here, went out on strike yesterday. The men have been receiving 15 cents per hour, but want 25 cents. They refused the company's offer of 16 1-2 cents. The street was crowded yesterday afternoon with the workers and sympathizers, and had to be cleared by the police. New men were taken on almost immediately.

CELEBRATION ENDS IN HISTORIC CITY

Prince of Wales Leaves Quebec For England.

PARTY AT SPENCERWOOD

Royal Visitor Attends Exclusive Function — Plants Memorial Elm In Victoria Park and Is Presented With Golden Spade—Prominent Canadians Bid Him Farewell — Police Remembered.

Quebec, July 29.—George, Prince of Wales, stepped off Canadian soil a few minutes before 7 o'clock last evening, and this officially concluded a visit which in point of spectacular effect, historic interest, unparalleled weather and all-round success has never, considering its brevity, been approached in the annals of the Britains beyond the seas.

All the elaborate preparations upon which months have been spent were consummated without a hitch, and no accident worthy of note arose out of the actual program.

The final royal function was a garden party yesterday afternoon given at Spencerwood by Sir Louis Jette, Lieutenant-Governor of the province.

About 5.30 the prince came in very quietly with Earl Grey and after a little while on the veranda sauntered down the terrace and westwards to the end of the grounds and back again. He was on the principal street for unbent even more than at the morning ceremony, evidently feeling that one good job was about well finished.

As quietly as he came he withdrew from the throng and was driven to the Citadel, which he left again about 6.30. The streets from St. Louis gate were lined with troops, stationed at intervals of six paces, and a somewhat thin crowd scattered clear along the route, which wound down the principal streets of the old town to the King's Wharf.

Numbers of important politicians, from Sir Wilfrid Laurier down, were present to say a last word or have a last glimpse at royalty, and the fashionable costumes and millinery of the ladies would have caused a sensation in the courts of Francis First or Henry Fourth.

There were the last adieux and, going away, he boards the ship, never, perhaps, to set foot in Canada again.

What arrangement the battlefields commission may have made with the weather bureau no one knows, but the weather authorities have faithfully kept their part of it and there could have been no pleasanter conditions than prevailed yesterday.

The Prince of Wales' first engagement yesterday morning was the planting of a tree at Victoria Park.

The mayor and councillors of Quebec were drawn up near the excavation, where a sturdy elm tree about thrity feet high was suspended ready to be lowered into position by a gang of khaki-clad laborers.

Approaching the elm tree, Sir George Garneau, as mayor addressed the prince hoping that H.R.H. would be pleased to plant a tree in a park dedicated to the illustrious sovereign, who was his grandparent. The prince raised his hand and accepting the offer of a fine new spade put three shovelfuls of carefully sifted mould in the hole, while the laborers released the chain gear and the elm settled into place.

A handsome gold spade with ebony handle about thirty inches long with a suitable inscription was then handed to the prince as a memorial of the occasion.

The fleet sailed at high tide about daybreak and will escort the Indomitable down the gulf. The admirable conduct of the men of the fleet while ashore has been a matter of comment. Very little intoxication has been observed and the pickets have had the lightest of duty.

In anticipation of his departure, the Prince of Wales dispensed several royal favors among those who have been immediately concerned with his person during the visit. Inspector Godin of the Government police, who has had 30 years' service, and Inspector Cuddy of Toronto received each the medal of the Victorian order. Detective Cavan of the Dominion service and Supt. Butler of the Pinkerton force were presented with pins.

Trumped Up Robbery.

Toronto, July 29.—Louis Seich, a driver for the W. A. Murray Co., reported yesterday that he was set upon in the Kingston road by two masked and armed highwaymen. He said that they had robbed him of his cash bag.

Under the cross-examination by the police he finally admitted that the story was his best effort to cover a shortage of $12.35 in his cash, and that the balance of the cash would be found under the cushion of the wagon seat.

Train Crew to Blame.

Winnipeg, July 29.—That negligence on the part of some of the train hands was responsible for the fatal wreck at Tradeau on Monday, and that a rigid investigation should be instituted as soon as possible, is the expressed opinion of a party of well-known men who were on the Winnipeg express at the time of the accident, and who were present when the debris was hauled over.

Known In St. Kitts.

St. Catharines, July 29.—It is believed that Louis Armour, the Toledo man who murdered his wife and attempted to shoot his daughter there Monday is a former resident of St. Catharines. He had three wives living, one in Detroit and another here.

VARICOCELE CURED

☞ NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than robbers. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

HENRY C. LOCUST.

THE EXAMINER'S SPORTING PAGE

EARLY INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN EXAMINER ROAD RACES

The interest that the Examiner Road Race has stirred up during the past two years is being felt now, and already there are young men and boys in training for the two races. The prospects are that there will be a large number of new entries in both the junior and senior events. Runners may be found almost nightly in different parts of the city and at the Driving Park there are four or five new ones who will form the nucleus of a south end squad. It is rather early to mention the race, but it is about time that all those who intend to enter were beginning to think of their training. The man who wins this year will have to be in the pink of condition, and with the large entry that is expected the run from Lakefield should be more interesting than ever.

The junior race of five miles will also be a keen contest. The south end has a bunch of runners on the road every night, and their boys will give any of them a run. The age limit is seventeen years and under, and it is up to all the speedy boys to get out and get the experience which this event affords.

MEETING OF THE CRICKET CLUB HELD LAST NIGHT

Prominent Gentlemen and Ladies Patrons and Patronesses.

A largely attended meeting of the Cricket Club was held at the Snowdon House last night for the purpose of making arrangements for the approaching matches at Millbrook and Warkworth.

It was decided that a team should be sent to Millbrook to-morrow (Thursday) to play a return match against that club. The team will leave the G.T.R. station at 11.45 a.m., returning at night by 'bus.

The secretary announced that the following gentlemen and ladies have kindly consented to be patrons and patronesses of the club:

Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton.
Mr. and Mrs. Montizambert.
Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Poussette.
Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews.
Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall.
Mr. T. E. Bradburn.

A large attendance of members is requested at the practice this evening at the Oval.

SATURDAY'S BALL GAME THE BEST OF THE SEASON

Both Teams in Fine Fettle for the Big Event.

The ball game on Saturday between the Petes and the Athletics promises to furnish the best day's sport of the season in baseball circles. The latter will appear fresh after their decisive victory over Cobourg last Saturday and will have on their best line-up.

The Petes are just as confident of winning. The game ought to be fine exhibition of baseball.

THE CLIMATE HARD ON CANADIANS

Buffalo Physical Director Says Athletes Came Too Soon.

Mr. J Y Cameron, physical director of the Buffalo Y.M.C.A., accompanied the American Olympic team to England. Before the games began, he wrote home, referring to the Canadian athletes as follows: "So far as I can learn, Bobby Kerr is the only man fit to run. He has taken London by storm. The others are all upset by climatic changes, etc. It is just possible that the Canadians came here too soon, or not soon enough, and are caught in the ruck. The American team is at Brighton, the Newport of England. It was absolutely necessary to get the fellows out of the city. Had they stayed, it is probable many of them would have been far from in condition."

Of athletics in Great Britain, Mr Cameron says: "One cannot help but be impressed with the immensity of athletic interests in Great Britain. No wonder there is a large amount of professionalism; it comes as a natural consequence. Sets of games are held, not weekly, but daily, and apparently many of these athletes do little else but run; when they attend to business is an open question."

NO CRICKET MATCH FOR TO-MORROW AT MILLBROOK

Cannot Get a Team Together There to Play Peterborough.

President Lovekin received a telegram to-day from the Millbrook club stating that they would be unable to get up a team for to-morrow. The match is, therefore, off for the time being.

LOU SCHOLES LOSES TO THE GERMAN SCULLER

A special despatch to J. N. Barber, stock broker, this morning stated: Henley, England, July 29.—Von Gaza, of the Viking Club, Berlin, beat Lou Scholes, of Toronto. Time 9.47.

The Examiner road race in Peterborough should be more popular than ever this year. Simpson ran but last race there, and his splendid showing in England should make the race more popular.—Lindsay Free Press.

SAYS CANADIANS SHOULD NOT RUN

Mistake to Run Again so Soon After Marathon.

It is said that Manager Crocker intends to run Wood, Simpson, Cotter and Longboat over the Marathon course again, to prove that the Canadians are really faster than Hayes, the winner. Such talk is all nonsense. The men couldn't stand another long race just now, and not one of them should run another race this year. Next season is the time for them to prove their mettle. Lawson, for instance, has raced too much already this season.

From this distance, and at this time, it looks as if Manager Crocker and Billy Sherring had made a big mistake in coaching the Canucks. They should have made them run together and pace each other, instead of letting them all go after world's records and kill themselves by early speed. They followed the example of the Englishmen, and played into the Yankees' hands. Our men should and would have won the race, had they run as a team, instead of trying to beat each other.—Toronto News

Full chorus—The Songsters.
Vocal solo—Miss E Card.
Recitation—Miss A Robinson.

Other numbers which will go to make a very interesting meeting will also be given.

OTONABEE BOAT HOUSE HAS MANY LIGHTS

Mr. Rye Provides More Lights for His Patrons.

An improvement at Roy's boat house is the string of electric lights along the platform, erected for the launches. Mr. Rye's landing place presents a busy scene every night, as the young people strike out for midstream for a pleasant paddle. The abundance of lights is much appreciated and is a decided improvement.

AN EXCURSION COMING FROM OSHAWA TO-MORROW

The Oshawa Lawn Bowling Club will have 5 rinks here to-morrow to play the local Bowlers in the afternoon. An excursion is being run from Oshawa and many other visitors from that town are expected.

MID-WEEK MARKET WAS HELD TO-DAY

There was a fairly large Wednesday market this morning, fruit being rather plentiful. There was also an offering of butter and eggs at the same price as last Saturday. The price of fruit was fair; berries and new apples being represented. There were not many townspeople who took advantage of the mid-week market.

PARTRIDGE AND GROUSE ARE SPARED FOR ONE YEAR

By an order-in-council of the Ontario Government, it will be illegal to hunt grouse or partridge in the Province of Ontario this year. The opening of the season for these birds has always been September 15, but none will be allowed to be shot before September 15, 1909.

LEAVE ON EXCURSION TO ROCHESTER

Being Held in Aid of St. George's Church, Grafton.

A large number from Peterborough left this morning on the excursion being run under the auspices of the Grafton Anglican Church, to Rochester. The excursionists go on the big Ontario ferry across Lake Ontario. About sixty-five boarded the train here.

HAY HARVESTER HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Falls Backward to Barn Floor—A Janetville Accident.

Mr. Herbert Johnston of Janetville happened with an accident last week that might easily have proved fatal. He was unloading a load of hay with the hay fork in the barn of Mr. Thos. Syer, and by mischance stepped too far back and lost his balance, falling on to the barn floor, a distance of over ten feet. He was carried into the house. Drs. McCulloch and Johnston arrived soon, and after considerable time he regained consciousness and is now doing well.

BROCK STREET BRIDGE CLOSED TO TRAFFIC

To Permit Construction of a New Reinforced Concrete Bridge.

The City Engineer finds it necessary to close the Brock street bridge for traffic for a short period. This is to permit contemplated work in reconstructing an entirely new bridge of reinforced concrete. It will be built on the Kahn system, that is, the beams are provided with steel spurs projecting at an angle and serving to strengthen the concrete coating. The old bridge will be closed to-morrow (Thursday) morning at seven o'clock, and will necessarily remain closed until the new bridge is completed.

Y.M.C.A. Chieftains Baseball Club have arranged for a game with a Bowmanville team, to be played here on next Monday, Aug. 3rd. An excursion from Bowmanville is coming here that day, so there is sure to be a large attendance at the game, which will be without doubt a very interesting one. The splendid record of the Chieftains is well known and the Bowmanville team will put up a stiff proposition for the local team. Time of game will be announced later.

Rather Strenuous Summer At Serene Stony Lake

An Action in the Name of Religion That Fomented Fisticuffs—East End Cottagers' Association Directors In Physical Conflict.

ALL OVER A CHURCH SERVICE

Recreation and religious activities are usually associated with calm, peaceful conditions, serene minds and even tempers. But the north-east corner of Stony Lake has furnished an exception. A religious question or a loss of sight of the spirit which religion represents, has led to a rather lively local "fruction." The East End Cottagers' Association has a pavilion, in which, on Sundays, religious services are conducted. Recently, it is stated, a prominent official of the Association took it upon himself to decide to change the hour of the Sunday evening service from 7.30 to 7 o'clock. The result was that a large number of cottagers who had not known of the change, arrived in the middle of the service. There was naturally disappointment and an explanation was demanded. One of the most largely interested directors discovered that the official mentioned had made the change.

"Who authorized you to make the change, without consulting your co-directors?"

"My wife thought it the proper thing to do?"

"Is your wife a director?"

"No."

"Well I'm a director and there are other directors who should have been consulted before action was taken, which inconvenienced and annoyed members of the association and the summer residents at the lake."

A rather wordy war ensued and it was thought that the matter was ended for the moment; but it is related that the offending official pursued the objecting director and at length seized him by the throat enlisting physical force to drive home his arguments necessary to justify the action he had taken in advancing the hour when the sweet influences of religious devotions might begin to operate.

The parties to the controversy were separated before any serious physical injury was inflicted. No advices are to hand as to late developments, but one is reminded of the pulpiteer of Hudibras, who sought

By apostolic blows and knocks
To prove his doctrine orthodox.

YOUNG ARMSTRONG HAS STILL HIS FREEDOM

No further trace of the youth, Jas. Armstrong, who disappeared the other day with $92.50 of Mr. H T Elliott's money, has been found since yesterday. The conductor on that train has been seen but he remembers nothing about the youth although it was necessary for the latter to purchase his ticket on the train.

PIONEER VISITS SUMMER RESORT THAT HE PRACTICALLY CREATED

Mr. Robert Strickland of London, England, Renews Associations With Scenes of His Early Experience--Once Again Traverses Stony Lake Waters.

OLD TIME REMINISCENCES

Mr. Robert Strickland, formerly of Lakefield, and eldest brother of Mr. R. C. Strickland, with two grandchildren of the former, who have resided in London, England, for many years, are visiting at Stony Lake. Mr. Strickland many years ago was the leading spirit in the erection of a large summer resort at Mount Julian, which was afterwards accidentally destroyed by fire during the day. He is entitled to the credit of being the pioneer in making Stony Lake a popular summer resort. He also built the steamer Chippewa, which plied the waters of the lakes for many years.

Mr Strickland was also responsible for the introduction of the Peterborough canoe, made in Lakefield, into South Africa, and a picture post card lies before the writer showing a lady and gentleman in a Lakefield canoe, floating on the bosom of Lake Victoria, Central Africa.

He is on a visit to his old home, with his two grandchildren, and is remarkably active and energetic for a gentleman of his years. His numerous friends are pleased to see him amongst them again, and he himself is pleased to see that Stony Lake has become one of the most popular summer resorts in Canada. Mr. Strickland was the first white child born in the now town of Goderich, and he claims to be the first white child on the waters of Stony Lake, and this makes his visit to these waters, accompanied by his grandchildren, Miss Violet and Mr. Ralph Strickland Taylor, a matter of peculiar significance and interest, recalling, as it does, to many some remarkable incidents of more than thirty years ago.

The country around Lakefield was at that time stirred by the meetings held in that village by a young girl, Miss Charlotte Katherine Strickland was the eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Robert Strickland, who lived at Roydon House. One day she was on her way to visit an old woman with her father, when, passing some of the lumbermen, she expressed a desire to have a little meeting for them. The numbers increased rapidly, and soon a room over Leonard's shop on the main street, was taken and thronged by people of every class week after week, and when Miss Strickland left Lakefield for a fortnight's visit to Toronto, many came forward and urged that a large building should be erected.

Accordingly, five trustees were appointed, one for each of the churches in the village — the Anglican, the Baptist, the Bible Christians', the Methodist and the Presbyterian. A list was put up in a public place, and all who were willing to contribute land, money, materials or labour were invited to inscribe their names. Within two days enough had been subscribed to build a hall seating five hundred. All hands joined in the work, and when Miss Strickland stepped from the train ten days later she saw a fine building with platform and seats complete, ready for the opening service on the following day. For about two years the meetings continued on Sunday afternoons; crowds drove in from miles around to hear the talented young evangelist speak and sing, and many were converted. This continued until the summer of '79. Miss Strickland left Canada in her 22nd year to become the bride of Rev. John C. Taylor in England. She has never yet returned to this country, but this year has sent two of her children for a visit with their grandfather, and during their holiday at Stony Lake they have been holding some services at various points.

Mr. Ralph Taylor was educated at Elstree Preparatory School, and Marlborough College, one of the great English Public Schools, which he left as head boy among the six hundred at the school in 1903 to go to Cambridge as a scholar of Pembroke College. He has just completed a five years' course at the university, having graduated in 1906 in the first class of the classical Tripos, and since then having studied theology. He hopes to be ordained in the English Church next Trinity Sunday after special preparation at Ridley Hall, the well-known theological training college in Cambridge, where he has been invited to join the staff after ordination as a lecturer.

Mr. Taylor on Sunday evening gave an address at the largely attended song service in the pavilion, having spoken at two other services during the day. He took for his text: Come unto Me all ye that are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." The address was appropriate and effective and the service as a whole extremely enjoyable.

KENDALL MAN ROBBED TWICE, THROWN FROM HIS BUGGY AND HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Saved by His Best Girl—He Is "Touched" for $8 in Peterborough—All Happens in One Day.

A STREAK OF HARD LUCK

To be robbed twice, to be thrown from his buggy and lastly to have a narrow escape from death was the streak of hard luck that befell a Kendall man according to a Kendall correspondent to the Port Hope Guide. He says:

William John has a hard run of luck. The other week he and his best girl decided to take in the Guelph excursion. They arrived at Newcastle depot five minutes after the train had pulled out. July 18th while driving hard for Campbellcroft station to take train for Peterborough he was thrown out of his rig in trying to pass another, his young lady friend saving the situation by catching the lines. On arrival at Peterborough he had his pocket touched for about $8; when about taking the train on the return trip he barely escaped possible fatal injury by prompt action of lady mentioned; and finally on his return home the greatest misfortune of the day awaited him—burglars had entered his boarding house and carried off $150 which he had left in his desk. Good job for William John the 12th only comes once a year.

A CAR OF DYNAMITE AT THE WINDOW HINDERS HIS SLEEP

Dynamite in a car in the vicinity of Townsend street where the interswitching from the G.T.R. to C.P.R. tracks is performed, has scared some of the residents in that vicinity. One gentleman called at the Police station this morning to lodge a complaint and to try to have the explosive moved off.

"I'm afraid to go to sleep at night," remarked the individual, "for fear I'll be blown up."

The car is labelled "This car is loaded with dynamite—Dangerous." As the chief had no jurisdiction to order the car to be moved along, the complainant could get no satisfaction.

CORONER'S JURY EXONERATES BOY FROM BLAME OF COMPANION'S DEATH

On July 14 Alex. Sexsmith, son of Mr. Tobias Sexsmith of Lower Faraday, was drowned in Neal's Lake, near Bancroft. The young lad was only 12 years of age and was out in a boat with a companion named Tommy Paul. When a short distance from shore, both jumped into the water, thinking the boat was going to upset. Paul waded ashore, but young Sexsmith sank in five feet of water. His body was recovered three hours later.

The coroner's jury which investigated the affair exonerated Paul from blame in connection with the drowning.

AGED DUMMER MAN DIES SUDDENLY AFTER EATING DINNER

Special Staff Correspondence.

Warsaw, July 30.—Unexpected and sudden was the death yesterday of William Cuffe, of Dummer, who was one of the oldest residents of the township. The deceased was 89 years of age.

After eating his mid-day meal with others of the family, he lay down to rest on a couch and in a moment he was dead. Evidently his demise was due to heart failure, influenced by the excessive heat of yesterday.

Mr. Cuffe was born in Ireland. His wife predeceased him, but he has two sons William, residing in Dummer, and the other at Warkworth. He was a member of the Church of England and a Conservative in politics. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to the cemetery at Cottesloe.

A TRIUMPH.

The great pageants at Quebec and the celebration that centres in them have reached a point at which we are free to draw our breath and declare them to have been a triumphant success and, as a contribution to our nation-building, abundantly worth all they have cost. There was a time when we may have felt a little anxiety with regard to the interjection of the battlefields scheme into an act of national homage, with which the conflict of a hundred and fifty years ago had nothing to do, and its appearance in connection with which might perhaps be regarded as something of an impertinence. It was certainly a daring invasion, and it was a question in some minds as to how it would be taken by the race which naturally regards Champlain and the other founders of the country as its own, and which might not have the same pride in the later events. It was felt, on the other hand, that it would greatly add to the interest of the occasion to recall all the notable events of the city's history, and, should this be taken in good part, it could not but mark the closing forever of the rift which marked the days before Montcalm, while, on the other hand a celebration from which British interests were excluded might have a contrary effect. It was realized also that the introduction of an English hero or two would greatly widen and strengthen the interest of the world in the event, and thus add much to the eclat of it. Moreover, the battlefields scheme being fraught with a large, substantial and permanent benefaction to Quebec, was likely to be greatly appreciated by that city. The result has fully vindicated the courage of the Governor-General in taking the course he did, and, indeed has glorified the tact and tireless zeal with which he has devoted himself to making the occasion a success and to setting up a permanent monument to mutual good-will in the splendid national park with which the Ancient Capital will be forever adorned. But for his efforts, the occasion would never have reached the splendid international proportions that will make it an epoch in history and a large contribution to the comity of nations. The unreserved proclamations in the presence of the nations of loyalty to the Crown and Empire, in which Britons Dutch and Britons French vied with the children of the British Isles, were only declarations of what already existed; but the mutual assurances at the remarkable lovefeast of the Empire held on Saturday evening were like the act of the tribes of Israel, when, with overflowing hearts, they set up a mighty stone on the banks of the Jordan and inscribed upon it their everlasting attachment to the commonwealth in which they all had part. We heartily congratulate our neighbours of Quebec on the wholehearted way in which they have entered into and carried through the celebration, and while recalling the noble past with pride have put to flight the rampant and grotesque dragon of mediaevalism that sought to mar the revels. After three hundred years we joyously turn from the past to the future and count ourselves free to enter on a new era of national life, in the van, if we may, of the world's progress. — Montreal Witness.

The Ottawa Journal suggests that Lord Roberts should be entertained at a lacrosse match on the occasion of his visit to the capital. Such a match might remind "Bobs" of some of the gory battle fields he has occupied.

THE FINANCES OF CANADA.

In dealing with the finances of the Dominion one has to take into account as showing the rate of increase in expenditure and revenue the statistics of previous years. The crucial matter is of course a comparison between revenue and expenditure in each year. With a fixed method of raising revenue largely by customs duties on imported goods in good times a government finds itself with a large amount of revenue on hand, and in a time of depression there is always a shrinkage of revenue. Generally speaking, however, the increase of revenue from year to year is fairly constant. Taking the ten year intervals since Confederation down to 1908 we find the rate of progress indicated by the following tables:—

1868	$13,687,928
1878	22,375,011
1888	35,908,463
1898	40,555,238
1908	90,054,605

The increase each year is so comparatively regular as to make quite clear that it is due to the increase of population and the growing consumption of dutiable goods. The government which finds itself with so much revenue in the treasury must devote the money to some purpose. After providing for the ordinary public service of the year it has been customary to spend part of it on local public works and buildings in different parts of the country. So long as this is done with moderation and fairness there is not much to be said against it, because every place of any consequence likes to have a Government building for its post office or custom house, and these are the two most frequently provided out of surplus revenue.

Turning to the expenditure side of the account, and taking the same years, we find:

1868	$13,486,092
1878	23,503,158
1888	36,718,194
1898	38,832,525
1908	76,611,654

This table is open to the same remark. Clearly as population increases expenditure must necessarily increase, and that part of the expenditure devoted to public works and buildings will increase with the rest. It is very noticeable that for some years past, almost since the Fielding tariff came into operation, there has been an excess of receipts over expenditures of all sorts, except those on capital account. Since 1896, which was the first year of the Laurier Administration, these annual surpluses have been as follows, taking three year intervals:

1896	$ 5,422,505
1899	2,317,047
1902	3,349,085
1908	19,412,951

In every one of these years part of the surplus was spent on capital account. If the services to which these sums were devoted were themselves justifiable, then the payments should go toward the reduction of the public debt. As a matter of fact, until recently the net debt of the Dominion remained fairly constant. In 1896, the first year of the Laurier regime, it amounted to $325,717,536. In 1905 it had increased to $377,678,579. It would have been very much greater but for the large amount of surplus revenue devoted during those years to payments on capital account.
